Pearl Harbor Case Is Closed Incident

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon considers a closed matter the question of why the United States was caught off guard at Pearl Harbor.

The word today—the 20th anniversary of the surprise Japanese attack—is that no more official investigations are expected.

Authors continue to write books debating the issues of that day when the high command at Hawaii was surprised by the strike of 300 planes from six Japanese carriers and midget submarine attacks.

But the Defense Department foresees no more official probes into the long and hotly debated subject of who, if anyone, was to blame for the tragic moment of unreadiness.

Eight Inquiries

There have been eight official inquiries. The first, ordered by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, was opened only 12 days after the attack and was conducted by a commission headed by Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts. When that inquiry was concluded the following Jan. 23 the record and transcripts covered 2,173 pages.

Between then and the end of World War II, the Navy and Army conducted six more inquiries into the over-all subject or phases of it. Allegations and testimony at those hearings served to foster more public debate.

Probing Starts

In November 1945, with the war's end more than three months passed and with testimony and evidence from former enemy commanders becoming available, Congress opened a full-scale inquiry.

Aide Says Rocky Favorable to JFK Shelter Program

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Republican Gov. Rockefeller has reacted "very favorably" to Democratic President Kennedy's fallout-shelter program, a Rockefeller aide reports.

Rockefeller's Press Secretary, Robert L. McManus, delivered the assessment after a 2½-hour meeting Wednesday between the governor and top federal defense officials.

The governor announced that, at Kennedy's request, he had called a meeting Sunday in New York City of the Governors Conference Civil Defense Committee, which Rockefeller heads.

Federal officials will attend the meeting of the committee, McManus said, and presumably again will outline the President's program.

Rockefeller said the meeting of the committee of 11 governors

Labor Men Are Told In Speech

U. S. Must Trade Or Suffer Is View

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy told organized labor today he will ask Congress for standby power to launch public projects that would put men to work in case of a recession.

Kennedy, in a speech prepared for a AFL-CIO convention, also touched a sore spot in the labor federation as well as some employers when he said that discrimination against Negroes "is a blot on our democracy and a drag on our economy."

The President announced that November employment reached a new high for the month at 67,349,000. Moreover, he said, unemployment in November fell below 5.8 per cent of the labor force for the first time in a year. The rate was 6.1 per cent.

Would Protect Areas

Carrying on a campaign for broad authority to negotiate reciprocal tariff cuts, Kennedy also told the union leaders he would propose measures to help communities, industries and working men hurt by competition from imported goods.

He rejected "permanent government paternalism," advocating instead a program that would add to and coordinate present plans for areas already hit by unemployment for small business incentives to investment in new plants and the retraining and compensation of jobless men and women

Must Trade or Suffer

"Temporary tariff relief may be a part of the prescription in individual cases," Kennedy said.

"Whatever is required, we will make certain that no community suffers unduly from trade. For, on the contrary, America must trade—or suffer."

The President Wednesday had appealed to the National Association of Manufacturers for support of a trade policy he maintained would stimulate exports by chopping off tariff barriers.

To enable U.S. producers to sell on world markets, he declared "labor must demonstrate its responsibility in helping to keep over-all wage movements in line with increases in productivity."

In recommending standby public works authority, Kennedy courted attacks from such groups as the NAM which have labeled it a scheme for inflationary make-work projects.

Suggests Grants

"To add to our arsenal of built-in stabilizers in the event of a recession," Kennedy said he would propose legislation along the lines of a bill introduced by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa. He suggested grants-in-aid to communities for needed public works.

"We do not intend to go back to the days of leaf raking," Kennedy said, "but neither do we intend to go back to the days of breadlines. There is no need for this nation to go through another recession with large pools of

December Is Most Dangerous Month For Car Drivers

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—This is by far the most dangerous month for driving, the state motor vehicle commissioners warns.

Commissioner William S. Hults said Wednesday that the additional danger stemmed from two factors: speed, especially on slippery highways or in limited visibility, and drinking and driving, especialy during the Christmas-New Years holidays.

Hults said there were 205 fatal traffic accidents in December last year, while the year's average was 158 per month. The number of accidents totaled 35,949, compared with a monthly average of 26,110.

Houston Disputes Mitchell Claim, Sees Higher Cost

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—State Social Welfare Commissioner Raymond W. Houston says Newburgh's welfare program will cost city taxpayers $44,940 more next year than it did last year.

Houston's prediction, based on figures contained in the city's 1962 budget, challenges the recent claim of City Manager Joseph Mitchell, who said his controversial program would cut the cost of welfare in 1962 and permit a tax cut.

Speaking Wednesday night during a panel discussion sponsored by the Unitarian Fellowship for Social Justice, Houston said:

No Mitchell Comment

"Much as all of us regret it, the projected 1962 cost. . . will be higher than the 1959-1960 and 1961 costs."

Mitchell, who did not attend the meeting, was unavailable for comment.

Houston also disputed the contention that the Newburgh program alone was responsible for reduction in the number of home relief and aid-to-dependent children cases in the city this year.

He said 16 welfare districts in the state, including Orange County outside of Newburgh, had greater caseload reductions.

Mitchell claims to have cut welfare rolls by one-third.

$379,940 City Cost

Furthermore, Houston said caseloads always decline between March and September. Every welfare department in the state experienced declines during this period, he added.

Houston said Newburgh's budget showed gross total welfare expenditures for 1962 of $890,000. Subtracting Newburgh's figures for anticipated revenue from federal, state and other welfare aid sources, he said, the cost of the city would be $379,940.

The estimated cost of welfare this year is $335,000, Houston said.

Mitchell has estimated the city cut welfare costs this year by approximately $55,000, and will cut them next year by about $40,000.

U.S. Plane Attacked, Halt Lift

By JOHN LATZ

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—U.N. jet fighters today struck at Katangan ammunition dumps six miles outside Elisabethville and explosions rocked the heart of the capital.

Katangans launched another attack against the U.N. headquarters just outside of the city at daybreak after a tropical thunderstorm brought firing to a halt during the night.

(The U.S. Embassy in Leopoldville said an American Air Force Globemaster was fired on over Elisabethville, and the U.S. air lift was suspended while commanders in Leopoldville and Washington consulted on security arrangements for the American planes.

The embassy denied making any official statement that the airlift of equipment to U. N. forces in Elisabethville had been gorunded, but it was understood high level consultations were going on as to whether it should continue.

No Serious Damage

(American sources said the small arms firing came from the official residence of Katanga President Moise Tshombe while the Globemaster was coming in to land at Elisabethville Airport. Several bullets hit the fuselage but no serious damage was caused.) Tshombe's villa is on one of the approaches to the airport.

(The Globemaster was one of six heavy transports carrying reinforcements and supplies to U.N. forces in the Katanga capital. The report from Leopoldville said the United States agreed to the airlift on condition that the transport would be given full protective cover. Ethiopian Sabre Jets escorted the first Globemasters Wednesday but it was not known in Leopoldville whether today's flights were escorted.

(The U.S. State Department announced Wednesday night that it was offering the U.N. 21 more four-engine transports.)

U. S. Consul Arrested

Foreign Minister Evariste Kimba clapped U.S. Consul Lewis Hoffacker, 38, under house arrest, charging that U.S. planes made the U.N. raids Wednesday on Katanga air bases at Kolwezi and Jadotville. Both the U.S. government and the U.N. command denied that American planes were involved, but Hoffacker stayed at home today.

The consul said he felt quite safe and was trying to arrange transfer of Americans in Elisabethvill including members of a large Seventh day Adventist mission, to places of safety. Other foreign consels held a meeting at his home since he could not leave.

Against Cease-Fire

Another consul said diplomats in the city had tried to arrange a cease-fire Wednesday night but "nobody seems to want it." He said the consuls would try again today.

Reports varied today on the success of the U.N. air strike at Kolwezi, 120 miles northwest of

Surprise Attack Is Possible: Admiral

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) —"In this missile and thermonuclear age, it would be foolhardy indeed to assume that surprise attack will never be a possibility."

This warning was delivered today by Adm. John H. Sides, commander of the U.S. Pacific Fleet, at ceremonies marking the 20th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Ceremonies were held on a platform above the waters along "Battleship Row." Activity throughout the naval base halted momentarily in memory of that black Sunday—Dec. 7, 1941.

Timed to Attack Hour

The ceremony was timed to coincide with the exact moment—7:55 a.m.—when the first Japanese planes swooped low over the battleships lining the northeast shores of Ford Island.

Below the memorial platform for the U.S. Arizona, center of today's ceremonies, was the rusting hulk of the warship and the remains of 1,102 crewmen who went down with her. The Arizona and her crew are symbols of those hours when war came to the United States.

South of the Arizona the old battleship row was vacant. But between the flag flying above the Arizona and one beside Ford Island's administration building—less than a mile away—nearly 2,000 men died on a Sunday morning.

Recorded in Blood

"The lessons learned (that day) are recorded in blood," said Sides in his memorial address.

"The important thing for us here today, and for all Americans, is to pledge anew that our country shall always remain strong and shall always be ready to defend the freedoms for which we stand and for which these men fought and died."

Taking part in the memorial tribute were military leaders, congressmen, and representatives of veterans organizations, including 108 Pearl Harbor raid survivors from New England. A group of 60 Gold Star mothers, many of whose sons died on the Arizona, also was on hand.

In the front rank of participants was Lt. Gen. Alan Shapley, Pacific Marine commander and one of the Marines to survive the Dec. 7 attack.

Chimes Are Signal

The ceremony was signalled by the sound of carillon chimes from Ford Island, followed by a Navy bugler's call to colors. The American flag was run up the Arizona flagpole, as it is each day.

The Arizona is entitled to fly the flag because of its unique

Foster Is Named As City Clerk, Has Been Deputy

Mayor-elect John J. Schwenk today revealed that deputy city clerk Walter S. Foster is his choice for the post of city clerk.

"The selection of Scott Foster for this important 'cabinet' position," Schwenk said, "will bring an energetic and experienced civil servant into the administrative levels of city government. His appointment will follow the policies I set forth in my campaign platform to attract the best qualified men to my administration, and to promote from within on the basis of ability.

Jones Names New Workers for '62 Dimes Campaign

Mobilization of the 1962 New March of Dimes moved rapidly forward today with the selection of 17 community leaders for the January campaign in Ulster County.

The appointments were announced by Addison Jones, campaign director and Attorney William A. Kelly, chapter chairman.

$24,000 County Goal

The Ulster County goal this year is $24,000, Director Jones said.

Selection of the vital key workers was made known earlier this week during the kickoff dinner meeting at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

Honorary chairman of the 1962 campaign will be former mayor, Frederick H. Stang.

The other workers include:

Meyer Kaplan, co-chairman of the campaign; Attorney Hubert Richter, city chairman and Mrs. Lincoln Crosby, Mothers' March chairman.

Al Feistel and William Hanley, coin boxes; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shultis, theatre collections; Joseph Epstein, special events; Edgar Maurer, rainbow crutch; Mrs. William Powers,

Economic Growth Is Needed, Says Meany

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP) —AFL-CIO President George Meany, saying American workers want jobs rather than handouts, called today for a big increase in the nation's economic growth rate.

Meany said in a keynote address to the opening session of the AFL-CIO biennial convention that "we can't preserve our American system unless we can step up our economic growth."

He said the stark fact is that 1.35 million new jobs must be created each year during the decade of the 60s in order to assimilate the expanding work force.

Meany also said that in the present cold war controversy with the Soviet Union American union members must "think of themselves first as citizens and secondly as trade unionists."

"We have a greater obligation than any other segment of American society," Meany said, "to see that America is strong—strong economically and strong militarily."

Meany said organized labor is dedicated to preserving human values whereas most other U. S. organizations are dedicated to promoting material things.

The AFL-CIO chief urged labor unions to step up efforts to end racial discrimination. He said that as believers in democ-

First of 1,500 GI's Pass Red Checkpoint on Autobahn Run

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP) —First units of a U.S. battle group bound for duty in West Berlin passed through the Soviet checkpoint on the iron curtain border today without hindrance and rolled off down the 110-mile autobahn through Communist East Germany.

Soviet troops at the border cleared the first company of the 1,500-man battle group in 89 minutes, normal time for the 200 men and 25 vehicles making a new demonstration of Allied rights of access to the Red-encircled city access to the Red-encircled city.

Soviet authorities earlier protested the recent stepup in movements over the autobahn as provocations " fraught with dangerous consequences" and Communist East Germany declared Wednesday night that free movement of U.S. troops along the superhighway has never been guaranteed by the East German regime or the Soviets.

A mongrel dog named "Leg" rode in one of the leading vehicles. The dog, the battle group mascot, had her own serial number on the unit manifest shown to the Soviet guards at the checkpoint.

The incoming 1st Battle Group of the 19th Infantry Division, commanded by Col. Ira Palm, 48, of Mount Vernon, N.Y., is relieving the 18th Infantry's 1st Battle Group, which was rushed to Berlin last August after the Communists threw up their wall dividing the city.

The relief unit will make the autobahn run in small convoys daily, with the operation to take about a week. As the first unit moved out today, another moved up to a bivouac area near the border to prepare for its move to Berlin Friday.

An Army spokesman said units of the 18th Infantry Battle Group would start leaving Berlin Friday for Kassel, West Germany.

West German truck drivers traveling the autobahn Wednesday night said East Germany had increased its patrols along the route .Other sources said Soviet trucks loaded with troops also had been seen along the superhighway.

American officers said Soviet liaison officers in West Germany kept the relief convoy under constant surveilance as it moved up to the Helmstedt crossing point. The U.S. Army has repeatedly ignored Soviet warnings against increased troop movements on the autobahn, asserting that it has the right to utilize the route freely.

The autobahn is the only road the Communists allow the Western powers to use through East Germany and Helmstedt.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Chicken Breasts Are Ideal For Small Family Christmas

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

For the smaller Christmas dinner party, chicken breasts can be served in a festive way. Try this garden sauce with them. Note the use of frozen chopped chives. They add delicacy and color to the dish and are available in most frozen food counters.

Chicken Breasts in Chive Garden Sauce

Six to 8 halved chicken breasts, ½ cup sweet butter, 2 large, firm tomatoes, peeled and chopped, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 2 tablespoons fresh chopped chives, ¼ teaspoon dry thyme, ½ teaspon black pepper, 1½ cups dairy sour cream.

Bone chicken breasts if desired. Melt butter in large heavy skillet. Saute chicken breasts over low heat, turning often, until tender and golden brown, about 30 to 35 minutes. Place on preheated platter and keep warm in low oven. Meanwhile, in same skillet, saute the vegetables and seasonings for 10 minutes, stirring constantly, over low heat. Just before serving, add sour cream and warm slightly. Do not allow sauce to boil. Pass sauce to spoon over chicken breasts.

NOTE: Important in this recipe to use sweet butter as it doesn't seem to burn during the long frying time.

This Deviled Ham Dip will start your Christmas dinner off on a delicious note:

Chive Deviled Ham Dip

One 4½-ounce can deviled ham, 1 cup dairy sour cream, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1 teaspon cream-style horseradish teaspoon cream-style horseradish, ¼ cup fresh chopped chives.

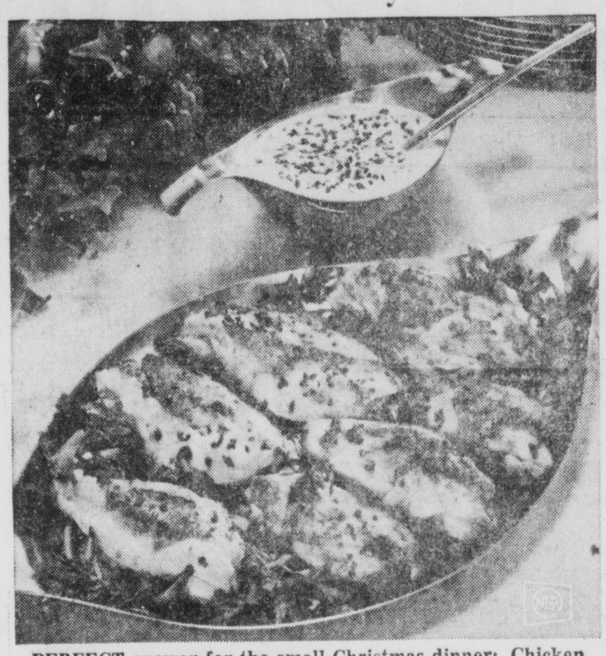
Blend ham with sour cream, mustard, horseradish and chives. Serve well-chilled. Garnish with additional frozen chopped chives.

For a holiday season bridge luncheon, try these delicate sandwiches made of leftover turkey or chicken and mushrooms. They are attractive and suprisingly delicious.

Turkey-Mushroom Sandwiches (Makes about 12 sandwiches)

Three cups diced turkey or chicken, 1½ cups diced celery, ¾ cup diced green pepper, 1 can (6-ounces) chopped, broiled mushrooms, drained; ¾ cup dairy sour cream, ¾ cup salad dressing or mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon dehydrated, grated lemon peel; 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, dash tabasco sauce.

Combine diced turkey or chicken, celery, green pepper and mushrooms. In another container, blend together remaining ingredients, then add to turkey mixture, tossing gently to mix thoroughly. Spread mixture on 12 slices of buttered, fresh bread using about 1/3 cup sandwich filling on each slice. Top with another 12 slices, then cut sandwiches in half. Garnish serving plate with sweet gherkins, green olives and radish roses.



PERFECT answer for the small Christmas dinner: Chicken breasts, with Chive Garden Sauce in an accompanying dish.

Relatively Little Spent to Prevent Pollution

New York State 5 Years Behind In Cleaning Up Rivers and Lakes

By MICHAEL KEATING

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State's program to clean up filthy rivers and lakes is about five years behind schedule.

When former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey signed in April 1949 the bill creating the State Water Pollution Control Board, the board was expected to classify all of the waters in the state within 10 years.

Classification is the first step in issuing and enforcing clean-up regulations.

It is now the end of 1961, and two or three years more apparently are needed to finish the classification job.

One reason is readily apparent. For a state that has an annual budget of more than $2 billion, relatively little is spent to prevent pollution. In 1951, the Water Pollution Control Board received only $60,000 from the state and $34,000 in federal funds with which to operate. The state has spent an average of $300,000 a year to help localities draw plans for sewage plants.

Lack of Funds, Forces

The board's director, A. F. Dappert, complained publicly in 1951 that the program was "bogging down" because of lack of funds and personnel.

Today, the board receives annaul funds of $170,000 from the state and $165,000 from the federal government.

Then too, the Legislature has been reluctant to see communities forced to build treatment plants. This year, the lawmakers passed a bill that would have delayed enforcement of clean-up orders for two years. Gov. Rockefeller vetoed it.

But despite these factors, there has been substantial progress.

Progress Made

In summary, this is what has been done:

New pollution has been stemmed by a requirement that the state must approve new sewage outlets; the waters that have been classified constitute the bulk of the acute pollution areas; several interstate pacts have been reached for governing rivers that cross state boundaries.

Major pollution problems on Chautauqua Lake, Onondaga Lake, Lake Erie, the Niagara and Susquehanna rivers and duck waste on Long Island have been, or are in the process of being, alleviated.

As of last year, 11 of the 91 cities and villages that were polluting rivers and streams in 1957 had undertaken sewage-treatment projects; also as of last year, 16 of the 60 cities and villages with obsolete treatment plants were rehabilitating them.

Pleased With Niagara

Dappert is especially pleased with the progress on the Niagara. Where once about 40 industries dumped 3 tons of smelly substance daily into the Niagara, they now dump about 400 pounds daily. The offensive taste and odor that had plagued the river, is nearly gone, Dappert said.

But problems remain. Watertown, for instance, still dumps sewage into the Black River.

Bu the Hudson and the Mohawk that constitute the worst problem, according to Dappert. The pollution problem there is of long-standing and, in some areas, so bad that the smell carries over a mile and paint has been known to blister from houses.

Utica Unwilling

Here is the situation:

The Mohawk—The main polluters are Utica, Little Falls and Amsterdam, assisted by Johnstown, Gloversville and Herkimer. Little Falls, downstream from Utica, a city with more than 100,000 population, will not take action until Utica does something.

Utica, which dumps raw sewage into the stream, appears unwilling to move. It has fought the state pollution law unsuccessfully right up to the Court of Appeals. The issue now is stalemated and the state eventually may take Utica into court to force the city to take action. Such action by the state would be its first.

Dappert says the Mohawk could be made safe for swimming in 10 years.

The Hudson—Below the City of Hudson, "progress has been tremendous," Dappert says. Westchester County recently opened a $15-million treatment plant. But from Hudson to Troy, the situation is bad.

Still Polluting Stream

Polluting the Hudson, either through direct discharge of sewage or through obsolete treatment plants, are Newburgh, Beacon, Catskill, Athens, Hudson, Coxsackie, Castleton, Rensselaer, Menands, Green Island, Cohoes and Watervliet.

The water pollution board has had little success in pressuring these communities to build plants.

"We have exhausted our efforts to get things done in a cooperative way," Dappert says.

Mayor John Kelly of Hudson sums up the position of the communities thusly:

"Our cost for constructing a disposal plant to meet the state's requirements, according to the latest engineer's estimates, will run well over $1 million and will require a yearly operating and maintenance cost of over $40,000.

It is obvious that a debt of this size is sufficient to bankrupt any city the size of Hudson and would certainly curtail for years to come any improvements that to me is far more important and necessary to the comfort and welfare of the people than trying to clean over 500 miles of waterway . . .

"If the state sees fit to clean the Hudson and its tributaries, then it should find a means of raising the money from some source other than creating a hardship on the home-owner who will have to carry the cost for many years to come."

In the last 10 years, over a quarter of a million men have left the coal mining industry. Yet, through mechanization, the output of those who have remained has doubled.

The Sound of Approval

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Sound of Music" has grossed $12,019,207 since arriving on Broadway two years ago.

The revenue has been earned by three productions of the Rogers-Hammerstein musical — the the White Way original, the national company and the London presentation. Another touring troupe recently began operations in Australia.

Another evidence of the show's popularity is the million-plus original cast albums that have been sold.

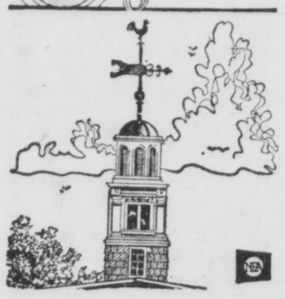
matter of fact



Our Yankee ancestors might have been surprised to learn that the weathercock on the barn was the result of a pope's decree. In the ninth century, Pope Nicholas I decided that weathercocks on church steeples would remind Christians that Peter denied his Master when the cock crowed three times. Though the weathercock's religious significance is faded, it's still a handsome sight atop many old barns.

LATIN AMERICAN VISIT

The President's decision to visit South America is most encouraging to all who understand the vital importance of that region. The decision also is somewhat disturbing when one recalls the reception given then Vice President Nixon by hostile crowds in some Latin American countries. But the stakes seem great enough to warrant the risk, so long as proper security precautions are taken.

Latin America is most emphatically one area where democracy must not lose. The need to block the intrusion of communism into that part of the world goes beyond the fact that it is so close to home. For what is involved is the solidity of those nations bordering on the Atlantic, both north and south, which is what is really meant by the West. That solidity already is imperiled by Red-inspired chaos in Africa.

Mr. Kennedy's personal appearance should lend stimulus to the Alliance for Progress. This is particularly important because the Alliance program, with its requirement that the nations receiving our aid enact social reforms, provides one of our greatest potential weapons against the world advance of totalitarianism. The need for that stimulus is apparent to anyone who understands the appalling odds democracy is up against in a land which has no middle class.

It is precisely that lack of middle class which makes the free world's case so desperate in the sprawling territory south of the Caribbean. In several of the countries the setup is almost identical with the feudalism of which Europe divested itself centuries ago. The difference is that today's peons are aware that the world has changed, even if their exploiters are not.

Moreover, they mean to become—by one route or another — beneficiaries of the change. If the West does not show them the way, Moscow and Cuba's fanatics will.

MONEY TROUBLE NEXT DOOR

Sporadically, people on both sides of the border arise to decry the indications that the United States "takes Canada for granted."

Perhaps such a time is at hand again, for the Canadians are on the threshold of a sharp new economic dilemma and nobody in this country seems to be paying much attention.

If the puzzle is not solved fairly satisfactorily, we could be hurt along with the Canadians. For they are at once our biggest foreign trade customers and the biggest outlet for our foreign investment. For the last 15 years we have been investing about $1 billion a year in Canada.

That nation's crisis stems from Britain's decision to join the six-nation European Common Market.

About 20 per cent of Canada's foreign trade is with Britain, under preferential arrangements that go back to 1896. The total comes to nearly $1 billion annually.

The Canadians are convinced that their trade preferences will be shattered when the British take the big step. They fear yearly losses upwards of $150 million, maybe a third of that in manufactured goods, the rest in Canada's key raw materials—wheat, aluminum, newsprint.

The die has not yet been cast. The British are in the midst of negotiations with the Common Market countries. But the Canadians' best hope, according to knowledgeable officials, is that Britain as a member will be allowed only "certain modifications" of the treaty rules — which might permit a slight nod in Canada's favor.

Canadian authorities make it pretty plain that they would like the United States to be their real support in this developing predicament.

Poet Louis Untermeyer says he hasn't seen any beatnik verse that he would care to re-read. That puts him a jump ahead of us.

Health fakers are reported bilking Americans out of a billion dollars annually, changing imaginary ailments into real ones.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

CASTRO'S ADMISSION

Fidel Castro has now made it clear beyond a doubt that he is a Marxist-Leninist, that is, a Communist of the breed of Soviet Russia. He says that he has been one of them for some time. Therefore, the defenders of Castro, as not being a Communist, are either ignorant or untruthful.

Castro said:

"I am a Marxist-Leninist and will be one until the day I die."

Thus we have his own statement of the case and the apologetics of Herbert Matthews of "The New York Times" proves to be false. Castro's confession also establishes beyond doubt that those officials of the State Department who are responsible for defending Castro and helping to put him in power were in error and that they ought to be dismissed summarily.

The significance of Castro's admission is not so much that he is a Communist which all informed persons knew to be so and to which Ambassadors Arthur Gardner and Earl E. T. Smith witnessed. Its significance and importance lie in the inadequate policy-forming in the State Department and the White House which is in too great a measure dependent upon the CIA which is supposed to supply correct and adequate information and never has.

Castro's admission that he is a Marxist-Leninist puts an end to the falsehoods which are being spread by various committees and organizations in favor of what is called a "free" Cuba. It raises again the question of the reestablishment of the Monroe Doctrine as a fundamental principle of American policy. If we are to intervene, as we are now doing in the Dominican Republic, let us, at any rate, intervene on the right side for a change.

American intervention in European, African, Asiatic and Latin American affairs during the recent decades has been based on the supposition that we are opposed to dictatorships but that we must tolerate dictatorships if they are Communistic because we are opposed to any form of Conservatism and favor every form of "democracy" even if what is called democracy is the dictatorship of the proletariat as devised by Marx and Lenin. Thus in China, the United States intervened in favor of the Communist regime of Mao Tze-tung and against the pro-American regime of Chiank Kai-shek. Thus, in Korea, we prevented General Douglas MacArthur from putting an end to a Communist regime. Thus in French Indochina, we made it possible for Ho Chih-minh to establish a Communist state. Thus, we failed to resist the Soviet effort to establish Communist states out of the defeated powers of World War II, which we believed that we were rescuing from Nazi imperialism only to turn them over to Soviet imperialism.

Castro's confession warrants a reorganization of American policy personnel and a revision of American policy throughout the world. When a policy proves to be a failure, it needs not be sustained by reactionary bigotry. Our Cuban policy has proved to be a failure and we ought to be ready to revise it.

Prior to the cancellation of the Monroe Doctrine, it was American policy we did not intervene in the affairs of other countries, but that we also would not tolerate intervention by other countries when such intervention affected our right. Not only was the Monroe Doctrine enunciated to this end, but the Open Door Policy regarding China was a similar statement of principle. Both were based on the fundamental concept of American foreign policy as enunciated by President George Washington in his "Farewell Address." This doctrine advocated the avoidance of intervention in the interest of safeguarding American integrity.

In a word, this policy of non-intervention and resistance to intervention by others on the American doctrine until Woodrow Wilson brought this country into World War I. Franklin D. Roosevelt chose to follow Woodrow Wilson rather than George Washington and intervened not only in European affairs but assumed the role of world leadership for which this country was not ready. Historic evidence established beyond doubt that the policy of non-intervention was sound and beneficial to the United States. We built a great country when we avoided interference in the affairs of others. The British intervened and spent three centuries losing their colonies. An excellent example of avoidance of European intervention was the resistance to the establishment of Maximilian's kingdom in Mexico.

Doctor's Staunch Supporter Of House Call's Value

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A great deal of publicity recently was given a difference of opinion concerning the merits of the doctor's house call. Most of the debate that came to my attention centered on the economic aspects of the problem.

Opponents of the house call primarily argued that the home visit was wasteful for the patient in that, most often, it had to be supplemented with the office visit that should have been made in the first place. From the standpoint of the doctor, the practice was wasteful since it consumed more time than was required to see perhaps a half dozen patients in the office.

Those who still favored the home visit argued its usefulness in helping the young doctor to establish himself in the neighborhood of his office.

Until, of course, his office practice had grown to the extent that he could behave in the manner of the more securely established practitioners.

In my minority and, I presume, outdated opinion, I think my colleagues on both sides of the fence failed to give consideration to the most useful feature of the house call. And that, quite simply, is to get a firsthand view of the patient's surroundings and background.

Just as a birdwatcher would want to observe his feathered friends in what's called their natural habitat, not in the artificial conditions that prevail in a cage. And as the biologist would want to observe the living organisms in which he was interested in the woods or the fields or the stream. Not in a zoo or an aquarium.

Now it's true that a visit to the patient in his natural habitat has not the status of an X-ray test or a blood chemistry. And it certainly wouldn't be as valuable to a psychiatrist as a patient's interpretation of what a couple of blots represented.

But then the visiting physician just might discover that the woman who complained of fatigue wasn't a hypochondriac or a neurasthenic but just the victim of housekeeper-itis.

That the hypertensive wage earner wasn't suffering so much from hardening of the arteries as from his unremitting efforts to make both ends meet.

That the female with hyperacidity was reacting to an intolerable position brought about by an alcoholic husband's efforts to escape his home obligations.

That the middle-aged male with an ulcer was literally "eating himself up" because of the failure of his children to seize on the opportunities with which he'd presented them.

Perhaps those who discount the value of the house call may argue that these facts would come out in the history. Maybe yes. But, again, maybe no.

Many sensitive persons are too proud to complain. Others are ashamed to admit the presence of an alcoholic in the household, or that of a "mental patient."

And, even if they did tell their story, it couldn't possibly have the value of what is seen and heard by an intelligent and kindly observer who takes the trouble to look and listen in the natural habitat.

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A new Office of Labor Management Services is being set up by Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg to help local communities use Department of Labor facilities in solving their more complex industrial relations problems.

This action is the result of a number of requests which have come to Goldberg's office since he took over.

Wheeling, W. Va., for example, sent a delegation to Washington interested in improving their employment outlook. They were particularly interested in manpower retraining to attract new industries.

A group from the copper mining area of upper Michigan came in, wanting to restore their business but worried about labor supply.

THERE WASN'T ANY ONE bureau in Department of Labor to which problems like these could be given for handling.

Goldberg didn't have time to handle them all himself. But by better co-ordination of the work of the Department's bureaus of training and employment security, it could be done.

Department of Labor now has a system of monthly meetings for the heads of its bureaus in its 12 U. S. regions. These are followed by more local field staff committee meetings in about 50 cities where there are labor bureau offices. This system was established by James P. Mitchell, former labor secretary, to correct the condition of local bureau officers acting independently, without knowing or caring what other bureaus did.

ONE OF THE FUNCTIONS of Goldberg's new Office of Labor Management Services will be to strengthen still further the cooperation of local field offices.

Hundreds of requests come into these offices daily. They are on wage and hour law, labor standards, government reports or similar matters. Local offices aren't set up to police the laws but to help employers comply with them.

Such inquiries are handled in routine fashion when they apply to only one subject. But where they cross bureau lines, there has not been the best coordination. This is what Goldberg is trying to improve, for public service.

One other approach will be to help communities set up local labor-management committees. This was a natural development from President Kennedy's National Committee on Labor-Management Policy, now at work on five studies to promote better U. S. industrial relations.

Toledo, Ohio, has had such o group in operation for some years. Los Angeles County is now in the process of setting one up.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN. offers a good case history. The city's reputation for bad labor relations was making it difficult to keep old industries and attract new ones.

Fourteen employers and as many labor union officials got together a year ago to see what they could do about it. Over a period of six months they worked out a set of broad principles to improve labor-management relations for the future.

Both parties recognized that they had to live together or go broke.

They finally agreed on a set of ground rules to govern their actions during union organizing drives, during strikes and during the life of a contract. Finally, both sides agreed to fulfill their responsibilities to the community to promote its economic growth and create a healthier labor climate.

If encouragement can be given to other cities beset by industrial strife to follow the Bridgeport example, it is hoped that the new Office of Labor Management Services will justify itself.

The outfit now consists only of a part-time man and his secretary. Goldberg has named Dr. Harry Weiss to direct the new office. He has been serving as staff director for the President's Labor - Management Committee and will continue in that role.

An appropriation to run the office will be asked for in the new budget. The first assistants will be a labor director and a management director. The idea is to keep the office small. This is the way all new agencies start, so this one may grow if it works.

Editor, The Freeman

The Gardiner Civic and Taxpayers' Assoc., takes this opportunity to state its stand as being firmly in back of the American Legion on the following issues:—

FIRST—On the closing of all Veteran Offices throughout the country except for a few central offices in the metropolitan areas, as in New York State, New York City, Albany, Buffalo, etc. All other offices as Kingston, Newburh, Pouhkeepsie (to name our local ones) who have rendered innumerable services to the veterans and their dependents, would be closed. Under the new setup all problems of those concerned would have to be referred to a few central offices with the resultant delay, expense and endless red tape usually present in these conditions. A veteran with a problem would have little chance of its solution in a reasonable time even if it constituted a hardship to him and his family. The date set for this closing is December 29, 1961. We therefore urge all citizens to write the following at their earliest convenince, protesting against this action. Write to John S. Gleason Jr., Administrator Veteran Affairs, Washington, D. C. and to J. Ernest Wharton, Representative in Congress, Richmondville, N. Y.

SECOND—That all monies collected by the State of New York via the Cigarette Tax be made available to the Veterans of the Korean Conflict as a State Bonus. This tax was levied and given as a bonus to the World War 2 veterans. However, as this tax was never repealed after this was accomplished, we feel that the monies accrued since that time should be available to the Korean veterans in New York State. This procedure has been followed by many other states. We urge all citizens to write to our State Senator and Assemblyman now before the State Legislature convenes. Write to The Hon. E. Ogden Bush, State Senator, Delancey, N. Y. and to Kenneth L. Wilson, Member of Assembly, Woodstock, N. Y.

Thank you

UN Debate on Red Chinese Seen as Issue of Moral Law

By DAVID LAWRENCE

It is not generally realized that the debate in the United Nations as to whether Red China should be admitted to membership goes to the heart of the issue of moral law in the world today.

In the background is an age-old question: why do wars come? Primarily because one side is confident that the other is too weak to resist effectively or that it will not fight—even if strong. And who gives the impression of unwillingness to fight or an attitude of defeatism that indicates surrender can be "negotiated"? It is those who embrace a school of thought which is misguided though sincere. This attitude unhappily changes only when the enemy has finally convinced the defeatists of the facts of life.

Today there is danger of war again because defeatism at a very critical moment has come to the fore. It took a long while to overcome the defeatism of those who wanted to surrender Allied rights in West Germany by some form of "disengagement" that would be "negotiated." The idea has not been swept away entirely, but it is no longer as influential as it was.

150,000 Called Up

Actually, the President of the United States found that he had to call up more than 150,000 reservists and virtually threaten some kind of military action in and around West Berlin to convince the Russians of what they should have known all along—that the United States wouldn't surrender her convictions just because the Moscow government assumed America was going the way of the appeasers and the defeatists.

There is only one sound basis for the making and execution of the foreign policy of the United States in the world today. It has been the foundation of American policy in the past, and it will be effective in the future. It is to take a position based on moral law and to adhere to it no matter how loud the defeatists in our midst may protest.

If the UN condones the unmoral behavior of any of its members, if the UN looks the other way when a member nation commits treason, and if the United States allows itself to be influenced by the defeatists who say surrender to evil is "inevitable" — and hence, for example, the admission of Red China to the UN is "inevitable" — then in the end many more young Americans than just the reservists will be leaving their homes and their jobs and their educational institutions to serve a long, long term in the armed services of the nation just to show that we are not timid or afraid to fight.

Reds Never Repented

The American spokesmen at the UN have just finished telling the world in clear-cut addresses to the General Assembly why Red China should not be admitted to the UN. The reasons are numerous but among them is the central fact that Red China has never repented or atoned for having started the Korean War in which so many thousands of young men — including Americans — lost their lives in an attempt to repel what the UN itself described in a formal resolution as aggression.

Indeed, after the UN sent its own troops to fight in Korea, the Red Chinese still resisted. They were aided by Moscow's arms and supplies—an act of treason against the UN. But now there is a school of thought in this country and abroad which wishes blandly to overlook such crimes.

Sweden, which has herself observed the effects of two world wars and is considered among the enlightened nations of the word, tragically detaches herself from moral principle and moral law and accepts the course of expediency and surrender on the Red China issue. Instead of denouncing such a course at this critical time when the matter is up for debate and a vote in the UN, the influential New York Times editorially makes a sympathetic argument that "Sweden knows all about Communist China, knows its record in Korea, knows its brutal rule at home" but nevertheless "wants Communist China in the UN" on the theory that membership should be "universal." The Times accepts without protest the idea that Red China and Formosa—should be given membership.

This is tantamount to saying the UN has no principles of morality of its own, that its charter—which calls for the admission only of "peace-loving" nations—is meaningless, and that the United States should bow to the concept that gangsters and decent people must fraternize with each other. Yet this kind of reasoning is the very sort of defeatism that inevitably leads to war. For the gangster governments see it as cowardice and weakness, and they are thus encouraged to challenge it.

All of this eventually could lead to a call for more "reservists" and more "draft" divisions of American boys and a risk that the United States will some day be compelled to sacrifice millions of lives just to prove that our government means what it says.

A reiteration of a basic principle is necessary — that the United States will not bow to unmorality even if it means our withdrawal from the UN as a means of convincing other peoples that the UN cannot exist half-gangster and half-free, even as it is financed to a large degree by the taxpayers of the United States.

Ithaca Free Bus Plan Is 'Shock' To Ohio Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, says he is "shocked" at an Ithaca, N. Y., plan to use federal funds to provide free bus transportation as a means of ending traffic congestion.

Lausche, in a letter Wednesday to the Federal Urban Transportation Administration asked:

"If Ithaca is entitled to free transportation, what about the other communities of the country?

"What will be the final cost to the federal treasury—which is already hard pressed to meet the fiscal demands of maintaining an adequate military defense?"

Ithaca had appealed to the administration for a $120,000 grant to finance the test of free city bus service.

Ithaca's common council proposed the plan as a solution to traffic congestion after learning it would cost nearly $1 million to acquire several hundred needed downtown parking spaces.

Presumably, people in the city of 30,000 would prefer a free bus ride to driving downtown.

Ithaca spokesmen have been quoted as saying they had "every indication" from the housing and home finance agency that the federal grant will be approved and that free bus rides may begin next month.

The city plans to buy four new buses with its own money and run the free service with the hoped-for federal funds.

Lausche, in his letter asked the administration if it planned to grant Ithaca the money for the free bus service.

He said he did not believe the Senate, in approving $50 million for research work to solve the urban transportation problem, intended the money to provide free transportation.

Potatoes Develop From Presley Fans

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The stream of Elvis Presley fans who park to gape at his mansion near Memphis has forced some extra work onto the State Highway Department.

J. W. Bennett, highway division engineer, said the highway shoulder in the area had developed some dangerous potholes. Gravel did no good because so many girls carried off pebbles as souvenirs.

So a crew was sent to patch the holes and lay asphalt surfacing on the shoulders in the immediate area. The mansion is located between Memphis and suburban Whitehaven.

Onteora Is Participating In Student Teaching Program

Onteora Central School is one of the participating school systems in the student teaching program of the State University College, New Paltz, it was announced this week.

College students are assigned to Onteora for a 20-week period, during which time they receive actual teaching experience at two different grade levels. The college students are in the upper junior or senior year at New Paltz and have satisfactorily completed all of the General Education courses plus the first four courses of the education sequence. They must also meet the criteria established for scholarship, health, social and personal maturity and speech and must have completed a program of supervised observation and participation in the Campus Elementary School at the college.

At Onteora, the student teachers are placed with cooperating teachers of proven ability. The cooperating teacher is responsible for guiding the student teacher through a series of experiences which will enable him to take his place in the education profession as a beginning teacher the following year. A series of seminars and workshops with the remedial reading teacher, speech therapist, psychologist, school health personnel and principal are also held to familiarize the student teacher with the services these people stand ready to offer and their place in the total educational program of the school system.

The Onteora faculty is aided in this task by a supervisor from the college who acts to coordinate the work of Onteora and the college in providing satisfactory field experiences for the student teachers. Dr. Howard J. Mosher, Professor of Education at New Paltz, and holder of a BS from State University College, Albany; MS—University of Rochester and Ed.D—Teachers College, Columbia University, is working with the five student teachers who have been assigned to Onteora this semester.

Teachers Listed

The student teachers are:

Mrs. Emma Argulewicz of Kingston, who is majoring in English, literature and education. She did her first quarter's practice teaching in Mrs. DeMicco's third grade at the Bennett school and is currently working in Mr. Boyle's fifth grade at the central building.

Patricia Brooks of Kingston, is working with Mrs. Corregan's fifth grade at the West Hurley School. At college she is majoring in foreign languages and education. Her first quarter's experience was with Mrs. Lowther's first grade at the Bennett School.

Margaret A. Divo, a major in biological science and education comes from Eddyville. Her first quarter's work was with Mrs. Frost's second grade. She is now working with Mrs. Kelly's fourth grade. Both experiences were at the Bennett school.

May Eng of Kingston, is currently working at the junior high school level teaching mathematics and science. Her first quarter's work was with Mrs. Gordon's sixth grade at the central building. Miss Eng is a mathematics and education major and plans to extend her certification to include early secondary teaching of mathematics.

Sarene Murphy, from Kingston, is majoring in western civilizations and education. Her first quarter's work was with Mrs. Washburn's fourth grade at the Bennett school. She remained at Bennett and is now working with Mrs. Epstein's second grade.

Onteora is meeting its responsibility to the education profession by helping to prepare new teachers through its student teaching program. In addition, Onteora reaps benefits from the program. Student teachers give OCS a source of prospective teachers for our schools. Fresh from their theory courses and participation at the Campus School, student teachers bring new enthusiasm and ideas to the faculty. The college supervisor, a vital part of the student teaching program, shares his knowledge and experience with OCS in atacking some of the educational problems which confront OCS.

Principal Talks About Financing Public Schools

Dr. George R. Sullivan, district principal of the Onteora Central Schools District, was the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Woodstock League of Women Voters last night. Dr. Sullivan was invited to address this group in connection with study of Financing Public School Education which is now being undertaken by all local leagues in New York State.

Dr. Sullivan's talk was divided into three major parts — first, an introduction to some basic concepts and terms necessary for an understanding of public school finance. Second, a look at the current Fundation Program of State Aid in New York State — its strengths and weaknesses. Third, a new approach to school finance — The Shared Cost Plan.

Dr. Sullivan is particularly well qualified to speak on this subject since he served as Research Assistant for the Institute of Administrative Research at Teachers' College, Columbia University from September, 1960 through June, 1961 while obtaining his Doctor of Education degree. During this time he assisted in the preparation of financial studies for the Central Schools study which serves as a research agent for 500 central schools in New York State.

Dr. Sullivan obtained a B. S. degree from State Teachers' College in Cortland in 1938 and his Masters' Degree from the University of Rochester in 1950. His recent teaching experience includes serving as principal of the East Brunswick High School, in East Brunswick, New Jersey, with an enrollment of 1560 students, from July, 1957 through July, 1960. During this time he supervised construction of a seven-building, campus-type high school and organized and supervised all operational procedures for this new high school.

There will be a follow-up meeting to discuss Dr. Sullivan's talk on Wednesday, December 13 at 8 p. m. at the home of Miss Florence Harrison. Miss Harrison is the chairman of the Woodstock League's Education Study group and is inviting all interested members and their guests to attend.

Clothing Drive Ends on Friday

The Save the Children Federation Bundle Days sponsored by the students of Onteora Central School will end on Friday. Since Dec. 4, the students have been collecting good used clothing for distribution to needy children and their parents in the Southern Mountain regions of the United States and elsewhere.

"The determination of our students to make this Save the Children Bundle Days project a success is inspiring," declared Pamela Rowe, "I strongly urge everyone to cooperate with these young people by contributing as much used clothing as possible. There is still time to participate."

Students have been making house-to-house collections for the clothing, or contributors may bring the clothing directly to the school in bags or cartons. According to Dr. Willard W. Beatty, executive vice president of the Save the Children Federation—a 30-year-old international organization dedicated to the service of children everywhere—the stress in this year's collection is upon good wearable clothing—clothing a child or adult would be proud to wear.

Fire Chief Asks Calls Be Made To Woodstock

Fire Chief George Haythorne has urged residents of Woodstock township not to call the fire companies in Wittenberg, Lake Hill and Zena. Instead, the chief said at the monthly meeting of Fire Company No. 1, all calls should be directed to headquarters in Woodstock where there is always someone on duty 24 hours a day.

The telephone number for fire calls is OR 9-2012.

A committee from the fire police gave a talk on the duties and organization of the fire police in conjunction with a fire department.

Duncan Wilson reported that the dance held in Wittenberg Sportsmen Club was well attended and the round and square dancing was greatly enjoyed by all. He expressed the thanks of the fire company to the public.

Richard Ostrander was elected a member of the company.

It was voted to hold a Christmas party for the members and their wives Saturday, Dec. 16, at the fire hall. It was also voted to sponsor a motion picture program for the children of the town on Saturday, Dec. 23, in the town hall.

Chief Haythorne's monthly report showed three fires during the month of November — one brush fire, one fire in the dump and one fire on a well drilling.

After the meeting two films were shown — one by the Red Cross entitled, "Checking for Injuries" and the other "Stop Fire and Save Jobs."

New Artists in Winter Opener At the Kleinert

The performing artists in the first concert sponsored by the Woodstock Festival Committee's winter series on Dec. 10 — the Four Seasons Consort — area group of four instrumentalists specializing in the performance of music of the Medieval, Renaissance and Baroque periods.

Individual players are Eric Leiber, recorders, harpsichord; Patricia Livingston, harpsichord, viol; Barbara Meuser, viola de gamba, and Louis Wann, oboe and oboe d'amore. For the Woodstock concert, Morris Newman, bassoon and recorders, will be a guest artist replacing Barbara Meuser.

The program will include four Baroque Sonatas, two of them by Telemann, one by Pepusch, one by Galliard; Renaissance music by William Byrd, di Lasso and others; and a group of short medieval compositions, dating from the 12th to the 15th century.

Some idea of the quality of the Four Seasons Consort is suggested by the following extraction from a New York Times review, 1961: The Four Season gave . . . "one of the most penetrating and expressive performances this listener ever heard . . . the program was full of varied delights . . . there was substance, as well as charm, in all the music."

Tickets will be sold at the Kleinert Recital Hall on the afternoon of the concert.

MOTOR CARS' GRANDDADDY—This is a model of the first motor car driven by the first internal combustion engine, invented in 1863 in Paris by Belgian-born Etienne Lenoir. The model is being shown at the "Century of Motor Cars" in Paris. Things have changed slightly since then.

Javits Warns GOP Too Conservative Program Harmful

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said today that a path toward ultra-conservatism would insure permanent minority status or total eclipse for his Republican party.

The senator said he was seriously concerned by an effort "to foist on the party an ultraconservative label and an ultra-conservative program." He expressed belief that ultra-conservatism was as "out-dated as isolationism — and as unwise."

The senator also said, in an address prepared for the Brackett Lecture on politics at Union College, that success of the United States policy at home in winning less developed areas of the world to freedom would determine whether freedom or communism would dominate the earth. Javits recently returned from a visit to Russia.

"The recently widely publicized wave of ultra-conservative fanaticism is under control," he said, but added that "it represents a danger to the Republican Party which cannot be overlooked."

He said that all analyses of the 1960 and 1961 elections indicated that the Republican Party could not win a national election unless it broadened its appeal to voters in the cities and the suburbs.

He added, however, that this did not mean that progressive Republicanism "must out-promise the Democrats.

He also said that any watering down of the Republican civil rights plan adopted at the 1960 national convention—as a bid for support among southern segregationists—would be devasting to the party. He said Sen. Goldwater, R-Ariz., often mentioned as a GOP presidential candidate, had made such a suggestion.

Sacrificing Salary

NEW YORK (AP) — Maureen Bailey, a bit player and understudy in "The Sound of Music," has taken an off-Broadway assignment instead even though it means a weekly pay cut from $121 to $45.

"It's a much role," says the 22-year-old actress. "I get to sing a half-dozen songs and the part is more than one dimensional."

Miss Bailey's new venture is in "All Kinds of Giants."

We The Women

Unsung Heroine — The Back-Seat Driver

Well, what do you know? At last someone has written an article called "Let's Be Kind to Back-Seat Drivers." And it didn't appear in a woman's magazine, but in one of those automobile newsletters that go out to car owners—both men and women.

The gist of the article is that, according to safety experts, the back-seat driver isn't such a bad idea after all.

Sorry to report there were no statistics proving how many accidents have been avoided by back-seat-driving wives who keep their eyes on the speedometer, who read aloud all such signs as "Slow to 15 miles an hour," "Road slippery when wet," "No passing," and "Road under construction..." But any back-seat driver worth her salt KNOWS she is the best safety device in her husband's automobile.

The trouble is, husbands never give their wives credit for any of their near-misses on the highway. Their only thanks for a timely "Look out" is an annoyed "Do you want to drive?" or, "I had plenty of room; what are you yelling about?"

But back-seat drivers know their value. Perhaps men wouldn't be so resentful of their wives' help in driving if it didn't come as such a shock to them to find out that all it takes to turn a woman into a back-seat driver is a license—not a driver's license, but a marriage license.

The very same girl who, before marriage, will snuggle down comfortably while her date steps on the gas and weaves in and out of traffic, is a different road companion once the man at the wheel becomes her husband.

No longer does she pretend admiration for his daring when he risks her neck passing on a hill or roaring along on a rainy night. No, indeed.

She suddenly becomes a back-seat driver, much more interested in getting home safely than in letting her husband show her what a demon he is at the wheel.

Stunned by this sudden switch, men are just naturally resentful. And even though they may read the article taking up for back-seat drivers, it isn't likely they'll ever like having one in the car with them.

Miss Stein Is Ready

NEW YORK (AP) — Susan Stein is doubly prepared for appearance in "Take Her, She's Mine," comedy starring Art Carney which is due on Broadway in January.

In the show Miss Stein portrays a college student who earns her keep by singing in a night club. In real life, Miss Stein is a Vassar College graduate who has been a cabaret entertainer.

$500 Million at Yule

Shoplifting Runs To Fancy Figure

CHICAGO (AP)— Shoplifting is mostly obedience to an impulse by otherwise hopest people whose petty pilferage will cost America's merchants more than $500 million during December.

The conclusion and estimate of loss is by Norman Industries, Inc., of Chicago, a theft-prevention engineering firm.

Norman Kiven, president, said the peak of Christmas shopping also will be the peak of shoplifting. It will become so prevalent in some stores, he said, that the merchants will find when the rush is over they actually operated in the red.

One large store in the Midwest recently reported it apprehended 57 shoplifters in a two-week period before Christmas shopping began. The average attempted theft in those cases involved merchandise valued at $11.48.

Kiven said his statistics show that only about 10 per cent of shoplifters are professionals. He described the others as ordinary people of whom 90 per cent are women.

"Contrary to what most people think," Kiven said, "the middle income and richer customers are responsible for greater losses. Virtually none of them would resort to the impulse to steal if they believed there was the slightest chance they would be caught. People with smaller incomes are satisfied with the smaller impulse-type merchandise."

Kiven said reports by merchants show that shoplifting has risen 14 per cent in the last year.

The ranks of shoplifters sometimes include employes of the stores themselves, Kiven said.

He cited a department store in Detroit which asked its employes to take a lie test with a pledge of immunity from any guilt that might be shown. After the tests, 76 per cent of the employes admitted stealing $100 or more each during the preceding six months.

BOARDING FOR ACTION—United Nations soldiers board an armored truck near Elisabethville, the Congo, before engaging the Katanga forces in action. (NEA Radio-Telephoto)

Katanga Capital

Elisabethville, The U. N. command in Leopoldville claimed that Indian Canberra jets, in a 20-minute raid, destroyed four planes of the fledgling Katanga air force including a Fouga jet fighter. But the Kolwezi telephone exchange reported only one Katangan DC4 was destroyed and there was no other damage.

Fuel Tanks Destroyed

Private sources reported that U.N. planes, in a second air attack on Kolwezi Wednesday afternoon, destroyed the reserve fuel tanks there.

Kolwezi, in the center of the copper-cobalt mining belt, was reported quiet this morning. No fighting was reported outside Elisabethville, despite claims in Paris Wednesday by Tshombe that the U.N. had attacked at Manono, 275 miles north of Elisabethville, and the fighting was becoming general.

The U.N. command in Leopoldville confirmed a Katangan report of fighting in Manono, 275 miles north of Elisabethville. The command said Gurkha and Ethiopian troops "cleared out" a Katanga gendarmerie camp in Manono Wednesday.

The Katangans launched a counterattack today against a railway tunnel outside Elisabethville captured by the U.N. Wednesday night. But a U.N. spokesman said "mopping up" operations were still in progress this morning.

Highway in U. N. Hands

U.N. forces took control Wednesday night of an important highway to the suburbs by seizing an underpass. Other fighting was reported around a roadblock leading from the city to the main airport.

There was no report that U.N. troops had moved into Elisabethville itself, and the only firing inside the city seemed to come from the small arms of Katangan police and troops shooting at any U.N. planes that flew over.

Some stores reopened. Soldiers firing at one U.N. plane threw customers into a panic. Fearing the U.N. troops were attacking, they dropped to the floors.

Tshombe Leaves Paris

Tshombe left Paris Wednesday night, saying he would take personal command of his forces, and arrived today in Brazzaville, capital of the former French Congo across the Congo River from Leopoldville.

The volatile Katangan president took off an hour later aboard a special French airliner. Unconfirmed reports said he was bound for Salisbury, capital of Southern Rhodesia and the Central African Federation, whose prime minister, Sir Roy Welensky, favors the secessionist Katanga regime.

Before leaving Paris, the Katanga leader charged the United States was supplying planes to the U.N. "to bombard the peaceful Katangan population" and playing into the hands of the Soviets.

Rules Out Negotiations

The Belgian TV network quoted Tshombe as saying in an interview: "I seriously wonder whether there are not Communists in the State Department."

Asked about the possibilities of negotiations to end the fighting, he replied tartly: "How can there be any negotiations when Negro women and children are being massacred by American planes in Katanga."

Despite Tshombe's charges, U.S. and U.N. officials in Leopoldville said the Globemaster transports were the only American planes involved in the Katanga operation and that the U.N. command's 15 jet fighters are from Sweden, India and Ethiopia.

Jobless Rate Is Down for First Time This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The unemployment rate dropped last month for the first time in a year, President Kennedy reported today.

The rate fell from 6.8 per cent of the work force, where it has remained nearly constant for 11 months, to 6.1 per cent, Kennedy told the AFL-CIO convention in Miami, Fla.

Labor Department officials planned to give the complete November job picture later. Kennedy announced the unemployment rate in his speech.

The President also said the number of persons employed during November set a record for the month—67,349,000.

The October job figures showed 67.8 million at work. The drop of 500,000 in the total employed during November reflects the seasonal shutdown in farming, construction and other outdoor jobs. But the rise in unemployment was less than seasonal, accounting for the lower rate.

Man in Glenerie Hill Crash, Taken To Albany Center

Wade Page, 28, of Mt. Marion, who was injured when his car failed to negotiate a curve on Glasco Turnpike early Saturday, and went over a 30-foot embankment, was transferred to Albany Medical Center Wednesday and is reported in poor condition today.

Page, according to Kingston state police was pinned in his car for over four hours before a passing motorist saw his plight and came to the rescue. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance where he has been in serious condition.

Troopers W. E. Wiedemann and John Salters said Page was proceeding on Glasco Turnpike not far from Route 9W, when his car failed to negotiate a curve to the right. The car rolled down a 30-foot embankment and lodged against some trees preventing it from plunging into the Esopus Creek at this point.

Troopers reported Page suffered from multiple bruises and abrasions and a possible fracture of the left leg.

Russell Predicts Army's Size to Be Down by Spring

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., predicts the Army's size may be reduced considerably by spring although the Air Force will continue to expand and the draft quotas will be increased.

Russell, speaking Wednesday on a video-taped program, said many Reservists will be released and draftees will replace them in some cases.

He said he has received many complaints about calling up large cumbers of military Reservists and said the Senate Armed Services Committee, which he heads, will investigate the entire military manpower program when Congress reconvenes.

Dr. Marsh Dies

CHAPPAQUA, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. Edward H. Marsh, 75, former deputy health commissioner of Westchester County, died Wednesday.

Marsh served with the Army on the Mexican border in 1916 and through both world wars, retiring with the rank of colonel in 1946. He was a practicing dermatologist and syphilologist.

A native of Oswego, N.Y., he studied at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cornell University Medical College and New York University.

He was named secretary of the State Health Department in 1922 and became deputy commissioner in 1931. He retired from the latter post in 1952.

Delaware Senate For Death Penalty

DOVER, Del. (AP)—The Delaware Senate voted 12-3 Wednesday to restore the death penalty, legislated out of existence three years ago.

The measure, already passed by the stat's House, calls for death by hanging in cases involving murder, rape, treason and kidnaping.

The Senate also voted 9-5 to make whiplashing mandatory punishment for certain felonies and to render life-termers ineligible for parole.

The bill providing whip-lashing goes to the House. The one banning parole already has passed the House, and with the death penalty measures goes to the governor.

U.S. Imports Gain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The shrinking trend in the United States' trade surplus was halted, at least temporarily, in October.

The Census Bureau said today that imports in October totaled $1,318,900,000 after making allowances for normal seasonal fluctuations. This was 6 per cent higher than the September total of $1,249,000,000.

Although imports increased, exports rose by a greater margin during the month. The bureau said that October exports amounted to $1,819,500,000—up 12 per cent from the September level of $1,628,900,000.

U. S. Still Cowboys And Indian Place To Most Africans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is a country where most people are cowboys and the rest are millionaires, no one has to work, and all Indians wear feathers and want to fight.

Or so it seems to most Africans, says Victoria Mutswairo, an African school teacher from Southern Rhodesia.

And, she adds, "I think Americans have just as wrong an impression of Africa."

Mrs. Mutswairo is one of 15 women educators from nine African nations who are winding up a three-month tour of this country.

"My biggest surprise in this country was that Americans work hard, they actually sweat," she told a news conference Wednesday.

And where do Africans get their ideas about the United States?

"The children at home admire Americans and American ways," Mrs. Mutswairo said. "They try to copy them, and their models are the films they see on television. The girls try to walk the way American girls walk, and the boys want to wear American style trousers with narrow leg bottoms."

If the Africans were surprised by the real Americans, Mrs. Mutswairo said, many Americans were equally surprised by a true picture of Africans.

"When I talked to your school children," she said, "they were amazed that I could speak their language, that I was fluent in it.

"Afterwards they had a million questions to ask me. They wanted to know what Africa was really like."

She was one of eight of the visiting educators who took part Wednesday in a panel discussion at the headquarters of the National Education Association.

U Thant Seeking Wider Approval of Congo Plan

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —Bolstered by U.S. support, Acting Secretary-General U Thant today sought wider approval for his sweeping new plan to bring the breakaway Congo province of Katanga under United Nations control.

U.N. sources said Thant would submit the plan to his Congo advisory committee before making it public.

Outlines Plan

Thant disclosed earlier that the plan aims at carrying out U.N. resolutions on the Congo, including the Security Council's directive of Nov. 24 authorizing him to use force if necessary to expel from Katanga the estimated 200 foreign mercenaries serving with President Moise Tshombe's army and air force.

Thant outlined the plan Wednesday night in a 50-minute briefing at U.N. headquarters with Adlai E. Stevenson, the chief U. S. delegate to the U.N.; G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs; and Edmund A. Gullion, U.S. ambassador to the Congo.

"The United States is very pleased with the plan of the secretary-general to bring Katanga under control," Stevenson said.

A U.S. spokesman said the plan included use of force to end the fighting in Katanga and a blueprint of action designed to restore peace throughout the Congo.

Airlift Suspended

The U.S. airlift to Elisabethville was suddenly suspended today when Katangan troops fired small arms at a Globemaster as it came in over Tshombe's presidential villa for a landing at the Elisabethville airport. Several bullets penetrated the fuselage but caused no serious damage. A report from Leopoldville, the Congo capital, said the U.S. government had agreed to the airlift on condition that full protective cover could be supplied, and Air Force commanders in the Congo were consulting with Washington to determine whether the airlift should continue.

Cables from Sture Linner, chief U.N. representative in the Congo, kept Thant abreast of the military action in Katanga. A U.N. spokesman said Linner's reports indicated the U.N. operation was going well."

Johnstown Test Success During Nuclear 'Attack'

JOHNSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—This city's residents took cover today from imaginary radioactive fallout, in what was described as a successful test of a new, jam-free system of direct communication during a mock nuclear attack.

Make - believe enemy missiles scored hits across the state but Johnstown, in the Mohawk Valley, supposedly was endangered only by fallout.

Spokesmen for the State Civil Defense Commission said the test went according to plan and was a success.

Special telephone lines were connected from the local civil defense control center to speakers in homes, schools, hospitals, public buildings and community shelters.

The enemy could not jam the system, as it could radio and television broadcasts, nor could it intercept information relayed by the control center.

Political Crisis Seen Near End in Dominican Island

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Informed sources said today a settlement has been reached in the Dominican political crisis

It is understood the agreement calls for the resignation of President Joaquin Balaguer before Dec. 31 and installation of a provisional Council of State to govern this island nation seeking a new way of life after 31 years of rule by the Trujillo dynasty.

An announcement of the settlement is expected today. Informants said an accord was reaced on main points and only some mnor details are being worked over.

Dense crowds packed Santo Domingo's main streets as word spread that an agreement was at hand. Many shops reopened, but the downtown stores remained closed on the 10th day of a general strike that was a key factor in the negotiations.

Balaguer's health reportedly figured in developments of the last 48 hours. He was reported exhausted and suffering from a mild kidney infection. Persons close to him said he was on the verge of collapse after the Nov. 19 coup which foiled an attempt by two brothers of the late Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo to seize power.

Highly placed sources said the new government formula would vest a seven-man Council of State with executive and legislative powers after Congress is dissolved.

The council would elect its presiding officer, and election of a constituent assembly would follow, on Aug. 16. General elections would be held Dec. 1, with a new government to be installed Jan. 26, 1963.

The formula is said to exclude all leaders of the government party and of the opposition factions from membership. This project follows the general lines of that submitted last week by the National Civic Union, the foremost opposition group.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Much ado about runaways.

Last week's congressional hearing developed some heat but not too much light on the complex matter of American film production overseas. Here is some plain talk about runaways as observed by this reporter at home and abroad.

Q. Has the trend to overseas filming cut Hollywood production drastically?

A. Yes. Of the 38 American films currently shooting, 26 will be made wholly or in part away from Hollywood. Fifteen years ago, less than 10 per cent of American films were shot on location.

No Ghost Town

Q. Does this make Hollywood a ghost town?

A. No. Employment is at the highest peak in three years.

Q. Then what is all the fuss about?

A. Because high employment is due largely to the 100 TV film series. Theatrical filming is at a minimum.

Q. Why do American film companies shoot abroad?

A. For cheaper costs, foreign subsidies and authentic locales, in that order.

Q. Are films that much cheaper to make abroad?

A. Spectacles are. Hollywood labor has priced itself out of competition in the world film market. American extras get up to $20 a day for doing what the Roman extra does for $3. Sets are cheaper, too.

Q. How do the foreign subsidies work?

A. Movies made in a country might get a kickback from a box-office tax. Foreign films may be taxed or admitted by quota only.

Q. Is this unfair competition?

A. Possibly, since the United States imposes no such restrictions, nor does it subsidize its own film industry.

Plight Getting Serious

Q. Is Hollywood's plight a serious one.?

A. It is getting to be. Runaway films, TV production and selling real estate have kept the big companies in business. But these are stopgap measures that don't meet the big problem: How to maintain a continuity of film making in America.

Q. Why should we care about this?

A. Because though they often exasperate us, Hollywood and the film industry are a national asset and have won us more friends abroad than all the diplomats of history.

Q. What can be done?

A. By the government—study of the film industry's plight, with possible measures to insure fair competition abroad. By the industry—more leadership and creativity in making the kind of entertainment that made Hollywood great.

Buyer Almost Gets Bonus of 52 Automobiles

DETROIT (AP)—Edward Land, representing a group buying the old Chrysler Imperial plant here, almost picked up a $300,000 bonus with the property Wednesday.

Land said the contract for the sale was already for signing. It provided that all machinery, etc., on the property would go to the buyers.

Then someone from Chrysler Corp. discovered that 52 brand new Imperial autos were stored in the building. A quick change was made in the contract.

Dies of Overdose

NORWALK, Conn. (AP)— Mrs. Edith Foster Palmer, 42, of Fulton, N.Y., died Wednesday of an accidental overdose of sleeping pills, a medical examiner said.

Mrs. Palmer, who was visiting in the home of her grandmother, was found sprawled fully clothed on a bed by her husband. He said he at first thought she was asleep.

Warning Test Is Set for Today, Free of Jamming

JOHNSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—The 20th anniversary of the surprise bombing attack on Pearl Harbor will be marked today by a test of a new, jam-free system of direct communication to warn this city's 11,000 residents of a mock nuclear attack on the state.

State Civil Defense Commission plans call for Johnstown to be endangered only by fallout after missiles scored hits on several cities.

The warning system employs special telephone lines connected from the local civil defense control center to speakers in homes, schools, hospitals, public buildings and community shelters. The system cannot be jammed by the enemy, as can radio and television broadcasts, nor can information relayed by the control center be intercepted, the commission said.

Fifty homes were equipped with the speakers for today's exercise, planned to operate thusly:

When word had been received that an enemy attack was imminent, one operator at the local control center automatically turned on the speakers and issued a warning.

He advised the listeners to stay indoors, or to take cover in shelters if available.

He also suggested that food, water, medical supplies, bedding and clothing be taken to the shelters. In addition, residents were told to shut off heating, gas, electric and water systems.

As the mock attack neared, the take-cover signal was sounded.

Next came word that nuclear explosions had occurred in the Buffalo and other Western New York areas, New York City and at Rochester.

At one point, the radioactive fallout was measured by detectors, which were buried in th ground, at 200 roentgens, not fatal to presons in shelters. Nine hours after the attack the radiation level had fallen to 50 roentgens.

Oneonta Firm Is Fined $750 for Adulterated Feed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Elmore Milling Co. of Oneonta has been fined $750 for distributing adulterated poultry feed in interstate commerce.

The firm pleaded guilty Wednesday in federal district court to the charge.

Judge James T. Feley dismissed a charge against Loraine S. Tilman, vice president, treasurer and manager of the company. A civil action involving the death in July of 761 turkeys in Massachusetts has been withdrawn.

Tilman and Elmore Milling both were named in a five-count information charging violation of the federal food and drug code in distribution of "Chix Saver" feed.

The company was fined $150 on each count.

The firm also agreed to comply with the federal code.

The Food and Drug Administration halted shipments of the feed in August, after discovering it contained as much as three times the labeled amount of a drug used to prevent blackhead, a turkey disease.

Most recipes for hot spiced cider call for the addition of sugar, but your family may find this beverage sweet enough as is and you can omit the sugar. A cinnamon stick and a few whole cloves are usually added for the spicing.

Long rows of Anderson island farm yield up to 600 bushels of potatoes an acre with help of much modern machinery.

Potatoes are loaded on converted car ferry. Jetty, 600 feet out in lake, was built partly from old fence stones.

He Uses Car Ferries To Market Potatoes

Ingenuity teamed with mechanization have made Ed Anderson, 61, one of the largest carlot potato merchants in the country. This fall, he harvested 230,000 bushels from his fields on Washington Island, off the northeastern tip of Wisconsin. The spuds were transported across Lake Michigan to Benton Harbor, Mich., aboard two old auto ferries. En route, processing machinery sorted, graded and packaged them so that they were ready for customers' trucks. Anderson owns 1,800 acres on the island, which was once divided into many small, marginal farms. He removed the stone fences and opened the acreage for large-scale mechanized farming. The stones went into a dock for the ferries. Anderson plants about one-third of his land in potatoes every year; rest is rotated in oats and red clover. ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New York State once again has turned to its schools for handling of a major non-education program, that of protection of children in the event of war.

In essence, that is the effect of the recent actions of the Legislature and Gov. Rockefeller.

Dismay Is Evident

At this point, there is no evidence that school officials — on the local or state level — have welcomed this additional burden. In fact, observers detect a definite aura of reluctance and even dismay among top echelons of the State Education Department.

Rockefeller and the Legislature turned the problem over to the schools with a one-two punch that went like this:

1. The Legislature, in a special session Nov. 9, passed Rockefeller's bill to provide state aid to schools and colleges that choose to build fallout shelters for their pupils and teachers. The 38-page bill was presented to the legislature only the day before it was passed. The amount of aid is $25 for each person a shelter would be designed to accommodate. But the aid could not exceed half the cost. The program is voluntary on the part of the schools.

Rocky Shifts Stand

2. Tuesday of this week, the governor declared it was now state policy that, if an attack occurred, school children were to remain at school, not go home as the previous state policy directed.

The effect is this. School districts are not required to build shelters for their pupils. But, on the other hand, they now find themselves responsible for their pupils' lives should an attack occur.

This poses a pressing moral problem for local school board officials, who are faced on the one side by taxpayer outcries at the present level of school taxation and on the other side by the moral pressure for spending tremendous additional sums for fallout protection.

The state education commissioner, James E. Allen Jr., had this problem in mind when he declared recently that he would bring no pressure to bear on school districts to build shelters, despite the governor's program and the action of the Legislature.

New Problem Now

No evidence shows Allen to be an enthusiastic shelter-supporter. His public statements do not lead to such a conclusion, he does not have a shelter in his state-owned residence.

So the Education Department has a new problem. What sort of advice is the department to issue if the department is not to "pressure" the schools to build shelters? How else are the schools to foll the governor's interpretation of their responsibility of protecting the children?

The problem has little relationship to reading, writing and arithmetic. But, neither have driver-training programs and other non-academic subjects the schools now handle.

NEW YORK (AP)—Fast expansion of the trading-bloc movement throughout the world is accented today by President Kennedy's calling for ways to fit the United States into a new way of international economic life.

The blocs are already powerful in Western Europe—and among the Communist countries.

Firming Up All Over

They are firming up in South America, Central America and Southeast Asia. Japan talks of making it all non-Communist Asia. A pact including many nations bordering the Pacific Ocean is a gleam in some economists' eyes. The Mideast is talking up the idea of a trading bloc.

Canada discusses a possible North American bloc to deal with the others. In this country some advocate that the United States and Canada join a North Atlantic trading bloc, along the lines of the North Atlantic military alliance.

In his speech here Wednesday to the National Association of Manufacturers the President pointed out the growing economic power of the Communist bloc as a threat to the West.

But he went on to note that "some 90 per cent of the free world's industrial production may soon be concentrated in two great markets—the United States of America and an expanded European Common Market."

Proposes Joint Step

He proposed a "a joint step on both sides of the Atlantic" to see that the two sides of the Atlantic work together in economic peace, and thus benefit "the economies of all the countries of the free world."

Implying that trading blocs have outdated older systems, he said, "a trade policy adequate to deal with a large number of small states is no longer adequate."

The European trading blocs are our immediate problem and the debate about what we should do is loud and increasing.

But let's also look at some of the others taking shape.

In Southeast Asia an economic association has been formed by Malaya, Thailand and the Philippines.

Japan and India have talked of the possibility of extending such a bloc in the future to gain trading advantages for all or most Asian non-Communists.

An even larger Pacific Ocean trade community has been suggested. It might include the United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and other Pacific nations if they feel frozen out of the European markets.

Nine Sign Up

A Latin-American trade area, along the lines of the European Common Market, hopes to start cutting duties among member states next month. Signed up are Argentina ,Brazil, Chile, Bolivia, Paraguay, Peru, Mexico, Ecuador and Colombia.

A similar trading bloc in Central America aims at increasing trade between these small nations and bettering their world trade position.

Some African diplomats are thinking along the same lines. So are the Arab states.

Behind the trading-bloc idea:

1. Improving the economy of the member states by opening up their internal markets. The striking industrial growth of the European Common Market in a few years has impressed all nonmembers.

2. Forming a solid front against other trading nations. This may be used either to protect the internal industrial setup by handicapping outsiders, or to bargain for trading and tariff concessions from nonmembers.

3. And the far-out possibility of eventual union of all trading blocs of the non-Communist world. The talking point, sharply disputed by many, is that the resulting free trade among all nations would help everyone in the long run, even if the short-run results would be harmful to a lot of individual companies and industries.

Clampdown Just Mistake on JFK Air Trips: FAA

WASHINGTON (AP) —Federal Aviation Agency officials say their clampdown on news of presidential flights was all a big mistake.

The FAA revoked the order Wednesday night on instructions from the White House only hours after the new policy had become known.

FAA officials said the original order had been "inadvertently" published No. 22 without the approval of the White House. It forbids all FAA personnel from giving out any information before, during and after any flights of President Kennedy, his family and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

However, the White House had continued to provide newsmen with full details of Kennedy's flights, including estimated arrival and departure times.

An FAA spokesman said the order was supposed to help the Secret Service.

The FAA clampdown came to light after newsmen called the tower at Idlewild Airport in New York City for the official departure time of Kennedy's flight to West Palm Beach Wednesday. They were told they could not be given the information.

PLANNING MARCH OF DIMES — Robert Burcaw, guest speaker from the National Foundation, called for extra effort on the 1962 March of Dimes in a personal appearance in Kingston this week. Among those present at the kickoff meeting were (l-r) Howard Stephens, local chapter treasurer; Mrs. Lincoln Crosby, Mothers March chairman; Meyer Kaplan, assistant county campaign chairman; the guest speaker, Mrs. William Powers, long-time supporter of Dimes campaign and Addison Jones, county campaign director. Workers Are Honored

During Monday night's kickoff meeting several volunteer workers were given pins for outstanding work.

Fifteen-year pins were awarded to Mrs. Addison Freer and Mrs. William A. Kelly, both of Kingston.

Ten-year pins went to Mrs. Wesley Witheral, Wallkill; Mrs. Edwin Schwab, Accord and Mrs. George Barringer, Kingston.

Five-year pins were presented to Mrs. E. M. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gazlay of Accord and Mrs. Charles Cole of Kingston.

Two Speak Here

John Burcaw of the National Foundation and Alvord Clements, state representative, were speakers at Monday's meeting attended by 75 persons. Films of the National Foundation work also were shown.

Jones, in praising the leaders for their time and effort to help make the 1962 drive a success, said contributions to the new campaign would enable the National Foundation to finance research aimed at prevention and cure of crippling birth defects and arthritis, while also providing patient aid for victims of these two diseases.

"And we have still an obligation to help paralytic polio patients who are not otherwise being aided," Jones continued.

"The importance of the problem can be seen from the fact that 250,000 of our children are born each year with a significant birth defect and 11,000,000 Americans suffer from arthritis or rheumatic disease.

"I join with the new area chairmen in expressing confidence that the people of Ulster County will not let down the victims of these diseases. We know your dimes will do it again," Jones concluded.

Child Welfare Group Elects New Officers

The first regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Ulster County Evangelical Child and Family Welfare Service was held recently at the Church of the Nazarene, Kingston.

Guest speakers were Clinton Tasker of Syracuse, chairman of the interim committee, and Mrs. Phoebe Ross, who at one time, was in charge of a foster home, caring for 40 infants.

Officers istalled for a term of one year were president, Mrs. Dean L. Hafrison, Bethel Assembly of God Church; vice president, Mrs. Ernest M. Estes, Phoenicia Baptist Church; treasurer, Mrs. Raymond Crispell, Church of the Nazarene; secretary, Mrs. Richard N. Adams, Grace Community Church.

The Evangelical Child and Welfare Service is an affiliate of the National Association of Evangelicals, and when chartered, will be an agency whose purposes and objectives are to provide adoptive and foster home care to dependent children. Included in its program of social service is work help to natural parents, unwed mothers and to all families being served by the agency.

The Ulster County Auxiliary is one of 34 units presently organized in New York State. Meetings will be held regularly on the fourth Thursday of each month. All interested women in Ulster County may join, and may contact any of the officers for further information.

Terpening Auto Found, Items Are Stolen from Rapp

A car reported stolen late last night was reported found on Stuyvesant Street early today and another report this morning listed articles with a total value of $50 stolen from another car.

A report at 11:40 p. m. said the car of John Terpening, of 119 Newkirk Avenue, had been stolen. Another at 2:45 a. m. today said it was found near Broadway on Stuyvesant Street.

Police headquarters today reported the theft of a box of cigars, pipes, medicine, flashlight, brief case and gloves taken from the car of John M. Rapp, of 63 Stephan Street, while it was parked in his driveway.

MV Department Lists Revocations And Suspensions

Department of Motor Vehicles today released a list of driver license and motor vehicle registration revocations and suspensions for major causes during the first half of November.

Junior operator licenses revoked, Frederick W. Boos III, of Route 1, Kingston, November 1, for misuse of junior license, and Wayne A. Bonesteel, Ulster Park, November 1 for misuse of junior license and speeding.

Licenses suspended for persistent violation under the point system, Mitchell M. Maloof, Spaulding Lane, Saugerties, as of October 21, for 15 days, and Jessie B. Decker, Meadow Street, Kingston for 15 days, effective October 24.

Junior operator licenses suspended, Richard M. Johnson, Route 1, Highland, 90 days from November 1 for misuse of learner's permit, and Jack T. Leiching, Minturn Street, Port Ewen, 90 days from November 1, for speeding.

Boy Accused of Car Theft and Vandalism

One of two Saugerties boys, 14 and 15 years of age, who according to Saugerties Village Police, attempted to steal a car owned by William Schaffer on November 27, is being charged with breaking the door window of the laundromat at West Bridge and Partition Streets, Chief Arthur W. Richter said today.

The two boys have been petitioned to Children's Court for appearance today.

According to an investigation by Sgt. Harold Mills, one of the two teen-agers threw a soda bottle through the window in the door and is also reportedly responsible for other acts of vandalism in the establishment.

Chief Richter said the report to Children's Court also charges the boy broke four windows in Simmons Dairy on Partition Street, November 21.

Sgt. Mills and Patrolman Donald Sullivan, who investigated the car theft attempt, reported two juveniles pushed the car down Partition Street to Dock Street, where they abandoned it because they were unable to start the motor.

Motorist Is Killed In Lonely Section

BREWSTER, N.Y. (AP)—A motorist driving through a sparsely settled countryside was killed in an accident that went unnoticed until another driver spotted the wreckage today on his way to work.

Police identified the victim as Frank McDonald, 22, of Brewster, a U.S. Marine until last October. His car hit a tree in the town of Southeast near the Brewster village line.

The time of the crash was unknown. Apparently nobody saw or heard it. Patrick Roberts, of Holmes, driving to work, saw the wrecked car and notified police.

Deadly Cold War Without Shooting

No Single or Easy Answer To Success of Communism

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today, 20 years after the United States got into World War II, optimists like to think this country is winning the third world war, the cold one. Plenty disagree.

American self-examination increases—as the years of struggle with communism stretch out with no end in sight—but always from a single starting point:

Some Cases a Response

How did communism, which could claim only 170 million people in Russia 20 years ago, manage to gather in one billion now extending from Eastern Europe, through Russia, and into Red China and Southeast Asia?

There is no single and no easy answer. Nor is there one to many other questions about this war which is deadly without shooting. For instance: How it started or how it could have been stopped?

In some cases communism was a response to wretched conditions, in some to intrigue, treachery, and military power. It is questionable any single action or series of actions could have choked it off.

Communism is more than just a political or economic system. It is a challenging idea and, like capitalism, almost inevitably would have had to find some way to run its course.

Discontented men, perhaps for centuries, would haye discussed it and perhaps tried it again if tomorrow it were crushed by an outside force instead of evolving into something quite different under its own power.

Capitalistic and communistic dogmatists tend to think of their pet beliefs in absolute terms as if they were unchanging.

Many Views

Perhaps nearer the truth is the thought capitalism or communism, if tomorrow it ruled the world without opposition, would in time evolve into something unrecognizable today.

And for a simple reason: The history of man is evolutionary and the one predictable thread running through it is that there will be change, subtle or sudden, because of new ideas, new ambitions, or new conditions.

From the moment communism emerged in Russia 44 years ago the most realistic reaction to it might have been not how to top it but how to channel it in a direction more reasonable for the West to live with.

Try to Live With It

That is exactly what the Western powers are trying to do today. No one today in a responsible position is talking of destroying communism. The emphasis is on how to get it to live as a good neighbor.

Books have been written on how the great chance to overwhelm communism was lost at Yalta, or after the war when this country sfill had a monopoly on the atomic bomb, or when this country demobilized too fast.

The handwringing could go further back: To American isolation between the two world wars which helped make. Hitler possible and, as a result after his destruction, made communist expansion possible.

But the isolationism was only evidence that this country, which emerged as the world leader after World War I, was too unprepared, too unimaginative and too unsophisticated for its role.

The same thing could have been said of it again after World War II when, once more it emerged as world leader and, failing to understand its problems and responsibilities, demobilized too fast.

Endless Story

But this is an endless story. The success of communism today could be blamed on the failure of the capitalistic West to unite and crush the Bolshevik takeover in Russia in 1917.

Beyond that, too, was the failure of the West to try to compel the czar to establish for his people conditions which would have made communism unthinkable.

But the West, except for the United States, was made up of colonial powers who were in no position to preach good treatment of backward people. The West had to learn the hard way and give up its colonies.

And now, by one of the great ironies of history, Communist Russia and Red China, proclaiming their concern for mankind, have become the new colonial masters. They, too, will have to learn the hard way.

Young Democrats Told Times Most Hazardous

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy told a cheering, clapping crowd of Young Democrats today that they will be helping to shape the destiny of the United States during "the most hazardous period in the human race."

Speaking in a hotel hall where the Young Democratic Clubs of America are meeting in national convention, Kennedy said he wanted their help, not so much for the elections ahead but in demonstrating that this country is in fact the leader of the free world.

Kennedy rode down Collins Ave. from the Indian Creek Country Club, where a helicopter landed after bringing him here from Palm Beach. After his short talk to the Young Democrats, he left to go to another hotel for an address to the AFL-CIO convention.

He received a noisy standing ovation when he walked into the Young Democrats convention and more loud cheers when he said:

"From all I have read in the last four or five months about a conservative revival sweeping the United States, I thought nobody would show up today."

Kennedy said that a political party is not an end in itself but only a means of making progress for the United States.

Parties will endure, he said, only as they contribute to the welfare of the country.

These days are more compilcated than those of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson, Kennedy said, and he asked the delegates how the country could maintain the peace, keep the economy in forward gear, and find jobs for millions of young Americans coming into the labor market.

Noting that there had been several economic recessions, he asked:

"Is this economy going to run out of gas again?"

The day that the Democratic Party is not prepared to come forth with programs to answer these questions, the President said "We will fade as the Whig Party faded and gave way to the Republicans."

Ben's Mother Dies

GERRY, N. Y. (AP) — Mrs. Hattie M. Schwartzwalder, 94 mother of Syracuse University football coach Ben Schwartzwalder, died today in the Gerry Home for the Aged.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Savings and loan shares continued their recovery in a mixed stock market which showed a downside tendency early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .20 at 265.40 with industrials unchanged, rails down .20 and utilities down .50.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were narrow, some going to a point or so. Recoveries of some of the loan companies stretched to more than 2 points as traders picked them up after their selloff of recent sessions.

The general business news background was heartening, reports of auto dealer sales for November reaching a new high for the month. Some hesitation was reported among bigge rinvestors regarding stock purchases at high levels, but the general sentiment in Wall Street was optimistic for the balance of this year and early 1962.

A few of the aerospace issues followed through their advance of Wednesday on prospects of more defense spending. Others fell before profit taking.

United Financial was up about 3, Financial Federation more than 2 and First Charter Financial more than 1.

The makers of antismog devices for autos petered out after their rally on news the auto industry wants to install these gadgets on all 1963 autos. Arvin Industries dropped 1.

DR. A. M. FELDSHUH

Medical Society Has Kerhonkson Doctor as Head

Dr. Alfred M. Feldshuh of Kerhonkson was elected president of The Medical Society of the County of Ulster at the Society's annual meeting Tuesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Dr. Feldshuh succeeds Dr. Vincent P. Amatrano to the presidency.

In addition, Society members elected Dr. John A. Cooke Jr., vice president, and re-elected Dr. Arthur G. Carr II, treasurer, and Dr. Fred W. Holcomb Jr., secretary. Other physicians named to the Comitia Minora, the governing board of the Society, were: Vincent P. Amatrano, David S. Gerbarg, Milton M. Grover Jr., Jeffrey Wiersum, Herbert Zaccheo.

Practices for 26 Years

Dr. Feldshuh, the new president, has been practicing internal medicine in Kerhonkson for 26 years. A native of New York City, he established his practice in Ulster County following his internship at New York's Metropolitan Hospital, and a residency in internal medicine at Cumberland Hospital, also in New York City.

A graduate of the University of Richmond in Virginia, and the Long Island College Hospital medical school, he is a member of the American College of Cardiology, the American Geriatric Society, the American School Health Association, and of the Liaison Committee of the American Heart Association.

On Two Staffs

He is on the active staff of Kingston Hospital and Veterans Memorial Hospital in Ellenville, and is a courtesy staff member at Benedictine Hospital in Kingston.

Serving as a major with the Army Medical Corps during World War II, he is a member of the American Legion. He is also a past president of the Kerhonkson Lions Club.

Married to the former Constance MacMullen, a registered nurse prior to their marriage, he is the father of two daughters. The Feldshuh's older daughter, Dana Lee, is a second year medical student at the University of Michigan Medical School. The younger daughter, Lana Dee, is a high school senior at the Rondout Valley Central School.

Wawarsing Dimes Group Plans Ball To Aid Campaign

Louis Resnick and George Barthel have accepted the co-chairmanship of the March of Dimes Ball in the Wawarsing area, it was announced today.

Their acceptance was voted following the Ulster County March of Dimes kickoff in Kingston this week. Eight other Town of Wawarsing volunteers attended the dinner.

They were:

William M. Kelb, town chairman; Mrs. Sadye Katz, Mrs. Marguerite. Gonder, Kenneth Mitchell, Mrs. Edwin Hoar, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craft and Foster Sheffield.

A meeting of the Wawarsing ball committee, with representatives from the Napanoch and Kerhonkson committees, is scheduled for next Monday night, Dec. 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Resnick.

Economics . . .

racy it was their duty.

Meany, referring to policy AFL-CIO differences, said "frankly the appetite of some of our people for combat never ceases to amaze me."

He acknowledged that AFL-CIO internal differences must be dealt with and can't be swept under the rug." But he issued an appeal that AFL-CIO problems not be exaggerated or permitted to prevent the federation from carrying on its main objectives.

Meany, at another point in his keynote address, said the merged AFL-CIO, now 6 years old, had proved to be a "complete and absolute success." He said one-time rival AFL and CIO organizations at state, city and regional levels have completed amalgamations.

"Almost without exception," he said, "they are working together and getting along very well."

In advance of the convention's opening, AFL-CIO industrial unions insisted they will fight for convention adoption of a binding jurisdictional disputes settlement system—a procedure stoutly opposed by rival AFL-CIO building trades unions.

FundCosts,Performance: Vital Investment Factors

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—"The widow to whom you wrote October 25 had $3000 to invest and wanted to retire in five years. Your stock recommendations — American Telephone and General Foods—won't give her much diversification. Wouldn't she have been better off in a mutual fund?" C. B.

A—I don't believe so. A mutual fund would have given our widow more diversification (which would be desirable) but other factors such as fund costs and performance potentials also have to be considered. Over the next five years, the 7 or 8 per cent loading charge asked by most mutuals, plus the annual management fees, could easily cost an average of 2 per cent a year. To me this would be more than she could afford to pay, in view of her meager capital.

Furthermore(I doubt if many conservatively managed mutuals will equal the performance I expect from Telephone and General Foods in the next five years' time. Both issues have acted very well since October 25 and I expect them to continue to outperform the market.

Q—"Recently I sold my home, freeing another $13,000 for investment purposes. What stocks would be good for me to buy? I retire in ten years and don't want to take any risk whatsoever of losing this money." J. K.

A—I can answer your question quite briefly. There is no complete safety to be found in stocks. The only certain thing about them is that they will fluctuate. I personally believe that there are many good buys available in today's stock market, but since you want to avoid all risk, I suggest that you put your new fund in U. S. Treasury bonds, the safest investment there is. I think the Treasury 3⅞s of 1974 would be good for you to own. At present levels, these bonds yield around 4 per cent to maturity.

Kennedy to Ask

manpower in need of work standing around in large numbers of communities in need of public improvements.

Kennedy declared discrimination in hiring and firing "makes no sense at all" to a convention which faces a possible civil rights quarrel. A council of Negro unionists headed by A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, has complained of discriminatory practices and charged the federation leadership with widening a gap between organized labor and Negroes.

AFL-CIO President George Meany this week promised steps to improve relations with the council.

Placing his administration "fully on the side" of equal opportunities, Kennedy said: "And as we move forward in the realm of public policy, it is essential that the private policies of management and labor meet this common obligation to human dignity."

Kennedy put in new plugs for legislation that Congress turned down or bypassed but which comes up again next year. He mentioned specifically federal aid for school construction and teacher salaries, medical care for the aged through the Social Security system, employment opportunities for youth, retraining of unemployed workers and tax incentives to encourage plant expansion and improvement.

position as the only retired ship in the Navy still commissioned. She is regarded as a member of the fleet because her crew is aboard.

An invocation and hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee"—long associated with sea tragedies—preceded Sides' address. As he finished, a Navy chaplain, Capt. Fred D. Bennett, offered a memorial prayer and a band played the Navy hymn, "Eternal Father, Strong to Save."

Flowers were cast on the waters over the Arizona and floral wreaths were arranged on the platform.

Sides drew a parallel between America's military preparedness today and a generation ago, citing the unified Pacific Command which bosses all Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine units. "Readiness is the key," he said, "and constant training is the watchword."

He added: "No longer are large concentrations of ships seen in this harbor—ships are in and out, a few at a time, on their way to and from their forward positions. Yet with all this, we must always maintain our vigilance and we must never relax our guard."

Aide Says Rocky

would be for further discussion of federal shelter policies.

The federal delegation at the meeting with Rockefeller Wednesday was led by Roswell L. Gilpatric, deputy U.S. secretary of defense.

Gilpatric declined to meet with newsmen after the conference.

McManus declined to elaborate on what was discussed other than to say it dealt with proposed federal shelter policies."

Rockefeller is a leading proponent of fallout shelters.

Kennedy said at a news conference last week he would ask Congress next month for a broadened civil defense program, with emphasis on community shelters.

The President said he planned to discuss the issue with governors, because the program involved federal, state and local cooperation.

Other federal officials at Wednesday's meeting with Rockefeller were Steuart L. Pittman, assistant secretary of defense for civil defense, Adam Yarmolinsky, special assistant to the secretary of defense and Rear Adm. William M. McCormick, military assistant to the deputy secretary of defense.

Members of the civil defense committee of the governor's conference are:

More Interest Is Reported in CD Through State

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —There has been "encouraging interest" in civil defense in the state during the last four months, the director of the state civil defense commission reports.

Lt. Gen. F. W. Farrell said an indication of the interest was a trend toward mass civil defense meetings throughout the state.

In a statement Wednesday, Farrell said approximately 1,300 persons were to attend such a meeting Saturday at Oneida County Airport near Utica. The meeting was being arranged by the Mohawk Valley Home Builders Association.

The Westchester County Society of Real Estate Appraisers will hold a mass civil defense meeting Dec. 14 at Tarrytown and approximately 700 persons attended a meeting in Sidney, Delaware County, recently, Farrell said.

Pearl Harbor . . .

battery of special counsel and experts, conducted that inquiry, compiling mountains of testimony and a 492-page report.

No Blame on Duty

The joint congressional committee, in its summary of findings, said that errors made by the Hawaiian commands were "errors of judgment and not dereliction of duty."

The committee reported it found no evidence to support charges, made during hearings, that the President, the secretary of state or the secretaries of war or navy "tricked, provoked, incited, cajoled or coerced Japan into attacking this nation in order that a declaration of war might more easily be obtained from the Congress."

Only Two Drafted For December, 18 Went in November

December's selective service call dropped drastically under that of November, it was noted today.

Local Draft Board (19) county) reported drafting only two men Dec. 5 as compared to the 18 listed by the city and county boards last month.

Those inducted and sent to the U. S. Army reception center at Fort Dix were: Ernest Joachim Graeser, 70 Fair Street, and Rudolf Zollner, 1612 St. Nicholas Avenue, New York City.

Squabble Likely For Labor Union On Dispute Ways

By NORMAN WALKER

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—A family squabble over how to settle jurisdictional disputes loomed today as the AFL-CIO prepared to open its 1961 national convention.

Industrial unions have insisted that they will fight for adoption of a tough dispute settlement system. The system is opposed stoutly by rival building trades.

Convention delegates will take time off from routine business matters today to hear an address by President Kennedy.

Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers president and chief spokesman for the industrial unions, denied Wednesday that there was any compromise agreement between the rival union groups. He accused the building trades of "nonsense and name-calling while stealing our jobs."

The building trades fired similar charges at Reuther's industrial union group last week.

AFL-CIO President George Meany was expected to make a convention keynote appeal for peace in the quarreling labor union family.

Reuther, last chief of the old CIO, also had some comment about not being named to a committee of AFL-CIO leaders designated by Meany to welcome Kennedy. Reuther was reported earlier as tentatively chosen to be one of the greeters.

"I don't know if I was ever on, so I don't know if I was dropped," Reuther said with a grin when asked if he was irked about it.

'Gramps' Is More Than Custodian, He'll Be Misse d

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) —Cohen School in Elmra Heights will lose more than a custodian when Alfred "Gramps" Janowski retires this month.

Pupils in the school playground during the noon recess will lose a playmate.

Children with broken bikes, skates and toys will lose a repair man.

Crying children will miss their comforter.

Teachers will lose a backstop disciplinarian.

Third-grader Tina Arnold, who will lose a zipper fixer, summed up the school's loss in a letter:

"Ge we will \mis you. You helped me all the time. I won't have you to fix my zipper anymore...I wish you would stay. But tnat's the way it gose."

Principal John J. Salem said, "Gramps is an extraordinary man. He's more than a custodian. He's part of the administration."

Gramps, 69, who has been custodian for 16 years, was honored by the school's faculty at a farewell luncheon Tuesday.

"On one occasion he brought a large cake to my class," said Mrs. Marjorie LeHard of Primary 2. "He said he baked it himself. The cake was his reward to the class for keeping the room neat and clean during the year."

"Several years ago, I had a boy in my kindergarten class who spoke only German," recalls Miss Elizabeth Clark. "When the boy needed discipline, I sent for Gramps because he also speaks German. He put the child in his place in a couple of minutes."

"He can make the children behave even without teachers around," said Mrs. Marietta Grantier, a fourth and fifth-grade teacher. "They all listen to him."

"I enjoy doing things for them because I love children," Gramps says. "I'm just that way."

ICC Auuthority Is Asked to Abandon Struuck Rutland

WASHINGTON (AP) — The strike-bound Rutland Railway has appealed for federal permission to abandon its entire line.

The Rutland, in a petition to the Interstate Commerce Commission Wednesday, said it actually stopped operations last Sept. 25 because of a strike by its employes.

The railroad recently rejected a proposal by Arthur J. Goldberg, secretary of labor, to submit the dispute to arbitration.

The four striking railroad broth erhoods said they would agree to binding arbitration of the dispute over wages and work rules.

In its appeal, a Rutland spokesman said the line "has been plagued with recurrent labor troubles and a steadily decreasing flow of traffic, increasing costs of ope rations and decreasing revenues."

The Rutland has been a freight road since 1953, when it discontinued passenger service.

The 94-year-old carrier operates freight trains on 331.71 miles of its track from Ogdensburg, N.Y., east to Rouses Point, N.Y., south to Rutland, Vt., and two branches from Rutland to White Creek, N. Y., and Bellows Falls, Vt.

It also owns trackage rights along 58.76 miles owned by the Boston & Maine Railroad, Troy Union Railroad Co. and The New York Central Railroad. The tracks links White Creek and Troy, N Y., and Troy and Chatham, N.Y.

The Rutland reported net operating income dropped from $422,000 in 1956 to a loss of $81,245 for the first nine months of this year.

It had operated in the red in 1960, losing $69,525, and in 1959, when it lost $3,750, officials told the ICC.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pork gets the big promotional push in many supermarkets and neighborhood groceries this week.

Regional favorites vary but recent ample production of porkers has pushed prices down over a wide area.

One chain's New York area stores offer pork chops at 75 cents a pound, a whopping 24 cents below a year earlier, and pork loin cuts at 25 and 35 cents a pound, 18 cents under December 1960.

Smoked hams predominate in other areas of the Northeast and are popular in the Midwest. Other Midwestern pork specials include roasts, chops and bacon, all of which also are featured in the Southeast. Pork sausage is another popular Southeastern item.

Heavy supplies and lower than usual prices also keep turkeys and broiling or frying chickens on the special list in the Southeast and Midwest, while fryers remain a good bargain in the Far West.

Eggs are seasonally plentiful over a broad area with the large size rated the best bet in the Southeast, Midwest and Far West. Eastern prices are 12 to 16 cents a pound below a year ago, with the biggest drop in pullets.

Produce counters also offer a good selection of bargains. Apples, grapefruit, oranges and tangerines are the top fruit items in most places, with the citrus season in full swing in the Southwest.

Limes and grapes also are in good supply in some sections. Cranberries remain plentiful and other good buys include avocados, coconuts, bananas and d'Anjou pears.

Vegetable bargains include cabbage, carrots, celery, lettuce, potatoes, sweet potatoes, tomatoes and yellow onions. Green onions and green peppers also are featured in several sections.

Make Flowers Last

Cut flowers won't droop too quickly if a slanting cut is made on the bottom of each stem and the water changed daily. It's wise, too, to keep cut flowers away from heat or drafts.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Some time ago, I bought a little book published in 1820 called "Worcester Sketches, Vol. I." I am always interested in the viewpoint of authors of long ago, before they were sweetened to meet our modern civilization. Somone had torn out all the pictures, for which I am sad, because no doubt those 140 year old pictures would be interesting.

I think I have written about Indians from this book and will again in the future, right now being Christmas time their chapter on "The Reindeer" interests me. The picture from it is gone, for which I am sorry. It starts off simply with: "The reindeer is the most valuable gift that providence has bestowed on the poor Laplander. It serves as the principal beast of burden; its milk is highly valued; its flesh supplies the chief nourishment of the inhabitants during part of the year; its sinews are made into thread; and its skin furnishes a great part of the dress of the inhabitants."

It further says: "The reindeer is generally only four feet in height from the foot to the top of the back, and but two feet long in the body. In summer it feeds on grass, and is extremely fond of the herb called the great water-horse tail; but in winter refuses hay, and obtains its whole nourishment from the reindeer moss, which grows in Lapland in great profusion. A remarkable instinct is displayed by the animal in discovering this plant under the snow, and in digging it out. The foot of the reindeer has a peculiar shape for walking in the snow.

It seems, the foot of the reindeer spreads out when set down, so as to cover a large surface, but contracting when lifted up, so as to be easily withdrawn if it happens to plunge into the snow. When hooked in a sledge they are easily guided by a small cord fastened round the horns. They will run, if hard driven, 50 to 60 miles without stopping, and at the rate of 10 miles an hour. Can you imagine a reindeer in a sledge running on the Thruway from Kingston to Albany without stopping, which no doubt would stop traffic on a holiday weekend.

The author of 1820 further writes that "the sledges are made of birch wood, and formed like a boat with a flat stern. Those used for travelling are commonly so light as to be easily carried in the arms, and are only large enough for the traveller to sit in them with his legs stretched on the bottom. The reindeer is found wild, but the greater number are domesticated, and form in fact the chief wealth of the natives. The poorer class have from 50 to 200; the middle class from 300 to 700; and others up to 1,000. The females are driven home morning and evening to be milked, and yield about as much milk as a goat. The reindeer cast their horns every year, the males in November, and the females in May.

The new horns are at first flexible, and so tender as to occasion pain to the animal when roughly handled. The horns are often two feet and a half in length, and their points are as far distant from each other.

School Expenditures

Editor The Freeman:

Upon reading a letter published recently which mentioned the pamphlet "Focus on Education" as being an enlightenment of the foolish expenditures of our school systems, listing teachers rooms, gyms, and music rooms as unnecessary, I couldn't help wondering what this person considers necessary.

Teachers need and deserve a room for an occasional moment away from the students. Parents want healthy children developed physically as well as mentally, and I'm sure we want the next generation to enjoy an appreciation for music. How else can we give these things without proper facilities.

I wish as the letter advised, that your readers will get the above mentioned pamphlet and realize that our tax money can be put to no better usage than to provide better schools for the students who are America's hope for a finer tomorrow.

HOTTEST NOVEMBER IN FORD HISTORY!

And here's what started the heat wave!

Last month more Americans bought Fords than in any November in history. The blazing success of the long Ford line was end-to-end, all across the country and up and down it, too. Everywhere the people flocked into their Ford Dealers and bought smart new Falcons and the new Falcon Squire, the glittering swift Galaxies, the famous Ford Station Wagons and the hot Thunderbirds. And they poured in to see and buy up the brand-new Fairlanes just introduced. ■ There are four magic reasons-why behind the smashing success of the long Ford line for 1962. First of all is utterly modern styling, the fresh crisp lines that are now being so widely copied by other car-makers, the smart look that dominates the industry. Second is absolute power in eleven kinds of engines, giving you anything you could want in engine options. Third is total economy—every Ford model is priced directly at your pocketbook, and every Ford, large, medium or small, gives you gasoline mileage outstanding in its class. Fourth is the service-saving concept—every Ford car is built to cut down maintenance worries and problems, with service-saving features other cars may have some day. ■ Ford leadership from Falcons to Thunderbirds is founded on trend-setting innovations . . . the hot ideas come from Ford. And at the heart of Ford success is an almost revolutionary new concept of quality . . . most serious and direct concern with the actual part-by-part quality. For the hot trends in the hot cars, for a new experience in quality, and for the best buys on the American Road, see your Ford Dealer.

PRODUCTS OF Ford MOTOR COMPANY

NOW THERE ARE FOUR CLASSES OF CARS ...AND ONLY FORD HAS ALL FOUR!

COMPACT CLASS:

FORD FALCON

This class includes cars with 106- to 114-inch wheelbase. Most popular by far (a million happy owners!) is the Ford Falcon. Falcon is America's lowest-priced* 6-passenger car, set a 25-year record for Sixes or Eights in last spring's Mobilgas Economy Run, gives you a choice of 13 models, including the Futura and new Falcon Squire wagon.

FAIRLANE CLASS:

FORD FAIRLANE

The Ford Fairlane is the first member of a new class which combines the advantages of both compacts and big cars . . . you get big car room, ride and performance . . . compact savings and maneuverability. Priced below many compacts, Fairlane even rivals some in gas economy. Has twice-a-year maintenance introduced by the Galaxie.

FULL-SIZE CLASS:

GALAXIE BY FORD

The class for families who want big car comfort, performance and prestige. Value leader is the Ford Galaxie—which has every essential feature of far costlier fine cars. With the optional Thunderbird 390 V-8 engine, a Galaxie will outperform America's most expensive luxury cars. Requires servicing only twice a year, or every 6,000 miles.

LUXURY CLASS:

FORD THUNDERBIRD

The top class—cars for people who want the very finest. First of the trim-size luxury cars, the 4-passenger Thunderbird is the most distinctive car in this class. Its styling set the trend for an entire generation of cars and now finds a new elegance in the Landau. And Thunderbird's performance is just this side of flight.

Eye to Solving Traffic Woes

U. S. Enthusiastic With Ifs on Free Bus Service

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal spokesmen are cautiously enthusiastic over a proposal to finance a year's free city bus service in Ithaca, N.Y., with federal funds as an experiment in solving the nation's growing urban traffic problems.

The experiment—if approved—might determine whether there is a "psychological obstacle" to people riding buses, said a spokesman in the Office of Transportation. But he was not sure just what could be done with such information.

$100,000 Cost

The experiment would cost federal taxpayers an estimated $100,000 or more.

"What we want to do is slowly, carefully, laboriously see if Ithaca has an idea that might be useful," said the information spokesman, Charles M. Smith.

The Ithaca Common Council is asking for a $120,000 grant to put the free bus service into effect for a year. The free riders would be carried in four new buses paid for by the city.

The idea did not sit well with Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, who fired off a letter to John C. Kohl, administrator of the transportation office set up by Housing Administrator Robert C. Weaver.

Lausche asked "what is in contemplation under this proposal" and questioned whether Congress "ever intended the federal government would embark on a program to provide free transportation in urban areas."

Intriguing Project

Smith said Wednesday Kohl had not received Lausche's letter, but Kohl recently called Ithaca's proposal "among the more intriguing projects" proposed under the 1961 housing act. Congress provided about $50 million in the act to seek solutions to urban transportation problems.

Kohl, who calls such problems "traffic disease" and "softening urban arteries," said in a recent speech that the Ithaca experiment could "certainly prove, or disprove, the often-heard assertion: 'Even if you give free service, nobody would ride transit.' If that alone could be settled, transportation planners would have a more definite and valuable guide for their work."

Lausche said he was "shocked" by the Ithaca proposal, one of about a dozen requests for grants but the only one suggesting free rides.

Smith, commenting on Lausche's letter, said any suggestion that there would be "subsidized free transportation for any other than a limited period of time and for the purposes of demonstration is completely wrong."

Mystery of Saugerties Siamese Cat Is Solved

The mystery of a missing Siamese cat which strayed from its owner and reportedly "catnapped" by occupants of a car on Partition Street, Saugerties, was solved in less than an hour Wednesday night.

Mrs. Annetta Kelly of 216 Main Street reported to Sgt. Harold Mills that she saw occupants of a large car stop at Main and Partition Streets and pick up her prized Siamese cat. She gave the sergeant the license number of the car.

The cat was discovered less than an hour later at the office of Dr. James C. Crandall, Saugerties veterinarian, where it had been taken by John P. Layton, operator of Layton's taxi service.

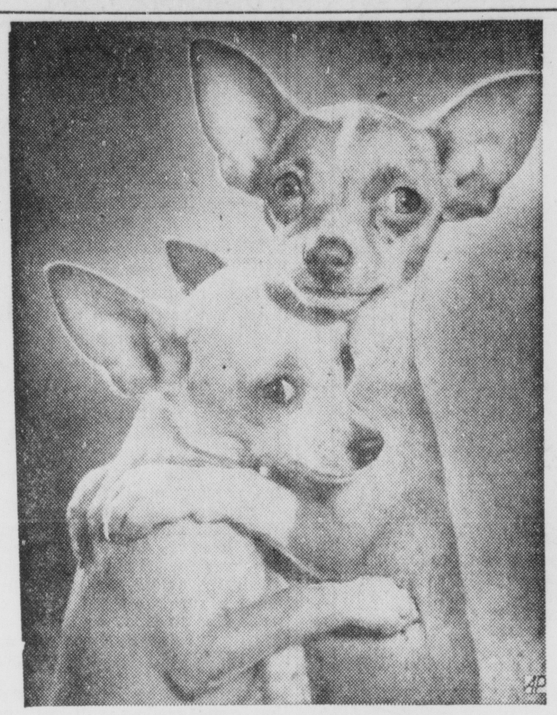
Layton, who also owns a Siamese cat, said because of its value, he picked the cat up and took it to Dr. Crandall's office to keep until claimed by the owner.

Hurley Vols Schedule Second Movie Showing

Hurley Volunteer Fire Company No. 1 will show its second free movie of the current series on Saturday 7 p. m. in the firehouse.

Disney color cartoons will start the program followed by Outlaw Stallion, also in color.

The committee including Eugene Hannay, Chester Dolson, Paul McGuire, Robert Lawton, and Charles Goble, chairman, report that the shows will be held every other Saturday through April 14.



CHUMMY CHIHUAHUAS—"Missy," left, and "Sambo," chihuahuas owned by Mrs. R. C. Dabney of Valdosta, Ga., are posed to show affection for each other.

Lonstein Heads Board Of Ellenville Hospital

The Board of Trustees of the Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville reelected its entire staff of officers as well as members of its finance committee, at an organizational meeting during the past week.

Officers named to serve another year are: Benjamin Lonstein, president; A. J. Anderson, vice president; Miss Katherine T. Terwilliger, treasurer; and Everett Coty, secretary.

The finance committee will remain as follows: Vincent P. Gillen, chairman; Anderson, Mendon O. Savels Jr., and Miss Terwilliger.

The other standing committees, all appointive, will be named by the president.

Traffic Death Toll

Dutchess County's highway death toll for 1961 stood at 35 today, nine ahead of the 1960 toll. In 1959 there were 31 highway deaths recorded in the county and in 1958 the toll was 42.

Revival Series In Progress at Bethel Assembly

Revival meetings are now in progress at the Bethel Assembly of God, 3 Esopus Avenue, Kingston. The Rev. S. Leon Cooke of Cortland has been ministering each evening at 7:30 p. m. as well as playing sacred music on the violin.

He plays a valuable violin called the "Guadinina" made in Torinta, Italy in 1778. He also plays the guitar.

The Rev. Mr. Cooke will be speaking on the themes: Obeisance to the World this evening; Singing Strings Friday; Prelude to Revival Sunday at 11 a. m. and Thin Edge of Truth at the closing service Sunday 7:30 p. m.

The pastor, the Rev. Dean L. Harrison extends an invitation to the public to attend the services.

Clashes Injure 60

PARIS (AP) — More than 60 persons were injured Wednesday night as police clashed with leftist-led demonstrators protesting the right-wing Secret Army Organization terrorist campaign to keep Algeria French.

Skirmishes broke out in half a dozen big cities. The biggest demonstration was in Paris, where 10,000 marchers turned out.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)--Poor, battered television, already bloody and bowed by critics' slaps about violence and poor quality of programs, took a body blow this week. The President of the United States, no less, charged it with being partly responsible for the roll of fat around America's middle and our national lack of muscle tone.

President Kennedy, of course, is not the first person who has been concerned about the growing national habit of glueing oneself to a comfortable chair and spending long, lazy weekend afternoons watching the sport currently in season.

Kennedy pointed out Tuesday night in a speech, that most of us "and too many of our children get our exercise from climbing up the seats in stadiums—or from walking across the room to turn on our television sets."

It's curious, in fact, that critics have not commented on the disappearance, for all practical purposes, of the culture-drenched Sunday-afternoon schedule. This was the period called "the intellectual ghetto" (Producer Fred Friendly of "CBS Reports" claims he launched the tag.) Now it has quietly converted into a big playing field.

Wednesday night's CBS adaptation of Oscar Wilde's "Picture of Dorian Gray" seemed more like a plot of one of the "Thriller" series—one shown on an off night—than the premiere program of the "Golden Showcase" series.

The familiar tale concerns the beautiful young man whose corcuption (he is a murderer, takes drugs, and is degraded to a point that can only be hinted at) is reflected in his portrait, while he himself is untouched by age or evil.

The TV cast played absolutely straight, thereby revealing the Victorian quality of the plot as well as the sets and costumes. John Fraser, the handsome English actor who played Dorian, was completely unconvincing as a sinister character. You just knew he was a nice young man pretending to be bad.

Recommended tonight: "Sentry Abroad," NBC, 7:30-8:30 (Eastern Standard Time)—an inspection of our overseas military bases, with Frank McGee narrating; "The Great Challenge," CBS, 10-11—discussion on the future of Western Europe.

A googol, in mathematics, is the figure 1 followed by 100 zeroes.

Working Their Way

WALESKA, Ga. (AP) — The president of Reinhardt College, James Rowland Burgess Jr., says he feels that "any good student who's willing to work for his education" should be able to attend the Methodist-supported institution in the north Georgia hills.

Almost half the 286 students are working their way through Reinhardt this year, cooking, waiting on table, acting as secretaries and wielding dustpans and mops after classes.

The fruit of the gingko tree encloses a kernel which is roasted and eaten as a delicacy in the Orient.

Origins of Woods

Homeowners sometimes are puzzled about the difference between hard woods and softwoods. Generally, hardwoods come from broad-leaved trees. Most softwoods come from evergreens.

matter of fact

Now, mascots are associated with football teams; Army has its mule and Yale its bulldog. But at one time individuals and families all had their own mascots. The origin of the word in ancient French shows that every household had an animal or thing which brought luck to the family. Mascots were particularly popular with gamblers.

Democrats Still Divided on Cut In Penn Districts

HARRISBURG (AP) — State Democratic policy makers were still short of an agreement today on a plan to redivide the state's 30 congressional districts into 27 new units.

State Chairman Otis B. Morse said after a four-hour session Wednesday with party leaders and congressmen that progress had been made, but that there was nothing specific settled.

"We came up with several proposals today," Morse said after the meeting. "However, we are not going to make any final decisions until such time as the plans can be presented to these men, that is, the absentees.' '

He declined to discuss what proposals were advanced. Nor would he say whether any of them proposed trimming one of Philadelphia's six Democratic seats as demanded by Republicans.

Money Saver

The New York City Health Department has estimated that in one year alone the city saved nearly $20 million in patient care plus an unestimated amount in hospital construction thanks to effective new drugs for the treatment of tuberculosis.

Sees Grievance ProcedureCurbed For State Workers

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The head of a labor union of state employes asked the State Grievance Board today to investigate what he said was an attempt by Gov. Rockefeller to "destroy state grievance procedures."

The grievance rules were established in the administration of former Gov. Averell Harriman, a Democrat.

Jean J. Couturier, executive director of Council 50, AFL-CIO, conceded, however, there was little practical chance that the three-member board would support a charge of that nature.

He said his goals in bringing the allegations included a public airing of several complaints his organization has against the Republican state administration.

Couturier acted under a resolution, adopted at a convention of the council in September, that contained what he agreed could be interpreted as a political threat to the governor, who will run for re-election next year.

The resolution provided, among other things, that, if Rockefeller did not endorse union demands for changes in state grievance procedures, the union would request its national body to "brand Gov. Rockefeller as anti-union."

Couturier said the union wanted Rockefeller to issue a policy declaration that state employes were free to join labor unions and present grievances "free from fear of retaliation."

The Rockefeller administration consistently has rejected Couturier's allegations that the governor was opposed to organization of state employes or had dealt unfairly with them.

Council 50 claims 8,000 members of a total 102,000 state employes.

Parade, Party For Children Slated Saturday

All the children of the area may participate in the annual Christmas parade and party that the Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce has planned for Saturday beginning at 10 a. m. at the Municipal Building.

Santa Claus will ride behind a police escort in the parade through the streets, followed by Miss Saugerties and her court. They will make stops at the two municipal parking lots to distribute candy and comic books to the children.

The parade will form on Partition Street in front of the Municipal Building, proceed down Partition to Russell Street, over to Washington Avenue, back to Main and along Main to the lot behind the Saugerties National Bank and Trust Co. where Santa will greet the children with his gifts. The entourage will then return through the business section to Partition and make another stop in the parking lot behind Amrod's Department Store where more candy and books will be distributed.

The merchants committee has announced that all stores in Saugerties will be open each evening until Christmas, beginning on Friday night.

Drought Expense High for Citrus Men in Florida

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—A record shattering drought has cost Florida citrus growers $10 million to $12 million for irrigation in the past six months. And Florida Citrus Mutual said Wednesday that no relief is in sight.

Tree damage has been negligible throughout the state's citrus belt.

Robert W. Rutledge, executive vice president of the growers' organization, said the drought has had no immediate effect on the volumeprice relationship, but could have later.

Students, Faculty Sign for May Trip

There will be a total of 190 going from Saugerties High School to the Shakespeare Festival at Stratford, Conn., on May 19. This number includes both students and faculty. For this response Miss Agnes A. Sheff, chairman of the festival, would like to thank all, especially the senior class and Mrs. Flewelling. A total of 57 seniors are going.

The Shakespeare Festival will include the performance of Henry IV, Part I, a historical drama that includes the renowned character of Falstaff, a lecture on the Stratford Shakespearean Theatre, and a visit to the museum on the scenic grounds along the Housatonic River in Connecticut.

The high school faculty attending, in addition to Miss Sheff and Mrs. Flewelling, are Mrs. Frances Behr, Patrick Rodden, Miss Elinor Lente, Miss Janice Peterson, Miss Patricia E. Porter, Lloyd Loop, Mrs. Elsie Ketelaar, Mrs. Jean Emery, Miss Gail Gray, Miss Patricia A. Porter, Miss Charlotte Turner.

Celebrate Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Althiser of Washington Avenue were given a surprise party Wednesday evening in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary. Present were Mrs. Carrie Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. William Willt, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Koskie, Mrs. Ann Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. John Althiser Jr. and another son, Gary Althiser.

Mr. and Mrs. Althiser were married Nov. 29, 1936 at the Saugerties Methodist Church by the Rev. Mr. Falshaw.

Events Scheduled

The Women's Fellowship of the First Congregational Church will continue its annual Christmas bazaar sale Friday in the store next to Johnstone's Photo Shop, Main Street, from 10 a. m. until early evening.

There are fifteen seats still available for the VFW Auxiliary sponsored bus trip to New York City scheduled for Saturday. Reservation may be made by calling Mrs. Thomas Dengler, Veteran. Three buses will leave the Saugerties terminal at 7 a. m. that day. The return trip will leave New York at 10 p. m.

Miss Ann Vree, a teacher of the Saugerties School system, will be guest on the Jayncee sponsored story hour at the Saugerties Public Library Saturday 10:30 a. m. Twenty-four children attended last week's program when Mrs. David Fox of Kingston Junior League showed how to make indoor gardens under glass. Six children were presented with the finished terrariums at the close of the program.

Named President

Miss Linda Boettcher, president of Atonement Church Luther League, was elected president of DUGO District, Hudson Conference Luther League at an organizational rally Saturday. She will serve as a member of the executive committee of the Hudson Conference.

Speakers for the Saugerties High School Christmas program Dec. 21 were chosen this week by the student body. Marianne Bolinder will represent the sophomore class, Frank Mauro the junior class and Virginia Roeser the senior class. The freshman class has not yet made their choice.

Contracts Reach Record for State Highway Projects

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —Gov. Rockefeller said today New York State had let more contracts for highway work in the first 11 months of this year than in any year in the state's history.

Rockefeller said the 1961 total will go even higher on Dec. 21 when the department of Public Works receives bids on an estimated $60 million in highway projects.

The governor said a total of $332,529,104 in low bids had been submitted by contractors this year under the state's accelerated highway program.

This was the first year state highway bids exceeded $300 million in a single year, he said.

Rockefeller said that the accelerated highway program was made possible by increased state road appropriations and that the state share of the cost had increased while federal-aid allocations had decreased.

Accelerated highway building, the governor said, will not be affected by repeal at a recent special session of the Legislature of a $100 million standby highway appropriation made by the 1961 legislature.

The $100 million appropriation was repealed to allow the state to use the funds for the governor's school fallout-shelter program.

The move, primarily, was a bookkeeping transfer, since the budget must be balanced and an appropriation was necessary to launch the school-shelter program.

The $100 million was for sections of the Northway, North-South expressway, Route 17 and the Long Island Expressway. All the roads are being built with both state and federal funds.

Rockefeller, in his statement, said the appropriation was made "in the hope that the state's express highway program could be still further accelerated had the federal government advanced its share of the cost as rapidly as the states could match the federal funds."

He said the federal government, however, "did not advance its present 1972 completion date goal."

Pretty Old Oats

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — An old fire station building was purchased by a business firm which started some remodeling. Fred J. Reineke, head of the firm removed a piece of moulding from the ceiling and from a storage room above there came down half a bushel of oats.

The horse-driven fire fighting equipment was motorized in 1914.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

NEW YORK (AP) —Twenty years after the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, Mrs. Franklin D Roosevelt still has vivid memories of that fateful day that changed the world.

She had just finished lunching with guests in the White House when an usher informed her of the Japanese surprise attack. The President was upstairs alone in his study.

"Cabinet members and staff officers began arriving," recalled Mrs. Roosevelt. She retired to her sitting room and tried to busy herself with her mail.

Tired but Calm

"Just before dinner I got in to speak to Franklin," she said. "He was very tired, but on the whole very calm—and chiefly interested in what he was going to do next.

"The worst had happened. He had hoped we would not be engaged in a two-front war—and now we were. There was nothing to do but to meet it.

"Tired as he looked, I could feel the certainty was easier for him to accept than the uncertainty before. It is always easier when you know what you face, and can make plans, than to have to live with uncertainty."

At 77, widowed 16 years now, Anna Eleanor Roosevelt still meets the uncertainties of this world with grace and charm and courage and an unfailing cheerfulness.

Seated in her East Side apartment on a crimson sofa flanked by photos of Adlai E. Stevenson and Prime Minister Nehru of India, she said: "I try to cut down on my schedule, but I don't seem to be able to do much about it."

She still makes four or five public appearances a week, writes a thrice-weekly newspaper column, a monthly magazine column, and freely gives of her time to scores who come to her for advice or comfort.

Lags on Yule List

Usually she methodically has her Christmas shopping done months ahead of time, but this year is a little late.

"I have a long list—such a long list," she smiled. "I have 20 grandchildren now, and 13 great-grandchildren."

Here are her replies to a series of questions about her life and views:

"I've never thought through a personal philosophy of my own. I'm one of those who live pretty much day by day and meet the opportunities that come to them.

"Life is the acquisition of experience and the ability to face realities and accept them.

"What troubles most people is the almost automatic clinging to things that are known, and not being excited by the things that are unknown. This brings about a fear to face change in a constantly changing world.

"The younger generation? Frequently their biggest problem isn't themselves but their parents. I think the present young generation is better informed and more serious than the previous two or three generations were.

No Unsatisfied Ambitions

"No, I wouldn't want to be young again myself. I am satisfied with the period in which I lived. When you are young you have many unsatisfied ambitions, but I have none now."

Asked if she had any regrets or ever brooded over the past, Mrs. Roosevelt smiled, and shook her head. Her blue eyes looked over at a small statue near the window of the famed winged victory of Samothrace—her personal symbol of timeless courage and endurance.

"The thing I am most grateful for," she said, "is for an interesting life—and the opportunities I had to learn along the way."

Holiday Program To Be Presented By Youth Group

The juniors of the Christian Endeavor Society are presenting a Christmas Pageant Sunday, 7:30 p. m. at the Friends Community Church, Tillson.

Those participating are Sandy and Karen Grothkopp, Jackie and Allen Kouhout, Grace, Jack and James Christensen, Bruce Parker, Darlene Taylor, Wayne Wood, Janis Strang, John Morrow, Debby Musal, Doreen, Kramer, Florence Durand, Sandra Plonski with seniors Elizabeth Christensen accompanying at the piano and David Parker singing a solo.

As has been the custom for previous Christian Endeavor community nights, the parents and families of the children may attend. They also extend an open invitation to all members of the community to attend.

Schedule Announced For Tillson Church

Worship services will be conducted at the Tillson Reformed Church Sunday 11 a. m. by the Rev. Alfred J. Penney, DD, minister. The sermon topic will be Who Do Men Say That the Son of Man Is? Sunday school will be held 9:45 a. m.

An organ recital of Christmas music will be presented by J. Charles Brand at 8 p. m. There will be a hymn sing after the recital.

matter of FACT

Quicksand is treacherous even if it doesn't really pull you down. Great weights sink into it with ease. In 1878 a locomotive fell into Box Elder Creek in Colorado. Searchers probed into the stream bed, but the sand had swallowed up the huge engine. There wasn't a trace of it as far down as 50 feet, and it was never found.

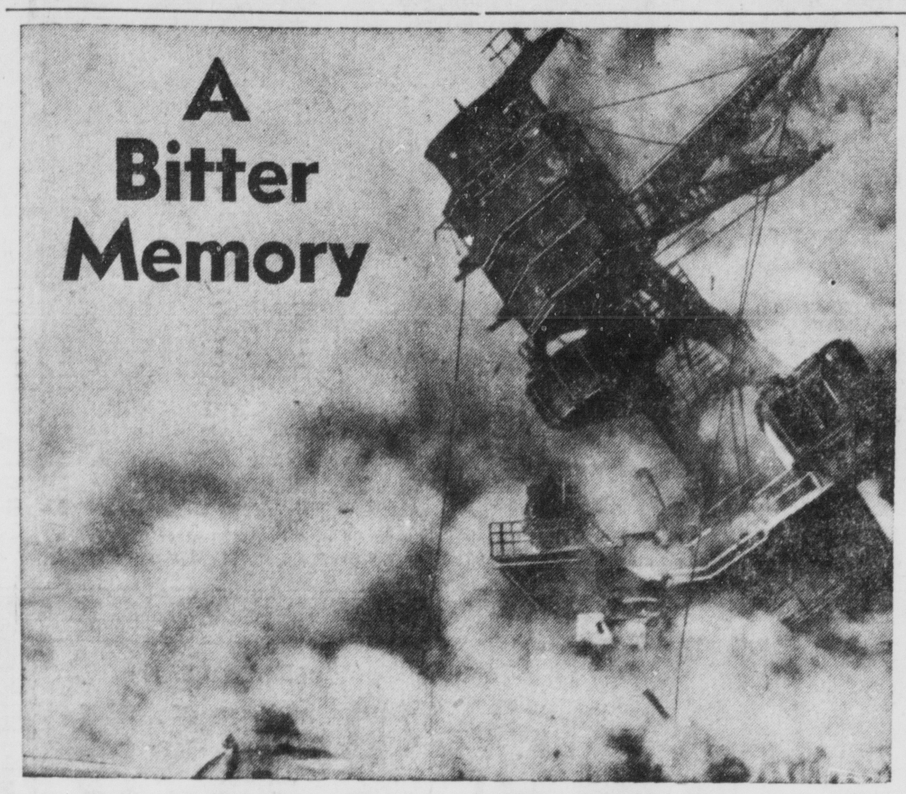
A Bitter Memory



The USS Arizona, aflame, at the height of the attack.

At the very moment the magazine of the USS Shaw, a destroyer, exploded.

In foreground, all that was left of two destroyers, the Downes and the Cassin. Flagship of the Pacific Fleet, the Pennsylvania, in rear, suffered relatively light damage.

Even today, after 20 years, the casualty figures from the surprise Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor are staggering: Totally lost was the battleship Arizona; severely damaged were the California, Nevada, Oklahoma (capsized) and West Virginia; damaged and later repaired were nine ships. U. S. aircraft destroyed totaled 177 out of 473 on the island. Human losses were: Navy, 2,117 officers and men killed, 960 missing, 876 wounded; Army, 226 killed, 396 wounded. The Japanese lost 48 planes and 3 small submarines.

Rotarians Hear Talk on Diamonds

An illustrated talk on the enchanting subject of diamonds was given by an expert, Emil Klipper, of Wittenberg before the Kingston Rotary Club luncheon-meeting Wednesday. Klipper, who is a Belgian by birth, is a member of the Woodstock Rotary Club and chairman of its International Committee.

The fourth generation in his family to have engaged in the diamond trade and become an authority on the precious stones, he gave a lucid account of the mining processes. He also explained the two categories into which diamonds are divided, the gems and industrialists.

His talk preceded a very interesting film on the diamond mining industry.

Ethics Body Is To Decide About Carlino, Profit

By MICHAEL KEATING

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Assembly Committee on Ethics meets here today to decide what, if anything, it should do about charges that the speaker of the assembly personally profited from fallout-shelter legislation.

The meeting was to be closed and it was to deal strictly with procedure rather than issues. No witnesses were to be called.

Mark Lane, a freshman assemblyman and member of the Democratic insurgent group in New York City, has accused Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, a Republican, of pressing for passage of Gov. Rockefeller's fallout-shelter program last month while a director of a company that manufactures shelters.

Assemblyman Donald A. Campbell, R-Amasterdam, committee chairman, said Lane had not submitted to the committee any formal charge as of Wednesday.

The meeting of the bipartisan committee is the second since it was formed in 1954. The first case, in 1956, involved then-Assemblyman John A. Britting, Republican of Lindenhurst, who was accused by the state investigation commissioner of fraudulent sale of public land while serving as Suffolk County deputy treasurer.

The Ethics Committee decided it lacked authority to handle the case because, it said, no formal complaint or evidence had been brought before it.

Rockefeller's shelter program, which was passed at a special session, provides state aid for construction of shelters in schools and colleges.

Lane said stock in the company — Lancer Industries Inc. — rose from $5.70 to $8.50 a share as a result of the program.

Carlino has denied he profited from the action. He has said that he owned no stock in the company. But he added that he received $200 or $300 in fees for attending directors' meetings and that his law firm received $5,000 from the company for legal services.

He said he resigned after the shelter bill was passed.

The State Investigation Commission declined to act in the matter and said it was up to the Assembly Ethics Committee to handle.

Carlino called on the committee for a "full and complete examination."

BRYSON CITY, N. C. (AP)—An engineering aide for the Water Resources Division of the U. S. Geological Survey has a job dropping a line in the mountain streams of western North Carolina.

But the aide, Ed Dillard, doesn't catch any fish. His assignment is to measure the volume of water in the streams.

State Potatoes Among Those in Surplus Buy Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has agreed to purchase potatoes in New York and four other Northeastern states under the surplus food program.

Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., said Wednesday night the potatoes would be allocated to the school lunch program and food programs for the need.

Walter said Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has approved payment of $1.65 per hundredweight for potatoes in five Northeastern states that are not under the potato diversion program.

Under the diversion program, the federal government purchases potatoes for allocation to starch plant facilities and for use as feed to livestock.

The other states involved are Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, and Massachusetts.

$2 Billion Loss

Says Trade Plan Would Cut Farm Income in U.S.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Current trade negotiations between the United States and the European Common Market threaten to shave as much as $2 billion annually from American farm income, Herschel D. Newsom, national Grange master, said today.

In an address prepared for the Empire State Farm Show, Newsom said trade proposals being considered in Geneva violate provisions of existing tariff agreements between the United States and its allies.

The proposals, he added, represent a threat not only to American agriculture but also to this country's entire international trade program.

The European Common Market is made up of France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxemburg. England has made a move to join this market.

Newsom said the proposals now being discussed would permit common market nations to increase tariffs and establish import quotas which would restrict drastically and even exclude U.S. farm imports.

Although such measures would broaden industrial trade opportunities for common market nations, Newsom said, they would virtually deny American farmers a chance to compete in those countries.

Wednesday, Rep. Clifford C. McIntire of Maine said most northeastern farmers [illegible] little enthusiasm for farm programs being developed by the Kennedy administration.

Demands Bank's Money, Also Call To City Police

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Henry Kramer, 66, walked up to a teller at the Security First National Bank's branch in downtown Los Angeles Wednesday and handed her a note saying:

"Give me all the mone6 you have and make haste about it. Xmas is too close to lose any time. The crime is now. A fait accompli."

The he asked the teller to call police, which she did.

Booked on suspicion of robbery, Kramer sighed:

"For 27 years I've owned and operated a corner grocery store in Baltimore but the weight of problems got too much for me."

The problems included, he said, loss of business to big markets, taxes, separation from his wife "and 84 hours a week in the store."

Condition Grave, London Reports

WORLD BRIEFS

LONDON (AP) —Lord Attlee, former Laborite prime minister of Britain, has suffered a heart attack and is in grave condition.

Attlee, who will be [illegible] n. 3, was taken to Amersham Hospital near London Tuesday with a stomach ailment. His doctor said Wednesday his condition was serious.

The elder statesman of the Labor party was twice hospitalized with a duodenal ulcer, in 1948 and 1951 while prime minister.

D-DAY RECREATED — Soldier-actors hit the beach at France's Ile de Re in a reenactment of the Omaha Beach landings in 1944. The scene, using real GI's, was staged for the film "The Longest Day," a story of the D-Day landing.

Improve Limited Weapons, Says Marine General

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. David M. Shoup, Marine Corps commandant, urges American industry to improve this country's limited-war weapons.

Shoup, speaking Wednesday night at a dinner of the 43rd annual industrial preparedness meeting of the American Ordnance Association, said an H-bomb "can only destroy."

"Make a better, longer range, faster firing, more accurate naval gun or missile and while you are at it develop higher powered, more lethal non-nuclear ammunition," he added.

Shoup received the association's Blandy gold medal for distinguished service to naval ordnance. The medal is named for Adm. William H. P. Blandy, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Ordnance during the early production phases of World War II.

Figures for Others, Lets Own Tax Go

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A certified public accountant said he was so busy preparing income tax returns for other people he didn't get around to filing his own.

Roy W. Hunt, 47, of suburban San Carlos, was convicted by a federal jury Wednesday of willful failure to file his return for 1956 through 1958. The government said he owed taxes on a gross income of $48,239 for three years.

Judge Albert C. Wollenberg set Jan. 3 for sentencing.

Among the lodges which participated in the competition for the Lodge of the Year are Hudson Valley Lodge 432, Kingston.

The selection which is based on an evaluation of all phases of fraternal activities carried on by the lodge, was made at the last meeting of the Supreme Lodge Board held in Minneapolis, Minn.

Wilkins Satisfied CR Action Going Well Under JFK

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A top official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People says action by the Kennedy administration in the area of civil rights has been "gratifying."

Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, also praised the mass reporting media for what he termed bringing the race issue to the public in an understandable manner.

Wilkins spoke Wednesday night at a dinner meeting of the Philadelphia chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity.

Ike Accepts Post As Editorial Adviser

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has accepted the post of chairman of the editorial advisory board of the Encyclopedia Americana.

In an announcement Wednesday, Vincent E. Sutliff, publisher of the encyclopedia, also said the Dwight D. Eisenhower International Peace Scholarship Fund was being set up.

The fund will provide 10 annual scholarships of $3,000 each to graduate students here and abroad.

As head of the advisory board, Eisenhower will meet periodically with Americana editors to discuss broad editorial policy. He also will be consulted on administration of the fund and in the selection of students. Neither post pays a salary.

Dr. Broad Dies

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) —Dr. George B. Broad, professor emeritus of the Syracuse University college of medicine, died Tuesday at his home after a brief illness. He was 90.

Dr. Broad, a specialist in gynecology for more than 50 years, was a member of the college faculty from 1897 until 1933. For many years, he served as chief of staff in gynecology at Memorial Hospital.

He was a former member of the medical grievance committee of the Board of Regents, the governing body of education in New York State.

Florida Community Protecting Its Lakes

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The city of Lakeland is taking quick action to protect its namesake—the 11 lakes surrounding the city.

The driest 12-month period in at least 46 years has caused a noticeable drop in water levels of the 11 lakes.

City Manager Robert V. Youkey ordered the City Water Department Wednesday to determine which of the lakes is hardest hit and to start pumping water into them from the city mains. The city gets its water from deep wells.

Psychiatrists, Clergy Unity Urged for Help

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Karl Menninger urges unity between psychiatrists and clergymen, saying their common purpose is to help man.

Menninger, a psychiatrist, spoke Wednesday at a symposium conducted by Yeshiva University's National Institute of Mental Health Project.

When the two do irritate each other, Menninger said, it is usually because either the psychiatrist or clergyman, or both, may "lack humility and aspire to omniscience."

The president of Liberia is elected for an initial term of eight years. After that he may be reelected for further terms of four years each.

Accord Fire District Reelects Commissioner

William Anderson was reelected Tuesday to the five year term of commissioner of the Accord Fire District. He is serving as chairman of the board of fire commissioners and has been a member of the board since 1940.

The district covers about 84 square miles and recently another fire company was formed in the Tobasco School District and is known as Town of Rochester Fire Co. No. 2.

Winston Van Kleeck was one of those who helped organize the new company.

There was a vacancy on the board caused by the death of Charles Freer and Winston Van Kleeck was elected for a four year term to fill the vacancy.

Old Timer's Civil War Notes

By C. A. WINCHELL, Shokan, N. Y.

Town of Woodstock men serving in the Union Army included John E. Mann who was born, 1829, at Jefferson, son of Levi and Lucy Greenwood Mann. Locating in Woodstock at the age of 18, he enlisted in the 16th New York State Heavy Artillery and served in the Army of the Potomac. He returned to Ulster County after being mustered out at Alexandria, Va. He was first married to Rebecca Johnson, Woodstock, and his second wife was Emeline C. Finger of Saugerties. His children were Willard J., Levi and Ernest Mann. The 102nd was recruited in 1863 by Col. Joseph J. Morrison at a number of points including Albany, Troy and Poughkeepsie. Colonel Morrison commanded the regiment whose total death loss during the war was two officers and 326 enlisted men.

One of the many veterans in the lower part of the county in years following the war was John Carlton Merritt, who was born in the village of Marlboro, July 18, 1844, son of Edward A. and Emeline Kniffin Merritt. Enlisting at the age of 18 in the 127th Infantry, he was mustered out at the close of the war in New York City. Veteran Merritt was married Feb. 22, 1881, to Ann E. Hollister of Athens, and their children were May H. and Charles E. Merritt. He served as postmaster under three presidents, was an Odd Fellow and a member of the Grand Army of the Republic. The 127th was organized 1862 on Staten Island by Col. William Gurney who was its commander in actions in Virginia and South Carolina. It was mustered out June 30, 1865 at Charleston, S. C.

March 31, 1864—Since Major Van Rennselaer of our 20th Regiment has been placed in command at the Albany Barracks, desertions have become rare and bounty jumpers are getting their just desserts. A dozen of the latter have been shot, one fatally, in an effort to "run the guard."

Lieutenant Reynolds of General Gilmore's staff was a Marbletown boy and has relatives in Kingston.

March 31, 1864—Hurley is the banner Union Town in the county: not a solitary vote was cast in that good old town against the soldiers voting. No other in the county can boast that. So, 13 cheers for old Hurley!

The citizens of New Paltz assembled at the house of B. D. Smedes, pursuant to a call, Jan. 16, 1864, to consider the best method of raising the town's quota of men under the government's last call for volunteers. The meeting was presided over by Josiah P. Lefever and the secretary was Edmund Elting. It was rersolved that county officials be recommended to pay to volunteers from the old 20th Regiment a bounty of $325, and "We hereby pledge the Town of New Paltz for its proportion of an additional $25 to be paid said volunteers."

Wartime marriages around the county included the following: April 16, 1864—At Stone Ridge, Anthony Vandemark to Sarah C. Van Wagenen, both of Kerhonkson. April 20, '64—John A. Baker to Gertrude A. Baker, both Town Rochester. April 21, '64—Simon Baker to Hannah M. Baker, both of Rochester. May 2, '64—Wm. H. Cashdollar, 20th Regiment, to Mary L. Bogardus, both of Woodstock.

March 3, 1864: Our Old Twentieth Regiment left Kingston for the third time since being mustered in that Spring day of 1861. The regiment was recruited up to 700 men. Before leaving, they were presented with a beautiful flag by Albert Kugler, who was with the 20th in its three-months' service. The presentation was made by George T. Pierce and the flag was received by Col. Theodore Gates. The friends of Captain McMahon presented him with a purse of $205 through T. R. Westbrook, for the purpose of procuring a horse for the gallant captain. In reply to the tender and to the loss of a leg at Gettysburg, Captain McMahon replied in the words of Cato, over the body of his son, who had died in the service of his country:

"Thanks to the gods! My boy has done his duty.
Welcome, my son! There set him down, my friends . . .
I should have blushed if Cato's house had stood secure,
And flourished in a civil war."

The Twentieth then took up the line of march for Rondout were our soldiers embarked on the Str. Thomas Cornell for New York from whence they will sail to Annapolis.

March 31, 1964: Our 20th Infantry met with several mishaps after leaving Kingston, March 18, on their way to the front. One soldier, as yet unidentified, is supposed to have drowned just below Newburgh . . . Dubois Vandemark of Kingston was killed in a railroad accident near Brandy Station, Va. His body was brought home and the funeral was held from the local Arsenal. Stephen D. Houghtaling was injured in the same accident . . . William Knapp was shot and killed by a drunken sentinel at Alexandria, Va. His body was sent home and the funeral took place, March 26, at the First Methodist Church in Kingston.

A time of great sorrow in Ulster County. Death had been taking its grim toll of our soldier boys for nearly three years, and the end was not yet.—C.A.W.

Will Let Prisoners See Crime Movies

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The North Carolina Prison Commission has decided its inmates probably won't pick up any more bad habits just by watching crime movies and television.

The commission voted Wednesday to allow prisoners to view movies dealing with crime, and to take away from prison officials the right to censor nighttime TV viewing.

"Were trying to protect these people from something we can't even protect our own families from," said commission member M. B. Davis. "You can't beat Madison Avenue."

Lee Bounds of the Institute of Government suggested the fact that the lawmen always get their man in these stories may prove a moral benefit.

On the other hand, many tremendous rubbers have been scored when someone gets the bit in his teeth and won't let go, and my strong recommendation is that once the side with the part score opens the bidding against you, don't make an effort to keep the flag flying unless you have the ammunition to back defense. It's important to remember that even though game is saved, you are still going to be faced by the same part score.

South's three-diamond overcall falls into this class of silly defense. His partner has passed originally and South had no reason to believe he could defeat any spade contract at all.

Actually, West would have been able to make six spades, but he was not going to get there. It was too much to know about the good break in hearts and the favorable position of the diamond king behind South's ace.

Of course, North did not have to try four diamonds but he was a gallant defender also. West was delighted to double.

There wasn't any great slaughter. South lost two hearts and a ruff; two spades; a diamond; and a club for a total of 700 points.

But EAST AND WEST STILL HAD PART SCORE.

U.N. Handling Challenge to Own Future

U. S. Sees Evidence of Drift By Allies Over Congo Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and its chief European allies may find themselves entrapped in serious disagreement over U.N. operations in the Congo unless some way is found soon to end the conflict in Katanga Province.

Beyond allied considerations, the way the United Nations deals with the Congo situation is a challenge to its own future.

The problem of coordinating attitudes on the Congo problem seems likely to be one of the issues discussed by President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan when they meet in Bermuda Dec. 21-22.

Meanwhile authorities here are somewhat worried over the evidences of drifting apart which have recently become more apparent. The latest sign of differences of approach in London and Washington developed Wednesday in almost simultaneous government announcements.

In London a British government spokesman, discussing the Katanga crisis in Parliament, declared that the United Nations should not impose a political solution in the Congo by force. However, he said that U.N. military units there have the right of self defense.

Opposes Use of Force

In plain language, the British position is that the United Nations has no right to use military forces to compel Katanga President Moise Tshombe to end his secession. The United Nations must rather seek to effect a negotiated solution of his break with the central Congo government at Leopoldville.

In Washington the State Department announced that the U.S. Air Force would make available up to 21 more big transport aircraft to enlarge the American airlift of six transports already ferrying reinforcements for the U.N. military operations around Elisabethville, Tshombe's capital.

Both U.S. and British officials here said there is no basic difference over the policy of Congo unification; both governments support it.

State Department officials said, in fact, that the Western European allies, including Belgium and France, now agree that the only hope for the Congo's future lies in unity and that the split between Tshombe and the central government must somehow be ended.

Officials here say the Kennedy administration would not consider it wise in any case for the United Nations to try to unify the Congo by force. The State Department draws a fine distinction between forceful measures to expel Tshombe's white advisers, which would deprive him of one of his most effective elements of military power, and the use of force for the purpose of uniting Katanga with the Congo.

Washington's positive support for Congo unity is based on several considerations. One is that if Katanga is not put under the power of the central government further secessions of other provinces will follow.

Katanga Wealth Vital

Another is that the wealth of Katanga is necessary to the economic health of the country. A third is that a strong united Congo has far more chance of surviving future Communist efforts to gain influence and power in Central Africa than would a weak and divided country.

Officials here say that the severe outbreaks of fighting around Elizabethville in recent days have tended to highlight the differences in the approach of various allied governments to the Congo problem and that if the fighting can be quickly brought under control these differences may tend to recede into the background. But the greater need, as Washington sees the problem, is for an early end to Tshombe's independence policy.

Material Handling

Mid-Hudson Chapter of American Material Handling Society will meet Friday at the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie. Dinner will be at 6:30 p. m., followed by a plant tour of IBM's new Material Distribution Center at the Poughkeepsie plant.

This meeting is being held in conjunction with Region 1, regional meeting with National officers and Chapter officers of all Region 1 chapters attending.

Price Correction

In a Big Scot advertisement appearing in Wednesday's Freeman the price of king size fiberglass tray table sets on casters should have been $9.87.

Lap Dog, Anyone?

Before you encourage your puppy to sit on your lap or sleep on you bed, consider the size of the grown dog. What is adorable behavior in a tiny ball of fluff can be a discomforting experience if he grows into an 80-pound dog!

Imports Exceed Exports

For the second time in 57 years, imports of steel mill products exceeded exports. According to Department of Commerce figures, 3.4 million tons of steel mill products were imported into the United States in 1960 while 3 million tons were exported.

'Economic Cannibalism'

Celler Raps N. Y., Upstate Bank Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee, denounced today as "economic cannibalism" the holding company proposed by the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., New York City, and six Upstate New York banks.

In testimony prepared for a Federal Reserve Board hearing, Celler said approval of the proposed combine would scotch competition and set off a chain reaction of bank mergers in the state.

He called the trend toward bank mergers and combines calamitous and urged the board to reject "this gigantic reaching out for more and more moneyed power."

The alternative, he said, would be to place every small independent bank in New York State in jeopardy.

Celler was the first scheduled witness at the board's hearing into the application by the seven banks to form the Morgan New York State Corp.—which would be the largest bank holding company in the nation with assets of $6,131,600,000.

These Upstate banks would be parties to the holding company: Lincoln Rochester Trust Co., Manufacturers and Traders Trust Co., Buffalo; the National Commercial Bank and Trust Co. of Albany; First Trust & Deposit Co. Syracuse; the Oneida National Bank and Trust Co. of Central New York, Utica, and the First-City National Bank of Binghamton.

The six Upstate banks said they initiated the holding company idea in an attempt to compete with the Marine Midland Corp., the only bank holding company now operating in New York State.

Gateway Awarded Button Contract For Display Sale

Sometime ago Gateway Industries, Inc., an organization for aiding the handicapped, received a contract from Jewel Tone Button Company to attach buttons to cards for display sale. This project was started with 15 workers, all disabled. Presently as many as 24 people are employed in this work turning out more than 300 gross of buttons each day. It is the plan of Gateway Industries, Inc., to put on more people when larger quarters have been secured.

An envelope stuffing job was completed a short time ago for Busche's, advertised as New York's largest jewelers. Busche's thought so well of the Gateway work that they have promised all their future mail business.

Gateway Industries, Inc., has a department for chair caning, upholstery and carpentry. Caning 10 cents a hole are the holes to be counted. Carpentry and upholstering is priced according to the job. Open to the public for any light work, Gateway Industries, Inc., will do stuffing and addressing of envelopes. They also have items for sale which they feel could make good Christmas items such as aprons, casual pillows 24 by 24 stuffed with foam rubber.

Gateways Industries are open every day from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. to the public and the public is invited to drop in and see the progress which has been made in aiding the handicapped.

To Count Ballots On CC Directors On Next Monday

The ballots for the election of directors of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce will be counted next Monday afternoon.

In making this announcement today, Frank Hoornbeek, chairman of the tellers-of-election, urged that all members, who have not already done so, mark their ballots and return them promptly to the Chamber of Commerce. A self addressed envelope was provided for the purpose.

The tellers-of-election named by President Joseph E. O'Connor are Frank Hoornbeek, chairman; Robert Badian, James Gilpatric, Marvin Millens, Harold Reis, and George Turner.

The 14 nominees for the office of director, as listed on the ballot, are: William Darling, James Fuller, C. A. Henze, Charles Hoppey, Harry Kapreilian, Frank Kolts, Christus Larios, Howard A. Lewis, Dr. Elbert MacFadden Jr., Raymond C. Myers, James E. Norton, Stuart S. Randall, Charles S. Ronder and Joseph D. Scholar Jr. The seven receiving the highest number of votes will be declared elected for a term of three years starting January 1.

Reckless Driving Charge

Bradley A. Wilson, 25, of 24 West O'Reilly Street, a taxi driver, was booked on a reckless driving charge Wednesday night. Police said he was issued a summons following a complaint by a woman. City court hearing today was put over to Dec. 14 and he was released in his own recognizance.

Nikita Declares U. S. Holds Key To Quiet World

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev, speaking in tones of mingled gaiety and gravity, told the U. S. ambassador Dec. 6 that it was the Americans who were roiling the international waters and they could calm them when they wish.

The statement was made in an exchange at a reception given by Finnish Ambassador Euro Wuori to celebrate 44 years of Finnish freedom.

The Soviet leader was in excellent spirits when he came upon Ambassador Llewellyn R. Thompson Jr., in the crowd at the Finnish Embassy. Khrushchev's appearance there was something of an exception. He rarely attends such receptions these days.

It was also a mark of distinction for the Finns since he left a Supreme Soviet session to come to the party.

Thompson suggested that he would like a few days rest and asked if the premier would keep things quiet awhile.

"It is not ourselves who are roiling the waters," Khrushchev said in a tone half-serious, half-banter, rubbing the back of his hands against Thompson's shirt front. "You are the ones stirring things up."

Then he added: "You can quiet them when you want."

$300,000 Suit Continues Here About Auto Death

Continued today in Supreme Court before Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth and a jury was the $300,000 automobile negligence action brought by Ruth Consolini of Ellenville against Susan Palermo, Robert Cesaro and Donald Ackert, an action to recover for the death of Arthur L. Consolini who was fatally injured in an automobile accident on August 10, 1958.

The accident, involving the cars of Susan Palermo, operated by Robert Cesaro, and the car of Donald Ackert, took place on Williams Road, Town of Milan in Columbia Coounty.

MEETS WITH TRAFFIC TROUBLE—This heavy unit, which is to be part of the kiln system at the Nytralite Aggregate Inc. plant in the Eddyville area, shown here being hoisted from a flat car, met with trouble as it was trucked along Greenkill Avenue Wednesday. It is to be installed as a cooler section. Police were notified at 4:10 p. m. that the truck broke down, and soon after that a traffic tieup was reported at Greenkill and Wilbur Avenues. Officers Richard Dempsey and Sheldon O'Rourke were dispatched there. Workmen were reported active through the night clearing the area and the unit was hauled to the plant late this morning. Four other kiln sections were shipped here by barge recently. All units were hauled to the plant by Kingston Crane Service, Inc. (Freeman photo).

Judge Indicted In Bankrupt Fix

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted New York Supreme Court Justice James Vincent Keogh of Brooklyn on a charge of conspiring to "fix" a fraudulent bankruptcy case.

Also indicted were Elliott Kehaner, 36, a former assistant U.S. attorney in Brooklyn, now in private practice, and three other men.

They are Sanford J. Moore, 44, of East Rockaway, N. Y., a juke box company operator and former New York City policeman; Antonio Corallo, 41, of Flushing, Queens, a former Teamsters Union official; and Dr. Robert Erdman, 43, of Riverdale, the Bronx.

Keogh, 56, is a brother of Rep. Eugene J. Keogh, D-N.Y. Congressman Keough was not involved in the case.

The defendants were accused of trying to fix a case in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn for $35,000.

The indictment climaxed a months-long grand jury investigation ordered by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy when reports of a "fix" plot reached him last April.

Kennedy assigned William G. Hundley, a special assistant to conduct the probe and gave orders to "let the chips fall where they may."

Powell Appoints Young Attorney To Bridges' Job

CONCORD, N. H. (AP)—Gov. Wesley Powell today named a young conservative Republican to succeed the late Sen. Styles Bridges, who died at the age of 63.

In naming Attorney General Maurice J. Murphy, 34, to the post, the governor said he wanted someone who shared the late senator's philosophy of government.

Bridges was known as a conservative and a spokesman for that wing of the Republican party in Washington.

Murphy, a Portsmouth attorney, only recently became state attorney general. He was named by Powell, a Republican, to serve a one-year interim appointment until the next state election in 1962.

Will Illuminate Marbletown Tree On December 17

The lights on the memorial Christmas tree of Marbletown Community Project will be turned on officially Sunday, Dec. 17 at 5:30 p. m. during a dedication ceremony at Stone Ridge Bank.

The tree lighting ceremony will be held following a Christmas program which will include the arrival of Santa Claus. The open party for children and adults will be held at Marbletown American Legion Home, opposite the bank building.

Those wishing to purchase a memorial bulb in memory of a loved one, may make arrangements at Elmendorfs of Hy-Way Pharmacy, or may contact the Marbletown Community Project by mail at Stone Ridge.

The committee includes Kenneth E. Osterhoudt, Virginia L. Miller, John O. Nilsen, and Melvin E. Lockwood.

Osterhoudt wished to emphasize that the date of the event was changed from Saturday to Sunday.

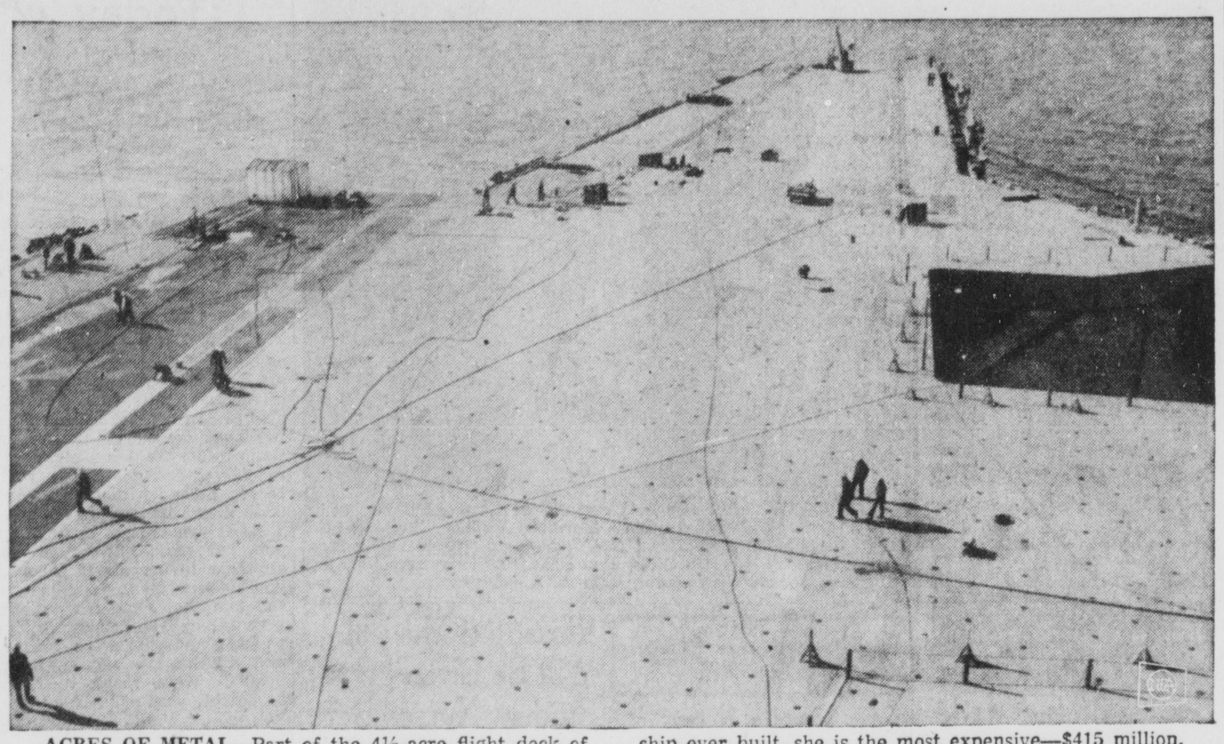
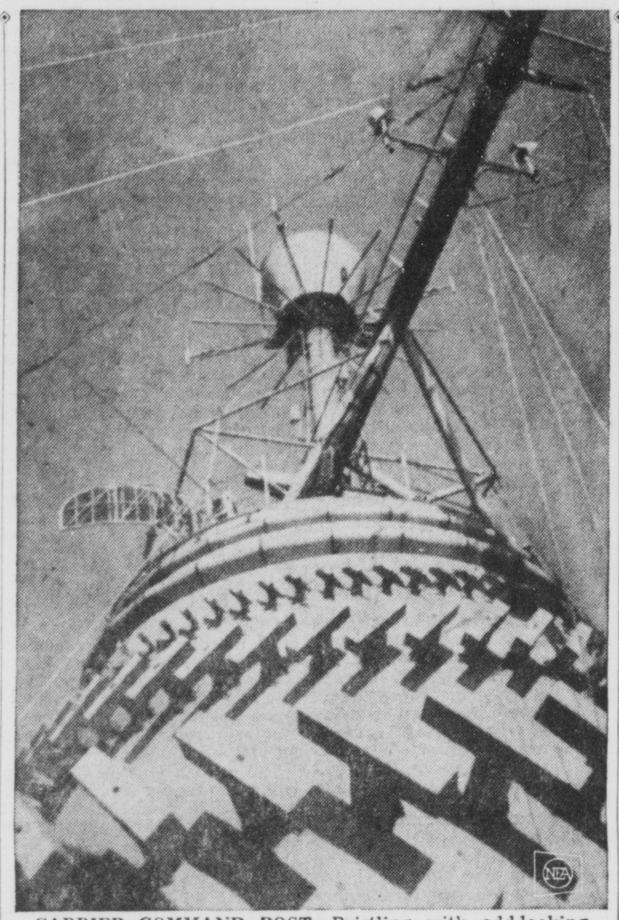
THE MIGHTY ENTERPRISE TAKES TO SEA



ACRES OF METAL—Part of the 4½-acre flight deck of the USS Enterprise is shown in this view from the ship's bridge. Workmen continue finishing operations following official acceptance by the Navy at commissioning ceremonies at Newport News, Va. Not only the largest warship ever built, she is the most expensive—$415 million. The 85,000-ton Enterprise is powered by eight atomic reactors that can propel her to a speed better than 40 miles an hour and for a distance of over 400,000 miles at cruising speed between refuelings. She'll carry 4,100 men.



CARRIER COMMAND POST—Bristling with odd-looking electronic gear, the bridge of the USS Enterprise is as modern as the vessel it controls. The 85,000-ton, nuclear-powered floating airfield is the largest warship ever built. Her 90 planes can deliver more destruction than all the combat planes in World War II.

QUEEN OF THE SEA—Slicing through Atlantic waters off Newport News, Va., the USS Enterprise presents an imposing appearance. The ship's angled landing deck is seen in the rear. Slots near the bow house the take-off catapults.

Po'keepsie Woman Dies of Injuries Suffered in Leap

A 29-year-old Poughkeepsie woman died today at 2:10 a. m. at Vassar Hospital of injuries suffered Tuesday afternoon when she leaped from an automobile on Route 22 near the Birch Hill Game Farm, Town of Patterson, Putnam County.

A spokesman at the hospital told The Freeman Mrs. Catherine Gohl, 205 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, died of massive hemorrhages internally and fractured ribs.

Brewster state police said the woman was riding in a car operated by her husband, John Gohl, 29, of 57 Garden Street, Poughkeepsie, when she leaped from the moving vehicle. She was taken to the hospital in the Patterson Fire Department ambulance.

Troopers said Gohl was taking his wife to Meriden, Conn. to visit her sister. Mrs. Gohl formerly was employed as a presser in a Poughkeepsie laundry.

Dutchess Couple Fined, Jailed in Gambling Inquiry

A Beacon man and his wife were sentenced to three months in the Dutchess County jail and fined $250 each Tuesday, when they appeared before County Judge John R. Schwartz for sentencing on gambling convictions.

The defendants were Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Jones, 30 Beekman Street, Beacon. Both previously pleaded guilty.

Judge Schwartz adjourned until Friday sentencing Frank Romano, 52, Beacon resident and former professional boxer and referee, and Wilford Green, 36, Beacon, who was indicted in one of four indictments against Romano.

Also scheduled for sentencing on Friday is Albert Tomasi, 40, Old Hopewell Road, Town of Wappinger. He was found guilty by a County Court jury on three misdemeanor gambling charges.

Judge Schwartz suspended additional six month jail terms on Hubert Jones, 48, who was jointly accused with his wife in one indictment and Lilliemae Jones, 36, who was named in four indictments. They were accused of possessing policy slips, operating a place of policy and being common gamblers.

Has JFK Support

SEOUL (AP)—Gen. Chung-Hee Park, chairman of the South Korean military junta, said today he has secured President Kennedy's full support for his revolutionary government and its economic reforms.

He added, however, that the U.S. President during Park's November visit to wwashington, did not commit his government to any specific amount of additional economic aid for South Korea.

Two Are Injured At Walker Valley Fighting Blaze

Two men were injured while fighting a fire near Walker Valley Wednesday evening. Shortly after 6:30 p. m. fire was discovered in the house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Myron Frank some 3 miles north of Pine Bush.

One of those who was hospitalized at the Middletown Hospital for smoke poisoning was the occupant of the house Mr. Frank. The other was Allan Greer, nephew of Fire Chief Greg Greer of the Walker Valley Fire Company. Greer was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, and treated for severed tendons of his hand.

The 2½ story house was a wreck before the flames were brought under control by the combined efforts of Walker Valley, Pine Bush and Shawangunk Valley Fire Company firemen.

Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Spike-Horn Doe Has Long Islander Puzzled

Robert Terry of Babylon, L. I., was faced with a problem Thanksgiving Day while deer hunting in the Margaretville area. Seeing a deer with 7-inch spike horns, Terry fired only to find he had shot a doe. Spike-horn does are not unheard of but Terry had never heard of one. He summoned a game warden and was told the law provides for taking deer with horns, sex not being mentioned. Told to affix his "buck" tags to the deer he did so and yesterday took his deer back to Long Island.

In the party with Terry were several other hunters, the party getting six deer. The big spiked doe attracted a great deal of attention yesterday when Terry stopped at a gas station on Onteora Trail en route to his home. Terry, a native Kentuckian, has a place at Margaretville and has hunted in that area for several years.

'Figaro' Scheduled For New Paltz With Turnau, Monteux

"The Marriage of Figaro" in English will be the second program in the New Paltz Artist Series for 1961-62 which will be presented at the State University College, New Paltz, December 14 and 15 in the College Auditorium at 8:30 p. m.

Tickets are on sale at the College Bookstore, and reservations made by telephone.

Presented by the Turnau Opera Company, "The Marriage of Figaro" also will feature 26 members of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra, under the direction of Claude Monteux.

Two From Kingston In Ithaca Band

ITHACA—Two students from Kingston are members of the Ithaca College Repertory Band which performed at home football games. The band, composed of students in the School of Music, will also present two concerts at Willard State Hospital before the Christmas holidays.

The Ithaca College band members include: Diane Rifenburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Rifenburg, 121 Fairview Avenue, bassoon; and Martin Tirsch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tirsch, 67 Fairmont Ave., trombone.

B'nai B'rith Group Hears Doctor; Plans For December Made

On Wednesday, Nov. 29 the Kingston Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women met in the Ahavath Israel Hall. Guest speaker for the evening was Dr. Alice Rost, psychiatrist and neurologist. The text of her speech included interesting and thought-provoking information concerning emotional adjustment during menopause. Dr. Rost's services were obtained through the Ulster County Mental Health Association.

After a question and answer period conducted by Dr. Rost, a short business meeting was held. Mrs. Max Goldberg presided. Members were reminded to save old eyeglass frames for the "Eyes for the Needy" project. The organization received a letter of thanks for the frames already donated and Mrs. Max Millens, chairman of the program, expressed a desire to continue this service. Mrs. Jack Kahn announced that the group was co-operating with the Veterans of Foreign Wars in New Paltz in collecting new toys for holiday gifts to foster children in Ulster County. Any member wishing to donate a toy for a boy or girl from one to sixteen years of age, should contact Mrs. Kahn immediately.

Mrs. Carl Lipton announced that B'nai B'rith Women will be preparing and serving the refreshments for a Christmas party given by the Tuberculosis and Health Association for patients on December 28. Members who can assist in preparing the refreshments on December 27 or in serving on December 28 should contact Mrs. Lipton.

Mrs. Stanley Kohnberg and Mrs. Merrill Stone were thanked for acting as hostesses for the Halloween party the organization sponsored for the Wassaic Colony. Mrs. Herbert Powell told about the birthday gifts B'nai B'rith Women present to the patients of the Ulster County Infirmary.

In recognition of their service to the Chapter, District One of B'nai B'rith, honored Mrs. Irving Alcon and Mrs. Morton Levine for their tireless work as financial secretary and treasurer of the Kingston Chapter. Mrs. Jacob Rubenstein gave a short educational address on "How to Read the Bible."

The next meeting of the organization will take place Wednesday, Dec. 27.

Christmas Concert Planned by Lourdes

Our Lady of Lourdes High School will present its fourth annual Christmas Concert on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 8 and 9 at 8 p. m. The program will be repeated on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 10, at 3 o'clock.

The concert, directed by Sister Catherine George, O.P., will be presented in the school auditorium.

The highest honor that any Calypso singer or composed can attain is to have his song chosen as the "road-march" for the pre-Lenten Carnival in Trinidad.

Christmas Musical Will Be Given by Student Nurses Here

"Toyland Fantasy," a Christmas musical variety show by the students of the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing, will be presented in St. Mary's School auditorium, Broadway, this city, on Wednesday, Dec. 20 at 8 p. m. Sister Gabrielle, an instructor at the Benedictine, is assisted in directing the production by Mr. and Mrs. William Galbraith of Poughkeepsie.

Sister M. Callista, director of the school, announced that the original schedule for the musical's presentation in the residence auditorium has been changed so that more persons will be able to see the performance. The revised program will also allow a longer period for the students to enjoy their Christmas party.

Tickets may be purchased from students and will be available at the door.

The Mothers' Club will entertain the student nurses at a gala Christmas party on Thursday, Dec. 29 at 8 p. m. The event will be held in the Nurses Residence auditorium. Parents of the students are invited.

NEGLECTED THANK YOU NOTES

Q—My son was married two months ago and since then has returned to his Army base. His bride is living with her mother until he is released from duty. So far she has not written thank you notes for wedding presents. This is most embarrasing to me as many of my friends have been asking whether or not she received their gifts. She is a very nice person but I'm afraid is not too well versed in the proper thing to do. Will you please tell me how I can get her to write these notes without seeming critical and hurting her feelings?

A—It would be a mistake for you, her mother-in-law, to say anything to her about this, but you could write to your son and tell him that some friends have been asking whether or not their wedding presents were received and ask him to please ask his bride to write thank you notes as quickly as possible.

New Date on Unused Invitations

Q — A young couple had planned to be married the middle of last month and their invitations were ready to be mailed when the bridegroom had an accident that sent him to the hospital. The wedding had to be postponed. Now they're ready to be married and wondered if they could write in the new date on the original invitations.

A—If done neatly, it would not be impossible. After all, a majority will be going to their families and friends who, knowing the circumstances, will surely understand.

Choosing Flat Silver

Q—I cannot afford to buy both the medium-sized and dinner-sized knives and forks and wonder which you would suggest as being more useful until I can have both.

A—Those of medium size would be more useful since they can perfectly well be used for the meat course, whereas the big ones are overlarge for other courses.

Newman Club Will Sponsor Friday Night Socials Here

Newman Club of Kingston High School has announced the opening of an entirely new program for the school year. The Knights of Columbus have granted use of their building to the high school students of the area for a social. This will include not only dancing to records but also a game room and a television room. Plans are being made to obtain a juke box and pool table along with some other similar games.

It is planned to run several pool, table tennis, checker tournaments during the year. Plans are also in the making for several excursions to New York plays, basketball games and possibly the Ice Capades.

The Aquinas Club is in charge of running the program which will be held every Friday from 7:30 to 11 p. m., (11:30 on nights of home games for KHS), beginning this Friday. All are welcome.

Bicycle Racing

Schools such as Yale, University of Connecticut, Princeton, Dartmouth, Providence College, Williams and the City College of New York have bicycle racing on a club basis.

Sons of Norway Plan Yule Party

The annual Christmas party for members and their children of Hudson Valley Lodge of the Sons of Norway will be held Sunday, Dec. 10, beginning at 3 p. m. at the Elks Hall. Parents are to bring gifts for their children and a covered dish for the supper portion of the party. Donations of cookies are being accepted also, to be used as Christmas gifts to shut-ins in local institutions.

Officers of the lodge will meet briefly to take care of monthly business since the Sunday gathering will take the place of the regular meeting of Saturday, Dec. 9. The next regular meeting will be January 13, at which the installation of new officers will take place.

TB Group Sends Newkirk Thanks For Seals Help

"Thank you—Mr. Postmaster," has been warmly expressed by the Ulster County TB and Health Association for a helping hand in various aspects of the current Christmas Seals Campaign.

In a letter to Oscar V. Newkirk, Miss Hazel M. Steed, the executive director of the Ulster County TB and Health Association said, "We want to say thank you for the expeditious handling of over 30,000 pieces of mail with Christmas Seals enclosed, and the safeguards provided for mail being returned to us with contributions."

In addition, postal authorities have authorized the display of "Shop and Mail Early — Fight TB with Christmas Seals" posters on mail trucks and in post office lobbies throughout the country.

The Association's Christmas Seals Campaign Chairman, Robert S. Russell, said today, "The generous public response since the opening of the campaign, Nov. 13, is most encouraging and I feel sure it indicates that this 1961 campaign will be a success."

The smallest piece of territory under the U. S. flag is Kingman Reef, about 1,000 miles south of Hawaii. It is 150 feet long and 120 feet wide at high tide.

IN WOODSTOCK SHOW TONIGHT—Members of St. John's parish Choir of Woodstock, West Hurley and West Shokan, will give a variety show tonight at 8:30 in Town Hall, Woodstock. Con-Ed Reactor Plan Before AEC

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Atomic Energy Commission holds a hearing today on a request by the Consolidated Edison Co. for a provisional license to operate its Indian Point, N.Y., atomic reactor.

The license would permit initial loading of fuel—uranium 235 and thorium—and test operations. The reactor could be operated under the 18-month license at its full rated power of 585 thermal megawatts.

The reactor, near Peekskill, will produce 255,000 kilowatts when in full operation.

Both the commission's Division of Licensing and Regulation and its advisory committee on reactor safeguards have said the reactor can be operated without undue danger to public health and safety.

Markings From 27 Stolen Machines Under MVB Check

BABYLON, N.Y. (AP) — Motor vehicle bureaus throughout the state are on the watch for certain code markings that would show registrations to be from the 27 validating machines stolen Monday night from the vehicle bureau here.

State officials expressed the belief Wednesday that the code markings, which the machines imprint on the paper, would be detected by motor vehicle employes.

They also said a new state system of issuing licenses was expected to deter preparation of false licenses with the machines.

Nineteen of the stolen machines were for registrations and eight for operators' licenses.

Officials originally expressed fear the theft would lead to wholesale issuance of false registrations, with the most fertile field being stolen cars bearing valid license plates obtained by the owners.

Since the thieves took no plates from the office here, false registration would be useless for a plateless vehicle, they added, unless plates were stolen elsewhere or old ones artistically painted.

The stamp also may be used on operators' licenses, but the state's new punch-card system of issuing licenses lessens that possibility greatly, a Motor Vehicle Department official pointed out.

In the wake of the Babylon theft, a spokesman for the Motor Vehicle Department said in Albany motorists probably would have punch-card registrations for their vehicles in the near future.

He said it might be a year or two, or more, before the system could be set up. The system presumably would make falsifying registrations more difficult.

Hunter College Routs State College, 86-69

Bob Dillman's 26 Pace New Paltz

Hunter College's altitudinous front line overpowered State University College, 86 to 69, on Wednesday at the Hawks' gym in New Paltz.

Mike Rosen, a 6 foot 9 inch behemoth, powered the New Yorkers with 30 points.

Out of the running after the first few minutes of action, Coach Doug Sheppard's cagers trailed 41-21 at halftime.

Junior Bob Dillman of Queens Village staged a superb one-man show against the visitors with 26 points, but the superior all-round strength of the metropolitan squad dominated the action.

Dillman hit with 9 fields and 8 free throws. Eddy Szymanski, the West Babylon junior, and Mike Hazelton, Copiague sophomore, each contributed 15 points to the New Paltz attack.

Rosen pumped 11 fields and added 8 free throws. Other Hunter players in double figures were the 6 foot 3 forwards—Mayerson with 11 and Prince with 14—and Brennan with 17.

New Paltz hosts Geneseo State Friday night.

For 924-Day Season

State Racing Tax Hits A Record 98 Million

New York State's horse racing revenue in 1961 from three flat tracks and eight harness tracks reached a record of $98,510,444, for the 924-day season — an increase of 2 million over 1960.

In annoucing the revenue yield from the 1961 racing season, State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy said today that the season also had set records in attendance and in several other categories.

The 1961 revenue total includes $95,322,729.68 from the tax on pari-mutuel betting; $2,562,836.84 from the tax on track admissions; $407,877.75 from uncashed winning tickets of the 1960 season, and $217,000 in franchise fees from the New New York Racing Association.

State revenue receipts from all racing sources this year reached $98,510,444.27 compared with last year's 909-day previous record high of $96,556,493.07.

Total handle of bets at the three flat tracks this year reached $544,251,460 in 221 days of racing as against the previous record high of $531,528,210 in 219 days of racing last year.

The pari-mutuel tax at the flat tracks (10% of the handle at New York City tracks and 9% at Saratoga) amounted to $56,173,021.62 this year compared with the prior record high $54,974,770.91 in 1960.

Trotting Tracks Up

The betting at trot tracks in 703 racing days this year reached $516,790,071 compared with the previous record of $505,663,411 in 690 racing days at the harness plants last year.

State pari-mutuel revenue at the harness tracks also soared to a new record high fo $39,149,708.06 as against the previous high of $38,268,672.94 a year ago.

The combined total of bets at both flat and harness tracks touched the new high point of $1,061,041,531 in 924 racing days compared with the previous high, last year, $1,037,191,621 in 909 racing days.

New attendance records were also established. This year's total at all tracks was 13,611,336 as against the previous high, last year, of 13,355,529. Harness track attendance in 1961 was 7,491,639 compared with last year's 7,380,263. Flat track attendance this year hit 6,119,697. Last year, it was 5,975,266.

With the addition of the 1961 racing revenue, the cumulative total collected in State racing revenue in 22 years of legalized pari-mutuel betting has now reached $1,015,696,281.91. This does not include license and franchise fees collected by racing commissions.

In the same 22 years, racing fans bet an astronomical $12,401,951,631 through pari-mutuel machines at New York State tracks.

Lucas' Injury Jolts Buckeyes

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just how effective Ohio State's basketball forces are without its top marksman, Jerry Lucas, or possibly with a sub-par Lucas in the lineup, may be determined this weekend when the first-ranked Buckeyes face Wichita and Wake Forest.

Lucas' availability was in doubt today after Ohio State had polished off Pittsburgh 99-97 Wednesday night. The two-time All-America, hobbled by knee trouble, scored 23 points—18 in the second half—as the Big Ten champions won their second straight game.

In the dressing room after the game Lucas said: "It's my knees again. They were worse than they've ever been. They are swollen and inflamed. I don't know if I'll be playing this weekend. I'll have to talk to the trainer."

Ohio State entertains Wichita Friday night and visits Wake Forest Saturday. Wake Forest was rated No. 3 in the pre-season Associated Press poll. Wichita has won four in a row.

Only two other top ten teams saw action Wednesday night and both posted victories. Fifth-ranked Providence turned back Boston College 77-73 and St. John's, No. 9, whipped George Washington 79-65. Well-regarded Utah drubbed Western Texas State 96-61.

Costello Tops East, 125 to 82

The big guns wheeled into action in the city pocket billiard championships last night, with last year's runnerup, Bill Costello, overpowering youthful Don East, 125 to 82.

Costello had an unfinished run of 20. East, who had a high cluster of 13, played a good game and stayed on even terms with Costello until the late stages of the match.

Defending champion Charlie Sangaline makes his tournament debut against Len Fisher tonight at 7 o'clock.

Guinea Pig Role Disturbs Davis

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Ernie Davis says he's not interested in becoming a guinea pig in a professional football racial dispute.

"I wish they would quit bringing up this race stuff," the Syracuse University halfback said today. "I don't want to be another Jackie Robinson. I just want to play football, and I'll go where I can get the best offer."

The 210-pound Davis Wednesday night became the first Negro in 27 years to receive the Heisman Trophy as the best college player of the year.

Now he finds himself the pawn in a giant tug-of-war between the National and American Football Leagues on the one hand and the government and George Marshall's Washington Redskins on the other.

Davis was the first pick of the Redskins after Marshall, whose teams have been picketed by racial groups, was given a stiff warning by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall. Marshall was told he must hire a Negro player to prove himself innocent of discriminatory practices.

The Redskins are the only NFL team that has never had a Negro player.

The Syracuse halfback also was drafted by the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League. He says he has been contacted also by several Canadian teams, with Calgary making a particularly good offer.

On top of this, Harry Wismer, owner of the New York Titans, insists that he will make every effort to get the rights to Davis from Buffalo and will pay Ernie $100,000 for three years, plus a $25,000 bonus.

Asked about the different offers, Davis was noncommittal but said he was interested.

Rival Athletic Groups Seeking Middle Ground

WASHINGTON (AP) — Colleges and the Amateur Athletic Union studied today a plan to compromise their dispute over control of U.S. basketball.

The proposal by Louis G. Wilke of Bartlesville, Okla., sets up a delicate power balance between the AAU and the National Collegiate Athletic Association. It also provides representation for other groups interested in amateur basketball.

All groups present at Wednesday's meeting here will report their views on the proposal to Wilke before Dec. 27. Wilke, vice president of the Federation of International Basketball Associations (FIBA), was chosen by FIBA to mediate the dispute.

When he gets the reaction of the various groups to his proposal, Wilke will decide whether a solution is possible or whether the dispute should be tossed back into the lap of the international group for settlement.

In Rome last year, the NCAA-led college group petitioned FIBA for recognition of a new federation which would divide among several groups the international representation now held by the AAU.

Wilke's plan calls for a national amateur basketball council similar to the federation proposed by the NCAA.

Both groups were cautious in their comments, but AAU officials called it "a step in the right direction."

Council membership, as proposed by Wilke, would include the AAU, NCAA, National Association for Intercollegiate Athletics, YMCA, National Jewish Welfare Board, National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, the Catholic Youth Organization, Junior College Federation and the Armed Services.

Hayes Mercury, Balotin Score YMCA Basketball League Wins

Tom Fiore meshed 27 points, as Hayes Mercury overpowered Rondout Valley, 64-36, in Wednesday night's YMCA League basketball action.

In a companion game, Baliton's staged a strong second half to topple Accord, 47-37, in a rugged defensive duel.

Fiore picked up all but one of his points from the field. Richie Amato added 14 and George Uhl 11. Hayes led 26-14 at halftime. Tyrone Franklin's 15 points paced Rondout Valley.

Baliton's outscored Accord, 31-21, after the recess, with Joe Dallao's 19 points furnishing the spark. Robert Edelman helped with 12. Ron Roby, the WGHQ sportscaster, paced Accord with 14 points.

Party Permit Reports Due On December 15

Albert G. Hall, Chief of the Bureau of Game in the State Conservation Department, today reminded "party permit" deer hunters that if they failed either to use their permit or to take a deer, they must so advise the Department by December 15. The big-game season closed December 5.

Under the permit system, a party of four hunters was allowed a bonus deer of either sex in addition to the one-buck-per-hunter allowed under the regular big-game license. This year, more than 33,000 permits were issued for use in six designated areas throughout the Adirondacks, Catskills and Southern Tier where additional harvesting of deer herds was necessary, Mr. Hall said.

Party permit deer should be reported only once, he stated, by using the special form included with the permit—not the bear reporting card.

Hunters who failed to take a bear during the past season should hold on to the "bear report card," because they will need it to obtain a new license in 1962, Mr. Hall said.

Under State law, even deer and bear that were checked at Conservation Department check stations must be properly reported within ten days of the date the game was taken. Both antlered and party permit deer must also be tagged in accordance with Department regulations.

McCreary Hikes Indians Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Springfield Indians have opened a little daylight in the Eastern Division of the American Hockey League today, thanks to the firing of left winger Bill McCreary.

The Indians pushed their first place lead to three points over idle Hershey Wednesday night with a two-goal third period burst that beat the Cleveland Barons 4-2. McCreary, who had scored Springfield's first goal, got the tie-breaker at 1:09 of the last period on an assist from Bill Sweeny. Then Bob McCord put it away with the Indians' fourth goal seven minutes later.

Providence, scoring three goals in the last period, defeated Buffalo 53 in the other AHL game Wednesday night and moved to within six points of runner-up Hershey in the East.

Murray Hicks had given Buffalo a 3-1 lead in the second period by scoring twice within 45 seconds but the Bisons could not hold the advantage. Serge Boudreault scored later in the second period, and Stan Baluik, George Ranieri and Jimmy Barlett rifled in goals in the third period for the Providence victory.

Baylor Passes Will Be Answer To Utah's Beef

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Baylor Bear knows it must feast on beef to beat Utah State in the inaugural Gotham Bowl game at the Polo Grounds Saturday.

Coach John Bridgers thinks the Bears' pro-type offense may be just the answer.

"I know," the Baylor coach said after he led his 48-man squad into New York from Waco, Tex., Wednesday night and was reminded that unbeaten Utah State will outweigh the Bears by about 20 pounds a man. Included in the Utah beef-trust are three linemen, Merlin Olsen, Clark Miller and Clyde Brock — each of whom goes 250 or better up to Olsen's 275.

"But we like to pass a lot," Bridgers added, "and we aren't afraid to throw from anywhere on the field. We're kind of hoping that our passing will open them up a bit."

The Bears, although they had only a 5-5 season record to Utah State's 9-0-1, were able to beat Fitt and Texas Christian, both of whom have plenty of bulk, especially in the line, year after year.

Both clubs scheduled workouts today, cheered by the announcement that the game would be televised nationally by ABC—starting at 1:15 p.m., (Eastern Standard Time). Baylor and Utah had accepted invitations on the basis of an equal split of 75 per cent of the gross gate, including any TV or radio money. The television contract reportedly calls for about $100,000.

Chicago Majors Like Twin Bills

What the Chicago Majors need to get into first place in the American Basketball League's Eastern Division is more doubleheaders like the one at Chicago Wednesday night.

When the doubleheader started, the Majors — in third place — trailed second-place Pittsburgh by 1½ games and first-place Cleveland by three. A few hours later, they had gained a full game on each club.

Los Angeles, runnerup team in the Western Division, opened with a 104-93 victory over Pittsburgh as Bill Spivey scored 24 points. Then the Majors whipped Cleveland for the second straight night, 101-93, Herschell Turner scoring 22 points, Govoner Vaughn 19 and Kelly Coleman 18.

Upstate Powers Split Contests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Niagara and Canisius, two of the basketball powers of Western New York, split in games against out-of-state opponents.

Niagara walloped visiting Villa Madonna 88-61 Wednesday night, but Canisius bowed to Bowling Green's Falcons, 74-66, at Bowling Green, Ohio.

In other games involving Upstate New York colleges, St. Lawrence trounced Ithaca, 70-53, Cortalnd trimmed LeMoyne, 53-45, and Vermont whipped Union, 72-46.

At Niagara Falls, Niagara sprinted to an early lead and easily handled Villa Madonna. A total of 15 Niagara players saw action as the Purple Eagles won their second victory of the season.

Bowling Green had little trouble with Canisius, running up a 21-point lead and letting reserves take over Canisius' Bill O'Connor was the high point man of the game with 23.

Avalanche of Goals Pleases Hawk Skipper

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's nothing like a deluge of goals to make a coach happy, so you couldn't blame Coach Rudy Pilous of the Chicago Black Hawks for feeling chipper today.

The Hawks, defending Stanley Cup champions, went on a scoring spree Wednesday night and whipped the New York Rangers 8-3 in the only National Hockey League game played.

Limited to only six goals in the previous three losses and a tie with New York, the Hawks accumulated their highest goal output of the season. The eight goals also was the second highest of the season, Toronto scoring nine times against Boston earlier.

Third of the Season

Marion Sanford Rolls 605 in Saugerties Loop

Marion Sanford, the Saugerties ace, rolled her third 600 triple of the season this week in the Monday Mixer at Riccardi's Recreation Center in Saugerties.

Mrs. Sanford, a 15-year veteran, put together games of 197 162 and 246 for the big blast.

She had rolled the first 600 triple of her career on Oct. 27 with a 602 set at Saugerties on games of 187, 183 and 232.

On Nov. 16, Mrs. Sanford achieved her career high of 627 with games of 182, 193 and 252.

In the women's division, Marie Sheehan had 408, Peggy Naccarato 414, Margaret Morgan 463, Tulu Berzal 439, Robbie Reynolds 447, Mildred Pisani 482, Peggy Smith 472, Winnie Canger 415, Fran Eckerlein 458, Jean DuBois 486.

SCHOLASTIC CORNER

By ED PALLADINO

The announcement last week that the Arlington School Board of Education took steps toward mending a 23-year break in athletic relations with Poughkeepsie High School by giving the go-ahead to the Junior High School to meet Poughkeepsie on the court this season, is certainly a step in the right direction. However, a statement by Arlington Superintendent of Schools Harold C. Storm leaves us wondering.

He told the board he did not believe Arlington should compete with Poughkeepsie in varsity football on a year in and year out basis because there's a difference of 400 senior high school students and he claims there are just so many rugged boys in each hundred.

PURE HOGWASH

If that were the case then Highland and Saugerties, which have the smallest enrollments in the DCSL, should just drop from the circuit. The same should go for Port Jervis in the DUSO League. Yet, these schools play the bigger institutions each year and hold their own with them. Why, then, shouldn't Arlington do the same to Poughkeepsie?

Superintendent Storm doesn't hesitate to have Arlington play the likes of Saugerties, Highland, Beacon and Cardinal Farley in football. These are all smaller than Arlington. Roosevelt isn't as big as Arlington and Wappingers is just about the same size.

LOOK AT THE FIGURES

Actually, the figures for the top four grades at Poughkeepsie and Arlington are closer than one might think. They are both classified as "A" schools with Poughkeepsie having about 700 boys and Arlington showing about 400.

In that same Dutchess County Scholastic League, (and these are last year's figures), Wappingers was listed as having 353 boys, Roosevelt 238, Cardinal Farley 222, Saugerties 194, Beacon 173 and Highland 131. They are all smaller than Arlington and yet play that team in all sports.

We think that if Arlington and Poughkeepsie decide to resume relations (and there's no reason why they shouldn't), the schools should play each other in all the major sports. After all, Arlington is still a growing school and promises to be as big as, if not bigger than Poughkeepsie before long.

NEWBURGH, ROOSEVELT AND WALLKILL

Those schools are our selections to win basketball championships this season.

Newburgh is selected over Kingston in the DUSO with the rest of the order being Poughkeepsie, Middletown, Liberty, Port Jervis and Monticello. The Goldies of Joe Gaspard have four returning regulars and a couple of reserves back for another shot. They lost only four games last season.

Kingston has lost Joe Uhl, Vince Smedes and Al Brown. Coach John Gilligan has to find replacements for that trio. With two returning regulars and a valuable reserve returning, the Maroon team figures to make trouble and may beat the other clubs out for second.

AN OUTSTANDING PLAYER

Roosevelt is loaded in the DCSL and should nip Wappingers Falls for the crown. Wes Bialosuknia is the best player in the circuit and he's only a junior. Saugerties will be defending the title but Bud Smith has a rebuilding job. The Sawyers are tabbed for third, followed by Beacon, Arlington and Cardinal Farley.

Wallkill figures to nip New Paltz for the UCAL crown with Marlboro, Rondout Valley, Onteora, Pine Bush and Highland following. Eddie Mooney is the big boy for Jack Higgins but he will have plenty of help.

Early indications are that the schoolboys will have another banner basketball season. This should make those controlling the purse strings happy because it means bigger crowds and a larger revenue.

Moore Admits He Pulled Out Of Bout With Bob Cleroux

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Archie Moore said, in effect, Wednesday night that he pulled out a scheduled bout with Canadian heavy weight champion Bob Cleroux earlier this week because the promoter wanted him to fight for less than his $50,000 guarantee.

The Moore-Cleroux fight, canceled suddenly about 12 hours before ring time Tuesday in Montreal, has resulted in the indefinite suspension of promoter Eddie Quinn and steps for a full scale investigation of the reasons behind the cancellation.

Quinn announced he did it because "the box office was sick." He had lost $25,000 and stood to lose much more if the figh was held. Cleroux's co-manager, Al Bachman, had charged that Moore ran out in the fight.

Ol' Arch, whose portion of the world light heavyweight title was not at stake, as much as admitted he was behind the cancellation last night during a stopover here.

"The fight did not come off when they started to barter to reduce my guarantee of a $50,000 appearance fee," Moore told a reporter. "I conferred with my wife and she said, 'No, make them live up to the terms of the contract.'"

Quinn was not available for comment immediately.

Seeks Later Date

Archie also said he was returning to Canada to explore possibilities for rescheduling the bout at a later date, or "possibly sue somebody." He did not elaborate on the possible suit.

After the cancellation, the Montreal Athletic Commission suspended Quinn indefinitely and threatened also to suspend his wrestling promoter's license. This threat was lifted Wednesday when the commission said Quinn had complied with certain requirements.

Quinn has been a boxing and wrestling promoter for 22 years and was involved in the promotion of Moore's title fights a few years ago with Canada's Yvon Durelle.

He blamed the poor box office of the scheduled Moore-Cleroux fight on the big sports program in Canada last weekend that included a key hockey game, the Canadian pro football championship game, the Grey Cup ;and the Patterson McNeeley heavyweight title bout in Toronto.

Baylor On Spree

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Monday night, Elgin Baylor—on a six-week reprieve from Army duty while he appeals his recall—scored 50 points and led the Los Angeles Lakers to a 131-120 victory over Syracuse.

Tuesday night, Baylor scored 45 points, 10 in a row at a late stage, and the Lakers whipped the Nats 125-120.

Wednesday night, at Los Angeles, the Lakers beat Syracuse in overtime, 123-121. Baylor scored 47 points, including 7 of his team's 10 points in the overtime period.

The three-game streak has helped the Lakers build their NBA Western Division lead to 5½ games over runnerup Cincinnati, which lost 103-102 to the Eastern rout-makers, the Boston Celtics, Wednesday night.

In other games, St. Louis, with Bob Pettit scoring 51 points and newly-acquired Vern Hatton providing backcourt help, beat Philadelphia 137-132 and Detroit crushed New York, 133-97.

The Celtics blew most of a 21-point lead before beating the Royals, who outscored Boston 27-13 in a just-miss fourth quarter.

Rookie Johnny Egan, former Providence star, provided Detroit's spark — getting eight straight points just before the end of the half, when New York had pulled to within three.

Ev Gross Slams 570

Evelyn Gross earned scoring honors in the Friendship League with a 570 slam on lines of 245, 141, 184.

Sugar and Wilfi Talk Big Fight

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Judging by the verbal jibes emanating from the camps of Sugar Ray Robinson and Wilf Greaves, their return 10-round middleweight fight Friday night at the Civic Auditorium shapes up as a real brawl.

I have come fight—and win," the ageless Robinson told a news conference Wednesday.

"I hope Robinson is coming to fight because I'll be fighting all the way," said Greaves, who lost a split decision to the 40-year-old "Sugar Man" in Detroit last Sept. 25.

Both Robinson and Greaves feel a win would give them a shot at a title fight with National Boxing Association middleweight champ Gene Fullmer.

"A decisive victory for me Friday night will help convince a lot of people I'm still a top contender for my old title and I sure would like another opportunity to win it for the sixth time," Robinson said.

State to Resume Petitions on Gas Service Dec. 20

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A hearing on competing petitions to supply natural gas to Northern New York areas will resume Dec. 20.

The State Public Service Commission Wednesday recessed the hearing on petitions by St. Lawrence Gas Co. and Niagara Mohawk Power Corp.

Each contends that it could pipe natural gas into Ogdensburg as quickly as the other. Both consider Ogdensburg the economic key to North Country service.

Ogdensburg is the only area involved in both franchise applications.

St. Lawrence said it was ready to begin service as soon as it received PSC approval.

Niagara Mohawk said service to Ogdensburg would hinge on the availability of natural gas from Canadian sources.

St. Lawrence already holds federal authority to buy gas from a Canadian firm for import into the United States.

Paret Promises To Stay in Class

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba, the undisputed welterweight champion of the world, said today he has no idea of relinquishing his crown if he defeats Gene Fullmer and wins the Utah brawler's share of the middleweight title.

The 24-year-old Paret, according to his manager, Manuel Alfaro, wants no part of his Cuban homeland as long as a man named Fidel Castro is running the country.

Alfaro, a veteran fight man from Cuba himself, does the talking for the non-English speaking Paret, who fights Fullmer here Saturday night in the "TV fight of the week."

Alfaro said Benny, the ex-sugar cane chopping kid, has a mother, a sister and three brothers still living in Cuba.

"He wants to visit them and Cuba only when it is a free country and not under Communist rule. In the meantime, he wants to become an American citizen," said Alfaro.

As for the possibility of holding both the welterweight and National Boxing Association share of the middleweight titles, Alfaro said: "Titles are won or lost in the ring. If we beat Fullmer, we will consider we hold both championships."

Big Buck

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (NEA) — Woody Held, Cleveland Indians shortstop, traded his baseball bat for a big game rifle and pitched the equivalent of a no-hitter. He brought down a trophy mule deer which might make the record books.

Held killed the trophy buck in the Pinedale area. The deer, which had six points, had a 37-inch spread between the widest points. Unofficial measurements show it might rank as high as 25th in the Boone and Crockett Club records.

Post 150 Endorses N. Y. Korean Bonus

Kingston Post, 150, American Legion, recently joined other Legion posts throughout New York State in endorsing the New York State Bonus for Korean Veterans.

Post 150 urges all non-veterans, as well as veterans, to support this program in an effort to recognize those who served their country in a time of national emergency. As everyone will recall, a state bonus was paid to the veterans of World War I and II through the enactment of a state bonus. The amount each veteran received was $250 for overseas duty and $150 for stateside duty.

Since 1951, there have been several Korean Bonus bills introduced in the state legislature. Every one of them has been set aside in some legislative committee.

Says Money Available

Veterans of the Korean conflict are entitled to recognition, "It isn't as though there were no funds available for this worthy purpose. Millions of dollars are collected every year in New York State by the imposition of a one-cent tax on each pack of cigarettes sold. This tax was supposed to pay the cost of a bonus to the Veterans of World War II. The cost of this bonus was repaid in 1955. Yet, most of the people of this State and most veterans themselves are under the impression that the still-imposed cigarette tax is for the repayment of the Bonus Bonds that to date have been repaid two-fold." the statement added.

The cost of the World War II bonus, including interest on the bonds and administrative expenses, was $371,656,527. The total amount of the Bonus Bonds was $400 million dollars, the amount collected in taxes in eight years (1947-1955) was $354,399,000 and the amount collected in taxes from 1955 to 1961 was $527,136,923. The total amount of money collected to date is $881,535,923—over twice the amount required to repay these bonds.

In 1954, the name of the fund was changed from the original War Bonus Fund to the War Bonds and Mental Hygiene Construction Fund. The over-all result shows New York State has collected over double the amount to pay off $400 million dollars in bonds, but they are not in a position to pay a Korean Bonus, it is reported.

"Since the means of paying the necessary bonds is still being levied, why should there be any hesitation in correcting this oversight?" it is questioned by the Legion Post.

A major factor which should be pointed out, the Legion adds, is that the cost of a Korean Bonus will not exceed $100 million dollars. The State of New York would still be $500 million dollars ahead. This is not something to be kept in the dark. Veterans of the Korean conflict received no monetary token from the grateful people of the State of New York as did the veterans of the two previous wars.

The American Legion therefore recommends equal acknowledgment to those veterans, who percentage wise suffered more casualties than the men of World War 2.

"Our home state men were among the first to fight the Communist hordes to preserve the individual rights of man under God, and we of Kingston Post urge your fullest support in this warranted effort.

"Every resident of this state is urged to write to his Congressman and Senator during December, 1961, stating their support of the Korean Bonus.

"All civic as well as veterans organizations are also asked to support this program by sending petitions to the local American Legion Post, attention of Joseph E. Sills Jr., Korean Bonus Chairman for additional action," the Post 150 statement concluded.

Meat Cutters Are To Ballot Today On New Contract

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Some 1,000 striking meat cutters of the A & P Company today were summoned into meetings to vote on a tentative agreement reached last night to end a six-day strike against the food chain's 120 stores in eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and Delaware.

The Union Negotiating Committee said it would recommend acceptance of the pact, terms of which were not disclosed pending action by the membership.

Leon B. Schacter, president of the Joint Council of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers Workmen, said the accord was on a "full package."

Robert F. Longacre, chief negotiator for the Philadelphia Food Stores Employers Labor Cpuncil, termed the agreement "a very fine settlement."

The tentative agreement was reached after eight hours of continuous joint sessions at the offices of federal mediators.

A joint statement by Schacter and Longacre said:

"While the union negotiating committee will recommend acceptance, the strike will not be settled unless the members vote to ratify the agreement."

The strike had been called against the A & P last Thursday by the meat cutters union in its bid to gain increased wages, overtime pay for work past 6 p.m., medical-surgical benefits for part-time workers and limiting of work loads with disputes in this category to go to arbitration.

'63 Design Chosen For Seal Campaign

The winning design for the 1963 Christmas Health Seal, selected from among 551 competing artists in the U.S.A., has been submitted by Miss Judy Campbell, New York City, according to an announcement by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc.

The selection of a design so far in advance is needed in order to prepare the materials for the anti-TB Campaign. Miss Campbell, a free-lance artist, studied in Paris and Florence and is a native of South Bend, Ind. The design for the 1962 Christmas Seal was executed by Paul Dohanos, son of Stevan Dohanos, the artist who was the 1960 National Christmas Seal Chairman.

Collecting Christmas Seals is a hobby sideline enjoyed by thousands of stamp collectors. A complete collection of considerable value is on display at the headquarters of the local TB Association — a public display planned for later this month will include not only the complete display of the Seals issued in the United States since 1907 but will also include a display of Christmas Seals from Denmark dating back to the original Christmas Seal in that country in 1904. The Danish collection has recently been completed and presented by Lester J. Roosa, a member of the Board of Directors of the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

Miss Hazel M. Steed, Executive Director of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, said today, "Artists interested in considering creating a design for a future Christmas Seal, may request an informational folder from the local TB and Health Association's headquarters."

The Christmas Seals organization was formed in Ulster County in 1909, only two years after the National organization was founded.

Must Strengthen Town Rule, GOP In Colonie Told

COLONIE, N.Y. (AP) —Town governments must be "strengthened, upgraded and updated," a town supervisor says, "to halt the rising tide of centralization in government—of bureaucracy."

William K. Sanford, supervisor of the Town of Colonie and executive secretary of the State Association of Towns, said local government was being weakened by transfer of its functions to counties and the state.

He said the rapid growth of towns made it imperative that their governments be strengthened.

Sanford spoke Wednesday night at a Colonie Republican Victory dinner.

Most mystery fans connect Scotland Yard with British police inspectors. But long ago it really was Scottish. A palace in that location was built by Scottish royalty for a place to stay while visiting London. During the 1600s the palace was replaced by English government buildings. One of these was police headquarters—the very British "Scotland Yard" known to Sherlock Holmes fans.

Kennedy to Talk For Labor, Young Democrats Today

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy, fresh from an address before the National Association of Manufacturers, shifted today to the AFL-CIO to lay down the administration line on domestic and trade policies.

Kennedy scheduled a mid-morning takeoff by helicopter from the Palm Beach Country Club for Miami Beach and appearances before the labor federation and the national convention of Young Democrats.

He was expected to tell the AFL-CIO what measures he believes are necessary to sustain the country's economic progress and what he pictures as organized labor's responsibilities to prevent damaging inflation.

The President said Wednesday in addressing the NAM that he would have something to say to the AFL-CIO about aiding employers, workers and communities affected by tariff reductions. Kennedy outlined for the industrialists his ideas on stimulating trade through bargaining for lower tariff barriers with the European Common Market and separate nations.

Kennedy planned to return to his parents' Palm Beach home this afternoon for some relaxation. He announced no appointments. A dip in the ocean or pool and possibly, but not likely, a bit of golf were among the recreational prospects.

Mrs. Kennedy and their children stayed in Washington this trip, but will be in Palm Beach with him for the Christmas holidays. He plans to fly back to Washington late Friday or Saturday morning to rejoin them for the weekend.

Communist Secretary Is Fined in Yonkers

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—Communist leader Gus Hall paid $25 today to solve a problem with local law before going to Washington Friday on a bigger problem with federal law.

Hall paid fines for three traffic violations in Special Sessions Court. He deferred comment on the other mater until he gets to Washington.

Hall, general secretary of the U. S. Communist Party, is to appear in court then on a federal indictment that the party and its officers failed to register as agents of the Soviet Union by a Nov. 30 deadline.

After today's appearance, he left for the airport for a student rally at Cornell University, Ithaca. He had indicated earlier that he might not be able to appear.

Hits O'Brien View

LONDON (AP) — British Minister of State Joseph Godber asserted today Dr. Conor Cruise O'Brien's statements about the British attitude toward the Congo situation "have been so exaggerated that he has discredited himself."

O'Brien resigned as the U.N.'s chief administrator in Katanga, charging that Britain and France had worked against U.N. efforts to end the rich province's secession because of big investments there.

Farm Program Not For Northeast Is Word From Maine

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) —Most northeastern farmers will show little enthusiasm for farm programs being developed by the Kennedy administration, Rep. Clifford C. McIntire of Maine says.

McIntire, a Republican member of the House agriculture committee, said the Democratic administration's proposals were aimed at helping producers of individual commodities.

Most northeastern farmers, he said, conduct more diversified operations.

In addition, McIntire said, prices paid under production controls never would be fully satisfactory.

"No secretary of agriculture will set a figure for needed production that will anticipate a shortage," he said. A shortage would send farm prices higher.

McIntire spoke Wednesday at the second annual Empire State Farm Show. About 2,000 visitors are expected at the three-day event, which ends Friday.

McIntire also was interviewed on changes in farm policy set by the previous Republican administration of President Dwight D Eisenhower.

He said farmers were going on "a sound assumption" if they kept production high in the belief historical farm records would become the basis for setting production controls.

"In the immediate future, it seems apparent that national policy will be to encourage all commodity groups to develop programs of production or market management," he said. "This will be the basic suggestion offered to every emergency problem."

The so-called basic commodities, such as wheat and cotton, long have been controlled.

Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman currently is considering a proposal to set controls on turkeys. McIntire said the secretary has indicated a need for controls in the dairy industry.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

Council to Meet Tonight About Lab, Hospitals

Mayor Edwin F. Radel said today he has called a special Common Council meeting for 7:30 p. m. to consider legislation that could ratify contracts between the City of Kingston Laboratory and the Kingston and Benedictine hospitals.

If the contracts are approved they will comply with a recently enacted state law and will regulate laboratory services provided for the hospitals.

Dr. Herbert Derman and the laboratory's board of managers have been active through the year arranging for a satisfactory agreement involving the hospitals and the laboratory. The contracts, as now drafted, will be effective on a two-year basis.

Adoption of the legislation, as proposed tonight, would provide for the first formal contracts involving the hospitals and the laboratory.

Nike-Hercules Is Due for Guards In Air Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army National Guard units manning air defense batteries around the nation's cities will be armed with the Nike-Hercules missile starting late next year, it was announced today.

A total of 76 units now share with regular outfits the job of defending key population and industrial centers from air attack.

The Guard units have been armed since 1957 with the less-powerful Nike-Ajax missile which has a conventional warhead. The Army claims the Ajax can destroy any known type of bomber now in use.

The Hercules mounts either a nuclear or conventional warhead and the Army says it can knock down either supersonic bombers or air breathing missiles. The Hercules is designed to reach higher and further than the Ajax.

Officials said that not all 76 Guard units now using the Ajax necessarily will get the Hercules. It was indicated that fewer batteries of the more powerful Hercules might be needed.

Lt. Gen. Robert J. Wood, commander of the Air Defense Command, said additional planning is necessary before a decision is made on which Guard units will take over Nike-Hercules sites.

Hawaii now is the only place where Guardsmen are using the Hercules.

Use Nightsticks Freely, Advice To N.Y. Police

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City policemen have been advised to use their nightsticks freely when necessary to restrain a prisoner or to avoid injury.

An illustrated leaflet distributed Wednesday to members of the force advises concerning the nightstick:

"Use it. Taking a prisoner into custody is not a personal contest between you and him. Forget the maquis of queensberry rules. Your duty to the department and your family is to restrain your prisoner without injury to yourself."

A nationwide survey has shown a great increase in mob attacks on policemen, many in New York City.

Reports Cure Is On Way Now for NuclearRadiation

GENEVA (AP)—A cure may be on the way for victims of nuclear radiation, the U.N. World Health Organization reported Wednesday.

Transfusions and some complex chemicals may bring about the recovery of people suffering from forms of radiation sickness hitherto regarded as fatal, the WHO monthly Chronicle said.

Perhaps the greatest immediate danger after a strong dose of radiation, who researchers found, was that of infection from microbes that are everywhere.

Radiation knocks out the body's ability to ward off germs that normally give it little trouble.

One school of thought calls for a big dose of antibiotics even before the victim has an infection.

"Patients are usually kept in isolation in specially disinfected room," the report said.

Radiation also weakens the body's ability to make new blood—a process that goes on in the bone marrow.

Transfusions of whole blood or plasma may help, plus vitamins and minerals.

With a very high dose of radiation it was found that "patients might benefit from transfusions of bone marrow" until the body's own marrow can regenerate.

Says Yule Trees May Be Cheaper

CHICAGO (AP)—A forestry industry source predicted today that Americans will buy about 45 million Christmas trees this year —about 3 million more than last year.

And the trees may be cheaper, American Forest Products Industries, Inc., said, because increased acreage for tree plantations suggests increased competition for sales.

Pearl Harbor Case Is Closed Incident

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon considers a closed matter the question of why the United States was caught off guard at Pearl Harbor.

The word today—the 20th anniversary of the surprise Japanese attack—is that no more official investigations are expected.

Authors continue to write books debating the issues of that day when the high command at Hawaii was surprised by the strike of 300 planes from six Japanese carriers and midget submarine attacks.

But the Defense Department foresees no more official probes into the long and hotly debated subject of who, if anyone, was to blame for the tragic moment of unreadiness.

Eight Inquiries

There have been eight official inquiries. The first, ordered by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, was opened only 12 days after the attack and was conducted by a commission headed by Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts. When that inquiry was concluded the following Jan. 22 the record and transcripts covered 2,173 pages.

Between then and the end of World War II, the Navy and Army conducted six more inquiries into the over-all subject or phases of it. Allegations and testimony at those hearings served to foster more public debate.

Probing Starts

In November 1945, with the war's end more than three months passed and with testimony and evidence from former enemy commanders becoming available, Congress opened a full-scale inquiry.

Aide Says Rocky Favorable to JFK Shelter Program

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Republican Gov. Rockefeller has reacted "very favorably" to Democratic President Kennedy's fallout-shelter program, a Rockefeller aide reports.

Rockefeller's Press Secretary, Robert L. McManus, delivered the assessment after a 2½-hour meeting Wednesday between the governor and top federal defense officials.

The governor announced that, at Kennedy's request, he had called a meeting Sunday in New York City of the Governors Conference Civil Defense Committee, which Rockefeller heads.

Federal officials will attend the meeting of the committee, McManus said, and presumably again will outline the President's program.

Rockefeller said the meeting of the committee of 11 governors

Labor Men Are Told In Speech

U. S. Must Trade Or Suffer Is View

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy told organized labor today he will ask Congress for standby power to launch public projects that would put men to work in case of a recession.

Kennedy, in a speech prepared for a AFL-CIO convention, also touched a sore spot in the labor federation as well as some employers when he said that discrimination against Negroes "is a blot on our democracy and a drag on our economy."

The President announced that November employment reached a new high for the month at 67,349,000. Moreover, he said unemployment in November fell below 5.8 per cent of the labor force for the first time in a year. The rate was 6.1 per cent.

Would Protect Areas

Carrying on a campaign for broad authority to negotiate reciprocal tariff cuts, Kennedy also told the union leaders he would propose measures to help communities, industries and working men hurt by competition from imported goods.

He rejected "permanent government paternalism," advocating instead a program that would add to and coordinate present plans for areas already hit by unemployment for small business incentives to investment in new plants and the retraining and compensation of jobless men and women.

Must Trade or Suffer

"Temporary tariff relief may be a part of the prescription in individual cases," Kennedy said. "Whatever is required, we will make certain that no community suffers unduly from trade. For, on the contrary, America must trade—or suffer."

The President Wednesday had appealed to the National Association of Manufacturers for support of a trade policy he maintained would stimulate exports by chopping off tariff barriers.

To enable U.S. producers to sell on world markets, he declared "labor must demonstrate its responsibility in helping to keep over-all wage movements in line with increases in productivity."

In recommending standby public works authority, Kennedy courted attacks from such groups as the NAM which have labeled it a scheme for inflationary make-work projects.

Suggests Grants

"To add to our arsenal of built-in stabilizers in the event of a recession," Kennedy said he would propose legislation along the lines of a bill introduced by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa. He suggested grants-in-aid to communities for needed public works.

"We do not intend to go back to the days of leaf raking," Kennedy said, "but neither do we intend to go back to the days of breadlines. There is no need for this nation to go through another recession with large pools of

December Is Most Dangerous Month For Car Drivers

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—This is by far the most dangerous month for driving, the state motor vehicle commissioners warns.

Commissioner William S. Hults said Wednesday that the additional danger stemmed from two factors: speed, especially on slippery highways or in limited visibility, and drinking and driving, especialy during the Christmas-New Years holidays.

Hults said there were 205 fatal traffic accidents in December last year, while the year's average was 158 per month. The number of accidents totaled 35,949, compared with a monthly average of 26,110.

Houston Disputes Mitchell Claim, Sees Higher Cost

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—State Social Welfare Commissioner Raymond W. Houston says Newburgh's welfare program will cost city taxpayers $44,940 more next year than it did last year.

Houston's prediction, based on figures contained in the city's 1962 budget, challenges the recent claim of City Manager Joseph Mitchell, who said his controversial program would cut the cost of welfare in 1962 and permit a tax cut.

Speaking Wednesday night during a panel discussion sponsored by the Unitarian Fellowship for Social Justice, Houston said:

No Mitchell Comment

"Much as all of us regret it, the projected 1962 cost. . . will be higher than the 1959-1960 and 1961 costs."

Mitchell, who did not attend the meeting, was unavailable for comment.

Houston also disputed the contention that the Newburgh program alone was responsible for reduction in the number of home relief and aid-to-dependent children cases in the city this year.

He said 16 welfare districts in the state, including Orange County outside of Newburgh, had greater caseload reductions.

Mitchell claims to have cut welfare rolls by one-third.

$379,940 City Cost

Furthermore, Houston said caseloads always decline between March and September. Every welfare department in the state experienced declines during this period, he added.

Houston said Newburgh's budget showed gross total welfare expenditures for 1962 of $890,000. Subtracting Newburgh's figures for anticipated revenue from federal, state and other welfare aid sources, he said, the cost of the city would be $379,940.

The estimated cost of welfare this year is $335,000, Houston said.

Mitchell has estimated the city cut welfare costs this year by approximately $55,000, and will cut them next year by about $40,000.

Foster Is Named As City Clerk, Has Been Deputy

Mayor-elect John J. Schwenk today revealed that deputy city clerk Walter S. Foster is his choice for the post of city clerk.

"The selection of Scott Foster for this important 'cabinet' position," Schwenk said, "will bring an energetic and experienced civil servant into the administrative levels of city government. His appointment will follow the policies I set forth in my campaign platform to attract the best qualified men to my administration, and to promote from within on the basis of ability.

Surprise Attack Is Possible: Admiral

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) —"In this missile and thermonuclear age, it would be foolhardy indeed to assume that surprise attack will never be a possibility."

This warning was delivered today by Adm. John H. Sides, commander of the U.S. Pacific Fleet, at ceremonies marking the 20th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Ceremonies were held on a platform above the waters along "Battleship Row." Activity throughout the naval base halted momentarily in memory of that black Sunday—Dec. 7, 1941.

Timed to Attack Hour

The ceremony was timed to coincide with the exact moment—7:55 a.m.—when the first Japanese planes swooped low over the battleships lining the northeast shores of Ford Island.

Below the memorial platform for the U.S. Arizona, center of today's ceremonies, was the rusting hulk of the warship and the remains of 1,102 crewmen who went down with her. The Arizona and her crew are symbols of those hours when war came to the United States.

South of the Arizona the old battleship row was vacant. But between the flag flying above the Arizona and one beside Ford Island's administration building—less than a mile away—nearly 2,000 men died on a Sunday morning.

Recorded in Blood

"The lessons learned (that day) are recorded in blood," said Sides in his memorial address.

"The important thing for us here today, and for all Americans, is to pledge anew that our country shall always remain strong and shall always be ready to defend the freedoms for which we stand and for which these men fought and died."

Taking part in the memorial tribute were military leaders, congressmen, and representatives of veterans organizations, including 106 Pearl Harbor raid survivors from New England. A group of 60 Gold Star mothers, many of whose sons died on the Arizona, also was on hand.

In the front rank of participants was Lt. Gen. Alan Shapley, Pacific Marine commander and one of the Marines to survive the Dec. 7 attack.

Chimes Are Signal

The ceremony was signalled by the sound of carillon chimes from Ford Island, followed by a Navy bugler's call to colors. The American flag was run up the Arizona flagpole, as it is each day.

The Arizona is entitled to fly the flag because of its unique

U.S. Plane Attacked, Halt Lift

By JOHN LATZ

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—U.N. jet fighters today struck at Katangan ammunition dumps six miles outside Elisabethville and explosions rocked the heart of the capital.

Katangans launched another attack against the U.N. headquarters just outside of the city at daybreak after a tropical thunderstorm brought firing to a halt during the night.

(The U.S. Embassy in Leopoldville said an American Air Force Globemaster was fired on over Elisabethville, and the U.S. air lift was suspended while commanders in Leopoldville and Washington consulted on security arrangements for the American planes.

The embassy denied making any official statement that the airlift of equipment to U. N. forces in Elisabethville had been gorunded, but it was understood high level consultations were going on as to whether it should continue.

No Serious Damage

(American sources said the small arms firing came from the official residence of Katanga President Moise Tshombe while the Globemaster was coming in to land at Elisabethville Airport. Several bullets hit the fuselage but no serious damage was caused.) Tshombe's villa is on one of the approaches to the airport.

(The Globemaster was one of six heavy transports carrying reinforcements and supplies to U.N. forces in the Katanga capital. The report from Leopoldville said the United States agreed to the airlift on condition that the transport would be given full protective cover. Ethiopian Sabre Jets escorted the first Globemasters Wednesday but it was not known in Leopoldville whether today's flights were escorted.

(The U.S. State Department announced Wednesday night that it was offering the U.N. 21 more four-engine transports.)

U. S. Consul Arrested

Foreign Minister Evariste Kimba clapped U.S. Consul Lewis Hoffacker, 38, under house arrest, charging that U.S. planes made the U.N. raids Wednesday on Katanga air bases at Kolwezi and Jadotville. Both the U.S. government and the U.N. command denied that American planes were involved, but Hoffacker stayed at home today.

The consul said he felt quite safe and was trying to arrange transfer of Americans in Elisabethvill including members of a large Seventh day Adventist mission, to places of safety. Other foreign consels held a meeting at his home since he could not leave.

Against Cease-Fire

Another consul said diplomats in the city had tried to arrange a cease-fire Wednesday night but "nobody seems to want it." He said the consuls would try again today.

Reports varied today on the success of the U.N. air strike at Kolwezi, 120 miles northwest of

Jones Names New Workers for '62 Dimes Campaign

Mobilization of the 1962 New March of Dimes moved rapidly forward today with the selection of 17 community leaders for the January campaign in Ulster County.

The appointments were announced by Addison Jones, campaign director and Attorney William A. Kelly, chapter chairman.

$24,000 County Goal

The Ulster County goal this year is $24,000, Director Jones said.

Selection of the vital key workers was made known earlier this week during the kickoff dinner meeting at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

Honorary chairman of the 1962 campaign will be former mayor, Frederick H. Stang.

The other workers include:

Meyer Kaplan, co-chairman of the campaign; Attorney Hubert Richter, city chairman and Mrs. Lincoln Crosby, Mothers March chairman.

Al Feistel and William Hanley, coin boxes; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shultis, theatre collections; Joseph Epstein, special events; Edgar Maurer, rainbow crutch; Mrs. William Powers,

Economic Growth Is Needed, Says Meany

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP) —AFL-CIO President George Meany, saying American workers want jobs rather than handouts, called today for a big increase in the nation's economic growth rate.

Meany said in a keynote address to the opening session of the AFL-CIO biennial convention that "we can't preserve our American system unless we can step up our economic growth."

He said the stark fact is that 1.35 million new jobs must be created each year during the decade of the 60s in order to assimilate the expanding work force.

Meany also said that in the present cold war controversy with the Soviet Union American union members must "think of themselves first as citizens and secondly as trade unionists."

"We have a greater obligation than any other segment of American society," Meany said, "to see that America is strong—strong economically and strong militarily."

Meany said organized labor is dedicated to preserving human values whereas most other U. S. organizations are dedicated to promoting material things.

The AFL-CIO chief urged labor unions to step up efforts to end racial discrimination. He said that as believers in democ-

First of 1,500 GI's Pass Red Checkpoint on Autobahn Run

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP) —First units of a U.S. battle group bound for duty in West Berlin passed through the Soviet checkpoint on the iron curtain border today without hindrance and rolled off down the 116-mile autobahn through Communist East Germany.

Soviet troops at the border cleared the first company of the 1,500-man battle group in 89 minutes, normal time for the 200 men and 25 vehicles making a new demonstration of Allied rights of access to the Red-encircled city access to the Red-encircled city.

Soviet authorities earlier protested the recent stepup in movements over the autobahn as provocations "fraught with dangerous consequences" and Communist East Germany declared Wednesday night that free movement of U.S. troops along the superhighway has never been guaranteed by the East German regime or the Soviets.

A mongrel dog named "Leg" rode in one of the leading vehicles. The dog, the battle group mascot, had her own serial number on the unit manifest shown to the Soviet guards at the checkpoint.

The incoming 1st Battle Group of the 19th Infantry Division, commanded by Col. Ira Palm, 48, of Mount Vernon, N.Y., is relieving the 18th Infantry's 1st Battle Group, which was rushed to Berlin last August after the Communists threw up their wall dividing the city.

The relief unit will make the autobahn run in small convoys daily, with the operation to take about a week. As the first unit moved out today, another moved up to a bivouac area near the border to prepare for its move to Berlin Friday.

An Army spokesman said units of the 18th Infantry Battle Group would start leaving Berlin Friday for Kassel, West Germany.

West German truck drivers traveling the autobahn Wednesday night said East Germany had increased its patrols along the route. Other sources said Soviet trucks loaded with troops also had been seen along the superhighway.

American officers said Soviet liaison officers in West Germany kept the relief convoy under constant surveilance as it moved up to the Helmstedt crossing point. The U.S. Army has repeatedly ignored Soviet warnings against increased troop movements on the autobahn, asserting that it has the right to utilize the route freely.

The autobahn is the only road the Communists allow the Western powers to use through East Germany and Helmstedt.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Chicken Breasts Are Ideal For Small Family Christmas

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

For the smaller Christmas dinner party, chicken breasts can be served in a festive way. Try this garden sauce with them. Note the use of frozen chopped chives. They add delicacy and color to the dish and are available in most frozen food counters.

Chicken Breasts in Chive Garden Sauce

Six to 8 halved chicken breasts, ½ cup sweet butter, 2 large, firm tomatoes, peeled and chopped, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 2 tablespoons fresh chopped chives, ¼ teaspoon dry thyme, ½ teaspon black pepper, 1½ cups dairy sour cream.

Bone chicken breasts if desired. Melt butter in large heavy skillet. Saute chicken breasts over low heat, turning often, until tender and golden brown, about 30 to 35 minutes. Place on preheated platter and keep warm in low oven. Meanwhile, in same skillet, saute the vegetables and seasonings for 10 minutes, stirring constantly, over low heat. Just before serving, add sour cream and warm slightly. Do not allow sauce to boil. Pass sauce to spoon over chicken breasts.

NOTE: Important in this recipe to use sweet butter as it doesn't seem to burn during the long frying time.

This Deviled Ham Dip will start your Christmas dinner off on a delicious note:

Chive Deviled Ham Dip

One 4½-ounce can deviled ham, 1 cup dairy sour cream, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1 teaspon cream-style horseradish teaspoon cream-style horseradish, ¼ cup fresh chopped chives.

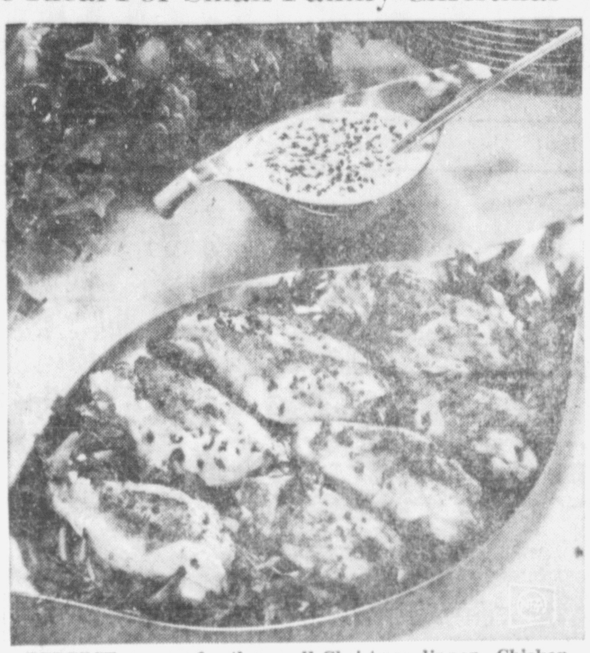
Blend ham with sour cream, mustard, horseradish and chives. Serve well-chilled. Garnish with additional frozen chopped chives.

For a holiday season bridge luncheon, try these delicate sandwiches made of leftover turkey or chicken and mushrooms. They are attractive and suprisingly delicious.

Turkey-Mushroom Sandwiches
(Makes about 12 sandwiches)

Three cups diced turkey or chicken, 1½ cups diced celery, ¾ cup diced green pepper, 1 can (6-ounces) chopped, broiled mushrooms, drained; ¾ cup dairy sour cream, ¾ cup salad dressing or mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon dehydrated, grated lemon peel; 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, dash tabasco sauce.

Combine diced turkey or chicken, celery, green pepper and mushrooms. In another container, blend together remaining ingredients, then add to turkey mixture, tossing gently to mix thoroughly. Spread mixture on 12 slices of buttered, fresh bread using about 1/3 cup sandwich filling on each slice. Top with another 12 slices, then cut sandwiches in half. Garnish serving plate with sweet gherkins, green olives and radish roses.



PERFECT answer for the small Christmas dinner: Chicken breasts, with Chive Garden Sauce in an accompanying dish.

Relatively Little Spent to Prevent Pollution

New York State 5 Years Behind In Cleaning Up Rivers and Lakes

By MICHAEL KEATING

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State's program to clean up filthy rivers and lakes is about five years behind schedule.

When former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey signed in April 1949 the bill creating the State Water Pollution Control Board, the board was expected to classify all of the waters in the state within 10 years.

Classification is the first step in issuing and enforcing clean-up regulations.

It is now the end of 1961, and two or three years more apparently are needed to finish the classification job.

One reason is readily apparent. For a state that has an annual budget of more than $2 billion, relatively little is spent to prevent pollution. In 1951, the Water Pollution Control Board received only $60,000 from the state and $34,000 in federal funds with which to operate. The state has spent an average of $300,000 a year to help localities draw plans for sewage plants.

Lack of Funds, Forces

The board's director, A. F. Dappert, complained publicly in 1951 that the program was "bogging down" because of lack of funds and personnel.

Today, the board receives annual funds of $170,000 from the state and $165,000 from the federal government.

Then too, the Legislature has been reluctant to see communities forced to build treatment plants. This year, the lawmakers passed a bill that would have delayed enforcement of clean-up orders for two years. Gov. Rockefeller vetoed it.

But despite these factors, there has been substantial progress.

Progress Made

In summary, this is what has been done:

New pollution has been stemmed by a requirement that the state must approve new sewage outlets; the waters that have been classified constitute the bulk of the acute pollution areas; several interstate pacts have been reached for governing rivers that cross state boundaries.

Major pollution problems on Chautauqua Lake, Onondaga Lake, Lake Erie, the Niagara and Susquehanna rivers and duck waste on Long Island have been, or are in the process of being, alleviated.

As of last year, 11 of the 91 cities and villages that were polluting rivers and streams in 1957 had undertaken sewage-treatment projects; also as of last year, 16 of the 60 cities and villages with obsolete treatment plants were rehabilitating them.

Pleased With Niagara

Dappert is especially pleased with the progress on the Niagara. Where once about 40 industries dumped 3 tons of smelly substance daily into the Niagara, they now dump about 400 pounds daily. The offensive taste and odor that had plagued the river, is nearly gone, Dappert said.

But problems remain. Watertown, for instance, still dumps sewage into the Black River.

Bu the Hudson and the Mohawk that constitute the worst problem, according to Dappert. The pollution problem there is of long-standing and, in some areas, so bad that the smell carries over a mile and paint has been known to blister from houses.

Utica Unwilling

Here is the situation:

The Mohawk—The main polluters are Utica, Little Falls and Amsterdam, assisted by Johnstown, Gloversville and Herkimer. Little Falls, downstream from Utica, a city with more than 100,000 population, will not take action until Utica does something.

Utica, which dumps raw sewage into the stream, appears unwilling to move. It has fought the state pollution law unsuccessfully right up to the Court of Appeals. The issue now is stalemated and the state eventually may take Utica into court to force the city to take action. Such action by the state would be its first.

Dappert says the Mohawk could be made safe for swimming in 10 years.

The Hudson—Below the City of Hudson, "progress has been tremendous," Dappert says. Westchester County recently opened a $15-million treatment plant. But from Hudson to Troy, the situation is bad.

Still Polluting Stream

Polluting the Hudson, either through direct discharge of sewage or through obsolete treatment plants, are Newburgh, Beacon, Catskill, Athens, Hudson, Coxsackie, Castleton, Rensselaer, Menands, Green Island, Cohoes and Watervliet.

The water pollution board has had little success in pressuring these communities to build plants.

"We have exhausted our efforts to get things done in a cooperative way," Dappert says.

Mayor John Kelly of Hudson sums up the position of the communities thusly:

"Our cost for constructing a disposal plant to meet the state's requirements, according to the latest engineer's estimates, will run well over $1 million and will require a yearly operating and maintenance cost of over $40,000.

It is obvious that a debt of this size is sufficient to bankrupt any city the size of Hudson and would certainly curtail for years to come any improvements that to me is far more important and necessary to the comfort and welfare of the people than trying to clean over 500 miles of waterway . . .

"If the state sees fit to clean the Hudson and its tributaries, then it should find a means of raising the money from some source other than creating a hardship on the home-owner who will have to carry the cost for many years to come."

DOLLS AMONG DOLLS—"I'll never be through in time for Christmas," says Mrs. Claus to Santa as she reflects on the job of dressing nearly 600 dolls in Dallas, Tex. The two children were helping prepare the dolls, donated by employes of a local insurance firm, before being turned over to the Salvation Army for distribution to parents of underprivileged children in time for Christmas giving.

In the last 10 years, over a quarter of a million men have left the coal mining industry. Yet, through mechanization, the output of those who have remained has doubled.

The Sound of Approval

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Sound of Music" has grossed $12,019,207 since arriving on Broadway two years ago.

The revenue has been earned by three productions of the Rogers-Hammerstein musical — the the White Way original, the national company and the London presentation. Another touring troupe recently began operations in Australia.

Another evidence of the show's popularity is the million-plus original cast albums that have been sold.

matter of fact

Our Yankee ancestors might have been surprised to learn that the weathercock on the barn was the result of a pope's decree. In the ninth century, Pope Nicholas I decided that weathercocks on church steeples would remind Christians that Peter denied his Master when the cock crowed three times. Though the weathercock's religious significance is faded, it's still a handsome sight atop many old barns.

LATIN AMERICAN VISIT

The President's decision to visit South America is most encouraging to all who understand the vital importance of that region. The decision also is somewhat disturbing when one recalls the reception given then Vice President Nixon by hostile crowds in some Latin American countries. But the stakes seem great enough to warrant the risk, so long as proper security precautions are taken.

Latin America is most emphatically one area where democracy must not lose. The need to block the intrusion of communism into that part of the world goes beyond the fact that it is so close to home. For what is involved is the solidity of those nations bordering on the Atlantic, both north and south, which is what is really meant by the West. That solidity already is imperiled by Red-inspired chaos in Africa.

Mr. Kennedy's personal appearance should lend stimulus to the Alliance for Progress. This is particularly important because the Alliance program, with its requirement that the nations receiving our aid enact social reforms, provides one of our greatest potential weapons against the world advance of totalitarianism. The need for that stimulus is apparent to anyone who understands the appalling odds democracy is up against in a land which has no middle class.

It is precisely that lack of middle class which makes the free world's case so desperate in the sprawling territory south of the Caribbean. In several of the countries the setup is almost identical with the feudalism of which Europe divested itself centuries ago. The difference is that today's peons are aware that the world has changed, even if their exploiters are not.

Moreover, they mean to become—by one route or another — beneficiaries of the change. If the West does not show them the way, Moscow and Cuba's fanatics will.

MONEY TROUBLE NEXT DOOR

Sporadically, people on both sides of the border arise to decry the indications that the United States "takes Canada for granted."

Perhaps such a time is at hand again, for the Canadians are on the threshold of a sharp new economic dilemma and nobody in this country seems to be paying much attention.

If the puzzle is not solved fairly satisfactorily, we could be hurt along with the Canadians. For they are at once our biggest foreign trade customers and the biggest outlet for our foreign investment. For the last 15 years we have been investing about $1 billion a year in Canada.

That nation's crisis stems from Britain's decision to join the six-nation European Common Market.

About 20 per cent of Canada's foreign trade is with Britain, under preferential arrangements that go back to 1896. The total comes to nearly $1 billion annually.

The Canadians are convinced that their trade preferences will be shattered when the British take the big step. They fear yearly losses upwards of $150 million, maybe a third of that in manufactured goods, the rest in Canada's key raw materials—wheat, aluminum, newsprint.

The die has not yet been cast. The British are in the midst of negotiations with the Common Market countries. But the Canadians' best hope, according to knowledgeable officials, is that Britain as a member will be allowed only "certain modifications" of the treaty rules — which might permit a slight nod in Canada's favor.

Canadian authorities make it pretty plain that they would like the United States to be their real support in this developing predicament.

Poet Louis Untermeyer says he hasn't seen any beatnik verse that he would care to re-read. That puts him a jump ahead of us.

Health fakers are reported bilking Americans out of a billion dollars annually, changing imaginary ailments into real ones.

'These Days'

CASTRO'S ADMISSION

Fidel Castro has now made it clear beyond a doubt that he is a Marxist-Leninist, that is, a Communist of the breed of Soviet Russia. He says that he has been one of them for some time. Therefore, the defenders of Castro, as not being a Communist, are either ignorant or untruthful.

Castro said:

"I am a Marxist-Leninist and will be one until the day I die."

Thus we have his own statement of the case and the apologetics of Herbert Matthews of "The New York Times" proves to be false. Castro's confession also establishes beyond doubt that those officials of the State Department who are responsible for defending Castro and helping to put him in power were in error and that they ought to be dismissed summarily.

The significance of Castro's admission is not so much that he is a Communist which all informed persons knew to be so and to which Ambassadors Arthur Gardner and Earl E. T. Smith witnessed. Its significance and importance lie in the inadequate policy-forming in the State Department and the White House which is in too great a measure dependent upon the CIA which is supposed to supply correct and adequate information and never has.

Castro's admission that he is a Marxist-Leninist puts an end to the falsehoods which are being spread by various committees and organizations in favor of what is called a "free" Cuba. It raises again the question of the reestablishment of the Monroe Doctrine as a fundamental principle of American policy. If we are to intervene, as we are now doing in the Dominican Republic, let us, at any rate, intervene on the right side for a change.

American intervention in European, African, Asiatic and Latin American affairs during the recent decades has been based on the supposition that we are opposed to dictatorships but that we must tolerate dictatorships if they are Communistic because we are opposed to any form of Conservatism and favor every form of "democracy" even if what is called democracy is the dictatorship of the proletariat as devised by Marx and Lenin. Thus in China, the United States intervened in favor of the Communist regime of Mao Tze-tung and against the pro-American regime of Chiank Kai-shek. Thus, in Korea, we prevented General Douglas MacArthur from putting an end to a Communist regime. Thus in French Indochina, we made it possible for Ho Chih-minh to establish a Communist state. Thus, we failed to resist the Soviet effort to establish Communist states out of the defeated powers of World War II, which we believed that we were rescuing from Nazi imperialism only to turn them over to Soviet imperialism.

Castro's confession warrants a reorganization of American policy personnel and a revision of American policy throughout the world. When a policy proves to be a failure, it needs not be sustained by reactionary bigotry. Our Cuban policy has proved to be a failure and we ought to be ready to revise it.

Prior to the cancellation of the Monroe Doctrine, it was American policy we did not intervene in the affairs of other countries, but that we also would not tolerate intervention by other countries when such intervention affected our right. Not only was the Monroe Doctrine enunciated to this end, but the Open Door Policy regarding China was a similar statement of principle. Both were based on the fundamental concept of American foreign policy as enunciated by President George Washington in his "Farewell Address." This doctrine advocated the avoidance of intervention in the interest of safeguarding American integrity.

In a word, this policy of non-intervention and resistance to intervention by others on the American doctrine until Woodrow Wilson brought this country into World War I. Franklin D. Roosevelt chose to follow Woodrow Wilson rather than George Washington and intervened not only in European affairs but assumed the role of world leadership for which this country was not ready. Historic evidence established beyond doubt that the policy of non-intervention was sound and beneficial to the United States. We built a great country when we avoided interference in the affairs of others. The British intervened and spent three centuries losing their colonies. An excellent example of avoidance of European intervention was the resistance to the establishment of Maximilian's kingdom in Mexico.

Doctor's Staunch Supporter Of House Call's Value

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A great deal of publicity recently was given a difference of opinion concerning the merits of the doctor's house call. Most of the debate that came to my attention centered on the economic aspects of the problem.

Opponents of the house call primarily argued that the home visit was wasteful for the patient in that, most often, it had to be supplemented with the office visit that should have been made in the first place. From the standpoint of the doctor, the practice was wasteful since it consumed more time than was required to see perhaps a half dozen patients in the office.

Those who still favored the home visit argued its usefulness in helping the young doctor to establish himself in the neighborhood of his office.

Until, of course, his office practice had grown to the extent that he could behave in the manner of the more securely established practitioners.

In my minority and, I presume, outdated opinion, I think my colleagues on both sides of the fence failed to give consideration to the most useful feature of the house call. And that, quite simply, is to get a firsthand view of the patient's surroundings and background.

Just as a birdwatcher would want to observe his feathered friends in what's called their natural habitat, not in the artificial conditions that prevail in a cage. And as the biologist would want to observe the living organisms in which he was interested in the woods or the fields or the stream. Not in a zoo or an aquarium.

Now it's true that a visit to the patient in his natural habitat has not the status of an X-ray test or a blood chemistry. And it certainly wouldn't be as valuable to a psychiatrist as a patient's interpretation of what a couple of blots represented.

But then the visiting physician just might discover that the woman who complained of fatigue wasn't a hypochondriac or a neurasthenic but just the victim of housekeeper-itis.

That the hypertensive wage earner wasn't suffering so much from hardening of the arteries as from his unremitting efforts to make both ends meet.

That the female with hyperacidity was reacting to an intolerable position brought about by an alcoholic husband's efforts to escape his home obligations.

That the middle-aged male with an ulcer was literally "eating himself up" because of the failure of his children to seize on the opportunities with which he'd presented them.

Perhaps those who discount the value of the house call may argue that these facts would come out in the history. Maybe yes. But, again, maybe no.

Many sensitive persons are too proud to complain. Others are ashamed to admit the presence of an alcoholic in the household, or that of a "mental patient."

And, even if they did tell their story, it couldn't possibly have the value of what is seen and heard by an intelligent and kindly observer who takes the trouble to look and listen in the natural habitat.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A new Office of Labor Management Services is being set up by Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg to help local communities use Department of Labor facilities in solving their more complex industrial relations problems.

This action is the result of a number of requests which have come to Goldberg's office since he took over.

Wheeling, W. Va., for example, sent a delegation to Washington interested in improving their employment outlook. They were particularly interested in manpower retraining to attract new industries.

A group from the copper mining area of upper Michigan came in, wanting to restore their business but worried about labor supply.

THERE WASN'T ANY ONE bureau in Department of Labor to which problems like these could be given for handling.

Goldberg didn't have time to handle them all himself. But by better co-ordination of the work of the Department's bureaus of training and employment security, it could be done.

Department of Labor now has a system of monthly meetings for the heads of its bureaus in its 12 U. S. regions. These are followed by more local field staff committee meetings in about 50 cities where there are labor bureau offices. This system was established by James P. Mitchell, former labor secretary, to correct the condition of local bureau officers acting independently, without knowing or caring what other bureaus did.

ONE OF THE FUNCTIONS of Goldberg's new Office of Labor Management Services will be to strengthen still further the cooperation of local field offices.

Hundreds of requests come into these offices daily. They are on wage and hour law, labor standards, government reports or similar matters. Local offices aren't set up to police the laws but to help employers comply with them.

Such inquiries are handled in routine fashion when they apply to only one subject. But where they cross bureau lines, there has not been the best coordination. This is what Goldberg is trying to improve, for public service.

One other approach will be to help communities set up local labor - management committees. This was a natural development from President Kennedy's National Committee on Labor-Management Policy, now at work on five studies to promote better U. S. industrial relations.

Toledo, Ohio, has had such o group in operation for some years. Los Angeles County is now in the process of setting one up.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN. offers a good case history. The city's reputation for bad labor relations was making it difficult to keep old industries and attract new ones.

Fourteen employers and as many labor union officials got together a year ago to see what they could do about it. Over a period of six months they worked out a set of broad principles to improve labor-management relations for the future.

Both parties recognized that they had to live together or go broke.

They finally agreed on a set of ground rules to govern their actions during union organizing drives, during strikes and during the life of a contract. Finally, both sides agreed to fulfill their responsibilities to the community to promote its economic growth and create a healthier labor climate.

If encouragement can be given to other cities beset by industrial strife to follow the Bridgeport example, it is hoped that the new Office of Labor Management Services will justify itself.

The outfit now consists only of a part-time man and his secretary. Goldberg has named Dr. Harry Weiss to direct the new office. He has been serving as staff director for the President's Labor - Management Committee and will continue in that role.

An appropriation to run the office will be asked for in the new budget. The first assistants will be a labor director and a management director. The idea is to keep the office small. This is the way all new agencies start, so this one may grow if it works.

The Gardiner Civic and Taxpayers' Assoc., takes this opportunity to state its stand as being firmly in back of the American Legion on the following issues:—

FIRST—On the closing of all Veteran Offices throughout the country except for a few central offices in the metropolitan areas, as in New York State, New York City, Albany, Buffalo, etc. All other offices as Kingston, Newburh, Pouhkeepsie (to name our local ones) who have rendered innumerable services to the veterans and their dependents, would be closed. Under the new setup all problems of those concerned would have to be referred to a few central offices with the resultant delay, expense and endless red tape usually present in these conditions. A veteran with a problem would have little chance of its solution in a reasonable time even if it constituted a hardship to him and his family. The date set for this closing is December 29, 1961. We therefore urge all citizens to write the following at their earliest convenince, protesting against this action. Write to John S. Gleason Jr., Administrator Veteran Affairs, Washington, D. C. and to J. Ernest Wharton, Representative in Congress, Richmondville, N. Y.

SECOND—That all monies collected by the State of New York via the Cigarette Tax be made available to the Veterans of the Korean Conflict as a State Bonus. This tax was levied and given as a bonus to the World War 2 veterans. However, as this tax was never repealed after this was accomplished, we feel that the monies accrued since that time should be available to the Korean veterans in New York State. This procedure has been followed by many other states. We urge all citizens to write to our State Senator and Assemblyman now before the State Legislature convenes. Write to The Hon. E. Ogden Bush, State Senator, Delancey, N. Y. and to Kenneth L. Wilson, Member of Assembly, Woodstock, N. Y.

Thank you

UN Debate on Red Chinese Seen as Issue of Moral Law

By DAVID LAWRENCE

It is not generally realized that the debate in the United Nations as to whether Red China should be admitted to membership goes to the heart of the issue of moral law in the world today.

In the background is an age-old question: why do wars come? Primarily because one side is confident that the other is too weak to resist effectively or that it will not fight—even if strong. And who gives the impression of unwillingness to fight or an attitude of defeatism that indicates surrender can be "negotiated"? It is those who embrace a school of thought which is misguided though sincere. This attitude unhappily changes only when the enemy has finally convinced the defeatists of the facts of life.

Today there is danger of war again because defeatism at a very critical moment has come to the fore. It took a long while to overcome the defeatism of those who wanted to surrender Allied rights in West Germany by some form of "disengagement" that would be "negotiated." The idea has not been swept away entirely, but it is no longer as influential as it was.

150,000 Called Up

Actually, the President of the United States found that he had to call up more than 150,000 reservists and virtually threaten some kind of military action in and around West Berlin to convince the Russians of what they should have known all along—that the United States wouldn't surrender her convictions just because the Moscow government assumed America was going the way of the appeasers and the defeatists.

There is only one sound basis for the making and execution of the foreign policy of the United States in the world today. It has been the foundation of American policy in the past, and it will be effective in the future. It is to take a position based on moral law and to adhere to it no matter how loud the defeatists in our midst may protest.

If the UN condones the unmoral behavior of any of its members, if the UN looks the other way when a member nation commits treason, and if the United States allows itself to be influenced by the defeatists who say surrender to evil is "inevitable" — and hence, for example, the admission of Red China to the UN is "inevitable" — then in the end many more young Americans than just the reservists will be leaving their homes and their jobs and their educational institutions to serve a long, long term in the armed services of the nation just to show that we are not timid or afraid to fight.

Reds Never Repented

The American spokesmen at the UN have just finished telling the world in clear-cut addresses to the General Assembly why Red China should not be admitted to the UN. The reasons are numerous but among them is the central fact that Red China has never repented or atoned for having started the Korean War in which so many thousands of young men — including Americans — lost their lives in an attempt to repel what the UN itself described in a formal resolution as aggression.

Indeed, after the UN sent its own troops to fight in Korea, the Red Chinese still resisted. They were aided by Moscow's arms and supplies—an act of treason against the UN. But now there is a school of thought in this country and abroad which wishes blandly to overlook such crimes.

Sweden, which has herself observed the effects of two world wars and is considered among the enlightened nations of the word, tragically detaches herself from moral principle and moral law and accepts the course of expediency and surrender on the Red China issue. Instead of denouncing such a course at this critical time when the matter is up for debate and a vote in the UN, the influential New York Times editorially makes a sympathetic argument that "Sweden knows all about Communist China, knows its record in Korea, knows its brutal rule at home" but nevertheless "wants Communist China in the UN" on the theory that membership should be "universal." The Times accepts without protest the idea that Red China and Formosa—should be given membership.

This is tantamount to saying the UN has no principles of morality of its own, that its charter—which calls for the admission only of "peace-loving" nations—is meaningless, and that the United States should bow to the concept that gangsters and decent people must fraternize with each other. Yet this kind of reasoning is the very sort of defeatism that inevitably leads to war. For the gangster governments see it as cowardice and weakness, and they are thus encouraged to challenge it.

All of this eventually could lead to a call for more "reservists" and more "draft" divisions of American boys and a risk that the United States will some day be compelled to sacrifice millions of lives just to prove that our government means what it says.

A reiteration of a basic principle is necessary — that the United States will not bow to unmorality even if it means our withdrawal from the UN as a means of convincing other peoples that the UN cannot exist half-gangster and half-free, even as it is financed to a large degree by the taxpayers of the United States.

Ithaca Free Bus Plan Is 'Shock' To Ohio Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, says he is "shocked" at an Ithaca, N. Y., plan to use federal funds to provide free bus transportation as a means of ending traffic congestion.

Lausche, in a letter Wednesday to the Federal Urban Transportation Administration asked:

"If Ithaca is entitled to free transportation, what about the other communities of the country?

"What will be the final cost to the federal treasury—which is already hard pressed to meet the fiscal demands of maintaining an adequate military defense?"

Ithaca had appealed to the administration for a $120,000 grant to finance the test of free city bus service.

Ithaca's common council proposed the plan as a solution to traffic congestion after learning it would cost nearly $1 million to acquire several hundred needed downtown parking spaces.

Presumably, people in the city of 30,000 would prefer a free bus ride to driving downtown.

Ithaca spokesmen have been quoted as saying they had "every indication" from the housing and home finance agency that the federal grant will be approved and that free bus rides may begin next month.

The city plans to buy four new buses with its own money and run the free service with the hoped-for federal funds.

Lausche, in his letter asked the administration if it planned to grant Ithaca the money for the free bus service.

He said he did not believe the Senate, in approving $50 million for research work to solve the urban transportation problem, intended the money to provide free transportation.

Potatoes Develop From Presley Fans

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The stream of Elvis Presley fans who park to gape at his mansion near Memphis has forced some extra work onto the State Highway Department.

J. W. Bennett, highway division engineer, said the highway shoulder in the area had developed some dangerous potholes. Gravel did no good because so many girls carried off pebbles as souvenirs.

So a crew was sent to patch the holes and lay asphalt surfacing on the shoulders in the immediate area. The mansion is located between Memphis and suburban Whitehaven.

Onteora Is Participating In Student Teaching Program

Onteora Central School is one of the participating school systems in the student teaching program of the State University College, New Paltz, it was announced this week.

College students are assigned to Onteora for a 20-week period, during which time they receive actual teaching experience at two different grade levels. The college students are in the upper junior or senior year at New Paltz and have satisfactorily completed all of the General Education courses plus the first four courses of the education sequence. They must also meet the criteria established for scholarship, health, social and personal maturity and speech and must have completed a program of supervised observation and participation in the Campus Elementary School at the college.

At Onteora, the student teachers are placed with cooperating teachers of proven ability. The cooperating teacher is responsible for guiding the student teacher through a series of experiences which will enable him to take his place in the education profession as a beginning teacher the following year. A series of seminars and workshops with the remedial reading teacher, speech therapist, psychologist, school health personnel and principal are also held to familiarize the student teacher with the services these people stand ready to offer and their place in the total educational program of the school system.

The Onteora faculty is aided in this task by a supervisor from the college who acts to coordinate the work of Onteora and the college in providing satisfactory field experiences for the student teachers. Dr. Howard J. Mosher, Professor of Education at New Paltz, and holder of a BS from State University College, Albany; MS—University of Rochester and Ed.D—Teachers College, Columbia University, is working with the five student teachers who have been assigned to Onteora this semester.

Teachers Listed

The student teachers are:

Mrs. Emma Argulewicz of Kingston, who is majoring in English, literature and education. She did her first quarter's practice teaching in Mrs. DeMicco's third grade at the Bennett school and is currently working in Mr. Boyle's fifth grade at the central building.

Patricia Brooks of Kingston, is working with Mrs. Corregan's fifth grade at the West Hurley School. At college she is majoring in foreign languages and education. Her first quarter's experience was with Mrs. Lowther's first grade at the Bennett School.

Margaret A. Divo, a major in biological science and education comes from Eddyville. Her first quarter's work was with Mrs. Frost's second grade. She is now working with Mrs. Kelly's fourth grade. Both experiences were at the Bennett school.

May Eng of Kingston, is currently working at the junior high school level teaching mathematics and science. Her first quarter's work was with Mrs. Gordon's sixth grade at the central building. Miss Eng is a mathematics and education major and plans to extend her certification to include early secondary teaching of mathematics.

Sarene Murphy, from Kingston, is majoring in western civilizations and education. Her first quarter's work was with Mrs. Washburn's fourth grade at the Bennett school. She remained at Bennett and is now working with Mrs. Epstein's second grade.

Onteora is meeting its responsibility to the education profession by helping to prepare new teachers through its student teaching program. In addition, Onteora reaps benefits from the program. Student teachers give OCS a source of prospective teachers for our schools. Fresh from their theory courses and participation at the Campus School, student teachers bring new enthusiasm and ideas to the faculty. The college supervisor, a vital part of the student teaching program, shares his knowledge and experience with OCS in atacking some of the educational problems which confront OCS.

Principal Talks About Financing Public Schools

Dr. George R. Sullivan, district principal of the Onteora Central Schools District, was the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Woodstock League of Women Voters last night. Dr. Sullivan was invited to address this group in connection with study of Financing Public School Education which is now being undertaken by all local leagues in New York State.

Dr. Sullivan's talk was divided into three major parts — first, an introduction to some basic concepts and terms necessary for an understanding of public school finance. Second, a look at the current Fundation Program of State Aid in New York State — its strengths and weaknesses. Third, a new approach to school finance — The Shared Cost Plan.

Dr. Sullivan is particularly well qualified to speak on this subject since he served as Research Assistant for the Institute of Administrative Research at Teachers' College, Columbia University from September, 1960 through June, 1961 while obtaining his Doctor of Education degree. During this time he assisted in the preparation of financial studies for the Central Schools study which serves as a research agent for 500 central schools in New York State.

Dr. Sullivan obtained a B. S. degree from State Teachers' College in Cortland in 1938 and his Masters' Degree from the University of Rochester in 1950. His recent teaching experience includes serving as principal of the East Brunswick High School, in East Brunswick, New Jersey, with an enrollment of 1560 students, from July, 1957 through July, 1960. During this time he supervised construction of a seven-building, campus-type high school and organized and supervised all operational procedures for this new high school.

There will be a follow-up meeting to discuss Dr. Sullivan's talk on Wednesday, December 13 at 8 p. m. at the home of Miss Florence Harrison. Miss Harrison is the chairman of the Woodstock League's Education Study group and is inviting all interested members and their guests to attend.

Clothing Drive Ends on Friday

The Save the Children Federation Bundle Days sponsored by the students of Onteora Central School will end on Friday. Since Dec. 4, the students have been collecting good used clothing for distribution to needy children and their parents in the Southern Mountain regions of the United States and elsewhere.

"The determination of our students to make this Save the Children Bundle Days project a success is inspiring," declared Pamela Rowe, "I strongly urge everyone to cooperate with these young people by contributing as much used clothing as possible. There is still time to participate."

Students have been making house-to-house collections for the clothing, or contributors may bring the clothing directly to the school in bags or cartons. According to Dr. Willard W. Beatty, executive vice president of the Save the Children Federation—a 30-year-old international organization dedicated to the service of children everywhere—the stress in this year's collection is upon good wearable clothing—clothing a child or adult would be proud to wear.

Fire Chief Asks Calls Be Made To Woodstock

Fire Chief George Haythorne has urged residents of Woodstock township not to call the fire companies in Wittenberg, Lake Hill and Zena. Instead, the chief said at the monthly meeting of Fire Company No. 1, all calls should be directed to headquarters in Woodstock where there is always someone on duty 24 hours a day.

The telephone number for fire calls is OR 9-2012.

A committee from the fire police gave a talk on the duties and organization of the fire police in conjunction with a fire department.

Duncan Wilson reported that the dance held in Wittenberg Sportsmen Club was well attended and the round and square dancing was greatly enjoyed by all. He expressed the thanks of the fire company to the public.

Richard Ostrander was elected a member of the company.

It was voted to hold a Christmas party for the members and their wives Saturday, Dec. 16, at the fire hall. It was also voted to sponsor a motion picture program for the children of the town on Saturday, Dec. 23, in the town hall.

Chief Haythorne's monthly report showed three fires during the month of November — one brush fire, one fire in the dump and one fire on a well drilling.

After the meeting two films were shown — one by the Red Cross entitled, "Checking for Injuries" and the other "Stop Fire and Save Jobs."

New Artists in Winter Opener At the Kleinert

The performing artists in the first concert sponsored by the Woodstock Festival Committee's winter series on Dec. 10 — the Four Seasons Consort — area group of four instrumentalists specializing in the performance of music of the Medieval, Renaissance and Baroque periods.

Individual players are Eric Leiber, recorders, harpsichord; Patricia Livingston, harpsichord, viol; Barbara Meuser, viola de gamba, and Louis Wann, oboe and oboe d'amore. For the Woodstock concert, Morris Newman, bassoon and recorders, will be a guest artist replacing Barbara Meuser.

The program will include four Baroque Sonatas, two of them by Telemann, one by Pepusch, one by Galliard; Renaissance music by William Byrd, di Lasso and others; and a group of short medieval compositions, dating from the 12th to the 15th century.

Some idea of the quality of the Four Seasons Consort is suggested by the following extraction from a New York Times review, 1961: The Four Season gave . . . "one of the most penetrating and expressive performances this listener ever heard . . . the program was full of varied delights . . . there was substance, as well as charm, in all the music."

Tickets will be sold at the Kleinert Recital Hall on the afternoon of the concert.

MOTOR CARS' GRANDDADDY—This is a model of the first motor car driven by the first internal combustion engine, invented in 1863 in Paris by Belgian-born Etienne Lenoir. The model is being shown at the "Century of Motor Cars" in Paris. Things have changed slightly since then.

Javits Warns GOP Too Conservative Program Harmful

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said today that a path toward ultra-conservatism would insure permanent minority status or total eclipse for his Republican party.

The senator said he was seriously concerned by an effort "to foist on the party an ultraconservative label and an ultra-conservative program." He expressed belief that ultra-conservatism was as "out-dated as isolationism — and as unwise."

The senator also said, in an address prepared for the Brackett Lecture on politics at Union College, that success of the United States policy at home in winning less developed areas of the world to freedom would determine whether freedom or communism would dominate the earth. Javits recently returned from a visit to Russia.

"The recently widely publicized wave of ultra-conservative fanaticism is under control," he said, but added that "it represents a danger to the Republican Party which cannot be overlooked."

He said that all analyses of the 1960 and 1961 elections indicated that the Republican Party could not win a national election unless it broadened its appeal to voters in the cities and the suburbs.

He added, however, that this did not mean that progressive Republicanism "must out-promise the Democrats.

He also said that any watering down of the Republican civil rights plan adopted at the 1960 national convention—as a bid for support among southern segregationists—would be devasting to the party. He said Sen. Goldwater, R-Ariz., often mentioned as a GOP presidential candidate, had made such a suggestion.

Sacrificing Salary

NEW YORK (AP) — Maureen Bailey, a bit player and understudy in "The Sound of Music," has taken an off-Broadway assignment instead even though it means a weekly pay cut from $121 to $45.

"It's a much role," says the 22-year-old actress. "I get to sing a half-dozen songs and the part is more than one dimensional."

Miss Bailey's new venture is in "All Kinds of Giants."

We The Women

Unsung Heroine — The Back-Seat Driver

Well, what do you know? At last someone has written an article called "Let's Be Kind to Back-Seat Drivers." And it didn't appear in a woman's magazine, but in one of those automobile newsletters that go out to car owners—both men and women.

The gist of the article is that, according to safety experts, the back-seat driver isn't such a bad idea after all.

Sorry to report there were no statistics proving how many accidents have been avoided by back-seat-driving wives who keep their eyes on the speedometer, who read aloud all such signs as "Slow to 15 miles an hour," "Road slippery when wet," "No passing," and "Road under construction..." But any back-seat driver worth her salt KNOWS she is the best safety device in her husband's automobile.

The trouble is, husbands never give their wives credit for any of their near-misses on the highway. Their only thanks for a timely "Look out" is an annoyed "Do you want to drive?" or, "I had plenty of room; what are you yelling about?"

But back-seat drivers know their value. Perhaps men wouldn't be so resentful of their wives' help in driving if it didn't come as such a shock to them to find out that all it takes to turn a woman into a back-seat driver is a license—not a driver's license, but a marriage license.

The very same girl who, before marriage, will snuggle down comfortably while her date steps on the gas and weaves in and out of traffic, is a different road companion once the man at the wheel becomes her husband.

No longer does she pretend admiration for his daring when he risks her neck passing on a hill or roaring along on a rainy night. No, indeed.

She suddenly becomes a back-seat driver, much more interested in getting home safely than in letting her husband show her what a demon he is at the wheel.

Stunned by this sudden switch, men are just naturally resentful. And even though they may read the article taking up for back-seat drivers, it isn't likely they'll ever like having one in the car with them.

Miss Stein Is Ready

NEW YORK (AP) — Susan Stein is doubly prepared for appearance in "Take Her, She's Mine," comedy starring Art Carney which is due on Broadway in January.

In the show Miss Stein portrays a college student who earns her keep by singing in a night club. In real life, Miss Stein is a Vassar College graduate who has been a cabaret entertainer.

Shoplifting Runs To Fancy Figure

CHICAGO (AP)— Shoplifting is mostly obedience to an impulse by otherwise honest people whose petty pilferage will cost America's merchants more than $500 million during December.

The conclusion and estimate of loss is by Norman Industries, Inc., of Chicago, a theft-prevention engineering firm.

Norman Kiven, president, said the peak of Christmas shopping also will be the peak of shoplifting. It will become so prevalent in some stores, he said, that the merchants will find when the rush is over they actually operated in the red.

One large store in the Midwest recently reported it apprehended 57 shoplifters in a two-week period before Christmas shopping began. The average attempted theft in those cases involved merchandise valued at $11.48.

Kiven said his statistics show that only about 10 per cent of shoplifters are professionals. He described the others as ordinary people of whom 90 per cent are women.

"Contrary to what most people think," Kiven said, "the middle income and richer customers are responsible for greater losses. Virtually none of them would resort to the impulse to steal if they believed there was the slightest chance they would be caught. People with smaller incomes are satisfied with the smaller impulse-type merchandise."

Kiven said reports by merchants show that shoplifting has risen 14 per cent in the last year.

The ranks of shoplifters sometimes include employes of the stores themselves, Kiven said.

He cited a department store in Detroit which asked its employes to take a lie test with a pledge of immunity from any guilt that might be shown. After the tests, 76 per cent of the employes admitted stealing $100 or more each during the preceding six months.

Katanga Capital

Elisabethville, The U. N. command in Leopoldville claimed that Indian Canberra jets, in a 20-minute raid, destroyed four planes of the fledgling Katanga air force including a Fouga jet fighter. But the Kolwezi telephone exchange reported only one Katangan DC4 was destroyed and there was no other damage.

Fuel Tanks Destroyed

Private sources reported that U.N. planes, in a second air attack on Kolwezi Wednesday afternoon, destroyed the reserve fuel tanks there.

Kolwezi, in the center of the copper-cobalt mining belt, was reported quiet this morning. No fighting was reported outside Elisabethville, despite claims in Paris Wednesday by Tshombe that the U.N. had attacked at Manono, 275 miles north of Elisabethville, and the fighting was becoming general.

The U.N. command in Leopoldville confirmed a Katangan report of fighting in Manono, 275 miles north of Elisabethville. The command said Gurkha and Ethiopian troops "cleared out" a Katanga gendarmerie camp in Manono Wednesday.

The Katangans launched a counterattack today against a railway tunnel outside Elisabethville captured by the U.N. Wednesday night. But a U.N. spokesman said "mopping up" operations were still in progress this morning.

Highway in U. N. Hands

U.N. forces took control Wednesday night of an important highway to the suburbs by seizing an underpass. Other fighting was reported around a roadblock leading from the city to the main airport.

There was no report that U.N. troops had moved into Elisabethville itself, and the only firing inside the city seemed to come from the small arms of Katangan police and troops shooting at any U.N. planes that flew over.

Some stores reopened. Soldiers firing at one U.N. plane threw customers into a panic. Fearing the U.N. troops were attacking, they dropped to the floors.

Tshombe Leaves Paris

Tshombe left Paris Wednesday night, saying he would take personal command of his forces, and arrived today in Brazzaville, capital of the former French Congo across the Congo River from Leopoldville.

The volatile Katangan president took off an hour later aboard a special French airliner. Unconfirmed reports said he was bound for Salisbury, capital of Southern Rhodesia and the Central African Federation, whose prime minister, Sir Roy Welensky, favors the secessionist Katanga regime.

Before leaving Paris, the Katanga leader charged the United States was supplying planes to the U.N. "to bombard the peaceful Katangan population" and playing into the hands of the Soviets.

Rules Out Negotiations

The Belgian TV network quoted Tshombe as saying in an interview: "I seriously wonder whether there are not Communists in the State Department."

Asked about the possibilities of negotiations to end the fighting, he replied tartly: "How can there be any negotiations when Negro women and children are being massacred by American planes in Katanga."

Despite Tshombe's charges, U.S. and U.N. officials in Leopoldville said the Globemaster transports were the only American planes involved in the Katanga operation and that the U.N. command's 15 jet fighters are from Sweden, India and Ethiopia.

Jobless Rate Is Down for First Time This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The unemployment rate dropped last month for the first time in a year, President Kennedy reported today.

The rate fell from 6.8 per cent of the work force, where it has remained nearly constant for 11 months, to 6.1 per cent, Kennedy told the AFL-CIO convention in Miami, Fla.

Labor Department officials planned to give the complete November job picture later. Kennedy announced the unemployment rate in his speech.

The President also said the number of persons employed during November set a record for the month—67,349,000.

The October job figures showed 67.8 million at work. The drop of 500,000 in the total employed during November reflects the seasonal shutdown in farming, construction and other outdoor jobs. But the rise in unemployment was less than seasonal, accounting for the lower rate.

Man in Glenerie Hill Crash, Taken To Albany Center

Wade Page, 28, of Mt. Marion, who was injured when his car failed to negotiate a curve on Glasco Turnpike early Saturday, and went over a 30-foot embankment, was transferred to Albany Medical Center Wednesday and is reported in poor condition today.

Page, according to Kingston state police was pinned in his car for over four hours before a passing motorist saw his plight and came to the rescue. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance where he has been in serious condition.

Troopers W. E. Wiedemann and John Salters said Page was proceeding on Glasco Turnpike not far from Route 9W, when his car failed to negotiate a curve to the right. The car rolled down a 30-foot embankment and lodged against some trees preventing it from plunging into the Esopus Creek at this point.

Troopers reported Page suffered from multiple bruises and abrasions and a possible fracture of the left leg.

Russell Predicts Army's Size to Be Down by Spring

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., predicts the Army's size may be reduced considerably by spring although the Air Force will continue to expand and the draft quotas will be increased.

Russell, speaking Wednesday on a video-taped program, said many Reservists will be released and draftees will replace them in some cases.

He said he has received many complaints about calling up large cumbers of military Reservists and said the Senate Armed Services Committee, which he heads, will investigate the entire military manpower program when Congress reconvenes.

Dr. Marsh Dies

CHAUTAUQUA, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. Edward H. Marsh, 75, former deputy health commissioner of Westchester County, died Wednesday.

Marsh served with the Army on the Mexican border in 1916 and through both world wars, retiring with the rank of colonel in 1946. He was a practicing dermatologist and syphilologist.

A native of Oswego, N.Y., he studied at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cornell University Medical College and New York University.

He was named secretary of the State Health Department in 1922 and became deputy commissioner in 1931. He retired from the latter post in 1952.

More than $4.6 million has been appropriated for cancer research by the Tobacco Industry Research Committee.

Delaware Senate For Death Penalty

DOVER, Del. (AP)—The Delaware Senate voted 12-3 Wednesday to restore the death penalty, legislated out of existence three years ago.

The measure, already passed by the stat's House, calls for death by hanging in cases involving murder, rape, treason and kidnaping.

The Senate also voted 9-5 to make whiplashing mandatory punishment for certain felonies and to render life-termers ineligible for parole.

The bill providing whip-lashing goes to the House. The one banning parole already has passed the House, and with the death penalty measures goes to the governor.

U.S. Imports Gain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The shrinking trend in the United States' trade surplus was halted, at least temporarily, in October.

The Census Bureau said today that imports in October totaled $1,318,900,000 after making allowances for normal seasonal fluctuations. This was 6 per cent higher than the September total of $1,249,000,000.

Although imports increased, exports rose by a greater margin during the month. The bureau said that October exports amounted to $1,819,500,000—up 12 per cent from the September level of $1,628,900,000.

U. S. Still Cowboys And Indian Place To Most Africans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is a country where most people are cowboys and the rest are millionaires, no one has to work, and all Indians wear feathers and want to fight.

Or so it seems to most Africans, says Victoria Mutswairo, an African school teacher from Southern Rhodesia.

And, she adds, "I think Americans have just as wrong an impression of Africa."

Mrs. Mutswairo is one of 15 women educators from nine African nations who are winding up a three-month tour of this country.

"My biggest surprise in this country was that Americans work hard, they actually sweat," she told a news conference Wednesday.

And where do Africans get their ideas about the United States?

"The children at home admire Americans and American ways," Mrs. Mutswairo said. "They try to copy them, and their models are the films they see on television. The girls try to walk the way American girls walk, and the boys want to wear American style trousers with narrow leg bottoms."

If the Africans were surprised by the real Americans, Mrs. Mutswairo said, many Americans were equally surprised by a true picture of Africans.

"When I talked to your school children," she said, "they were amazed that I could speak their language, that I was fluent in it.

"Afterwards they had a million questions to ask me. They wanted to know what Africa was really like."

She was one of eight of the visiting educators who took part Wednesday in a panel discussion at the headquarters of the National Education Association.

U Thant Seeking Wider Approval of Congo Plan

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —Bolstered by U.S. support, Acting Secretary-General U Thant today sought wider approval for his sweeping new plan to bring the breakaway Congo province of Katanga under United Nations control.

U.N. sources said Thant would submit the plan to his Congo advisory committee before making it public.

Outlines Plan

Thant disclosed earlier that the plan aims at carrying out U.N. resolutions on the Congo, including the Security Council's directive of Nov. 24 authorizing him to use force if necessary to expel from Katanga the estimated 200 foreign mercenaries serving with President Moise Tshombe's army and air force.

Thant outlined the plan Wednesday night in a 50-minute briefing at U.N. headquarters with Adlai E. Stevenson, the chief U. S. delegate to the U.N.; G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs; and Edmund A. Gullion, U.S. ambassador to the Congo.

"The United States is very pleased with the plan of the secretary-general to bring Katanga under control," Stevenson said.

A U.S. spokesman said the plan included use of force to end the fighting in Katanga and a blueprint of action designed to restore peace throughout the Congo.

Airlift Suspended

The U.S. airlift to Elisabethville was suddenly suspended today when Katangan troops fired small arms at a Globemaster as it came in over Tshombe's presidential villa for a landing at the Elisabethville airport. Several bullets penetrated the fuselage but caused no serious damage. A report from Leopoldville, the Congo capital, said the U.S. government had agreed to the airlift on condition that full protective cover could be supplied, and Air Force commanders in the Congo were consulting with Washington to determine whether the airlift should continue.

Cables from Sture Linner, chief U.N. representative in the Congo, kept Thant abreast of the military action in Katanga. A U.N. spokesman said Linner's reports indicated the U.N. operation was going well."

Johnstown Test Success During Nuclear 'Attack'

JOHNSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—This city's residents took cover today from imaginary radioactive fallout, in what was described as a successful test of a new, jam-free system of direct communication during a mock nuclear attack.

Make - believe enemy missiles scored hits across the state but Johnstown, in the Mohawk Valley, supposedly was endangered only by fallout.

Spokesmen for the State Civil Defense Commission said the test went according to plan and was a success.

Special telephone lines were connected from the local civil defense control center to speakers in homes, schools, hospitals, public buildings and community shelters.

The enemy could not jam the system, as it could radio and television broadcasts, nor could it intercept information relayed by the control center.

Political Crisis Seen Near End in Dominican Island

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Informed sources said today a settlement has been reached in the Dominican political crisis.

It is understood the agreement calls for the resignation of President Joaquin Balaguer before Dec. 31 and installation of a provisional Council of State to govern this island nation seeking a new way of life after 31 years of rule by the Trujillo dynasty.

An announcement of the settlement is expected today. Informants said an accord was reaced on main points and only some mnor details are being worked over.

Dense crowds packed Santo Domingo's main streets as word spread that an agreement was at hand. Many shops reopened, but the downtown stores remained closed on the 10th day of a general strike that was a key factor in the negotiations.

Balaguer's health reportedly figured in developments of the last 48 hours. He was reported exhausted and suffering from a mild kidney infection. Persons close to him said he was on the verge of collapse after the Nov. 19 coup which foiled an attempt by two brothers of the late Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo to seize power.

Highly placed sources said the new government formula would vest a seven-man Council of State with executive and legislative powers after Congress is dissolved.

The council would elect its presiding officer, and election of a constituent assembly would follow, on Aug. 16. General elections would be held Dec. 1, with a new government to be installed Jan. 26, 1963.

The formula is said to exclude all leaders of the government party and of the opposition factions from membership. This project follows the general lines of that submitted last week by the National Civic Union, the foremost opposition group.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Much ado about runaways.

Last week's congressional hearing developed some heat but not too much light on the complex matter of American film production overseas. Here is some plain talk about runaways as observed by this reporter at home and abroad.

Q. Has the trend to overseas filming cut Hollywood production drastically?

A. Yes. Of the 38 American films currently shooting, 26 will be made wholly or in part away from Hollywood. Fifteen years ago, less than 10 per cent of American films were shot on location.

No Ghost Town

Q. Does this make Hollywood a ghost town?

A. No. Employment is at the highest peak in three years.

Q. Then what is all the fuss about?

A. Because high employment is due largely to the 100 TV film series. Theatrical filming is at a minimum.

Q. Why do American film companies shoot abroad?

A. For cheaper costs, foreign subsidies and authentic locales, in that order.

Q. Are films that much cheaper to make abroad?

A. Spectacles are. Hollywood labor has priced itself out of competition in the world film market. American extras get up to $20 a day for doing what the Roman extra does for $3. Sets are cheaper, too.

Q. How do the foreign subsidies work?

A. Movies made in a country might get a kickback from a box-office tax. Foreign films may be taxed or admitted by quota only.

Q. Is this unfair competition?

A. Possibly, since the United States imposes no such restrictions, nor does it subsidize its own film industry.

Plight Getting Serious

Q. Is Hollywood's plight a serious one?

A. It is getting to be. Runaway films, TV production and selling real estate have kept the big companies in business. But these are stopgap measures that don't meet the big problem: How to maintain a continuity of film making in America.

Q. Why should we care about this?

A. Because though they often exasperate us, Hollywood and the film industry are a national asset and have won us more friends abroad than all the diplomats of history.

Q. What can be done?

A. By the government—study of the film industry's plight, with possible measures to insure fair competition abroad. By the industry—more leadership and creativity in making the kind of entertainment that made Hollywood great.

Buyer Almost Gets Bonus of 52 Automobiles

DETROIT (AP)—Edward Land, representing a group buying the old Chrysler Imperial plant here, almost picked up a $300,000 bonus with the property Wednesday.

Land said the contract for the sale was already for signing. It provided that all machinery, etc., on the property would go to the buyers.

Then someone from Chrysler Corp. discovered that 52 brand new Imperial autos were stored in the building. A quick change was made in the contract.

Dies of Overdose

NORWALK, Conn. (AP)— Mrs. Edith Foster Palmer, 42, of Fulton, N.Y., died Wednesday of an accidental overdose of sleeping pills, a medical examiner said.

Mrs. Palmer, who was visiting in the home of her grandmother, was found sprawled fully clothed on a bed by her husband. He said he at first thought she was asleep.

Warning Test Is Set for Today, Free of Jamming

JOHNSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—The 20th anniversary of the surprise bombing attack on Pearl Harbor will be marked today by a test of a new, jam-free system of direct communication to warn this city's 11,000 residents of a mock nuclear attack on the state.

State Civil Defense Commission plans call for Johnstown to be endangered only by fallout after missiles scored hits on several cities.

The warning system employs special telephone lines connected from the local civil defense control center to speakers in homes, schools, hospitals, public buildings and community shelters. The system cannot be jammed by the enemy, as can radio and television broadcasts, nor can information relayed by the control center be intercepted, the commission said.

Fifty homes were equipped with the speakers for today's exercise, planned to operate thusly:

When word had been received that an enemy attack was imminent, one operator at the local control center automatically turned on the speakers and issued a warning.

He advised the listeners to stay indoors, or to take cover in shelters if available.

He also suggested that food, water, medical supplies, bedding and clothing be taken to the shelters. In addition, residents were told to shut off heating, gas, electric and water systems.

As the mock attack neared, the take-cover signal was sounded.

Next came word that nuclear explosions had occurred in the Buffalo and other Western New York areas, New York City and at Rochester.

At one point, the radioactive fallout was measured by detectors, which were buried in the ground, at 200 roentgens, not fatal to presons in shelters. Nine hours after the attack the radiation level had fallen to 50 roentgens.

Oneonta Firm Is Fined $750 for Adulterated Feed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Elmore Milling Co. of Oneonta has been fined $750 for distributing adulterated poultry feed in interstate commerce.

The firm pleaded guilty Wednesday in federal district court to the charge.

Judge James T. Foley dismissed a charge against Loraine S. Tilman, vice president, treasurer and manager of the company. A civil action involving the death in July of 761 turkeys in Massachusetts has been withdrawn.

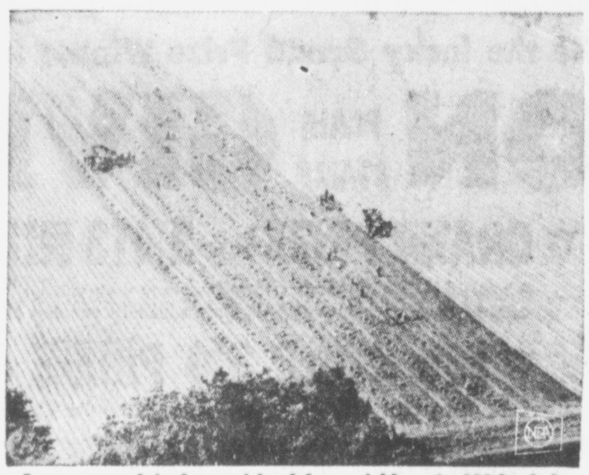
Tilman and Elmore Milling both were named in a five-count information charging violation of the federal food and drug code in distribution of "Chix Saver" feed.

The company was fined $150 on each count.

The firm also agreed to comply with the federal code.

The Food and Drug Administration halted shipments of the feed in August, after discovering it contained as much as three times the labeled amount of a drug used to prevent blackhead, a turkey disease.

Most recipes for hot spiced cider call for the addition of sugar, but your family may find this beverage sweet enough as is and you can omit the sugar. A cinnamon stick and a few whole cloves are usually added for the spicing.



Long rows of Anderson island farm yield up to 600 bushels of potatoes an acre with help of much modern machinery.

Potatoes are loaded on converted car ferry. Jetty, 600 feet out in lake, was built partly from old fence stones.

He Uses Car Ferries To Market Potatoes

Ingenuity teamed with mechanization have made Ed Anderson, 61, one of the largest carlot potato merchants in the country. This fall, he harvested 250,000 bushels from his fields on Washington Island, off the northeastern tip of Wisconsin. The spuds were transported across Lake Michigan to Benton Harbor, Mich., aboard two old auto ferries. En route, processing machinery sorted, graded and packaged them so that they were ready for customers' trucks. Anderson owns 1,800 acres on the island, which was once divided into many small, marginal farms. He removed the stone fences and opened the acreage for large-scale mechanized farming. The stones went into a dock for the ferries. Anderson plants about one-third of his land in potatoes every year; rest is rotated in oats and red clover. Street's a Speedway

OSHKOSH, Wis. (AP) — Six Oshkosh residents have petitioned the City Council to change the name of their street to Webster. They claim motorists are taking too literally the present name: Speedway Avenue.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New York State once again has turned to its schools for handling of a major non-education program, that of protection of children in the event of war.

In essence, that is the effect of the recent actions of the Legislature and Gov. Rockefeller.

Dismay Is Evident

At this point, there is no evidence that school officials — on the local or state level — have welcomed this additional burden. In fact, observers detect a definite aura of reluctance and even dismay among top echelons of the State Education Department.

Rockefeller and the Legislature turned the problem over to the schools with a one-two punch that went like this:

1. The Legislature, in a special session Nov. 9, passed Rockefeller's bill to provide state aid to schools and colleges that choose to build fallout shelters for their pupils and teachers. The 38-page bill was presented to the legislature only the day before it was passed. The amount of aid is $25 for each person a shelter would be designed to accommodate. But the aid could not exceed half the cost. The program is voluntary on the part of the schools.

Rocky Shifts Stand

2. Tuesday of this week, the governor declared it was now state policy that, if an attack occurred, school children were to remain at school, not go home as the previous state policy directed.

The effect is this. School districts are not required to build shelters for their pupils. But, on the other hand, they now find themselves responsible for their pupils' lives should an attack occur.

This poses a pressing moral problem for local school board officials, who are faced on the one side by taxpayer outcries at the present level of school taxation and on the other side by the moral pressure for spending tremendous additional sums for fallout protection.

The state education commissioner, James E. Allen Jr., had this problem in mind when he declared recently that he would bring no pressure to bear on school districts to build shelters, despite the governor's program and the action of the Legislature.

New Problem Now

No evidence shows Allen to be an enthusiastic shelter-supporter. His public statements do not lead to such a conclusion, he does not have a shelter in his state-owned residence.

So the Education Department has a new problem. What sort of advice is the department to issue if the department is not to "pressure" the schools to build shelters? How else are the schools to foil the governor's interpretation of their responsibility of protecting the children?

The problem has little relationship to reading, writing and arithmetic. But, neither have driver-training programs and other non-academic subjects the schools now handle.

NEW YORK (AP)—Fast expansion of the trading-bloc movement throughout the world is accented today by President Kennedy's calling for ways to fit the United States into a new way of international economic life.

The blocs are already powerful in Western Europe—and among the Communist countries.

Firming Up All Over

They are firming up in South America, Central America and Southeast Asia. Japan talks of making it all non-Communist Asia. A pact including many nations bordering the Pacific Ocean is a gleam in some economists' eyes. The Mideast is talking up the idea of a trading bloc.

Canada discusses a possible North American bloc to deal with the others. In this country some advocate that the United States and Canada join a North Atlantic trading bloc, along the lines of the North Atlantic military alliance.

In his speech here Wednesday to the National Association of Manufacturers the President pointed out the growing economic power of the Communist bloc as a threat to the West.

But he went on to note that "some 90 per cent of the free world's industrial production may soon be concentrated in two great markets—the United States of America and an expanded European Common Market."

Proposes Joint Step

He proposed a "a joint step on both sides of the Atlantic" to see that the two sides of the Atlantic work together in economic peace, and thus benefit "the economies of all the countries of the free world."

Implying that trading blocs have outdated older systems, he said, "a trade policy adequate to deal with a large number of small states is no longer adequate."

The European trading blocs are our immediate problem and the debate about what we should do is loud and increasing.

But let's also look at some of the others taking shape.

In Southeast Asia an economic association has been formed by Malaya, Thailand and the Philippines.

Japan and India have talked of the possibility of extending such a bloc in the future to gain trading advantages for all or most Asian non-Communists.

An even larger Pacific Ocean trade community has been suggested. It might include the United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and other Pacific nations if they feel frozen out of the European markets.

Nine Sign Up

A Latin-American trade area, along the lines of the European Common Market, hopes to start cutting duties among member states next month. Signed up are Argentina ,Brazil, Chile, Bolivia, Paraguay, Peru, Mexico, Ecuador and Colombia.

A similar trading bloc in Central America aims at increasing trade between these small nations and bettering their world trade position.

Some African diplomats are thinking along the same lines. So are the Arab states.

Behind the trading-bloc idea:

1. Improving the economy of the member states by opening up their internal markets. The striking industrial growth of the European Common Market in a few years has impressed all nonmembers.

2. Forming a solid front against other trading nations. This may be used either to protect the internal industrial setup by handicapping outsiders, or to bargain for trading and tariff concessions from nonmembers.

3. And the far-out possibility of eventual union of all trading blocs of the non-Communist world. The talking point, sharply disputed by many, is that the resulting free trade among all nations would help everyone in the long run, even if the short-run results would be harmful to a lot of individual companies and industries.

Clampdown Just Mistake on JFK Air Trips: FAA

WASHINGTON (AP) —Federal Aviation Agency officials say their clampdown on news of presidential flights was all a big mistake.

The FAA revoked the order Wednesday night on instructions from the White House only hours after the new policy had become known.

FAA officials said the original order had been "inadvertently" published No. 22 without the approval of the White House. It forbids all FAA personnel from giving out any information before, during and after any flights of President Kennedy, his family and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

However, the White House had continued to provide newsmen with full details of Kennedy's flights, including estimated arrival and departure times.

An FAA spokesman said the order was supposed to help the Secret Service.

The FAA clampdown came to light after newsmen called the tower at Idlewild Airport in New York City for the official departure time of Kennedy's flight to West Palm Beach Wednesday. They were told they could not be given the information.

PLANNING MARCH OF DIMES — Robert Burcaw, guest speaker from the National Foundation, called for extra effort on the 1962 March of Dimes in a personal appearance in Kingston this week. Among those present at the kickoff meeting were (l-r) Howard Stephens, local chapter treasurer; Mrs. Lincoln Crosby, Mothers March chairman; Meyer Kaplan, assistant county campaign chairman; the guest speaker, Mrs. William Powers, long-time supporter of Dimes campaign and Addison Jones, county campaign director. Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Savings and loan shares continued their recovery in a mixed stock market which showed a downside tendency early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .20 at 265.40 with industrials unchanged, rails down .20 and utilities down .50.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were narrow, some going to a point or so. Recoveries of some of the loan companies stretched to more than 2 points as traders picked them up after their selloff of recent sessions.

The general business news background was heartening, reports of auto dealer sales for November reaching a new high for the month. Some hesitation was reported among bigge rinvestors regarding stock purchases at high levels, but the general sentiment in Wall Street was optimistic for the balance of this year and early 1962.

A few of the aerospace issues followed through their advance of Wednesday on prospects of more defense spending. Others fell before profit taking.

United Financial was up about 3, Financial Federation more than 2 and First Charter Financial more than 1.

The makers of antismog devices for autos petered out after their rally on news the auto industry wants to install these gadgets on all 1963 autos. Arvin Industries dropped 1.

DR. A. M. FELDSHUH

Medical Society Has Kerhonkson Doctor as Head

Dr. Alfred M. Feldshuh of Kerhonkson was elected president of The Medical Society of the County of Ulster at the Society's annual meeting Tuesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Dr. Feldshuh succeeds Dr. Vincent P. Amatrano to the presidency.

In addition, Society members elected Dr. John A. Cooke Jr., vice president, and re-elected Dr. Arthur G. Carr II, treasurer, and Dr. Fred W. Holcomb Jr., secretary. Other physicians named to the Comitia Minora, the governing board of the Society, were: Vincent P. Amatrano, David S. Gerbarg, Milton M. Grover Jr., Jeffrey Wiersum, Herbert Zaccheo.

Practices for 26 Years

Dr. Feldshuh, the new president, has been practicing internal medicine in Kerhonkson for 26 years. A native of New York City, he established his practice in Ulster County following his internship at New York's Metropolitan Hospital, and a residency in internal medicine at Cumberland Hospital, also in New York City.

A graduate of the University of Richmond in Virginia, and the Long Island College Hospital medical school, he is a member of the American College of Cardiology, the American Geriatric Society, the American School Health Association, and of the Liaison Committee of the American Heart Association.

On Two Staffs

He is on the active staff of Kingston Hospital and Veterans Memorial Hospital in Ellenville, and is a courtesy staff member at Benedictine Hospital in Kingston.

Serving as a major with the Army Medical Corps during World War II, he is a member of the American Legion. He is also a past president of the Kerhonkson Lions Club.

Married to the former Constance MacMullen, a registered nurse prior to their marriage, he is the father of two daughters. The Feldshuh's older daughter, Dana Lee, is a second year medical student at the University of Michigan Medical School. The younger daughter, Lana Dee, is a high school senior at the Rondout Valley Central School.

FundCosts,Performance: Vital Investment Factors

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—"The widow to whom you wrote October 25 had $3000 to invest and wanted to retire in five years. Your stock recommendations — American Telephone and General Foods—won't give her much diversification. Wouldn't she have been better off in a mutual fund?" C. B.

A—I don't believe so. A mutual fund would have given our widow more diversification (which would be desirable) but other factors such as fund costs and performance potentials also have to be considered. Over the next five years, the 7 or 8 per cent loading charge asked by most mutuals, plus the annual management fees, could easily cost an average of 2 per cent a year. To me this would be more than she could afford to pay, in view of her meager capital.

Furthermore I doubt if many conservatively managed mutuals will equal the performance I expect from Telephone and General Foods in the next five years' time. Both issues have acted very well since October 25 and I expect them to continue to outperform the market.

Q—"Recently I sold my home, freeing another $13,000 for investment purposes. What stocks would be good for me to buy? I retire in ten years and don't want to take any risk whatsoever of losing this money." J. K.

A—I can answer your question quite briefly. There is no complete safety to be found in stocks. The only certain thing about them is that they will fluctuate. I personally believe that there are many good buys available in today's stock market, but since you want to avoid all risk, I suggest that you put your new fund in U. S. Treasury bonds, the safest investment there is. I think the Treasury 3¾s of 1974 would be good for you to own. At present levels, these bonds yield around 4 per cent to maturity.

Workers Are Honored

During Monday night's kickoff meeting several volunteer workers were given pins for outstanding work.

Fifteen-year pins were awarded to Mrs. Addison Freer and Mrs. William A. Kelly, both of Kingston.

Ten-year pins went to Mrs. Wesley Witheral, Wallkill; Mrs. Edwin Schwab, Accord and Mrs. George Barringer, Kingston.

Five-year pins were presented to Mrs. E. M. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gazlay of Accord and Mrs. Charles Cole of Kingston.

Two Speak Here

John Burcaw of the National Foundation and Alvord Clements, state representative, were speakers at Monday's meeting attended by 75 persons. Films of the National Foundation work also were shown.

Jones, in praising the leaders for their time and effort to help make the 1962 drive a success, said contributions to the new campaign would enable the National Foundation to finance research aimed at prevention and cure of crippling birth defects and arthritis, while also providing patient aid for victims of these two diseases.

"And we have still an obligation to help paralytic polio patients who are not otherwise being aided," Jones continued.

"The importance of the problem can be seen from the fact that 250,000 of our children are born each year with a significant birth defect and 11,000,000 Americans suffer from arthritis or rheumatic disease.

"I join with the new area chairmen in expressing confidence that the people of Ulster County will not let down the victims of these diseases. We know your dimes will do it again," Jones concluded.

Deadly Cold War Without Shooting

No Single or Easy Answer To Success of Communism

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today, 20 years after the United States got into World War II, optimists like to think this country is winning the third world war, the cold one. Plenty disagree.

American self-examination increases—as the years of struggle with communism stretch out with no end in sight—but always from a single starting point:

Some Cases a Response

How did communism, which could claim only 170 million people in Russia 20 years ago, manage to gather in one billion now extending from Eastern Europe, through Russia, and into Red China and Southeast Asia?

There is no single and no easy answer. Nor is there one to many other questions about this war which is deadly without shooting. For instance: How it started or how it could have been stopped?

In some cases communism was a response to wretched conditions, in some to intrigue, treachery, and military power. It is questionable any single action or series of actions could have choked it off.

Communism is more than just a political or economic system. It is a challenging idea and, like capitalism, almost inevitably would have had to find some way to run its course.

Discontented men, perhaps for centuries, would haye discussed it and perhaps tried it again if tomorrow it were crushed by an outside force instead of evolving into something quite different under its own power.

Capitalistic and communistic dogmatists tend to think of their pet beliefs in absolute terms as if they were unchanging.

Many Views

Perhaps nearer the truth is the thought capitalism or communism, if tomorrow it ruled the world without opposition, would in time evolve into something unrecognizable today.

And for a simple reason: The history of man is evolutionary and the one predictable thread running through it is that there will be change, subtle or sudden, because of new ideas, new ambitions, or new conditions.

From the moment communism emerged in Russia 44 years ago the most realistic reaction to it might have been not how to top it but how to channel it in a direction more reasonable for the West to live with.

Try to Live With It

That is exactly what the Western powers are trying to do today. No one today in a responsible position is talking of destroying communism. The emphasis is on how to get it to live as a good neighbor.

Books have been written on how the great chance to overwhelm communism was lost at Yalta, or after the war when this country still had a monopoly on the atomic bomb, or when this country demobilized too fast.

The handwringing could go further back: To American isolation between the two world wars which helped make Hitler possible and, as a result after his destruction, made communist expansion possible.

But the isolationism was only evidence that this country, which emerged as the world leader after World War I, was too unprepared, too unimaginative and too unsophisticated for its role.

The same thing could have been said of it again after World War II when, once more it emerged as world leader and, failing to understand its problems and responsibilities, demobilized too fast.

Endless Story

But this is an endless story. The success of communism today could be blamed on the failure of the capitalistic West to unite and crush the Bolshevik takeover in Russia in 1917.

Beyond that, too, was the failure of the West to try to compel the czar to establish for his people conditions which would have made communism unthinkable.

But the West, except for the United States, was made up of colonial powers who were in no position to preach good treatment of backward people. The West had to learn the hard way and give up its colonies.

And now, by one of the great ironies of history, Communist Russia and Red China, proclaiming their concern for mankind, have become the new colonial masters. They, too, will have to learn the hard way.

Young Democrats Told Times Most Hazardous

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy told a cheering, clapping crowd of Young Democrats today that they will be helping to shape the destiny of the United States during "the most hazardous period in the human race."

Speaking in a hotel hall where the Young Democratic Clubs of America are meeting in national convention, Kennedy said he wanted their help, not so much for the elections ahead but in demonstrating that this country is in fact the leader of the free world.

Kennedy rode down Collins Ave. from the Indian Creek Country Club, where a helicopter landed after bringing him here from Palm Beach. After his short talk to the Young Democrats, he left to go to another hotel for an address to the AFL-CIO convention.

He received a noisy standing ovation when he walked into the Young Democrats convention and more loud cheers when he said:

"From all I have read in the last four or five months about a conservative revival sweeping the United States, I thought nobody would show up today."

Kennedy said that a political party is not an end in itself but only a means of making progress for the United States.

Parties will endure, he said, only as they contribute to the welfare of the country.

These days are more complicated than those of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson, Kennedy said, and he asked the delegates how the country could maintain the peace, keep the economy in forward gear, and find jobs for millions of young Americans coming into the labor market.

Noting that there had been several economic recessions, he asked:

"Is this economy going to run out of gas again?"

The day that the Democratic Party is not prepared to come forth with programs to answer these questions, the President said "We will fade as the Whig Party faded and gave way to the Republicans."

Child Welfare Group Elects New Officers

The first regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Ulster County Evangelical Child and Family Welfare Service was held recently at the Church of the Nazarene, Kingston.

Guest speakers were Clinton Tasker of Syracuse, chairman of the interim committee, and Mrs. Phoebe Ross, who at one time, was in charge of a foster home, caring for 40 infants.

Officers istalled for a term of one year were president, Mrs. Dean L. Harrison, Bethel Assembly of God Church; vice president, Mrs. Ernest M. Estes, Phoenicia Baptist Church; treasurer, Mrs. Raymond Crispell, Church of the Nazarene; secretary, Mrs. Richard N. Adams, Grace Community Church.

The Evangelical Child and Welfare Service is an affiliate of the National Association of Evangelicals, and when chartered, will be an agency whose purposes and objectives are to provide adoptive and foster home care to dependent children. Included in its program of social service is work help to natural parents, unwed mothers and to all families being served by the agency.

The Ulster County Auxiliary is one of 34 units presently organized in New York State. Meetings will be held regularly on the fourth Thursday of each month. All interested women in Ulster County may join, and may contact any of the officers for further information.

Boy Accused of Car Theft and Vandalism

One of two Saugerties boys, 14 and 15 years of age, who according to Saugerties Village Police, attempted to steal a car owned by William Schaffer on November 27, is being charged with breaking the door window of the laundromat at West Bridge and Partition Streets, Chief Arthur W. Richter said today.

The two boys have been petitioned to Children's Court for appearance today.

According to an investigation by Sgt. Harold Mills, one of the two teen-agers threw a soda bottle through the window in the door and is also reportedly responsible for other acts of vandalism in the establishment.

Chief Richter said the report to Children's Court also charges the boy broke four windows in Simmons Dairy on Partition Street, November 21.

Sgt. Mills and Patrolman Donald Sullivan, who investigated the car theft attempt, reported two juveniles pushed the car down Partition Street to Dock Street, where they abandoned it because they were unable to start the motor.

Motorist Is Killed In Lonely Section

BREWSTER, N.Y. (AP)—A motorist driving through a sparsely settled countryside was killed in an accident that went unnoticed until another driver spotted the wreckage today on his way to work.

Police identified the victim as Frank McDonald, 22, of Brewster, a U.S. Marine until last October. His car hit a tree in the town of Southeast near the Brewster village line.

The time of the crash was unknown. Apparently nobody saw or heard it. Patrick Roberts, of Holmes, driving to work, saw the wrecked car and notified police.

Terpening Auto Found, Items Are Stolen from Rapp

A car reported stolen late last night was reported found on Stuyvesant Street early today and another report this morning listed articles with a total value of $50 stolen from another car.

A report at 11:40 p. m. said the car of John Terpening, of 119 Newkirk Avenue, had been stolen. Another at 2:45 a. m. today said it was found near Broadway on Stuyvesant Street.

Police headquarters today reported the theft of a box of cigars, pipes, medicine, flashlight, brief case and gloves taken from the car of John M. Rapp, of 63 Stephan Street, while it was parked in his driveway.

Kennedy to Ask

manpower in need of work standing around in large numbers of communities in need of public improvements.

Kennedy declared discrimination in hiring and firing "makes no sense at all" to a convention which faces a possible civil rights quarrel. A council of Negro unionists headed by A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, has complained of discriminatory practices and charged the federation leadership with widening a gap between organized labor and Negroes.

AFL-CIO President George Meany this week promised steps to improve relations with the council.

Placing his administration "fully on the side" of equal opportunities, Kennedy said: "And as we move forward in the realm of public policy, it is essential that the private policies of management and labor meet this common obligation to human dignity."

Kennedy put in new plugs for legislation that Congress turned down or bypassed but which comes up again next year. He mentioned specifically federal aid for school construction and teacher salaries, medical care for the aged through the Social Security system, employment opportunities for youth, retraining of unemployed workers and tax incentives to encourage plant expansion and improvement.

Surprise Attack

position as the only retired ship in the Navy still commissioned. She is regarded as a member of the fleet because her crew is aboard.

An invocation and hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee"—long associated with sea tragedies—preceded Sides' address. As he finished, a Navy chaplain, Capt. Fred D. Bennett, offered a memorial prayer and a band played the Navy hymn, "Eternal Father, Strong to Save."

Flowers were cast on the waters over the Arizona and floral wreaths were arranged on the platform.

Sides drew a parallel between America's military preparedness today and a generation ago, citing the unified Pacific Command which bosses all Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine units. "Readiness is the key," he said, "and constant training is the watchword."

He added: "No longer are large concentrations of ships seen in this harbor—ships are in and out, a few at a time, on their way to and from their forward positions. Yet with all this, we must always maintain our vigilance and we must never relax our guard."

competence and experience."

Foster has served as deputy city clerk for almost seven years, and prior to coming to City Hall in March of 1955, was a legislative aid in the State Senate for two years.

A 30-year-old native of this city, Foster is a product of the Kingston school system, attended the State University Teachers College at Genesso, and majored in business administration and accounting at Albany Business College. While at Albany Business College, he was elected to the International Commerce Honorary Fraternity.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Foster of 58 Andrew Street, he is a past president and current secretary of the Coach House Players, and an active fire fighter with the A. H. Wicks Engine & Truck Co. He is a member of St. Peter's Church and St. Peter's Holy Name Society.

Wawarsing Dimes Group Plans Ball To Aid Campaign

Louis Resnick and George Barthel have accepted the co-chairmanship of the March of Dimes Ball in the Wawarsing area, it was announced today.

Their acceptance was voted following the Ulster County March of Dimes kickoff in Kingston this week. Eight other Town of Wawarsing volunteers attended the dinner.

They were:

William M. Kelb, town chairman; Mrs. Sadye Katz, Mrs. Marguerite. Gonder, Kenneth Mitchell, Mrs. Edwin Hoar, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craft and Foster Sheffield.

A meeting of the Wawarsing ball committee, with representatives from the Napanoch and Kerhonkson committees, is scheduled for next Monday night, Dec. 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Resnick.

Economics . . .

racy it was their duty.

Meany, referring to policy AFL-CIO differences, said "frankly the appetite of some of our people for combat never ceases to amaze me."

He acknowledged that AFL-CIO internal differences must be dealt with and can't be swept under the rug." But he issued an appeal that AFL-CIO problems not be exaggerated or permitted to prevent the federation from carrying on its main objectives.

Meany, at another point in his keynote address, said the merged AFL-CIO, now 6 years old, had proved to be a "complete and absolute success." He said one-time rival AFL and CIO organizations at state, city and regional levels have completed amalgamations.

"Almost without exception," he said, "they are working together and getting along very well."

In advance of the convention's opening, AFL-CIO industrial unions insisted they will fight for convention adoption of a binding jurisdictional disputes settlement system—a procedure stoutly opposed by rival AFL-CIO building trades unions.

Aide Says Rocky

would be for further discussion of federal shelter policies.

The federal delegation at the meeting with Rockefeller Wednesday was led by Roswell L. Gilpatric, deputy U.S. secretary of defense.

Gilpatric declined to meet with newsmen after the conference.

McManus declined to elaborate on what was discussed other than to say it dealt with proposed federal shelter policies.

Rockefeller is a leading proponent of fallout shelters.

Kennedy said at a news conference last week he would ask Congress next month for a broadened civil defense program, with emphasis on community shelters.

The President said he planned to discuss the issue with governors, because the program involved federal, state and local cooperation.

Other federal officials at Wednesday's meeting with Rockefeller were Steuart L. Pittman, assistant secretary of defense for civil defense, Adam Yarmolinsky, special assistant to the secretary of defense and Rear Adm. William M. McCormick, military assistant to the deputy secretary of defense.

Members of the civil defense committee of the governor's conference are:

More Interest Is Reported in CD Through State

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —There has been "encouraging interest" in civil defense in the state during the last four months, the director of the state civil defense commission reports.

Lt. Gen. F. W. Farrell said an indication of the interest was a trend toward mass civil defense meetings throughout the state.

In a statement Wednesday, Farrell said approximately 1,300 persons were to attend such a meeting Saturday at Oneida County Airport near Utica. The meeting was being arranged by the Mohawk Valley Home Builders Association.

The Westchester County Society of Real Estate Appraisers will hold a mass civil defense meeting Dec. 14 at Tarrytown and approximately 700 persons attended a meeting in Sidney, Delaware County, recently, Farrell said.

No Blame on Duty

The joint congressional committee, in its summary of findings, said that errors made by the Hawaiian commands were "errors of judgment and not derelictions of duty."

The committee reported it found no evidence to support charges, made during hearings, that the President, the secretary of state or the secretaries of war or navy "tricked, provoked, incited, cajoled or coerced Japan into attacking this nation in order that a declaration of war might more easily be obtained from the Congress."

Only Two Drafted For December, 18 Went in November

December's selective service call dropped drastically under that of November, it was noted today.

Local Draft Board (19) county) reported drafting only two men Dec. 5 as compared to the 18 listed by the city and county boards last month.

Those inducted and sent to the U. S. Army reception center at Fort Dix were: Ernest Joachim Graeser, 70 Fair Street, and Rudolf Zollner, 1612 St. Nicholas Avenue, New York City.

Squabble Likely For Labor Union On Dispute Ways

By NORMAN WALKER

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—A family squabble over how to settle jurisdictional disputes loomed today as the AFL-CIO prepared to open its 1961 national convention.

Industrial unions have insisted that they will fight for adoption of a tough dispute settlement system. The system is opposed stoutly by rival building trades.

Convention delegates will take time off from routine business matters today to hear an address by President Kennedy.

Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers president and chief spokesman for the industrial unions, denied Wednesday that there was any compromise agreement between the rival union groups. He accused the building trades of "nonsense and name-calling while stealing our jobs."

The building trades fired similar charges at Reuther's industrial union group last week.

AFL-CIO Fresident George Meany was expected to make a convention keynote appeal for peace in the quarreling labor union family.

Reuther, last chief of the old CIO, also had some comment about not being named to a committee of AFL-CIO leaders designated by Meany to welcome Kennedy. Reuther was reported earlier as tentatively chosen to be one of the greeters.

"I don't know if I was ever on, so I don't know if I was dropped," Reuther said with a grin when asked if he was irked about it.

'Gramps' Is More Than Custodian, He'll Be Missed

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) —Cohen School in Elmra Heights will lose more than a custodian when Alfred "Gramps" Janowski retires this month.

Pupils in the school playground during the noon recess will lose a playmate.

Children with broken bikes, skates and toys will lose a repair man.

Crying children will miss their comforter.

Teachers will lose a backstop disciplinarian.

Third-grader Tina Arnold, who will lose a zipper fixer, summed up the school's loss in a letter:

"Ge we will mis you You helped me all the time. I won't have you to fix my zipper anymore...I wish you would stay. But tnat's the way it gose."

Principal John J. Salem said, "Gramps is an extraordinary man. He's more than a custodian. He's part of the administration."

Gramps, 69, who has been custodian for 16 years, was honored by the school's faculty at a farewell luncheon Tuesday.

"On one occasion he brought a large cake to my class," said Mrs. Marjorie LeHard of Primary 2. "He said he baked it himself. The cake was his reward to the class for keeping the room neat and clean during the year."

"Several years ago, I had a boy in my kindergarten class who spoke only German," recalls Miss Elizabeth Clark. "When the boy needed discipline, I sent for Gramps because he also speaks German. He put the child in his place in a couple of minutes."

"He can make the children behave even without teachers around," said Mrs. Marietta Grantier, a fourth and fifth-grade teacher. "They all listen to him."

"I enjoy doing things for them because I love children," Gramps says. "I'm just that way."

ICC Auuthority Is Asked to Abandon Struuck Rutland

WASHINGTON (AP) — The strike-bound Rutland Railway has appealed for federal permission to abandon its entire line.

The Rutland, in a petition to the Interstate Commerce Commission Wednesday, said it actually stopped operations last Sept. 25 because of a strike by its employes.

The railroad recently rejected a proposal by Arthur J. Goldberg, secretary of labor, to submit the dispute to arbitration.

The four striking railroad broth erhoods said they would agree to binding arbitration of the dispute over wages and work rules.

In its appeal, a Rutland spokesman said the line "has been plagued with recurrent labor troubles and a steadily decreasing flow of traffic, increasing costs of ope rations and decreasing revenues."

The Rutland has been a freight road since 1953, when it discontinued passenger service.

The 94-year-old carrier operates freight trains on 331.71 miles of its track from Ogdensburg, N.Y., east to Rouses Point, N.Y., south to Rutland, Vt., and two branches from Rutland to White Creek, N. Y., and Bellows Falls, Vt.

It also owns trackage rights along 58.76 miles owned by the Boston & Maine Railroad, Troy Union Railroad Co. and The New York Central Railroad. The tracks links White Creek and Troy, N Y., and Troy and Chatham, N.Y.

The Rutland reported net operating income dropped from $422,000 in 1956 to a loss of $81,245 for the first nine months of this year.

It had operated in the red in 1960, losing $69,525, and in 1959, when it lost $3,750, officials told the ICC.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pork gets the big promotional push in many supermarkets and neighborhood groceries this week.

Regional favorites vary but recent ample production of porkers has pushed prices down over a wide area.

One chain's New York area stores offer pork chops at 75 cents a pound, a whopping 24 cents below a year earlier, and pork loin cuts at 25 and 35 cents a pound, 18 cents under December 1960.

Smoked hams predominate in other areas of the Northeast and are popular in the Midwest. Other Midwestern pork specials include roasts, chops and bacon, all of which also are featured in the Southeast. Pork sausage is another popular Southeastern item.

Heavy supplies and lower than usual prices also keep turkeys and broiling or frying chickens on the special list in the Southeast and Midwest, while fryers remain a good bargain in the Far West.

Eggs are seasonally plentiful over a broad area with the large size rated the best bet in the Southeast, Midwest and Far West. Eastern prices are 12 to 16 cents a pound below a year ago, with the biggest drop in pullets.

Produce counters also offer a good selection of bargains. Apples, grapefruit, oranges and tangerines are the top fruit items in most places, with the citrus season in full swing in the Southwest.

Limes and grapes also are in good supply in some sections. Cranberries remain plentiful and other good buys include avocados, coconuts, bananas and d'Anjou pears.

Vegetable bargains include cabbage, carrots, celery, lettuce, potatoes, sweet potatoes, tomatoes and yellow onions. Green onions and green peppers also are featured in several sections.

Make Flowers Last

Cut flowers won't droop too quickly if a slanting cut is made on the bottom of each stem and the water changed daily. It's wise, too, to keep cut flowers away from heat or drafts.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Some time ago, I bought a little book published in 1820 called "Worcester Sketches, Vol. I." I am always interested in the viewpoint of authors of long ago, before they were sweetened to meet our modern civilization. Somone had torn out all the pictures, for which I am sad, because no doubt those 140 year old pictures would be interesting.

I think I have written about Indians from this book and will again in the future, right now being Christmas time their chapter on "The Reindeer" interests me. The picture from it is gone, for which I am sorry. It starts off simply with: "The reindeer is the most valuable gift that providence has bestowed on the poor Laplander. It serves as the principal beast of burden; its milk is highly valued; its flesh supplies the chief nourishment of the inhabitants during part of the year; its sinews are made into thread; and its skin furnishes a great part of the dress of the inhabitants."

It further says: "The reindeer is generally only four feet in height from the foot to the top of the back, and but two feet long in the body. In summer it feeds on grass, and is extremely fond of the herb called the great water-horse tail; but in winter refuses hay, and obtains its whole nourishment from the reindeer moss, which grows in Lapland in great profusion. A remarkable instinct is displayed by the animal in discovering this plant under the snow, and in digging it out. The foot of the reindeer has a peculiar shape for walking in the snow.

It seems, the foot of the reindeer spreads out when set down, so as to cover a large surface, but contracting when lifted up, so as to be easily withdrawn if it happens to plunge into the snow. When hooked in a sledge they are easily guided by a small cord fastened round the horns. They will run, if hard driven, 50 to 60 miles without stopping, and at the rate of 10 miles an hour. Can you imagine a reindeer in a sledge running on the Thruway from Kingston to Albany without stopping, which no doubt would stop traffic on a holiday weekend.

The author of 1820 further writes that "the sledges are made of birch wood, and formed like a boat with a flat stern. Those used for travelling are commonly so light as to be easily carried in the arms, and are only large enough for the traveller to sit in them with his legs stretched on the bottom. The reindeer is found wild, but the greater number are domesticated, and form in fact the chief wealth of the natives. The poorer class have from 50 to 200; the middle class from 300 to 700; and others up to 1,000. The females are driven home morning and evening to be milked, and yield about as much milk as a goat. The reindeer cast their horns every year, the males in November, and the females in May.

The new horns are at first flexible, and so tender as to occasion pain to the animal when roughly handled. The horns are often two feet and a half in length, and their points are as far distant from each other.

School Expenditures

Editor The Freeman:

Upon reading a letter published recently which mentioned the pamphlet "Focus on Education" as being an enlightenment of the foolish expenditures of our school systems, listing teachers rooms, gyms, and music rooms as unnecessary, I couldn't help wondering what this person considers necessary.

Teachers need and deserve a room for an occasional moment away from the students. Parents want healthy children developed physically as well as mentally, and I'm sure we want the next generation to enjoy an appreciation for music. How else can we give these things without proper facilities.

I wish as the letter advised, that your readers will get the above mentioned pamphlet and realize that our tax money can be put to no better usage than to provide better schools for the students who are America's hope for a finer tomorrow.

HOTTEST NOVEMBER IN FORD HISTORY!

And here's what started the heat wave!

Last month more Americans bought Fords than in any November in history. The blazing success of the long Ford line was end-to-end, all across the country and up and down it, too. Everywhere the people flocked into their Ford Dealers and bought smart new Falcons and the new Falcon Squire, the glittering swift Galaxies, the famous Ford Station Wagons and the hot Thunderbirds. And they poured in to see and buy up the brand-new Fairlanes just introduced. ■ There are four magic reasons-why behind the smashing success of the long Ford line for 1962. First of all is utterly modern styling, the fresh crisp lines that are now being so widely copied by other car-makers, the smart look that dominates the industry. Second is absolute power in eleven kinds of engines, giving you anything you could want in engine options. Third is total economy—every Ford model is priced directly at your pocketbook, and every Ford, large, medium or small, gives you gasoline mileage outstanding in its class. Fourth is the service-saving concept—every Ford car is built to cut down maintenance worries and problems, with service-saving features other cars may have some day. ■ Ford leadership from Falcons to Thunderbirds is founded on trend-setting innovations . . . the hot ideas come from Ford. And at the heart of Ford success is an almost revolutionary new concept of quality . . . most serious and direct concern with the actual part-by-part quality. For the hot trends in the hot cars, for a new experience in quality, and for the best buys on the American Road, see your Ford Dealer.

PRODUCTS OF Ford MOTOR COMPANY

NOW THERE ARE FOUR CLASSES OF CARS ...AND ONLY FORD HAS ALL FOUR!

COMPACT CLASS:

FORD FALCON

This class includes cars with 106- to 114-inch wheelbase. Most popular by far (a million happy owners!) is the Ford Falcon. Falcon is America's lowest-priced* 6-passenger car, set a 25-year record for Sixes or Eights in last spring's Mobilgas Economy Run, gives you a choice of 13 models, including the Futura and new Falcon Squire wagon.

FAIRLANE CLASS:

FORD FAIRLANE

The Ford Fairlane is the first member of a new class which combines the advantages of both compacts and big cars . . . you get big car room, ride and performance . . . compact savings and maneuverability. Priced below many compacts, Fairlane even rivals some in gas economy. Has twice-a-year maintenance introduced by the Galaxie.

FULL-SIZE CLASS:

GALAXIE BY FORD

The class for families who want big car comfort, performance and prestige. Value leader is the Ford Galaxie—which has every essential feature of far costlier fine cars. With the optional Thunderbird 390 V-8 engine, a Galaxie will outperform America's most expensive luxury cars. Requires servicing only twice a year, or every 6,000 miles.

LUXURY CLASS:

FORD THUNDERBIRD

The top class—cars for people who want the very finest. First of the trim-size luxury cars, the 4-passenger Thunderbird is the most distinctive car in this class. Its styling set the trend for an entire generation of cars and now finds a new elegance in the Landau. And Thunderbird's performance is just this side of flight.

Eye to Solving Traffic Woes

U. S. Enthusiastic With Ifs on Free Bus Service

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal spokesmen are cautiously enthusiastic over a proposal to finance a year's free city bus service in Ithaca, N.Y., with federal funds as an experiment in solving the nation's growing urban traffic problems.

The experiment—if approved—might determine whether there is a "psychological obstacle" to people riding buses, said a spokesman in the Office of Transportation. But he was not sure just what could be done with such information.

$100,000 Cost

The experiment would cost federal taxpayers an estimated $100,000 or more.

"What we want to do is slowly, carefully, laboriously see if Ithaca has an idea that might be useful," said the information spokesman, Charles M. Smith.

The Ithaca Common Council is asking for a $120,000 grant to put the free bus service into effect for a year. The free riders would be carried in four new buses paid for by the city.

The idea did not sit well with Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, who fired off a letter to John C. Kohl, administrator of the transportation office set up by Housing Administrator Robert C. Weaver.

Lausche asked "what is in contemplation under this proposal" and questioned whether Congress "ever intended the federal government would embark on a program to provide free transportation in urban areas."

Intriguing Project

Smith said Wednesday Kohl had not received Lausche's letter, but Kohl recently called Ithaca's proposal "among the more intriguing projects" proposed under the 1961 housing act. Congress provided about $50 million in the act to seek solutions to urban transportation problems.

Kohl, who calls such problems "traffic disease" and "softening urban arteries," said in a recent speech that the Ithaca experiment could "certainly prove, or disprove, the often-heard assertion: 'Even if you give free service, nobody would ride transit.' If that alone could be settled, transportation planners would have a more definite and valuable guide for their work."

Lausche said he was "shocked" by the Ithaca proposal, one of about a dozen requests for grants but the only one suggesting free rides.

Smith, commenting on Lausche's letter, said any suggestion that there would be "subsidized free transportation for any other than a limited period of time and for the purposes of demonstration is completely wrong."

Mystery of Saugerties Siamese Cat Is Solved

The mystery of a missing Siamese cat which strayed from its owner and reportedly "catnapped" by occupants of a car on Partition Street, Saugerties, was solved in less than an hour Wednesday night.

Mrs. Annetta Kelly of 216 Main Street reported to Sgt. Harold Mills that she saw occupants of a large car stop at Main and Partition Streets and pick up her prized Siamese cat. She gave the sergeant the license number of the car.

The cat was discovered less than an hour later at the office of Dr. James C. Crandall, Saugerties veterinarian, where it had been taken by John P. Layton, operator of Layton's taxi service.

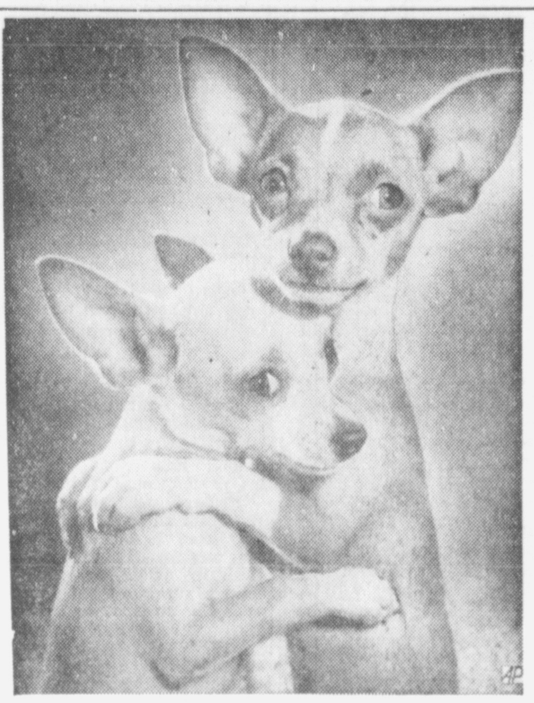
Layton, who also owns a Siamese cat, said because of its value, he picked the cat up and took it to Dr. Crandall's office to keep until claimed by the owner.

Hurley Vols Schedule Second Movie Showing

Hurley Volunteer Fire Company No. 1 will show its second free movie of the current series on Saturday 7 p. m. in the firehouse.

Disney color cartoons will start the program followed by Outlaw Stallion, also in color.

The committee including Eugene Hannay, Chester Dolson, Paul McGuire, Robert Lawton, and Charles Goble, chairman, report that the shows will be held every other Saturday through April 14.



CHUMMY CHIHUAHUAS—"Missy," left, and "Sambo," chihuahuas owned by Mrs. R. C. Dabney of Valdosta, Ga., are posed to show affection for each other.

Lonstein Heads Board Of Ellenville Hospital

The Board of Trustees of the Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville reelected its entire staff of officers as well as members of its finance committee, at an organizational meeting during the past week.

Officers named to serve another year are: Benjamin Lonstein, president; A. J. Anderson, vice president; Miss Katherine T. Terwilliger, treasurer; and Everett Coty, secretary.

The finance committee will remain as follows: Vincent P. Gillen, chairman; Anderson, Mendon O. Savels Jr., and Miss Terwilliger.

The other standing committees, all appointive, will be named by the president.

Traffic Death Toll

Dutchess County's highway death toll for 1961 stood at 35 today, nine ahead of the 1960 toll. In 1959 there were 31 highway deaths recorded in the county and in 1958 the toll was 42.

Revival Series In Progress at Bethel Assembly

Revival meetings are now in progress at the Bethel Assembly of God, 3 Esopus Avenue, Kingston. The Rev. S. Leon Cooke of Cortland has been ministering each evening at 7:30 p. m. as well as playing sacred music on the violin.

He plays a valuable violin called the "Guadinina" made in Torinta, Italy in 1778. He also plays the guitar.

The Rev. Mr. Cooke will be speaking on the themes: Obeisance to the World this evening; Singing Strings Friday; Prelude to Revival Sunday at 11 a. m. and Thin Edge of Truth at the closing service Sunday 7:30 p. m.

The pastor, the Rev. Dean L. Harrison extends an invitation to the public to attend the services.

Clashes Injure 60

PARIS (AP) — More than 60 persons were injured Wednesday night as police clashed with leftist-led demonstrators protesting the right-wing Secret Army Organization terrorist campaign to keep Algeria French.

Skirmishes broke out in half a dozen big cities. The biggest demonstration was in Paris, where 10,000 marchers turned out.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)--Poor, battered television, already bloody and bowed by critics' slaps about violence and poor quality of programs, took a body blow this week. The President of the United States, no less, charged it with being partly responsible for the roll of fat around America's middle and our national lack of muscle tone.

President Kennedy, of course, is not the first person who has been concerned about the growing national habit of glueing oneself to a comfortable chair and spending long, lazy weekend afternoons watching the sport currently in season.

Kennedy pointed out Tuesday night in a speech, that most of us "and too many of our children get our exercise from climbing up the seats in stadiums—or from walking across the room to turn on our television sets."

It's curious, in fact, that critics have not commented on the disappearance, for all practical purposes, of the culture-drenched Sunday-afternoon schedule. This was the period called "the intellectual ghetto" (Producer Fred Friendly of "CBS Reports" claims he launched the tag.) Now it has quietly converted into a big playing field.

Wednesday night's CBS adaptation of Oscar Wilde's "Picture of Dorian Gray" seemed more like a plot of one of the "Thriller" series—one shown on an off night—than the premiere program of the "Golden Showcase" series.

The familiar tale concerns the beautiful young man whose corruption (he is a murderer, takes drugs, and is degraded to a point that can only be hinted at) is reflected in his portrait, while he himself is untouched by age or evil.

The TV cast played absolutely straight, thereby revealing the Victorian quality of the plot as well as the sets and costumes. John Fraser, the handsome English actor who played Dorian, was completely unconvincing as a sinister character. You just knew he was a nice young man pretending to be bad.

Recommended tonight: "Sentry Abroad," NBC, 7:30-8:30 (Eastern Standard Time)—an inspection of our overseas military bases, with Frank McGee narrating; "The Great Challenge," CBS, 10-11—discussion on the future of Western Europe.

Working Their Way

WALESKA, Ga. (AP) — The president of Reinhardt College, James Rowland Burgess Jr., says he feels that "any good student who's willing to work for his education" should be able to attend the Methodist-supported institution in the north Georgia hills.

Almost half the 286 students are working their way through Reinhardt this year, cooking, waiting on table, acting as secretaries and wielding dustpans and mops after classes.

Origins of Woods

Homeowners sometimes are puzzled about the difference between hard woods and softwoods. Generally, hardwoods come from broad-leaved trees. Most softwoods come from evergreens.

matter of fact

Now, mascots are associated with football teams; Army has its mule and Yale its bulldog. But at one time individuals and families all had their own mascots. The origin of the word in ancient French shows that every household had an animal or thing which brought luck to the family. Mascots were particularly popular with gamblers.

Democrats Still Divided on Cut In Penn Districts

HARRISBURG (AP) — State Democratic policy makers were still short of an agreement today on a plan to redivide the state's 30 congressional districts into 27 new units.

State Chairman Otis B. Morse said after a four-hour session Wednesday with party leaders and congressmen that progress had been made, but that there was nothing specific settled.

"We came up with several proposals today," Morse said after the meeting. "However, we are not going to make any final decisions until such time as the plans can be presented to these men, that is, the absentees."

He declined to discuss what proposals were advanced. Nor would he say whether any of them proposed trimming one of Philadelphia's six Democratic seats as demanded by Republicans.

Money Saver

The New York City Health Department has estimated that in one year alone the city saved nearly $20 million in patient care plus an unestimated amount in hospital construction thanks to effective new drugs for the treatment of tuberculosis.

Sees Grievance ProcedureCurbed For State Workers

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The head of a labor union of state employes asked the State Grievance Board today to investigate what he said was an attempt by Gov. Rockefeller to "destroy state grievance procedures."

The grievance rules were established in the administration of former Gov. Averell Harriman, a Democrat.

Jean J. Couturier, executive director of Council 50, AFL-CIO, conceded, however, there was little practical chance that the three-member board would support a charge of that nature.

He said his goals in bringing the allegations included a public airing of several complaints his organization has against the Republican state administration.

Couturier acted under a resolution, adopted at a convention of the council in September, that contained what he agreed could be interpreted as a political threat to the governor, who will run for re-election next year.

The resolution provided, among other things, that, if Rockefeller did not endorse union demands for changes in state grievance procedures, the union would request its national body to "brand Gov. Rockefeller as anti-union."

Couturier said the union wanted Rockefeller to issue a policy declaration that state employes were free to join labor unions and present grievances "free from fear of retaliation."

The Rockefeller administration consistently has rejected Couturier's allegations that the governor was opposed to organization of state employes or had dealt unfairly with them.

Council 50 claims 8,000 members of a total 102,000 state employes.

Parade, Party For Children Slated Saturday

All the children of the area may participate in the annual Christmas parade and party that the Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce has planned for Saturday beginning at 10 a. m. at the Municipal Building.

Santa Claus will ride behind a police escort in the parade through the streets, followed by Miss Saugerties and her court. They will make stops at the two municipal parking lots to distribute candy and comic books to the children.

The parade will form on Partition Street in front of the Municipal Building, proceed down Partition to Russell Street, over to Washington Avenue, back to Main and along Main to the lot behind the Saugerties National Bank and Trust Co. where Santa will greet the children with his gifts. The entourage will then return through the business section to Partition and make another stop in the parking lot behind Amrod's Department Store where more candy and books will be distributed.

The merchants committee has announced that all stores in Saugerties will be open each evening until Christmas, beginning on Friday night.

Drought Expense High for Citrus Men in Florida

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—A record shattering drought has cost Florida citrus growers $10 million to $12 million for irrigation in the past six months. And Florida Citrus Mutual said Wednesday that no relief is in sight.

Tree damage has been negligible throughout the state's citrus belt.

Robert W. Rutledge, executive vice president of the growers' organization, said the drought has had no immediate effect on the volume-price relationship, but could have later.

Students, Faculty Sign for May Trip

There will be a total of 190 going from Saugerties High School to the Shakespeare Festival at Stratford, Conn., on May 19. This number includes both students and faculty. For this response Miss Agnes A. Sheff, chairman of the festival, would like to thank all, especially the senior class and Mrs. Flewelling. A total of 57 seniors are going.

The Shakespeare Festival will include the performance of Henry IV, Part I, a historical drama that includes the renowned character of Falstaff, a lecture on the Stratford Shakespearean Theatre, and a visit to the museum on the scenic grounds along the Housatonic River in Connecticut.

The high school faculty attending, in addition to Miss Sheff and Mrs. Flewelling, are Mrs. Frances Behr, Patrick Rodden, Miss Elinor Lente, Miss Janice Peterson, Miss Patricia E. Porter, Lloyd Loop, Mrs. Elsie Ketelaar, Mrs. Jean Emery, Miss Gail Gray, Miss Patricia A. Porter, Miss Charlotte Turner.

Celebrate Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Althiser of Washington Avenue were given a surprise party Wednesday evening in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary. Present were Mrs. Carrie Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. William Willt, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Koskie, Mrs. Ann Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. John Althiser Jr. and another son, Gary Althiser.

Mr. and Mrs. Althiser were married Nov. 29, 1936 at the Saugerties Methodist Church by the Rev. Mr. Falshaw.

Events Scheduled

The Women's Fellowship of the First Congregational Church will continue its annual Christmas bazaar sale Friday in the store next to Johnstone's Photo Shop, Main Street, from 10 a. m. until early evening.

There are fifteen seats still available for the VFW Auxiliary sponsored bus trip to New York City scheduled for Saturday. Reservation may be made by calling Mrs. Thomas Dengler, Veteran. Three buses will leave the Saugerties terminal at 7 a. m. that day. The return trip will leave New York at 10 p. m.

Miss Ann Vree, a teacher of the Saugerties School system, will be guest on the Jayncee sponsored story hour at the Saugerties Public Library Saturday 10:30 a. m. Twenty-four children attended last week's program when Mrs. David Fox of Kingston Junior League showed how to make indoor gardens under glass. Six children were presented with the finished terrariums at the close of the program.

Named President

Miss Linda Boettcher, president of Atonement Church Luther League, was elected president of DUGO District, Hudson Conference Luther League at an organizational rally Saturday. She will serve as a member of the executive committee of the Hudson Conference.

Speakers for the Saugerties High School Christmas program Dec. 21 were chosen this week by the student body. Marianne Bolinder will represent the sophomore class, Frank Mauro the junior class and Virginia Roeser the senior class. The freshman class has not yet made their choice.

Contracts Reach Record for State Highway Projects

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —Gov. Rockefeller said today New York State had let more contracts for highway work in the first 11 months of this year than in any year in the state's history.

Rockefeller said the 1961 total will go even higher on Dec. 21 when the department of Public Works receives bids on an estimated $60 million in highway projects.

The governor said a total of $332,529,104 in low bids had been submitted by contractors this year under the state's accelerated highway program.

This was the first year state highway bids exceeded $300 million in a single year, he said.

Rockefeller said that the accelerated highway program was made possible by increased state road appropriations and that the state share of the cost had increased while federal-aid allocations had decreased.

Accelerated highway building, the governor said, will not be affected by repeal at a recent special session of the Legislature of a $100 million standby highway appropriation made by the 1961 legislature.

The $100 million appropriation was repealed to allow the state to use the funds for the governor's school fallout-shelter program.

The move, primarily, was a bookkeeping transfer, since the budget must be balanced and an appropriation was necessary to launch the school-shelter program.

The $100 million was for sections of the Northway, North-South expressway, Route 17 and the Long Island Expressway. All the roads are being built with both state and federal funds.

Rockefeller, in his statement, said the appropriation was made "in the hope that the state's express highway program could be still further accelerated had the federal government advanced its share of the cost as rapidly as the states could match the federal funds."

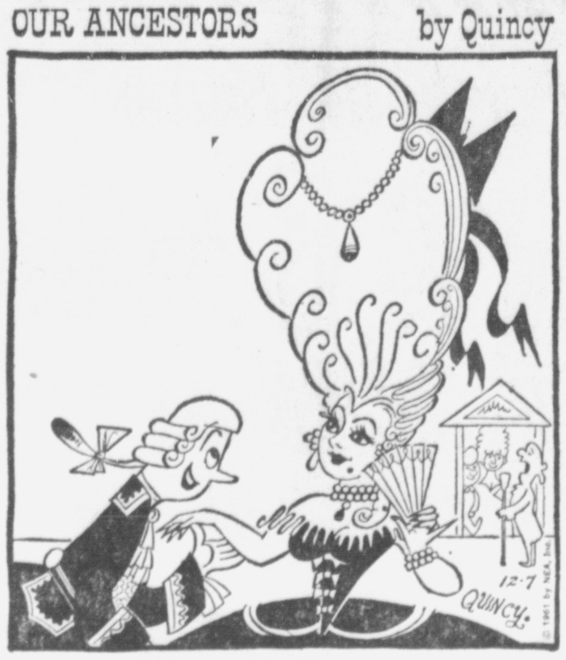
He said the federal government, however, "did not advance its present 1972 completion date goal."

Pretty Old Oats

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — An old fire station building was purchased by a business firm which started some remodeling. Fred J. Reineke, head of the firm removed a piece of moulding from the ceiling and from a storage room above there came down half a bushel of oats.

The horse-driven fire fighting equipment was motorized in 1914.

OUR ANCESTORS by Quincy



"Not THE Madame Pompadour?"

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

NEW YORK (AP) —Twenty years after the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, Mrs. Franklin D Roosevelt still has vivid memories of that fateful day that changed the world.

She had just finished lunching with guests in the White House when an usher informed her of the Japanese surprise attack. The President was upstairs alone in his study.

"Cabinet members and staff officers began arriving," recalled Mrs. Roosevelt. She retired to her sitting room and tried to busy herself with her mail.

Tired but Calm

"Just before dinner I got in to speak to Franklin," she said. "He was very tired, but on the whole very calm—and chiefly interested in what he was going to do next.

"The worst had happened. He had hoped we would not be engaged in a two-front war—and now we were. There was nothing to do but to meet it.

"Tired as he looked, I could feel the certainty was easier for him to accept than the uncertainty before. It is always easier when you know what you face, and can make plans, than to have to live with uncertainty."

At 77, widowed 16 years now, Anna Eleanor Roosevelt still meets the uncertainties of this world with grace and charm and courage and an unfailing cheerfulness.

Seated in her East Side apartment on a crimson sofa flanked by photos of Adlai E. Stevenson and Prime Minister Nehru of India, she said: "I try to cut down on my schedule, but I don't seem to be able to do much about it."

She still makes four or five public appearances a week, writes a thrice-weekly newspaper column, a monthly magazine column, and freely gives of her time to scores who come to her for advice or comfort.

Lags on Yule List

Usually she methodically has her Christmas shopping done months ahead of time, but this year is a little late.

"I have a long list—such a long list," she smiled. "I have 20 grandchildren now, and 13 great-grandchildren."

Here are her replies to a series of questions about her life and views:

"I've never thought through a personal philosophy of my own. I'm one of those who live pretty much day by day and meet the opportunities that come to them.

"Life is the acquisition of experience and the ability to face realities and accept them.

"What troubles most people is the almost automatic clinging to things that are known, and not being excited by the things that are unknown. This brings about a fear to face change in a constantly changing world.

"The younger generation? Frequently their biggest problem isn't themselves but their parents. I think the present young generation is better informed and more serious than the previous two or three generations were.

No Unsatisfied Ambitions

"No, I wouldn't want to be young again myself. I am satisfied with the period in which I lived. When you are young you have many unsatisfied ambitions, but I have none now."

Asked if she had any regrets or ever brooded over the past, Mrs. Roosevelt smiled, and shook her head. Her blue eyes looked over at a small statue near the window of the famed winged victory of Samothrace—her personal symbol of timeless courage and endurance.

"The thing I am most grateful for," she said, "is for an interesting life—and the opportunities I had to learn along the way."

Holiday Program To Be Presented By Youth Group

The juniors of the Christian Endeavor Society are presenting a Christmas Pageant Sunday, 7:30 p. m. at the Friends Community Church, Tillson.

Those participating are Sandy and Karen Grothkopp, Jackie and Allen Kouhout, Grace, Jack and James Christensen, Bruce Parker, Darlene Taylor, Wayne Wood, Janis Strang, John Morrow, Debby Musal, Doreen, Kramer, Florence Durand, Sandra Pionski with seniors Elizabeth Christensen accompanying at the piano and David Parker singing a solo.

As has been the custom for previous Christian Endeavor community nights, the parents and families of the children may attend. They also extend an open invitation to all members of the community to attend.

Schedule Announced For Tillson Church

Worship services will be conducted at the Tillson Reformed Church Sunday 11 a. m. by the Rev. Alfred J. Penney, DD, minister. The sermon topic will be Who Do Men Say That the Son of Man Is? Sunday school will be held 9:45 a. m.

An organ recital of Christmas music will be presented by J. Charles Brand at 8 p. m. There will be a hymn sing after the recital.

matter of FACT

Quicksand is treacherous even if it doesn't really pull you down. Great weights sink into it with ease. In 1878 a locomotive fell into Box Elder Creek in Colorado. Searchers probed into the stream bed, but the sand had swallowed up the huge engine. There wasn't a trace of it as far down as 50 feet, and it was never found.

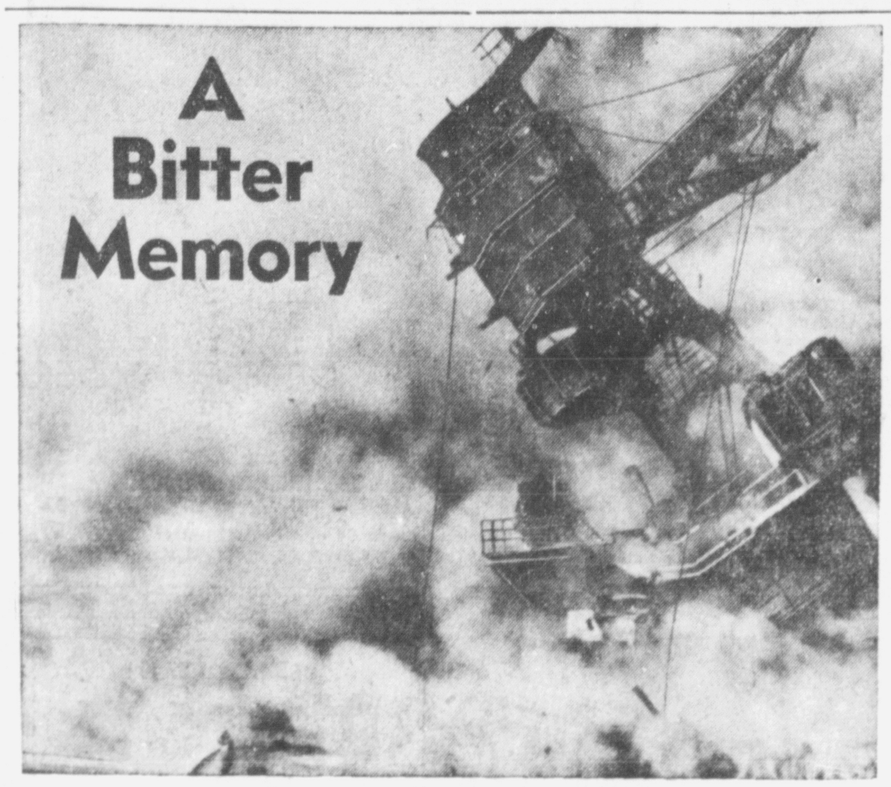
A Bitter Memory



The USS Arizona, aflame, at the height of the attack.

At the very moment the magazine of the USS Shaw, a destroyer, exploded.

Wreckage of the naval air station at Pearl Harbor.

Even today, after 20 years, the casualty figures from the surprise Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor are staggering: Totally lost was the battleship Arizona; severely damaged were the California, Nevada, Oklahoma (capsized) and West Virginia; damaged and later repaired were nine ships. U. S. aircraft destroyed totaled 177 out of 473 on the island. Human losses were: Navy, 2,117 officers and men killed, 960 missing, 876 wounded; Army, 226 killed, 396 wounded. The Japanese lost 48 planes and 3 small submarines.

Rotarians Hear Talk on Diamonds

An illustrated talk on the enchanting subject of diamonds was given by an expert, Emil Klipper, of Wittenberg before the Kingston Rotary Club luncheon-meeting Wednesday. Klipper, who is a Belgian by birth, is a member of the Woodstock Rotary Club and chairman of its International Committee.

The fourth generation in his family to have engaged in the diamond trade and become an authority on the precious stones, he gave a lucid account of the mining processes. He also explained the two categories into which diamonds are divided, the gems and industrialists.

His talk preceded a very interesting film on the diamond mining industry.

Ethics Body Is To Decide About Carlino, Profit

By MICHAEL KEATING

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Assembly Committee on Ethics meets here today to decide what, if anything, it should do about charges that the speaker of the assembly personally profited from fallout-shelter legislation.

The meeting was to be closed and it was to deal strictly with procedure rather than issues. No witnesses were to be called.

Mark Lane, a freshman assemblyman and member of the Democratic insurgent group in New York City, has accused Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, a Republican, of pressing for passage of Gov. Rockefeller's fallout-shelter program last month while a director of a company that manufactures shelters.

Assemblyman Donald A. Campbell, R-Amasterdam, committee chairman, said Lane had not submitted to the committee any formal charge as of Wednesday.

The meeting of the bipartisan committee is the second since it was formed in 1954. The first case, in 1956, involved then-Assemblyman John A. Britting, Republican of Lindenhurst, who was accused by the state investigation commissioner of fraudulent sale of public land while serving as Suffolk County deputy treasurer.

The Ethics Committee decided it lacked authority to handle the case because, it said, no formal complaint or evidence had been brought before it.

Rockefeller's shelter program, which was passed at a special session, provides state aid for construction of shelters in schools and colleges.

Lane said stock in the company — Lancer Industries Inc. — rose from $5.70 to $8.50 a share as a result of the program.

Carlino has denied he profited from the action. He has said that he owned no stock in the company. But he added that he received $200 or $300 in fees for attending directors' meetings and that his law firm received $5,000 from the company for legal services.

He said he resigned after the shelter bill was passed.

The State Investigation Commission declined to act in the matter and said it was up to the Assembly Ethics Committee to handle.

Carlino called on the committee for a "full and complete examination."

Nary a Nibble

BRYSON CITY, N. C. (AP)—An engineering aide for the Water Resources Division of the U. S. Geological Survey has a job dropping a line in the mountain streams of western North Carolina.

But the aide, Ed Dillard, doesn't catch any fish. His assignment is to measure the volume of water in the streams.

State Potatoes Among Those in Surplus Buy Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has agreed to purchase potatoes in New York and four other Northeastern states under the surplus food program.

Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., said Wednesday night the potatoes would be allocated to the school lunch program and food programs for the need.

Walter said Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has approved payment of $1.65 per hundredweight for potatoes in five Northeastern states that are not under the potato diversion program.

Under the diversion program, the federal government purchases potatoes for allocation to starch plant facilities and for use as feed to livestock.

The other states involved are Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, and Massachusetts.

$2 Billion Loss

Says Trade Plan Would Cut Farm Income in U.S.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Current trade negotiations between the United States and the European Common Market threaten to shave as much as $2 billion annually from American farm income, Herschel D. Newsom, national Grange master, said today.

In an address prepared for the Empire State Farm Show, Newsom said trade proposals being considered in Geneva violate provisions of existing tariff agreements between the United States and its allies.

The proposals, he added, represent a threat not only to American agriculture but also to this country's entire international trade program.

The European Common Market is made up of France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxemburg. England has made a move to join this market.

Newsom said the proposals now being discussed would permit common market nations to increase tariffs and establish import quotas which would restrict drastically and even exclude U.S. farm imports.

Although such measures would broaden industrial trade opportunities for common market nations, Newsom said, they would virtually deny American farmers a chance to compete in those countries.

Wednesday, Rep. Clifford C. McIntire of Maine said most northeastern farmers [illegible] little enthusiasm for farm programs being developed by the Kennedy administration.

Demands Bank's Money, Also Call To City Police

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Henry Kramer, 66, walked up to a teller at the Security First National Bank's branch in downtown Los Angeles Wednesday and handed her a note saying:

"Give me all the money you have and make haste about it. Xmas is too close to lose any time. The crime is now. A fait accompli."

The he asked the teller to call police, which she did.

Booked on suspicion of robbery, Kramer sighed:

"For 27 years I've owned and operated a corner grocery store in Baltimore but the weight of problems got too much for me."

The problems included, he said, loss of business to big markets, taxes, separation from his wife "and 84 hours a week in the store."

WORLD BRIEFS

LONDON (AP) —Lord Attlee, former Laborite prime minister of Britain, has suffered a heart attack and is in grave condition.

Attlee, who will be [illegible] 3, was taken to Amersham Hospital near London Tuesday with a stomach ailment. His doctor said Wednesday his condition was serious.

The elder statesman of the Labor party was twice hospitalized with a duodenal ulcer, in 1948 and 1951 while prime minister.

D-DAY RECREATED — Soldier-actors hit the beach at France's Ile de Re in a reenactment of the Omaha Beach landings in 1944. The scene, using real GI's, was staged for the film "The Longest Day," a story of the D-Day landing.

Improve Limited Weapons, Says Marine General

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. David M. Shoup, Marine Corps commandant, urges American industry to improve this country's limited-war weapons.

Shoup, speaking Wednesday night at a dinner of the 43rd annual industrial preparedness meeting of the American Ordnance Association, said an H-bomb "can only destroy."

"Make a better, longer range, faster firing, more accurate naval gun or missile and while you are at it develop higher powered, more lethal non-nuclear ammunition," he added.

Shoup received the association's Blandy gold medal for distinguished service to naval ordnance. The medal is named for Adm. William H. P. Blandy, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Ordnance during the early production phases of World War II.

Figures for Others, Lets Own Tax Go

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A certified public accountant said he was so busy preparing income tax returns for other people he didn't get around to filing his own.

Roy W. Hunt, 47, of suburban San Carlos, was convicted by a federal jury Wednesday of willful failure to file his return for 1956 through 1958. The government said he owed taxes on a gross income of $48,239 for three years.

Judge Albert C. Wollenberg set Jan. 3 for sentencing.

Among the lodges which participated in the competition for the Lodge of the Year are Hudson Valley Lodge 432, Kingston.

The selection which is based on an evaluation of all phases of fraternal activities carried on by the lodge, was made at the last meeting of the Supreme Lodge Board held in Minneapolis, Minn.

Wilkins Satisfied CR Action Going Well Under JFK

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A top official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People says action by the Kennedy administration in the area of civil rights has been "gratifying."

Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, also praised the mass reporting media for what he termed bringing the race issue to the public in an understandable manner.

Wilkins spoke Wednesday night at a dinner meeting of the Philadelphia chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity.

Ike Accepts Post As Editorial Adviser

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has accepted the post of chairman of the editorial advisory board of the Encyclopedia Americana.

In an announcement Wednesday, Vincent E. Sutliff, publisher of the encyclopedia, also said the Dwight D. Eisenhower International Peace Scholarship Fund was being set up.

The fund will provide 10 annual scholarships of $3,000 each to graduate students here and abroad.

As head of the advisory board, Eisenhower will meet periodically with Americana editors to discuss broad editorial policy. He also will be consulted on administration of the fund and in the selection of students. Neither post pays a salary.

Dr. Broad Dies

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) —Dr. George B. Broad, professor emeritus of the Syracuse University college of medicine, died Tuesday at his home after a brief illness. He was 90.

Dr. Broad, a specialist in gynecology for more than 50 years, was a member of the college faculty from 1897 until 1933. For many years, he served as chief of staff in gynecology at Memorial Hospital.

He was a former member of the medical grievance committee of the Board of Regents, the governing body of education in New York State.

Florida Community Protecting Its Lakes

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The city of Lakeland is taking quick action to protect its namesake—the 11 lakes surrounding the city.

The driest 12-month period in at least 46 years has caused a noticeable drop in water levels of the 11 lakes.

City Manager Robert V. Youkey ordered the City Water Department Wednesday to determine which of the lakes is hardest hit and to start pumping water into them from the city mains. The city gets its water from deep wells.

Psychiatrists, Clergy Unity Urged for Help

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Karl Menninger urges unity between psychiatrists and clergymen, saying their common purpose is to help man.

Menninger, a psychiatrist, spoke Wednesday at a symposium conducted by Yeshiva University's National Institute of Mental Health Project.

When the two do irritate each other, Menninger said, it is usually because either the psychiatrist or clergyman, or both, may "lack humility and aspire to omniscience."

The president of Liberia is elected for an initial term of eight years. After that he may be reelected for further terms of four years each.

Accord Fire District Reelects Commissioner

William Anderson was reelected Tuesday to the five year term of commissioner of the Accord Fire District. He is serving as chairman of the board of fire commissioners and has been a member of the board since 1940.

The district covers about 84 square miles and recently another fire company was formed in the Tobasco School District and is known as Town of Rochester Fire Co. No. 2.

Winston Van Kleeck was one of those who helped organize the new company.

There was a vacancy on the board caused by the death of Charles Freer and Winston Van Kleeck was elected for a four year term to fill the vacancy.

Old Timer's Civil War Notes

By C. A. WINCHELL, Shokan, N. Y.

Town of Woodstock men serving in the Union Army included John E. Mann who was born, 1829, at Jefferson, son of Levi and Lucy Greenwood Mann. Locating in Woodstock at the age of 18, he enlisted in the 16th New York State Heavy Artillery and served in the Army of the Potomac. He returned to Ulster County after being mustered out at Alexandria, Va. He was first married to Rebecca Johnson, Woodstock, and his second wife was Emeline C. Finger of Saugerties. His children were Willard J., Levi and Ernest Mann. The 102nd was recruited in 1863 by Col. Joseph J. Morrison at a number of points including Albany, Troy and Poughkeepsie. Colonel Morrison commanded the regiment whose total death loss during the war was two officers and 326 enlisted men.

One of the many veterans in the lower part of the county in years following the war was John Carlton Merritt, who was born in the village of Marlboro, July 18, 1844, son of Edward A. and Emeline Kniffin Merritt. Enlisting at the age of 18 in the 127th Infantry, he was mustered out at the close of the war in New York City. Veteran Merritt was married Feb. 22, 1881, to Ann E. Hollister of Athens, and their children were May H. and Charles E. Merritt. He served as postmaster under three presidents, was an Odd Fellow and a member of the Grand Army of the Republic. The 127th was organized 1862 on Staten Island by Col. William Gurney who was its commander in actions in Virginia and South Carolina. It was mustered out June 30, 1865 at Charleston, S. C.

March 31, 1864—Since Major Van Rennselaer of our 20th Regiment has been placed in command at the Albany Barracks, desertions have become rare and bounty jumpers are getting their just desserts. A dozen of the latter have been shot, one fatally, in an effort to "run the guard."

Lieutenant Reynolds of General Gilmore's staff was a Marbletown boy and has relatives in Kingston.

March 31, 1864—Hurley is the banner Union Town in the county: not a solitary vote was cast in that good old town against the soldiers voting. No other in the county can boast that. So, 13 cheers for old Hurley!

The citizens of New Paltz assembled at the house of B. D. Smedes, pursuant to a call, Jan. 16, 1864, to consider the best method of raising the town's quota of men under the government's last call for volunteers. The meeting was presided over by Josiah P. Lefever and the secretary was Edmund Elting. It was resolved that county officials be recommended to pay to volunteers from the old 20th Regiment a bounty of $325, and "We hereby pledge the Town of New Paltz for its proportion of an additional $25 to be paid said volunteers."

Wartime marriages around the county included the following: April 16, 1864—At Stone Ridge, Anthony Vandemark to Sarah C. Van Wagenen, both of Kerhonkson. April 20, '64—John A. Baker to Gertrude A. Baker, both Town Rochester. April 21, '64—Simon Baker to Hannah M. Baker, both of Rochester. May 2, '64—Wm. H. Cashdollar, 20th Regiment, to Mary L. Bogardus, both of Woodstock.

March 3, 1864: Our Old Twentieth Regiment left Kingston for the third time since being mustered in that Spring day of 1861. The regiment was recruited up to 700 men. Before leaving, they were presented with a beautiful flag by Albert Kugler, who was with the 20th in its three-months' service. The presentation was made by George T. Pierce and the flag was received by Col. Theodore Gates. The friends of Captain McMahon presented him with a purse of $205 through T. R. Westbrook, for the purpose of procuring a horse for the gallant captain. In reply to the tender and to the loss of a leg at Gettysburg, Captain McMahon replied in the words of Cato, over the body of his son, who had died in the service of his country:

"Thanks to the gods! My boy has done his duty.
Welcome, my son! There set him down, my friends . . .
I should have blushed if Cato's house had stood secure,
And flourished in a civil war."

The Twentieth then took up the line of march for Rondout were our soldiers embarked on the Str. Thomas Cornell for New York from whence they will sail to Annapolis.

March 31, 1964: Our 20th Infantry met with several mishaps after leaving Kingston, March 18, on their way to the front. One soldier, as yet unidentified, is supposed to have drowned just below Newburgh . . . Dubois Vandemark of Kingston was killed in a railroad accident near Brandy Station, Va. His body was brought home and the funeral was held from the local Arsenal. Stephen D. Houghtaling was injured in the same accident . . . William Knapp was shot and killed by a drunken sentinel at Alexandria, Va. His body was sent home and the funeral took place, March 26, at the First Methodist Church in Kingston.

A time of great sorrow in Ulster County. Death had been taking its grim toll of our soldier boys for nearly three years, and the end was not yet.—C.A.W.

Will Let Prisoners See Crime Movies

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The North Carolina Prison Commission has decided its inmates probably won't pick up any more bad habits just by watching crime movies and television.

The commission voted Wednesday to allow prisoners to view movies dealing with crime, and to take away from prison officials the right to censor nighttime TV viewing.

"Were trying to protect these people from something we can't even protect our own families from," said commission member M. B. Davis. "You can't beat Madison Avenue."

well and good. Naturally you don't want to let them get away with a game when you can bid against them.

On the other hand, many tremendous rubbers have been scored when someone gets the bit in his teeth and won't let go, and my strong recommendation is that once the side with the part score opens the bidding against you, don't make an effort to keep the flag flying unless you have the ammunition to back defense. It's important to remember that even though game is saved, you are still going to be faced by the same part score.

South's three-diamond overcall falls into this class of silly defense. His partner has passed originally and South had no reason to believe he could defeat any spade contract at all.

Actually, West would have been able to make six spades, but he was not going to get there. It was too much to know about the good break in hearts and the favorable position of the diamond king behind South's ace.

Of course, North did not have to try four diamonds but he was a gallant defender also. West was delighted to double.

There wasn't any great slaughter. South lost two hearts and a ruff; two spades; a diamond; and a club for a total of 700 points.

But EAST AND WEST STILL HAD PART SCORE.

Why We Say--

NEWSPAPER HEADLINE: This word, which means a violent blow (usually accompanied by snow) comes from the word "blizz". Col. Landon Carter of Virginia, used "blizz" in his diary in 1770, one hundred years later a newspaper editor applied it to the great snowstorm of 1870.

U.N. Handling Challenge to Own Future

U. S. Sees Evidence of Drift By Allies Over Congo Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and its chief European allies may find themselves entrapped in serious disagreement over U.N. operations in the Congo unless some way is found soon to end the conflict in Katanga Province.

Beyond allied considerations, the way the United Nations deals with the Congo situation is a challenge to its own future.

The problem of coordinating attitudes on the Congo problem seems likely to be one of the issues discussed by President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan when they meet in Bermuda Dec. 21-22.

Meanwhile authorities here are somewhat worried over the evidences of drifting apart which have recently become more apparent. The latest sign of differences of approach in London and Washington developed Wednesday in almost simultaneous government announcements.

In London a British government spokesman, discussing the Katanga crisis in Parliament, declared that the United Nations should not impose a political solution in the Congo by force. However, he said that U.N. military units there have the right of self defense.

Opposes Use of Force

In plain language, the British position is that the United Nations has no right to use military forces to compel Katanga President Moise Tshombe to end his secession. The United Nations must rather seek to effect a negotiated solution of his break with the central Congo government at Leopoldville.

In Washington the State Department announced that the U.S. Air Force would make available up to 21 more big transport aircraft to enlarge the American airlift of six transports already ferrying reinforcements for the U.N. military operations around Elisabethville, Tshombe's capital.

Both U.S. and British officials here said there is no basic difference over the policy of Congo unification; both governments support it.

State Department officials said, in fact, that the Western European allies, including Belgium and France, now agree that the only hope for the Congo's future lies in unity and that the split between Tshombe and the central government must somehow be ended.

Officials here say the Kennedy administration would not consider it wise in any case for the United Nations to try to unify the Congo by force. The State Department draws a fine distinction between forceful measures to expel Tshombe's white advisers, which would deprive him of one of his most effective elements of military power, and the use of force for the purpose of uniting Katanga with the Congo.

Washington's positive support for Congo unity is based on several considerations. One is that if Katanga is not put under the power of the central government further secessions of other provinces will follow.

Katanga Wealth Vital

Another is that the wealth of Katanga is necessary to the economic health of the country. A third is that a strong united Congo has far more chance of surviving future Communist efforts to gain influence and power in Central Africa than would a weak and divided country.

Officials here say that the severe outbreaks of fighting around Elizabethville in recent days have tended to highlight the differences in the approach of various allied governments to the Congo problem and that if the fighting can be quickly brought under control these differences may tend to recede into the background. But the greater need, as Washington sees the problem, is for an early end to Tshombe's independence policy.

Material Handling

Mid-Hudson Chapter of American Material Handling Society will meet Friday at the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie. Dinner will be at 6:30 p. m., followed by a plant tour of IBM's new Material Distribution Center at the Poughkeepsie plant.

This meeting is being held in conjunction with Region 1, regional meeting with National officers and Chapter officers of all Region 1 chapters attending.

Price Correction

In a Big Scot advertisement appearing in Wednesday's Freeman the price of king size fiberglass tray table sets on casters should have been $9.87.

Lap Dog, Anyone?

Before you encourage your puppy to sit on your lap or sleep on you bed, consider the size of the grown dog. What is adorable behavior in a tiny ball of fluff can be a discomforting experience if he grows into an 80-pound dog!

Imports Exceed Exports

For the second time in 57 years, imports of steel mill products exceeded exports. According to Department of Commerce figures, 3.4 million tons of steel mill products were imported into the United States in 1960 while 3 million tons were exported.

'Economic Cannibalism'

Celler Raps N.Y., Upstate Bank Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee, denounced today as "economic cannibalism" the holding company proposed by the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., New York City, and six Upstate New York banks.

In testimony prepared for a Federal Reserve Board hearing, Celler said approval of the proposed combine would scotch competition and set off a chain reaction of bank mergers in the state.

He called the trend toward bank mergers and combines calamitous and urged the board to reject "this gigantic reaching out for more and more moneyed power."

The alternative, he said, would be to place every small independent bank in New York State in jeopardy.

Celler was the first scheduled witness at the board's hearing into the application by the seven banks to form the Morgan New York State Corp.—which would be the largest bank holding company in the nation with assets of $6,131,600,000.

These Upstate banks would be parties to the holding company: Lincoln Rochester Trust Co., Manufacturers and Traders Trust Co., Buffalo; the National Commercial Bank and Trust Co. of Albany; First Trust & Deposit Co. Syracuse; the Oneida National Bank and Trust Co. of Central New York, Utica, and the First-City National Bank of Binghamton.

The six Upstate banks said they initiated the holding company idea in an attempt to compete with the Marine Midland Corp., the only bank holding company now operating in New York State.

Gateway Awarded Button Contract For Display Sale

Sometime ago Gateway Industries, Inc., an organization for aiding the handicapped, received a contract from Jewel Tone Button Company to attach buttons to cards for display sale. This project was started with 15 workers, all disabled. Presently as many as 24 people are employed in this work turning out more than 300 gross of buttons each day. It is the plan of Gateway Industries, Inc., to put on more people when larger quarters have been secured.

An envelope stuffing job was completed a short time ago for Busche's, advertised as New York's largest jewelers. Busche's thought so well of the Gateway work that they have promised all their future mail business.

Gateway Industries, Inc., has a department for chair caning, upholstery and carpentry. Caning 10 cents a hole are the holes to be counted. Carpentry and upholstering is priced according to the job. Open to the public for any light work, Gateway Industries, Inc., will do stuffing and addressing of envelopes. They also have items for sale which they feel could make good Christmas items such as aprons, casual pillows 24 by 24 stuffed with foam rubber.

Gateways Industries are open every day from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. to the public and the public is invited to drop in and see the progress which has been made in aiding the handicapped.

To Count Ballots On CC Directors On Next Monday

The ballots for the election of directors of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce will be counted next Monday afternoon.

In making this announcement today, Frank Hoornbeek, chairman of the tellers-of-election, urged that all members, who have not already done so, mark their ballots and return them promptly to the Chamber of Commerce. A self addressed envelope was provided for the purpose.

The tellers-of-election named by President Joseph E. O'Connor are Frank Hoornbeek, chairman; Robert Badian, James Gilpatric, Marvin Millens, Harold Reis, and George Turner.

The 14 nominees for the office of director, as listed on the ballot, are: William Darling, James Fuller, C. A. Henze, Charles Hoppey, Harry Kapreilian, Frank Kolts, Christus Larios, Howard A. Lewis, Dr. Elbert MacFadden Jr., Raymond C. Myers, James E. Norton, Stuart S. Randall, Charles S. Ronder and Joseph D. Scholar Jr. The seven receiving the highest number of votes will be declared elected for a term of three years starting January 1.

Reckless Driving Charge

Bradley A. Wilson, 25, of 24 West O'Reilly Street, a taxi driver, was booked on a reckless driving charge Wednesday night. Police said he was issued a summons following a complaint by a woman. City court hearing today was put over to Dec. 14 and he was released in his own recognizance.

Farmhand Killed

MORAVIA, N. Y. (AP) — Charles Darling, a 60-year-old farmhand, was killed today when a Lehigh Valley freight train struck the tractor he was driving over a rural crossing about two miles south of this Cayuga County community.

Nikita Declares U. S. Holds Key To Quiet World

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev, speaking in tones of mingled gaiety and gravity, told the U. S. ambassador Dec. 6 that it was the Americans who were roiling the international waters and they could calm them when they wish.

The statement was made in an exchange at a reception given by Finnish Ambassador Euro Wuori to celebrate 44 years of Finnish freedom.

The Soviet leader was in excellent spirits when he came upon Ambassador Llewellyn R. Thompson Jr., in the crowd at the Finnish Embassy. Khrushchev's appearance there was something of an exception. He rarely attends such receptions these days.

It was also a mark of distinction for the Finns since he left a Supreme Soviet session to come to the party.

Thompson suggested that he would like a few days rest and asked if the premier would keep things quiet awhile.

"It is not ourselves who are roiling the waters," Khrushchev said in a tone half-serious, half-banter, rubbing the back of his hands against Thompson's shirt front. "You are the ones stirring things up."

Then he added: "You can quiet them when you want."

$300,000 Suit Continues Here About Auto Death

Continued today in Supreme Court before Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth and a jury was the $300,000 automobile negligence action brought by Ruth Consolini of Ellenville against Susan Palermo, Robert Cesaro and Donald Ackert, an action to recover for the death of Arthur L. Consolini who was fatally injured in an automobile accident on August 10, 1958.

The accident, involving the cars of Susan Palermo, operated by Robert Cesaro, and the car of Donald Ackert, took place on Williams Road, Town of Milan in Columbia Coounty.

Louis Berger with Abraham Streifer as trail counsel, appears for plaintiff and John J. Mulvey of Poughkeepsie and Andrew J. Cook appear for defendants.

MEETS WITH TRAFFIC TROUBLE—This heavy unit, which is to be part of the kiln system at the Nytralite Aggregate Inc. plant in the Eddyville area, shown here being hoisted from a flat car, met with trouble as it was trucked along Greenkill Avenue Wednesday. It is to be installed as a cooler section. Police were notified at 4:10 p. m. that the truck broke down, and soon after that a traffic tieup was reported at Greenkill and Wilbur Avenues. Officers Richard Dempsey and Sheldon O'Rourke were dispatched there. Workmen were reported active through the night clearing the area and the unit was hauled to the plant late this morning. Four other kiln sections were shipped here by barge recently. All units were hauled to the plant by Kingston Crane Service, Inc. (Freeman photo).

Judge Indicted In Bankrupt Fix

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted New York Supreme Court Justice James Vincent Keogh of Brooklyn on a charge of conspiring to "fix" a fraudulent bankruptcy case.

Also indicted were Elliott Kehaner, 36, a former assistant U.S. attorney in Brooklyn, now in private practice, and three other men.

They are Sanford J. Moore, 44, of East Rockaway, N. Y., a juke box company operator and former New York City policeman; Antonio Corallo, 41, of Flushing, Queens, a former Teamsters Union official; and Dr. Robert Erdman, 43, of Riverdale, the Bronx.

Keogh, 56, is a brother of Rep. Eugene J. Keogh, D-N.Y. Congressman Keough was not involved in the case.

The defendants were accused of trying to fix a case in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn for $35,000.

The indictment climaxed a months-long grand jury investigation ordered by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy when reports of a "fix" plot reached him last April.

Kennedy assigned William G. Hundley, a special assistant to conduct the probe and gave orders to "let the chips fall where they may."

Powell Appoints Young Attorney To Bridges' Job

CONCORD, N. H. (AP)—Gov. Wesley Powell today named a young conservative Republican to succeed the late Sen. Styles Bridges, who died at the age of 63.

In naming Attorney General Maurice J. Murphy, 34, to the post, the governor said he wanted someone who shared the late senator's philosophy of government.

Bridges was known as a conservative and a spokesman for that wing of the Republican party in Washington.

Murphy, a Portsmouth attorney, only recently became state attorney general. He was named by Powell, a Republican, to serve a one-year interim appointment until the next state election in 1962.

Will Illuminate Marbletown Tree On December 17

The lights on the memorial Christmas tree of Marbletown Community Project will be turned on officially Sunday, Dec. 17 at 5:30 p. m. during a dedication ceremony at Stone Ridge Bank.

The tree lighting ceremony will be held following a Christmas program which will include the arrival of Santa Claus. The open party for children and adults will be held at Marbletown American Legion Home, opposite the bank building.

Those wishing to purchase a memorial bulb in memory of a loved one, may make arrangements at Elmendorfs of Hy-Way Pharmacy, or may contact the Marbletown Community Project by mail at Stone Ridge.

The committee includes Kenneth E. Osterhoudt, Virginia L. Miller, John O. Nilsen, and Melvin E. Lockwood.

Osterhoudt wished to emphasize that the date of the event was changed from Saturday to Sunday.

THE MIGHTY ENTERPRISE TAKES TO SEA

CARRIER COMMAND POST—Bristling with odd-looking electronic gear, the bridge of the USS Enterprise is as modern as the vessel it controls. The 85,000-ton, nuclear-powered floating airfield is the largest warship ever built. Her 90 planes can deliver more destruction than all the bombs dropped by all the combat planes in World War II.

QUEEN OF THE SEA—Slicing through Atlantic waters off Newport News, Va., the USS Enterprise presents an imposing appearance. The ship's angled landing deck is seen in the rear. Slots near the bow house the take-off catapults.

Po'keepsie Woman Dies of Injuries Suffered in Leap

A 29-year-old Poughkeepsie woman died today at 2:10 a. m. at Vassar Hospital of injuries suffered Tuesday afternoon when she leaped from an automobile on Route 22 near the Birch Hill Game Farm, Town of Patterson, Putnam County.

A spokesman at the hospital told The Freeman Mrs. Catherine Gohl, 205 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, died of massive hemorrhages internally and fractured ribs.

Brewster state police said the woman was riding in a car operated by her husband, John Gohl, 29, of 57 Garden Street, Poughkeepsie, when she leaped from the moving vehicle. She was taken to the hospital in the Patterson Fire Department ambulance.

Troopers said Gohl was taking his wife to Meriden, Conn. to visit her sister. Mrs. Gohl formerly was employed as a presser in a Poughkeepsie laundry.

Dutchess Couple Fined, Jailed in Gambling Inquiry

A Beacon man and his wife were sentenced to three months in the Dutchess County jail and fined $250 each Tuesday, when they appeared before County Judge John R. Schwartz for sentencing on gambling convictions.

The defendants were Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Jones, 30 Beekman Street, Beacon. Both previously pleaded guilty.

Judge Schwartz adjourned until Friday sentencing Frank Romano, 52, Beacon resident and former professional boxer and referee, and Wilford Green, 36, Beacon, who was indicted in one of four indictments against Romano.

Also scheduled for sentencing on Friday is Albert Tomasi, 40, Old Hopewell Road, Town of Wappinger. He was found guilty by a County Court jury on three misdemeanor gambling charges.

Judge Schwartz suspended additional six month jail terms on Hubert Jones, 48, who was jointly accused with his wife in one indictment and Lilliemae Jones, 36, who was named in four indictments. They were accused of possessing policy slips, operating a place of policy and being common gamblers.

Two Are Injured At Walker Valley Fighting Blaze

Two men were injured while fighting a fire near Walker Valley Wednesday evening. Shortly after 6:30 p. m. fire was discovered in the house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Myron Frank some 3 miles north of Pine Bush.

One of those who was hospitalized at the Middletown Hospital for smoke poisoning was the occupant of the house Mr. Frank. The other was Allan Greer, nephew of Fire Chief Greg Greer of the Walker Valley Fire Company. Greer was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, and treated for severed tendons of his hand.

The 2½ story house was a wreck before the flames were brought under control by the combined efforts of Walker Valley, Pine Bush and Shawangunk Valley Fire Company firemen.

Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Spike-Horn Doe Has Long Islander Puzzled

Robert Terry of Babylon, L. I., was faced with a problem Thanksgiving Day while deer hunting in the Margaretville area. Seeing a deer with 7-inch spike horns, Terry fired only to find he had shot a doe. Spike-horn does are not unheard of but Terry had never heard of one. He summoned a game warden and was told the law provides for taking deer with horns, sex not being mentioned. Told to affix his "buck" tags to the deer he did so and yesterday took his deer back to Long Island.

In the party with Terry were several other hunters, the party getting six deer. The big spiked doe attracted a great deal of attention yesterday when Terry stopped at a gas station on Onteora Trail en route to his home. Terry, a native Kentuckian, has a place at Margaretville and has hunted in that area for several years.

B'nai B'rith Group Hears Doctor; Plans For December Made

On Wednesday, Nov. 29 the Kingston Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women met in the Ahavath Israel Hall. Guest speaker for the evening was Dr. Alice Rost, psychiatrist and neurologist. The text of her speech included interesting and thought-provoking information concerning emotional adjustment during menopause. Dr. Rost's services were obtained through the Ulster County Mental Health Association.

After a question and answer period conducted by Dr. Rost, a short business meeting was held. Mrs. Max Goldberg presided. Members were reminded to save old eyeglass frames for the "Eyes for the Needy" project. The organization received a letter of thanks for the frames already donated and Mrs. Max Millens, chairman of the program, expressed a desire to continue this service. Mrs. Jack Kahn announced that the group was co-operating with the Veterans of Foreign Wars in New Paltz in collecting new toys for holiday gifts to foster children in Ulster County. Any member wishing to donate a toy for a boy or girl from one to sixteen years of age, should contact Mrs. Kahn immediately.

Mrs. Carl Lipton announced that B'nai B'rith Women will be preparing and serving the refreshments for a Christmas party given by the Tuberculosis and Health Association for patients on December 28. Members who can assist in preparing the refreshments on December 27 or in serving on December 28 should contact Mrs. Lipton.

Mrs. Stanley Kohnberg and Mrs. Merrill Stone were thanked for acting as hostesses for the Halloween party the organization sponsored for the Wassaic Colony. Mrs. Herbert Powell told about the birthday gifts B'nai B'rith Women present to the patients of the Ulster County Infirmary.

In recognition of their service to the Chapter, District One of B'nai B'rith, honored Mrs. Irving Alcon and Mrs. Morton Levine for their tireless work as financial secretary and treasurer of the Kingston Chapter. Mrs. Jacob Rubenstein gave a short educational address on "How to Read the Bible."

The next meeting of the organization will take place Wednesday, Dec. 27.

The highest honor that any Calypso singer or composed can attain is to have his song chosen as the "road-march" for the pre-Lenten Carnival in Trinidad.

Christmas Musical Will Be Given by Student Nurses Here

"Toyland Fantasy," a Christmas musical variety show by the students of the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing, will be presented in St. Mary's School auditorium, Broadway, this city, on Wednesday, Dec. 20 at 8 p. m. Sister Gabrielle, an instructor at the Benedictine, is assisted in directing the production by Mr. and Mrs. William Galbraith of Poughkeepsie.

Sister M. Callista, director of the school, announced that the original schedule for the musical's presentation in the residence auditorium has been changed so that more persons will be able to see the performance. The revised program will also allow a longer period for the students to enjoy their Christmas party.

Tickets may be purchased from students and will be available at the door.

The Mothers' Club will entertain the student nurses at a gala Christmas party on Thursday, Dec. 29 at 8 p. m. The event will be held in the Nurses Residence auditorium. Parents of the students are invited.

NEGLECTED THANK YOU NOTES

Q—My son was married two months ago and since then has returned to his Army base. His bride is living with her mother until he is released from duty. So far she has not written thank you notes for wedding presents. This is most embarrasing to me as many of my friends have been asking whether or not she received their gifts. She is a very nice person but I'm afraid is not too well versed in the proper thing to do. Will you please tell me how I can get her to write these notes without seeming critical and hurting her feelings?

A—It would be a mistake for you, her mother-in-law, to say anything to her about this, but you could write to your son and tell him that some friends have been asking whether or not their wedding presents were received and ask him to please ask his bride to write thank you notes as quickly as possible.

New Date on Unused Invitations

Q — A young couple had planned to be married the middle of last month and their invitations were ready to be mailed when the bridegroom had an accident that sent him to the hospital. The wedding had to be postponed. Now they're ready to be married and wondered if they could write in the new date on the original invitations.

A—If done neatly, it would not be impossible. After all, a majority will be going to their families and friends who, knowing the circumstances, will surely understand.

Choosing Flat Silver

Q—I cannot afford to buy both the medium-sized and dinner-sized knives and forks and wonder which you would suggest as being more useful until I can have both.

A—Those of medium size would be more useful since they can perfectly well be used for the meat course, whereas the big ones are overlarge for other courses.

Ahavath Israel Will Have Hanukkah Party for Children

On Sunday, Dec. 10 at 2 p. m., Congregation Ahavath Israel will sponsor a Children's Hanukkah party in cooperation with Sisterhood Ahavath Israel. Children of Congregants and Sisterhood members are invited.

Harry Fertel, president of the Congregation is in charge of the party and Mrs. Jacob Rubenstein will preside. The Mmes. George Braunstein, Stanley Kohnberg, George Muller, Arthur Schiff, Seymour Semilof; and Merrill Stone are serving on the committee.

Children seven years old and younger will assemble in the vestry hall, where Mrs. Max Goldberg and Mrs. Merrill Stone will lead them in games and stories. The older group, meeting in the Synagogue, will have a program conducted by Mrs. Arnold Pinsly and Mrs. Seymour Semilof. The two groups will then convene to witness the traditional candlelighting ceremony by Jacob Rubenstein and sing Hanukkah songs lead by Mrs. Joseph Colin. Refreshments will be service and each child will be given a favor.

Girl Scout News

St. Mary's

St. Mary's Girl Scouts and Brownies are sponsoring a fair on Saturday in St. Mary's school hall. The hours will be from 2 to 9 p. m. A variety of Christmas suggestions will be on display and gifts may be purchased. The public is invited.

Newman Club Will Sponsor Friday Night Socials Here

Newman Club of Kingston High School has announced the opening of an entirely new program for the school year. The Knights of Columbus have granted use of their building to the high school students of the area for a social. This will include not only dancing to records but also a game room and a television room. Plans are being made to obtain a juke box and pool table along with some other similar games.

It is planned to run several pool, table tennis, checker tournaments during the year. Plans are also in the making for several excursions to New York plays, basketball games and possibly the Ice Capades.

The Aquinas Club is in charge of running the program which will be held every Friday from 7:30 to 11 p. m., (11:30 on nights of home games for KHS), beginning this Friday. All are welcome.

Bicycle Racing

Schools such as Yale, University of Connecticut, Princeton, Dartmouth, Providence College, Williams and the City College of New York have bicycle racing on a club basis.

Sons of Norway Plan Yule Party

The annual Christmas party for members and their children of Hudson Valley Lodge of the Sons of Norway will be held Sunday, Dec. 10, beginning at 3 p. m. at the Elks Hall. Parents are to bring gifts for their children and a covered dish for the supper portion of the party. Donations of cookies are being accepted also, to be used as Christmas gifts to shut-ins in local institutions.

Officers of the lodge will meet briefly to take care of monthly business since the Sunday gathering will take the place of the regular meeting of Saturday, Dec. 9. The next regular meeting will be January 13, at which the installation of new officers will take place.

TB Group Sends Newkirk Thanks For Seals Help

"Thank you—Mr. Postmaster," has been warmly expressed by the Ulster County TB and Health Association for a helping hand in various aspects of the current Christmas Seals Campaign.

In a letter to Oscar V. Newkirk, Miss Hazel M. Steed, the executive director of the Ulster County TB and Health Association said, "We want to say thank you for the expeditious handling of over 30,000 pieces of mail with Christmas Seals enclosed, and the safeguards provided for mail being returned to us with contributions."

In addition, postal authorities have authorized the display of "Shop and Mail Early — Fight TB with Christmas Seals" posters on mail trucks and in post office lobbies throughout the country.

The Association's Christmas Seals Campaign Chairman, Robert S. Russell, said today, "The generous public response since the opening of the campaign, Nov. 13, is most encouraging and I feel sure it indicates that this 1961 campaign will be a success."

The smallest piece of territory under the U. S. flag is Kingman Reef, about 1,000 miles south of Hawaii. It is 150 feet long and 120 feet wide at high tide.

IN WOODSTOCK SHOW TONIGHT—Members of St. John's parish Choir of Woodstock, West Hurley and West Shokan, will give a variety show tonight at 8:30 in Town Hall, Woodstock. Con-Ed Reactor Plan Before AEC

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Atomic Energy Commission holds a hearing today on a request by the Consolidated Edison Co. for a provisional license to operate its Indian Point, N.Y., atomic reactor.

The license would permit initial loading of fuel—uranium 235 and thorium—and test operations. The reactor could be operated under the 18-month license at its full rated power of 585 thermal megawatts.

The reactor, near Peekskill, will produce 255,000 kilowatts when in full operation.

Both the commission's Division of Licensing and Regulation and its advisory committee on reactor safeguards have said the reactor can be operated without undue danger to public health and safety.

Markings From 27 Stolen Machines Under MVB Check

BABYLON, N.Y. (AP) — Motor vehicle bureaus throughout the state are on the watch for certain code markings that would show registrations to be from the 27 validating machines stolen Monday night from the vehicle bureau here.

State officials expressed the belief Wednesday that the code markings, which the machines imprint on the paper, would be detected by motor vehicle employes.

They also said a new state system of issuing licenses was expected to deter preparation of false licenses with the machines.

Nineteen of the stolen machines were for registrations and eight for operators' licenses.

Officials originally expressed fear the theft would lead to wholesale issuance of false registrations, with the most fertile field being stolen cars bearing valid license plates obtained by the owners.

Since the thieves took no plates from the office here, false registration would be useless for a plateless vehicle, they added, unless plates were stolen elsewhere or old ones artistically painted.

The stamp also may be used on operators' licenses, but the state's new punch-card system of issuing licenses lessens that possibility greatly, a Motor Vehicle Department official pointed out.

In the wake of the Babylon theft, a spokesman for the Motor Vehicle Department said in Albany motorists probably would have punch-card registrations for their vehicles in the near future.

He said it might be a year or two, or more, before the system could be set up. The system presumably would make falsifying registrations more difficult.

CIA Chief's Wife Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John Alex McCone, 53, wife of the new director of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, died Wednesday of a heart ailment. She came to Washington Sunday from the McCone home in San Marino, Calif. She was a native of Nez Perce, Idaho.

For 924-Day Season

State Racing Tax Hits A Record 98 Million

New York State's horse racing revenue in 1961 from three flat tracks and eight harness tracks reached a record of $98,510,444, for the 924-day season — an increase of 2 million over 1960.

In annoucing the revenue yield from the 1961 racing season, State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy said today that the season also had set records in attendance and in several other categories.

The 1961 revenue total includes $95,322,729.68 from the tax on pari-mutuel betting; $2,562,836.84 from the tax on track admissions; $407,877.75 from uncashed winning tickets of the 1960 season, and $217,000 in franchise fees from the New New York Racing Association.

State revenue receipts from all racing sources this year reached $98,510,444.27 compared with last year's 909-day previous record high of $96,556,493.07.

Total handle of bets at the three flat tracks this year reached $544,251,460 in 221 days of racing as against the previous record high of $531,528,210 in 219 days of racing last year.

The pari-mutuel tax at the flat tracks (10% of the handle at New York City tracks and 9% at Saratoga) amounted to $56,173,021.62 this year compared with the prior record high $54,974,770.91 in 1960.

Trotting Tracks Up

The betting at trot tracks in 703 racing days this year reached $516,790,071 compared with the previous record of $505,663,411 in 690 racing days at the harness plants last year.

State pari-mutuel revenue at the harness tracks also soared to a new record high fo $39,149,708.06 as against the previous high of $38,268,672.94 a year ago.

The combined total of bets at both flat and harness tracks touched the new high point of $1,061,041,531 in 924 racing days compared with the previous high, last year, $1,037,191,621 in 909 racing days.

New attendance records were also established. This year's total at all tracks was 13,611,336 as against the previous high, last year, of 13,355,529. Harness track attendance in 1961 was 7,491,639 compared with last year's 7,380,263. Flat track attendance this year hit 6,119,697. Last year, it was 5,975,266.

With the addition of the 1961 racing revenue, the cumulative total collected in State racing revenue in 22 years of legalized pari-mutuel betting has now reached $1,015,696,281.91. This does not include license and franchise fees collected by racing commissions.

In the same 22 years, racing fans bet an astronomical $12,401,951,631 through pari-mutuel machines at New York State tracks.

Lucas' Injury Jolts Buckeyes

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just how effective Ohio State's basketball forces are without its top marksman, Jerry Lucas, or possibly with a sub-par Lucas in the lineup, may be determined this weekend when the first-ranked Buckeyes face Wichita and Wake Forest.

Lucas availability was in doubt today after Ohio State had polished off Pittsburgh 99-97 Wednesday night. The two-time All-America, hobbled by knee trouble, scored 23 points—18 in the second half—as the Big Ten champions won their second straight game.

In the dressing room after the game Lucas said: "It's my knees again. They were worse than they've ever been. They are swollen and inflamed. I don't know if I'll be playing this weekend. I'll have to talk to the trainer."

Ohio State entertains Wichita Friday night and visits Wake Forest Saturday. Wake Forest was rated No. 3 in the pre-season Associated Press poll. Wichita has won four in a row.

Only two other top ten teams saw action Wednesday night and both posted victories. Fifth-ranked Providence turned back Boston College 77-73 and St. John's, No. 9, whipped George Washington 79-65. Well-regarded Utah drubbed Western Texas State 96-61.

Bob Dillman's 26 Pace New Paltz

Hunter College's altitudinous front line overpowered State University College, 86 to 69, on Wednesday at the Hawks' gym in New Paltz.

Mike Rosen, a 6 foot 9 inch behemoth, powered the New Yorkers with 30 points.

Out of the running after the first few minutes of action, Coach Doug Sheppard's cagers trailed 41-21 at halftime.

Junior Bob Dillman of Queens Village staged a superb one-man show against the visitors with 26 points, but the superior all-round strength of the metropolitan squad dominated the action.

Dillman hit with 9 fields and 8 free throws. Eddy Szymanski, the West Babylon junior, and Mike Hazelton, Copiague sophomore, each contributed 15 points to the New Paltz attack.

Rosen pumped 11 fields and added 8 free throws. Other Hunter players in double figures were the 6 foot 3 forwards—Mayerson with 11 and Prince with 14—and Brennan with 17.

New Paltz hosts Geneseo State Friday night.

Rival Athletic Groups Seeking Middle Ground

WASHINGTON (AP) — Colleges and the Amateur Athletic Union studied today a plan to compromise their dispute over control of U.S. basketball.

The proposal by Louis G. Wilke of Bartlesville, Okla., sets up a delicate power balance between the AAU and the National Collegiate Athletic Association. It also provides representation for other groups interested in amateur basketball.

All groups present at Wednesday's meeting here will report their views on the proposal to Wilke before Dec. 27. Wilke, vice president of the Federation of International Basketball Associations (FIBA), was chosen by FIBA to mediate the dispute.

When he gets the reaction of the various groups to his proposal, Wilke will decide whether a solution is possible or whether the dispute should be tossed back into the lap of the international group for settlement.

In Rome last year, the NCAA-led college group petitioned FIBA for recognition of a new federation which would divide among several groups the international representation now held by the AAU.

Wilke's plan calls for a national amateur basketball council similar to the federation proposed by the NCAA.

Both groups were cautious in their comments, but AAU officials called it "a step in the right direction."

Council membership, as proposed by Wilke, would include the AAU, NCAA, National Association for Intercollegiate Athletics, YMCA, National Jewish Welfare Board, National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, the Catholic Youth Organization, Junior College Federation and the Armed Services.

Costello Tops East, 125 to 82

The big guns wheeled into action in the city pocket billiard championships last night, with last year's runnerup, Bill Costello, overpowering youthful Don East, 125 to 82.

Costello had an unfinished run of 20. East, who had a high cluster of 13, played a good game and stayed on even terms with Costello until the late stages of the match.

Guinea Pig Role Disturbs Davis

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Ernie Davis says he's not interested in becoming a guinea pig in a professional football racial dispute.

"I wish they would quit bringing up this race stuff," the Syracuse University halfback said today. "I don't want to be another Jackie Robinson. I just want to play football, and I'll go where I can get the best offer."

The 210-pound Davis Wednesday night became the first Negro in 27 years to receive the Heisman Trophy as the best college player of the year.

Now he finds himself the pawn in a giant tug-of-war between the National and American Football Leagues on the one hand and the government and George Marshall's Washington Redskins on the other.

Davis was the first pick of the Redskins after Marshall, whose teams have been picketed by racial groups, was given a stiff warning by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall. Marshall was told he must hire a Negro player to prove himself innocent of discriminatory practices.

The Redskins are the only NFL team that has never had a Negro player.

The Syracuse halfback also was drafted by the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League. He says he has been contacted also by several Canadian teams, with Calgary making a particularly good offer.

On top of this, Harry Wismer, owner of the New York Titans, insists that he will make every effort to get the rights to Davis from Buffalo and will pay Ernie $100,000 for three years, plus a $25,000 bonus.

Asked about the different offers, Davis was noncommittal but said he was interested.

Marion Sanford Rolls 605 in Saugerties Loop

Marion Sanford, the Saugerties ace, rolled her third 600 triple of the season this week in the Monday Mixer at Riccardi's Recreation Center in Saugerties.

Mrs. Sanford, a 15-year veteran, put together games of 197 162 and 246 for the big blast.

She had rolled the first 600 triple of her career on Oct. 27 with a 602 set at Saugerties on games of 187, 183 and 232.

On Nov. 16, Mrs. Sanford achieved her career high of 627 with games of 182, 193 and 252.

Hayes Mercury, Balotin Score YMCA Basketball League Wins

Tom Fiore meshed 27 points, as Hayes Mercury overpowered Rondout Valley, 64-36, in Wednesday night's YMCA League basketball action.

In a companion game, Baliton's staged a strong second half to topple Accord, 47-37, in a rugged defensive duel.

Fiore picked up all but one of his points from the field. Richie Amato added 14 and George Uhl 11. Hayes led 26-14 at halftime. Tyrone Franklin's 15 points paced Rondout Valley.

Baliton's outscored Accord, 31-21, after the recess, with Joe Dallao's 19 points furnishing the spark. Robert Edelman helped with 12. Ron Roby, the WGHQ sportscaster, paced Accord with 14 points.

Party Permit Reports Due On December 15

Albert G. Hall, Chief of the Bureau of Game in the State Conservation Department, today reminded "party permit" deer hunters that if they failed either to use their permit or to take a deer, they must so advise the Department by December 15. The big-game season closed December 5.

Under the permit system, a party of four hunters was allowed a bonus deer of either sex in addition to the one-buck-per-hunter allowed under the regular big-game license. This year, more than 33,000 permits were issued for use in six designated areas throughout the Adirondacks, Catskills and Southern Tier where additional harvesting of deer herds was necessary, Mr. Hall said.

Party permit deer should be reported only once, he stated, by using the special form included with the permit—not the bear reporting card.

Hunters who failed to take a bear during the past season should hold on to the "bear report card," because they will need it to obtain a new license in 1962, Mr. Hall said.

Under State law, even deer and bear that were checked at Conservation Department check stations must be properly reported within ten days of the date the game was taken. Both antlered and party permit deer must also be tagged in accordance with Department regulations.

McCreary Hikes Indians Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Springfield Indians have opened a little daylight in the Eastern Division of the American Hockey League today, thanks to the firing of left winger Bill McCreary.

The Indians pushed their first place lead to three points over idle Hershey Wednesday night with a two-goal third period burst that beat the Cleveland Barons 4-2. McCreary, who had scored Springfield's first goal, got the tie-breaker at 1:09 of the last period on an assist from Bill Sweeny. Then Bob McCord put it away with the Indians' fourth goal seven minutes later.

Providence, scoring three goals in the last period, defeated Buffalo 5-3 in the other AHL game Wednesday night and moved to within six points of runner-up Hershey in the East.

Murray Hicks had given Buffalo a 3-1 lead in the second period by scoring twice within 45 seconds but the Bisons could not hold the advantage. Serge Boudreault scored later in the second period, and Stan Baluik, George Ranieri and Jimmy Barlett rifled in goals in the third period for the Providence victory.

Baylor Passes Will Be Answer To Utah's Beef

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Baylor Bear knows it must feast on beef to beat Utah State in the inaugural Gotham Bowl game at the Polo Grounds Saturday.

Coach John Bridgers thinks the Bears' pro-type offense may be just the answer.

"I know," the Baylor coach said after he led his 48-man squad into New York from Waco, Tex., Wednesday night and was reminded that unbeaten Utah State will outweigh the Bears by about 20 pounds a man. Included in the Utah beef-trust are three linemen, Merlin Olsen, Clark Miller and Clyde Brock — each of whom goes 250 or better up to Olsen's 275.

"But we like to pass a lot," Bridgers added, "and we aren't afraid to throw from anywhere on the field. We're kind of hoping that our passing will open them up a bit."

The Bears, although they had only a 5-5 season record to Utah State's 9-0-1, were able to beat Pitt and Texas Christian, both of whom have plenty of bulk, especially in the line, year after year.

Both clubs scheduled workouts today, cheered by the announcement that the game would be televised nationally by ABC—starting at 1:15 p.m., (Eastern Standard Time). Baylor and Utah had accepted invitations on the basis of an equal split of 75 per cent of the gross gate, including any TV or radio money. The television contract reportedly calls for about $100,000.

Chicago Majors Like Twin Bills

What the Chicago Majors need to get into first place in the American Basketball League's Eastern Division is more doubleheaders like the one at Chicago Wednesday night.

When the doubleheader started, the Majors — in third place — trailed second-place Pittsburgh by 1½ games and first-place Cleveland by three. A few hours later, they had gained a full game on each club.

Los Angeles, runnerup team in the Western Division, opened with a 104-93 victory over Pittsburgh as Bill Spivey scored 24 points. Then the Majors whipped Cleveland for the second straight night, 101-93, Herschell Turner scoring 22 points, Govoner Vaughn 19 and Kelly Coleman 18.

Upstate Powers Split Contests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Niagara and Canisius, two of the basketball powers of Western New York, split in games against out-of-state opponents.

Niagara walloped visiting Villa Madonna 88-61 Wednesday night, but Canisius bowed to Bowling Green's Falcons, 74-66, at Bowling Green, Ohio.

In other games involving Upstate New York colleges, St. Lawrence trounced Ithaca, 70-53, Cortaland trimmed LeMoyne, 53-45, and Vermont whipped Union, 72-46.

At Niagara Falls, Niagara sprinted to an early lead and easily handled Villa Madonna. A total of 15 Niagara players saw action as the Purple Eagles won their second victory of the season.

Bowling Green had little trouble with Canisius, running up a 21-point lead and letting reserves take over. Canisius' Bill O'Connor was the high point man of the game with 23.

Avalanche of Goals Pleases Hawk Skipper

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's nothing like a deluge of goals to make a coach happy, so you couldn't blame Coach Rudy Pilous of the Chicago Black Hawks for feeling chipper today.

The Hawks, defending Stanley Cup champions, went on a scoring spree Wednesday night and whipped the New York Rangers 8-3 in the only National Hockey League game played.

Limited to only six goals in the previous three losses and a tie with New York, the Hawks accumulated their highest goal output of the season. The eight goals also was the second highest of the season, Toronto scoring nine times against Boston earlier.

SCHOLASTIC CORNER

By ED PALLADINO

The announcement last week that the Arlington School Board of Education took steps toward mending a 23-year break in athletic relations with Poughkeepsie High School by giving the go-ahead to the Junior High School to meet Poughkeepsie on the court this season, is certainly a step in the right direction. However, a statement by Arlington Superintendent of Schools Harold C. Storm leaves us wondering.

He told the board he did not believe Arlington should compete with Poughkeepsie in varsity football on a year in and year out basis because there's a difference of 400 senior high school students and he claims there are just so many rugged boys in each hundred.

PURE HOGWASH

If that were the case then Highland and Saugerties, which have the smallest enrollments in the DCSL, should just drop from the circuit. The same should go for Port Jervis in the DUSO League. Yet, these schools play the bigger institutions each year and hold their own with them. Why, then, shouldn't Arlington do the same to Poughkeepsie?

Superintendent Storm doesn't hesitate to have Arlington play the likes of Saugerties, Highland, Beacon and Cardinal Farley in football. These are all smaller than Arlington. Roosevelt isn't as big as Arlington and Wappingers is just about the same size.

LOOK AT THE FIGURES

Actually, the figures for the top four grades at Poughkeepsie and Arlington are closer than one might think. They are both classified as "A" schools with Poughkeepsie having about 700 boys and Arlington showing about 400.

In that same Dutchess County Scholastic League, (and these are last year's figures), Wappingers was listed as having 353 boys, Roosevelt 238, Cardinal Farley 222, Saugerties 194, Beacon 173 and Highland 131. They are all smaller than Arlington and yet play that team in all sports.

We think that if Arlington and Poughkeepsie decide to resume relations (and there's no reason why they shouldn't), the schools should play each other in all the major sports. After all, Arlington is still a growing school and promises to be as big as, if not bigger than Poughkeepsie before long.

NEWBURGH, ROOSEVELT AND WALLKILL

Those schools are our selections to win basketball championships this season.

Newburgh is selected over Kingston in the DUSO with the rest of the order being Poughkeepsie, Middletown, Liberty, Port Jervis and Monticello. The Goldies of Joe Gaspard have four returning regulars and a couple of reserves back for another shot. They lost only four games last season.

Kingston has lost Joe Uhl, Vince Smedes and Al Brown. Coach John Gilligan has to find replacements for that trio. With two returning regulars and a valuable reserve returning, the Maroon team figures to make trouble and may beat the other clubs out for second.

AN OUTSTANDING PLAYER

Roosevelt is loaded in the DCSL and should nip Wappingers Falls for the crown. Wes Bialosuknia is the best player in the circuit and he's only a junior. Saugerties will be defending the title but Bud Smith has a rebuilding job. The Sawyers are tabbed for third, followed by Beacon, Arlington and Cardinal Farley.

Wallkill figures to nip New Paltz for the UCAL crown with Marlboro, Rondout Valley, Onteora, Pine Bush and Highland following. Eddie Mooney is the big boy for Jack Higgins but he will have plenty of help.

Early indications are that the schoolboys will have another banner basketball season. This should make those controlling the purse strings happy because it means bigger crowds and a larger revenue.

Moore Admits He Pulled Out Of Bout With Bob Cleroux

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Archie Moore said, in effect, Wednesday night that he pulled out a scheduled bout with Canadian heavyweight champion Bob Cleroux earlier this week because the promoter wanted him to fight for less than his $50,000 guarantee.

The Moore-Cleroux fight, canceled suddenly about 12 hours before ring time Tuesday in Montreal, has resulted in the indefinite suspension of promoter Eddie Quinn and steps for a full scale investigation of the reasons behind the cancellation.

Quinn announced he did it because "the box office was sick." He had lost $25,000 and stood to lose much more if the figh was held. Cleroux's co-manager, Al Bachman, had charged that Moore ran out in the fight.

Ol' Arch, whose portion of the world light heavyweight title was not at stake, as much as admitted he was behind the cancellation last night during a stopover here.

"The fight did not come off when they started to barter to reduce my guarantee of a $50,000 appearance fee," Moore told a reporter. "I conferred with my wife and she said, 'No, make them live up to the terms of the contract.'" Quinn was not available for comment immediately.

Seeks Later Date

Archie also said he was returning to Canada to explore possibilities for rescheduling the bout at a later date, or "possibly sue somebody." He did not elaborate on the possible suit.

After the cancellation, the Montreal Athletic Commission suspended Quinn indefinitely and threatened also to suspend his wrestling promoter's license. This threat was lifted Wednesday when the commission said Quinn had complied with certain requirements.

Quinn has been a boxing and wrestling promoter for 22 years and was involved in the promotion of Moore's title fights a few years ago with Canada's Yvon Durelle.

He blamed the poor box office of the scheduled Moore-Cleroux fight on the big sports program in Canada last weekend that included a key hockey game, the Canadian pro football championship game, the Grey Cup ; and the Patterson McNeeley heavyweight title bout in Toronto.

Baylor On Spree

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Monday night, Elgin Baylor—on a six-week reprieve from Army duty while he appeals his recall—scored 50 points and led the Los Angeles Lakers to a 131-120 victory over Syracuse.

Tuesday night, Baylor scored 45 points, 10 in a row at a late stage, and the Lakers whipped the Nats 125-120.

Wednesday night, at Los Angeles, the Lakers beat Syracuse in overtime, 123-121. Baylor scored 47 points, including 7 of his team's 10 points in the overtime period.

The three-game streak has helped the Lakers build their NBA Western Division lead to 5½ games over runnerup Cincinnati, which lost 103-102 to the Eastern rout-makers, the Boston Celtics, Wednesday night.

In other games, St. Louis, with Bob Pettit scoring 51 points and newly-acquired Vern Hatton providing backcourt help, beat Philadelphia 137-132 and Detroit crushed New York, 133-97.

The Celtics blew most of a 21-point lead before beating the Royals, who outscored Boston 27-13 in a just-miss fourth quarter.

Rookie Johnny Egan, former Providence star, provided Detroit's spark — getting eight straight points just before the end of the half, when New York had pulled to within three.

Ev Gross Slams 570

Evelyn Gross earned scoring honors in the Friendship League with a 570 slam on lines of 245, 141, 184.

Terry Beckert posted 518, Betty Monashefsky 500, Hazel Stopher 542, Rosemary Pillsworth 208-537, Charlotte Lapine 513.

Sugar and Wilfi Talk Big Fight

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Judging by the verbal jibes emanating from the camps of Sugar Ray Robinson and Wilf Greaves, their return 10-round middleweight fight Friday night at the Civic Auditorium shapes up as a real brawl.

I have come fight—and win," the ageless Robinson told a news conference Wednesday.

"I hope Robinson is coming to fight because I'll be fighting all the way," said Greaves, who lost a split decision to the 40-year-old "Sugar Man" in Detroit last Sept. 25.

Both Robinson and Greaves feel a win would give them a shot at a title fight with National Boxing Association middleweight champ Gene Fullmer.

"A decisive victory for me Friday night will help convince a lot of people I'm still a top contender for my old title and I sure would like another opportunity to win it for the sixth time," Robinson said.

State to Resume Petitions on Gas Service Dec. 20

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A hearing on competing petitions to supply natural gas to Northern New York areas will resume Dec. 20.

The State Public Service Commission Wednesday recessed the hearing on petitions by St. Lawrence Gas Co. and Niagara Mohawk Power Corp.

Each contends that it could pipe natural gas into Ogdensburg as quickly as the other. Both consider Ogdensburg the economic key to North Country service.

Ogdensburg is the only area involved in both franchise applications.

St. Lawrence said it was ready to begin service as soon as it received PSC approval.

Niagara Mohawk said service to Ogdensburg would hinge on the availability of natural gas from Canadian sources.

St. Lawrence already holds federal authority to buy gas from a Canadian firm for import into the United States.

Federal authorities have rejected a Niagara Mohawk request for additional natural gas supplies from United States sources.

Paret Promises To Stay in Class

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba, the undisputed welterweight champion of the world, said today he has no idea of relinquishing his crown if he defeats Gene Fullmer and wins the Utah brawler's share of the middleweight title.

The 24-year-old Paret, according to his manager, Manuel Alfaro, wants no part of his Cuban homeland as long as a man named Fidel Castro is running the country.

Alfaro, a veteran fight man from Cuba himself, does the talking for the non-English speaking Paret, who fights Fullmer here Saturday night in the "TV fight of the week."

Alfaro said Benny, the ex-sugar cane chopping kid, has a mother, a sister and three brothers still living in Cuba.

"He wants to visit them and Cuba only when it is a free country and not under Communist rule. In the meantime, he wants to become an American citizen," said Alfaro.

As for the possibility of holding both the welterweight and National Boxing Association share of the middleweight titles, Alfaro said: "Titles are won or lost in the ring. If we beat Fullmer, we will consider we hold both championships."

Big Buck

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (NEA) — Woody Held, Cleveland Indians shortstop, traded his baseball bat for a big game rifle and pitched the equivalent of a no-hitter. He brought down a trophy mule deer which might make the record books.

Held killed the trophy buck in the Pinedale area. The deer, which had six points, had a 37-inch spread between the widest points. Unofficial measurements show it might rank as high as 25th in the Boone and Crockett Club records.

Post 150 Endorses N. Y. Korean Bonus

Kingston Post, 150, American Legion, recently joined other Legion posts throughout New York State in endorsing the New York State Bonus for Korean Veterans.

Post 150 urges all non-veterans, as well as veterans, to support this program in an effort to recognize those who served their country in a time of national emergency. As everyone will recall, a state bonus was paid to the veterans of World War I and II through the enactment of a state bonus. The amount each veteran received was $250 for overseas duty and $150 for stateside duty.

Since 1951, there have been several Korean Bonus bills introduced in the state legislature. Every one of them has been set aside in some legislative committee.

Says Money Available

Veterans of the Korean conflict are entitled to recognition, "It isn't as though there were no funds available for this worthy purpose. Millions of dollars are collected every year in New York State by the imposition of a one-cent tax on each pack of cigarettes sold. This tax was supposed to pay the cost of a bonus to the Veterans of World War II. The cost of this bonus was repaid in 1955. Yet, most of the people of this State and most veterans themselves are under the impression that the still-imposed cigarette tax is for the repayment of the Bonus Bonds that to date have been repaid two-fold." the statement added.

The cost of the World War II bonus, including interest on the bonds and administrative expenses, was $371,656,527. The total amount of the Bonus Bonds was $400 million dollars, the amount collected in taxes in eight years (1947-1955) was $354,399,000 and the amount collected in taxes from 1955 to 1961 was $527,136,923. The total amount of money collected to date is $881,535,923—over twice the amount required to repay these bonds.

In 1954, the name of the fund was changed from the original War Bonus Fund to the War Bonds and Mental Hygiene Construction Fund. The over-all result shows New York State has collected over double the amount to pay off $400 million dollars in bonds, but they are not in a position to pay a Korean Bonus, it is reported.

"Since the means of paying the necessary bonds is still being levied, why should there be any hesitation in correcting this oversight?" it is questioned by the Legion Post.

A major factor which should be pointed out, the Legion adds, is that the cost of a Korean Bonus will not exceed $100 million dollars. The State of New York would still be $500 million dollars ahead. This is not something to be kept in the dark. Veterans of the Korean conflict received no monetary token from the grateful people of the State of New York as did the veterans of the two previous wars.

The American Legion therefore recommends equal acknowledgment to those veterans, who percentage wise suffered more casualties than the men of World War 2.

"Our home state men were among the first to fight the Communist hordes to preserve the individual rights of man under God, and we of Kingston Post urge your fullest support in this warranted effort.

"Every resident of this state is urged to write to his Congressman and Senator during December, 1961, stating their support of the Korean Bonus.

"All civic as well as veterans organizations are also asked to support this program by sending petitions to the local American Legion Post, attention of Joseph E. Sills Jr., Korean Bonus Chairman for additional action," the Post 150 statement concluded.

Meat Cutters Are To Ballot Today On New Contract

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Some 1,000 striking meat cutters of the A & P Company today were summoned into meetings to vote on a tentative agreement reached last night to end a six-day strike against the food chain's 120 stores in eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and Delaware.

The Union Negotiating Committee said it would recommend acceptance of the pact, terms of which were not disclosed pending action by the membership.

Leon B. Schacter, president of the Joint Council of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers Workmen, said the accord was on a "full package."

Robert F. Longacre, chief negotiator for the Philadelphia Food Stores Employers Labor Cpuncil, termed the agreement "a very fine settlement."

The tentative agreement was reached after eight hours of continuous joint sessions at the offices of federal mediators.

A joint statement by Schacter and Longacre said:

"While the union negotiating committee will recommend acceptance, the strike will not be settled unless the members vote to ratify the agreement."

The strike had been called against the A & P last Thursday by the meat cutters union in its bid to gain increased wages, overtime pay for work past 6 p.m., medical-surgical benefits for part-time workers and limiting of work loads with disputes in this category to go to arbitration.

'63 Design Chosen For Seal Campaign

The winning design for the 1963 Christmas Health Seal, selected from among 551 competing artists in the U.S.A., has been submitted by Miss Judy Campbell, New York City, according to an announcement by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc.

The selection of a design so far in advance is needed in order to prepare the materials for the anti-TB Campaign. Miss Campbell, a free-lance artist, studied in Paris and Florence and is a native of South Bend, Ind. The design for the 1962 Christmas Seal was executed by Paul Dohanos, son of Stevan Dohanos, the artist who was the 1960 National Christmas Seal Chairman.

Collecting Christmas Seals is a hobby sideline enjoyed by thousands of stamp collectors. A complete collection of considerable value is on display at the headquarters of the local TB Association — a public display planned for later this month will include not only the complete display of the Seals issued in the United States since 1907 but will also include a display of Christmas Seals from Denmark dating back to the original Christmas Seal in that country in 1904. The Danish collection has recently been completed and presented by Lester J. Roosa, a member of the Board of Directors of the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

Miss Hazel M. Steed, Executive Director of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, said today, "Artists interested in considering creating a design for a future Christmas Seal, may request an informational folder from the local TB and Health Association's headquarters."

The Christmas Seals organization was formed in Ulster County in 1909, only two years after the National organization was founded.

Must Strengthen Town Rule, GOP In Colonie Told

COLONIE, N.Y. (AP) —Town governments must be "strengthened, upgraded and updated," a town supervisor says, "to halt the rising tide of centralization in government—of bureaucracy."

William K. Sanford, supervisor of the Town of Colonie and executive secretary of the State Association of Towns, said local government was being weakened by transfer of its functions to counties and the state.

He said the rapid growth of towns made it imperative that their governments be strengthened.

Sanford spoke Wednesday night at a Colonie Republican Victory dinner.

Kennedy to Talk For Labor, Young Democrats Today

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy, fresh from an address before the National Association of Manufacturers, shifted today to the AFL-CIO to lay down the administration line on domestic and trade policies.

Kennedy scheduled a mid-morning takeoff by helicopter from the Palm Beach Country Club for Miami Beach and appearances before the labor federation and the national convention of Young Democrats.

He was expected to tell the AFL-CIO what measures he believes are necessary to sustain the country's economic progress and what he pictures as organized labor's responsibilities to prevent damaging inflation.

The President said Wednesday in addressing the NAM that he would have something to say to the AFL-CIO about aiding employers, workers and communities affected by tariff reductions. Kennedy outlined for the industrialists his ideas on stimulating trade through bargaining for lower tariff barriers with the European Common Market and separate nations.

Kennedy planned to return to his parents' Palm Beach home this afternoon for some relaxation. He announced no appointments. A dip in the ocean or pool and possibly, but not likely, a bit of golf were among the recreational prospects.

Mrs. Kennedy and their children stayed in Washington this trip, but will be in Palm Beach with him for the Christmas holidays. He plans to fly back to Washington late Friday or Saturday morning to rejoin them for the weekend.

Communist Secretary Is Fined in Yonkers

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—Communist leader Gus Hall paid $25 today to solve a problem with local law before going to Washington Friday on a bigger problem with federal law.

Hall paid fines for three traffic violations in Special Sessions Court. He deferred comment on the other mater until he gets to Washington.

Hall, general secretary of the U. S. Communist Party, is to appear in court then on a federal indictment that the party and its officers failed to register as agents of the Soviet Union by a Nov. 30 deadline.

After today's appearance, he left for the airport for a student rally at Cornell University, Ithaca. He had indicated earlier that he might not be able to appear.

Hits O'Brien View

LONDON (AP) — British Minister of State Joseph Godber asserted today Dr. Conor Cruise O'Brien's statements about the British attitude toward the Congo situation "have been so exaggerated that he has discredited himself."

O'Brien resigned as the U.N.'s chief administrator in Katanga, charging that Britain and France had worked against U.N. efforts to end the rich province's secession because of big investments there.

Farm Program Not For Northeast Is Word From Maine

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) —Most northeastern farmers will show little enthusiasm for farm programs being developed by the Kennedy administration, Rep. Clifford C. McIntire of Maine says.

McIntire, a Republican member of the House agriculture committee, said the Democratic administration's proposals were aimed at helping producers of individual commodities.

Most northeastern farmers, he said, conduct more diversified operations.

In addition, McIntire said, prices paid under production controls never would be fully satisfactory.

"No secretary of agriculture will set a figure for needed production that will anticipate a shortage," he said. A shortage would send farm prices higher.

McIntire spoke Wednesday at the second annual Empire State Farm Show. About 2,000 visitors are expected at the three-day event, which ends Friday.

McIntire also was interviewed on changes in farm policy set by the previous Republican administration of President Dweight D Eisenhower.

He said farmers were going on "a sound assumption" if they kept production high in the belief historical farm records would become the basis for setting production controls.

"In the immediate future, it seems apparent that national policy will be to encourage all commodity groups to develop programs of production or market management," he said. "This will be the basic suggestion offered to every emergency problem."

The so-called basic commodities, such as wheat and cotton, long have been controlled.

Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman currently is considering a proposal to set controls on turkeys. McIntire said the secretary has indicated a need for controls in the dairy industry.

IN THE RED DOG HOUSE—Green Bay's Bart Starr shows what a quarterback should do against the red dog. (1) with the ball on the New York 19 and back to pass, Starr is blitzed by Giant linebacker Tom Scott. (2 and 3) Starr flips Scott over his head and (4) starts off on a gallop to the New York five-yard line. This is pro football at its best.

matter of Fact

Most mystery fans connect Scotland Yard with British police inspectors. But long ago it really was Scottish. A palace in that location was built by Scottish royalty for a place to stay while visiting London. During the 1600s the palace was replaced by English government buildings. One of these was police headquarters—the very British "Scotland Yard" known to Sherlock Holmes fans.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

APPROVED

Can be bought with FHA or G.I. Loan. Little or no cash needed and total mortgage payment including taxes will be a little over $100 per month. Your chance to buy a new 3 bedroom ranch home. Very attractively built with full basement, birch kitchen with built-ins, dining room, large living room, and beautifully color keyed bath. It's an excellent buy in a fine neighborhood, with almost ½ acre, a healthy lawn and yard with trees.

Council to Meet Tonight About Lab, Hospitals

Mayor Edwin F. Radel said today he has called a special Common Council meeting for 7:30 p. m. to consider legislation that could ratify contracts between the City of Kingston Laboratory and the Kingston and Benedictine hospitals.

If the contracts are approved they will comply with a recently enacted state law and will regulate laboratory services provided for the hospitals.

Dr. Herbert Derman and the laboratory's board of managers have been active through the year arranging for a satisfactory agreement involving the hospitals and the laboratory. The contracts, as now drafted, will be effective on a two-year basis.

Adoption of the legislation, as proposed tonight, would provide for the first formal contracts involving the hospitals and the laboratory.

Nike-Hercules Is Due for Guards In Air Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army National Guard units manning air defense batteries around the nation's cities will be armed with the Nike-Hercules missile starting late next year, it was announced today.

A total of 76 units now share with regular outfits the job of defending key population and industrial centers from air attack.

The Guard units have been armed since 1957 with the less-powerful Nike-Ajax missile which has a conventional warhead. The Army claims the Ajax can destroy any known type of bomber now in use.

The Hercules mounts either a nuclear or conventional warhead and the Army says it can knock down either supersonic bombers or air breathing missiles. The Hercules is designed to reach higher and further than the Ajax.

Officials said that not all 76 Guard units now using the Ajax necessarily will get the Hercules. It was indicated that fewer batteries of the more powerful Hercules might be needed.

Lt. Gen. Robert J. Wood, commander of the Air Defense Command, said additional planning is necessary before a decision is made on which Guard units will take over Nike-Hercules sites.

Hawaii now is the only place where Guardsmen are using the Hercules.

Use Nightsticks Freely, Advice To N.Y. Police

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City policemen have been advised to use their nightsticks freely when necessary to restrain a prisoner or to avoid injury.

An illustrated leaflet distributed Wednesday to members of the force advises concerning the nightstick:

"Use it. Taking a prisoner into custody is not a personal contest between you and him. Forget the maquis of queensberry rules. Your duty to the department and your family is to restrain your prisoner without injury to yourself."

A nationwide survey has shown a great increase in mob attacks on policemen, many in New York City.

Italians Launch Rocket

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A third group of Italian missile troops has launched an American Jupiter rocket on a successful 1,500-mile flight.

This Saturday the 4-H Clubs will meet at the Hurley Reformed Church Hall for a Christmas greens project from 9:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m.

The lighting of the community Christmas tree will be held on the lawn of the Stone Ridge Bank Saturday, Dec. 16, at 7:30 p. m. Santa will arrive earlier at the Legion Hall to greet the children.

The concert of the Rondout Valley Central School band will be presented this Saturday in the school's auditorium.

Reports Cure Is On Way Now for NuclearRadiation

GENEVA (AP)—A cure may be on the way for victims of nuclear radiation, the U.N. World Health Organization reported Wednesday.

Transfusions and some complex chemicals may bring about the recovery of people suffering from forms of radiation sickness hitherto regarded as fatal, the WHO monthly Chronicle said.

Perhaps the greatest immediate danger after a strong dose of radiation, who researchers found, was that of infection from microbes that are everywhere.

Radiation knocks out the body's ability to ward off germs that normally give it little trouble.

One school of thought calls for a big dose of antibiotics even before the victim has an infection.

"Patients are usually kept in isolation in specially disinfected room," the report said.

Radiation also weakens the body's ability to make new blood—a process that goes on in the bone marrow.

Transfusions of whole blood or plasma may help, plus vitamins and minerals.

With a very high dose of radiation it was found that "patients might benefit from transfusions of bone marrow" until the body's own marrow can regenerate.

Says Yule Trees May Be Cheaper

CHICAGO (AP)—A forestry industry source predicted today that Americans will buy about 45 million Christmas trees this year —about 3 million more than last year.

And the trees may be cheaper, American Forest Products Industries, Inc., said, because increased acreage for tree plantations suggests increased competition for sales.
